Several other colleges have issued calls for candidates for places on their basketball teams this year.

The "Sewance Purple," Sewanee's student paper, has in its last issue a supplement consisting of twenty-nine songs for use at the Sewanee-Vanderbilt football game on Thanksgiving Day. How about it, Carolina men? Why not.?

It's on to Greensboro Saturday to see the boys make a pass at Washington and Lee. Then everybody's begins to save the kale for a little journey on Turkey Day to see what happens at the Virginia capitol. Goodbye to the dopes and the old cigars.

About the chapel exercises—there are all kinds of subjects that could be discussed there if someone could arrange the program. Health, hygiene, clothing, food, eugenics, work, exercise, needs of the different professions, opportunities in the different professions, what is being done in the different professions, athletics, the citizen and the state, sanitation, fresh air and health, the fly and bad health, are a few specimens of useful and interesting subjects that could be discoursed on there.

Below is a clipping from "The Oak Leaf" the student paper of Oak Ridge. We are glad that this is the way that they feel about Carolina, for in the past we have drawn upon them for many of our best men. Men from Oak Ridge have made good in every department of college life here, and have always ranked high among the students. We hope next year to have more men and are going to expect it of the same high character from Oak Ridge as we have been receiving from them in the past.

"The U. N. C. Of course those who can, want to go to college, and all want the best. In our opinion, North Carolina has the best, and it would be very unwise for a young man not to investigate its merits".

The Archibald D. Murphy Education Club will hold its next meeting Thursday, Nov. 21 at 7:30 o'clock in Chemistry Hall. The meeting will last just one hour.

AN AWAKENED CAROLINA.

Although at times in the editorial columns this year we have rapped pretty severely upon things here, that rapping was not for the mere pleasure of knocking. Neither was it called forth by any conditions worse than the past has afforded. So far from that, the spirit of things here is better, we believe, than it has ever been before. At least it is better than it has been for many years. But we knocked the things that needed it because there is a movement here for better things, and because we desire to help direct the energies responding to that movement into the channels where they will amount to the most and accomplish the most good for the University.

There has found itself here at last the real spirit of Carolina—the world spirit of accomplishment, the thing that made a better Galveston and a more beautiful San Francisco. In the organized activities of the student body it is apparent in the new Dramatic Club, the new system of athletic management and coaching, and in the Greater University Council. In the faculty it is evidenced by a keener interest in the affairs of the University in every way--from the inaugurating, in conjunction with many alumni, of the Alumni Review to a pronounced work-sharing part in the student activities. The Faculty Committee on athletics and the student Athletic Council meet together to advise together and plan for the best athletics. Members of the faculty and student body work side by side for the production of good dramatics and the development of a good band and glee club. They meet together and confer and discuss to produce good debators. They play tennis together in order to put out the best possible tennis team. Members of the student body and members of the faculty get together privately and discuss ways and means for bringing the University into closer relations with the people throughout the state whose institution it is, getting more students and better students here, and in every way extending its usefulness to the state. They discuss, too, the relations of students to students and of students to faculty. They are working together.

In the student life of the campus there is evidenced this new thing here. It is in the air. There is a feeling of social goodfellowship about everything. There is no longer any South, any North, any East, or any West, as some orator said, we are all University men, and that precludes the idea of factions. Practically every county that has enough members has organized a County Club, and where they have not had enough students many of the counties have organized with three, four, five, or six neighboring counties, for the purpose of bringing the men from the same section of the state together for social enjoyment, studying the needs of their section, and obtaining new students from their section. The Senior class and the low class have instituted "smokers"—class meetings with a little something to eat and smoke—for the purpose of bringing the members of the class closer together.

As a final evidence of this feeling of fellowship the warfare given by the President of the Senior class Tuesday night to the class upon his birthday closes the case. It means that the seniors are together. The other classes are with them. And the faculty is with the whole shebang.

CALL OF THE GRID.

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year,
When little Willie wanders home
With only half an ear;
With sundry gouges in his eye,
The bark peeled off his nose;
With burdock thistles in his hair
And mud upon his clothes.
The baseball and the padded glove
No more he totes around,
The fishing pole in Willie's hand
No longer can be found;
No more with marbles, kites or tops
He whiles the time away;
No more at "tip" or "one old cat"
Does Willie deign to play.
But fares he forth in baggy pants
And sweater soiled and torn,
And though his hair be two feet long,
He scorns to have it shorn.
And ever and anon, behold,
As Willie swaggers 'round,
He madly hurls his tender form
Heed foremost to the ground.
Though battered be his fair young map,
And lame his little gimp,
He proudly bears his doughty scars
And glories in his limp.
By these and sundry other signs
'Tis very, very clear
The baseball season passeth, and
The football time is here.

EMBRYO TEACHERS ORGANIZE.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the students in the Department of Education was held last Wednesday night in the Physics room of the Alumni building, and the Archibald D. Murphy Education Club was formed.

Prof. M. C. S. Noble called the meeting to order and announced that the objects of the Club were, briefly: to bring together once a month all students in the University who are interested in the cause of public education; to study and discuss the educational problems in North Carolina; and to stimulate among the students of the University an educational spirit that will reach out into the active life of the State and produce results. Membership in the club is open to any student or instructor in the University and to any teacher in the public schools of Orange county. Meetings will be held the third Monday night of each month during the University terms. The meetings will be thrown open to students, faculty, and citizens of the town, all of whom are cordially invited to attend.

The officers elected for the year are:

M. C. S. Noble, President.

E. R. Rankin, First vice- president.

R. C. Cox, Second vice-president,

E. M. Coulter, Secretary.

A program committee of not less than five members is to be appointed by the president. This committee will be appointed at once and an attractive and profitable program for the November meeting will be arranged at an early date.

DR. ROYSTER SPEAKS TO PRESS ASSOCIATION

Dr. James F. Royster addressed the first regular meeting of the Press Association. About forty members were present. Dr. Royster gave much valuable advice in regard to putting the University before the people of the state. The work in the weekly papers he said was most important in some they reached many more readers than the dailies. The Association will meet ever Friday night, at which time the weekly letter will be given out.

to him was Heyward, the best visiting player seen here this year and incidentally the only player who ever wore a hat here. He gained regularly and his defensive work was better if possible than his offensive. In addition he was full of ginger and was continually encouraging his team-mates. Vou Kolnitz ran back punts well and Hill tackled cleanly.

Stevens, besides kicking two goals, played a strong defensive game. Tayler gained more than any Tar Heel save Tillett and both Abernathys were good on defence.

In justice it should be added that the entire backfield was in poor condition. Wakeley, Moore, and Abernathy were in bad shape and Applewhite and Beard were too crippled to help any.

The line-up:

S. C.	Position	N. C.
Girardeau	Center	Jones
Stoney	Right Guard	Dortch

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

The Historical Society met Monday night with an unusually large attendance. Prof. N. W. Walker gave an instructive talk on the sources of North Carolina history and literature in general. He emphasized the fact that material of great historical value is often found in out-of-the-way places. Prof M. C. S. Noble gave many interesting examples of instructive and amusing documents, found in this way, which reveal the true character and customs of the people of early Carolina.

Fine Address on Ideals

At the regular Tuesday night Y. M. C. A. meeting W. W. Peele, Head Master of Trinity Park, delivered a powerful address on "Ideals." Having shown what really constitutes ideals, he said that in a general way, regardless of profession, we all should have the same ideals; for as we all have the same ability to do wrong, we must have the same redeeming spirit. One hard thing we have to deal with is the deception of the Devil; because it is at the last, not the first, that "It biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

The Roman's ideal was physical abilty, the Hebrew's was Justice, and the Greek's was Wisdom; while Christianity taught that Goodness is the highest ideal because it includes all three of these. To obtain Goodness we must have a strong conscience, a strong will, and a strong intellect.

For Banquets and all kinds of feeds, see HARRISON NEVILLE, Successor to Marse Jesse.

"Fifty Thousand Miles With Uncle Sam's Army."

The above is the title to an interesting narrative of the experiences of a Varsity boy as an officer in the Army. The author, Major John W. Norwood, is also author of a work that is more often quoted in Chapel Hill than any other—"Yackety-Yack, Hooray, Hooray——!".

The book is exceedingly interesting and is written in popular style. Paper bound, sent to any address, postpaid, for 25c.

Tar Heels Cannot Stand Line Plunging and Forward Passes of Virginians

CAPTAIN TILLETT STARS AS USUAL

Carolina Shows Only Fair Form in Last Game Before Thanksgiving, but Washington and Lee Has One of the Strongest Teams in the South Atlantic States.

Washington and Lee proved too much for Carolina in Greensboro Saturday, the Tar Heels going down before what is probably the second strongest team in this section, 31 to 0. Four touchdowns, as many goals by Miller, and a field goal from the 47 yard line by Miller turned the trick.

Carolina never seriously threatened the enemy's goal, though the Chapel Hill rooters were made frantic by the spectacular runs of Captain Tillett, or when he would dive into the Virginia runners, throwing them in many instances after a clear field had been gained.

Taylor at right half did good work, while Holmewood, Huske, and Strange played rattling good ends. Big Jones stopped up the center position, but Buhring tore his way through the guards.

Washington and Lee's backfield smashed away at the line most of the time. Raferty and Francis worked the forward pass to perfection and frequently put their team in a position to score through the successful manipulation of this play. Buhring's line plunging was terrific and seldom did he drive at the line, especially on Miller's side, but that gains ranging from 5 to 15 yards were made.

The first quarter ended without a score, but in the second Washington and Lee went over twice. Forward passes and line plunging were responsible. In the third quarter Miller, after failing on a field goal from the 40-yard line, dropped back to the 47 yard line and put the ball squarly between the posts. In the last quarter Raferty and Buhring each carried the ball over for a touchdown after hard line work.

Fifteen hundred people, including many students from the State Normal and G. F. C., witnessed the game.

The line-up:

W. & L.	Position	Carolina
Moore	Center	Jones
Rogers, Walton	Right Guard	Dortch, Jennings
Miles, Stuart	Right Tackle	Abernathy, Pritchett
Francis	Right End	Holmewood, Strange Long
Raferty	Quarter	Tillett (Capt.)
Peebles, Donohue	Left Half	Taylor
Burke, Bone	Right Half	Moore
Buhring	Full	Abernathy, R., Applewhite

Touchdowns: Raferty, Buhring 2, Donohue; goals, Miller 4; field goal, Miller; Referee, Gass, Lehigh; Umpire, Williams, Virginia; Head Linesman, Hodgson, V. P. I. Quarters, 15 minutes.

SPECIAL TO RICHMOND

Usual Excursion Train Will Carry Hundreds

Thanksgiving Day, Virginia, "On To Richmond". Once more is heard the call that is irresistible to every true Tar Heel. How many are going to follow the team in its last great match? How many are going to see the football classic of the South Atlantic States? The opportunity is easy.

The usual excursion train will be run to Richmond. The special will leave Chapel Hill at 12.01 midnight of November the 27th and arrive in Richmond about 7.00 A. M on Thanksgiving Day. Coming back it will leave Richmond at 12.00 midnight, November 28. The round trip fare is 3.00.

The train will consist of Pullman cars and day coaches. Pullman reservations will be placed on sale in Chapel Hill, the places to be announced later.

Every convenience will be made by the Southern Railway and a quick and comfortable trip is assured The management is expecting several hundred students to go. Are you one of them?

BUSBY AND PETTEWAY WIN DEBATE

J. C. Busby, '13, of the Di Society, and H. C. Petteway, '13, of the Phi Society, have been chosen to represent Carolina in the Carolina-Washington and Lee debate, which is to take place about December 14th, at either Lynchburg, or Lexington, Va. The preliminary contest was held last Tuesday night in the Phi hall.

Both of these men have had considerable experience in debating. Busby won the Bingham medal in last year's commencement debate, and Petteway was one of the Phi's representatives in the same contest. They should uphold well Carolina's record in debate.

Those trying out in the preliminary were J. C. Busby, H. C. Petteway, W. R. Petteway, and S. W. Whiting.

ANOTHER PATTERSON STARS IN TRACK

Hazel Patterson, '16, brother of Captain E. V. Patterson of the track team, won the mile run Wednesday afternoon, time 4: 58 3-3 and became the possessor of a handsome medal.

The race was held by the track department in order to stimulate general interest in fall training and more particularly to start practice for the cross country run with A. & M. which is to take place in December. Seven men entered the race, Patterson, Ransom, Strong, Beckwith, Scott, Johnson, Lambeth. Letter men were ineligible. Patterson jumped into the lead at the start, closely followed by Beckwith and Ransom. That ordere was maintained until the last lap, when Patterson opened up and finished with a ten-yard lead. Ransom came in second. Beckwith, who had shown rather poor head work by running wide all the way, was passed on the straight-away by Strong. The others did not finish.

GREATER COUNCIL ON A FIRM BASIS

At Second Meeting Organization Committee Makes Its Report

SIZE OF THE COUNCIL REDUCED

Will Be Composed Of University Council, Two Men from Each Academic Class, and One Man from Each Professional School and the Graduate Department.

Last Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. Mission room, the Greater University Council held its second meeting. The only business that came up before the Council was the report of the Committee on organization. The report was accepted in full. The most salient features of it are as follows:

1. The organization shall be known as the Greater Council.

2. The organization shall consist of the members of the student council, two members from each academic class, one member from each of the professional schools, and one from the Graduate department.

3. The members from the various classes and schools shall be elected by the organizations of which they are members.

4. The Secretary shall keep minutes of the meetings of the Greater Council, and shall notify each member of each meeting.

2. The treasurer of each class and each school shall be instructed to pay the secretary of the Council $1.00 or more if necessary which funds shall be used for bearing the expense of the Council.

6. The purpose of the organization shall be as follows.–

The Greater Council seeks to be a conference between the student council and committees from every class in college to take council together for the general good. This conference will be open to any student who has a policy, idea, or grievance which concerns his life or the life of the college. It is the purpose of this conference that no constructive idea or wholesome interest of a single student or fine mood of all the students will be allowed to pass unheeded for the lack of a common council to conserve them for the larger life of the University.

The next meeting will be on Monday night, Nov. 25th.

WM. SIMPSON PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY

Last Saturday night the Junior and Senior pharmacy students of the University met in Person Hall, for the purpose of establishing a society, having as its object, the advancement of pharmacy in North Carolina. In the weekly meetings, the members will read papers and discuss all subjects of interest to druggists. The name selected by the organization was, "The William Simpson Pharmacuetical Society," in

U. N. C. WINS IN TENNIS

Oates and Chambers Defeat Trinity Representatives.

Carolina defeated Trinity in tennis on Nov. 15. Malcolm Oates and Lenoir Chambers, representing the Uuiversity, won from N. I. White and A. R. Anderson, of Trinity, respectively, in singles. The doubles match was called on account of darkness when the score was tied. Carolina won the meet, however, by virture of winning both matches in singles.

Oates defeated White, the Trinity captain, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, and Chambers won from Anderson in two straight sets, 6-4, 7-5. The doubles match was played in the afternoon before a large crowd. Cold weather and a strong wind rendered good play impossible;—but every game was bitterly fought. The Trinity team showed much better form in doubles than in singles. Carolina won the first two sets, 7-5, 6-3, but Trinity came back strong and by steady playing took the next two 6-1, 7-5. Oates and Chambers seemed to let down considerable. The deciding set was close and at one time Trinity had a big lead. At 5 games all, however, it became too dark and by mutual agreement the match was called.

FORWARD PASSES WIN FOR THE JUNIORS

Forward passes were too much for the Freshmen in the game against the Juniors Monday. Allen, Strong, and Prevatt made pass after pass, while occasionally, for a change, Allen would go around left end for anywhere from five to fifteen yards. Of the three touchdowns two were made by Strong; one in the first quarter, on a short pass after the Juniors had recovered the Freshmen's fumble on the ten yard line; the other, in the second, from the forty-five yard line with a forward pass. In the third quarter the Juniors very nearly scored again after recovering their own kick and rushing the ball to the one yard line. They failed to make first down, however, and the ball went over. The last touchdown was made on a forward pass to Prevatt, and two end runs by Allen. As the Juniors failed to kick goal on all of their touchdowns, the game ended with the score 18 to 0.

The work of the Freshmen was very poor. They did not seem to have any pep and showed a woeful lack of teamwork. They are not playing as good ball now as at the first of the season.

Allen did the best work for the Juniors, his forward passes being especially noteworthy. Strong also did good work.

The line-up:

EUGENE E. BARNETT WRITES FROM CHINA

Carolina's Missionary Representative Tells of His Work There

WAS Y. M. G. A. SECRETARY HERE

The Leaders of the New Republic Are Men Educated in the West and They Are Most Favorable to Christianity.

The following letter is from Eugene E. Barnett, missionary representative of the University of North Carolina in China. Mr. Barnett was for two years secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here. While here he took an active part in college life, being an intercollegiate debater. His work in China has been most successful, The student body here annually contributes $500 towards his support.

It has been a good while since I sent you a message. The all absorbing interest in the meanwhile, however, has centered in the stirring events in the Revolution and of the young republic to which it has given birth, and these events have been chronicled fully in your daily newspapers. Things have happened fast since I arrived in China, so much that the faith of China's most optimistic friends and well wishers have been surprised to the point of bewilderment. It is indeed a marvelous privilege to have "come into the kingdom at such a time as this."

It has been gratifying to note the attitude of the new government to the Christian forces of the city. One of the first acts of the provisional government was to tender a public reception to the foreign community, which is overwhelmingly missionary. At this reception an elegant feast was served and ringing speeches were made by representatives of the Province, of which Hangchow is the capital, who expressed a desire for closer and more sympathetic relations in the future. At least two members of the provincial cabinet have been former members of the Young Men's Christian Association. I have become well acquainted with both

We are not playing for N. C.'s; we are playing to win.

If the pecan gatherers would open up their wads to the extent of five cents instead of throwing rocks and sticks against the trees here on the campus they would do much toward allowing the pecan trees to grow, and toward keeping the campns beautiful. A nickle will buy mors nuts than can be obtained by breaking a half dozen limbs. Of course those who have been hurling aloft into the trees rocks, sticks, and iron bars, to say nothing of bricks, have not thought of the injury to the trees. So let's think and desist from action.

"For increased knowledge is increased, pleasure." While this is not an exactly scriptual text it is near enough to serve our purpose. The senior class came to the realization that it was not getting quite as much out of life here as it might. Neither was it putting quite as much into the same life here as it might have been. But it saw, at any rate, the error of its ways and mended them. It began to hold class smokers. These smoerks have taken so well and have proven to be so thourably enjoyable that it has been rumored that the class is going to devote its energies for the rest of the year to holding them. This, though, has been denied by several prominent members of the class. Anyway, whether they do or do not devote their energies entirely to class smokers, they have found the smokers thoroughly enjoyable and worth while. Now the puzzling part about the whole buisness is that the other three academic classes should stand around with their hands in their pockets and watch the seniors have all the smokers. There is no law forbidding the other classes to hold smokers' institutes The cost of such an institute is not prohibitively high or else the seniors, men hardened and callous to the ways of college finances, would never be seen shelling out their sheckles for such things Why can't yon other classes have you some smokers? They would get you better acquainted with your classmates and promote the good-fellowship of the place. Besides it is rather nice to sit around with a crowd of good fellows and eat and smoke and gas. Go to it. It'll do you good as the Ilshmen said when he thrashed his soh. We are all Irish, you know.

WITH BULL-DOG FIGHT

Let us face the facts; for there is no earthly use of deceiving ourselves about them and building up illusions to our own hurt. Virginia has undoubtedly shown up stronger than we have in football thir year. V. P. I., Georgetown and Washington and Lee have all three beat us by decisive scores that could leave no doubt as to the relative strength of our team with theirs. Virginia on the other hand, though she began the season weak has steadily gained strength. Vanderbilt did not beat her so badly; and Georgetown only succeeded in nosing out a victory by three points—where she had a twenty-seven point profit left to her credit after the game with us.

They are the facts. Now what about them? We have a fighting chance, and that is all. But a fighting chance is all that any man has ever asked for. It means that if we have the stuff in us that men are made of," if we can force our heart and nerves and sinew to serve their turn long after they are gone and and so hold hold on when there is nothing in us except the will which says to them" Hold on", if we can fight after we have got hurt and are sick, if we can play hard after everything but the grit is gone, if we can play not merely to hold the score down after we have been scored against—if we are scored against first—, if we can do all these thins all the time and keep out heads open and our baains working, then the game is ours.

Here is the chance for you men who represent us eight hundred other students, the University, and the state—here is the chance for you to show that our trust in you has not been in vain. To do this you have got to be able to outlast your opponents, to play them off their feet, and then keep on playing them. It will require the same sort of stuff that it does for a little bull-dog to lick three times his weight in good dog flesh.

We believe that you have the stuff—that all that you ask is a fighting chance. And we know that you have that. We know you have been well coached and can play the game. We believe that you have the manhood in you to fight, but you will have to show it more than you have done in any game yet. We know that you have the sublime right to win, and that if you are to be beat it will have to be after the first whistle has blown and untill the one has died away.

Men we are with you. You are the best that we have, and we gladly send you forth to represent us and fight for us. We only ask that you be men and fight men's fights. If we win it will be well. If we lose it will not be so bad. But we want you to win for us. You have the sublime right to win, and by all that is eternal we believe that it it is possible under the sun for you to win you will do it. And when you are in the game just remember that we are pulling for you, and that we believe in you, and that we will not be satisfied with a score that has merely been held down. Here's to you! And may you come back with your shields.

The Amalgamated Dramatic club of America has decided to open up with headquarters in Chapel Hill this year. They assure the playgoing public that Gerrard Hall will this year have some of the best plays staged upon that the locals have ever presented. It will be a season of strictly high class performances.

Among the many good pieces on is "What Happened To Jones." This fine farce will have an all star caste. The stage coach, which is not his technical name, but is the name which we shall use both because our readers are at present interested in football and because we do not happen to remember his aforesaid technical appellation, the stage coach, as we began, has already issued a call for candidates for positions in the caste. The director has stated in an interview—it is learned—that it is not yet to late for applications to be made for places.

There is at least one field of literary activity here that affords to those who graze in it some remuneration. That is the Yackety Yack field. The management of the annual give annuals free, gratis, without charging for them, to every student who writes for it as much stuff a one of the associate editors. Of course this means, who writes for it and has accepted for publication such an amount of literary production. This affords a good many students an opportunity to save two or three dollars by a little work, and at the same time help the editors get out a good annual. Last year several students got two or three annuals for the material which they turned in and had accepted.

The Yackety Yack is not only willing to give these, but it is glad of an opportunity to do so. Let them give you a few bushels of them this year.

UNIVERSITY SERMON

Mr. Johnson of Wake Forest Is the Preacher

The second University sermon of the year was preached in Gerrard Hall Sunday by Mr. Johnson, of Wake Forest College. After expressing his pleasure at being here to speak to the students of the University of his State, he announced the text for his sermon. He spoke on a clause which is found in Isaiah 9: 6—"And His name shall be called Wonderful."

For a man to be indifferent to Jesus Christ is to indict his own intelligence. We have to attend to Him because of Himself. Whatever He said came from Himself. He did not just get it from another and then pass it on to us second hand. It was all first handed.

Christ stands out on account of two supreme qualities, power and love. As the knowledge that enables the engineer to press a button and start or stop a great electric plant is power, so the knowledge that enabled Christ to perform His miracles was power. There is a power behind our lives somewhere. If we could touch the button that controls that power all things would be ours. Christ could touch that button. All the rays of light which we cannot perceive on account of our limited powers of sight, all the waves of sound which we are not able to hear with our weak and auditory equipment, all the winds of heaven, the waters of the earth, and the whole unseen world on the edge of which we are living were at his command to do with as he wished. The law of gravitation was suspended when He ascended. The power of death was even annulled when He spoke to Lazarus and said, "Come forth."

His love for us is shown by three things. First, He over-worked Himself for us. He taxed Himself almost beyond endurance while working for man. Second, He associated with sinners. The Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost. The failure and trouble of Christianity today is found largely in its neglect of this. It doesn't get to the people. In the third place, Christ showed His love for us in what He did not do. He did not found an earthly kingdom, though tempted by Satan to do so. When the people tried to crown Him king He would not let them. He loved the souls of men more than an earthly kingdom.

He turned water into wine for others. He increased the loaves and fishes that the four and five thousands might be fed. He went to His disciples during the night because they were in danger. He did all these things for others; but He would not turn one stone into bread for Himself.

No one can get away from the question of Jesus Christ. His life and death constituted a divine example of love. What are you going to do with Him? "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends."

DEBATES SCHEDULED

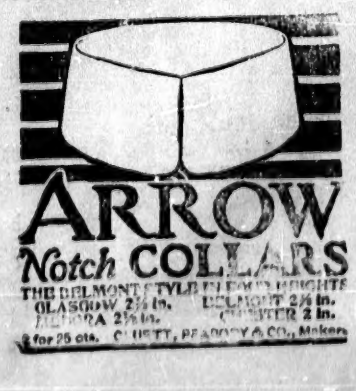
Carolina Meets Virginia and Johns Hopkins

Arrangements have been made for a triangular debate between the Universities of North Carolina, Virginia, and Johns Hopkins University These debates will take place some time in April.

This arrangement, as far as Carolina is concerned, takes the place of the pentangular Union, consisting of Vanderbilt, Tulane, Virginia, North Carolina, and Georgia, of which she was a member during the past two years. In these pentangular contests it might be of interest to state that Carolina and Vanderbilt tied for first place, each institution winning three out of four debates in which she engaged.

A novel feature of this triangular arrangement for next spring is that all of the debates will be held on mutual ground. Carolina will debate Virginia at Baltimore and Johns Hopkins at Charlottesville, and Johns Hopkins and Virginia will contest with each other at Chapel Hill. The judges of the debates will be five instead of three and they will be chosen from, or by, the faculties of the University at which the various debates are to be held.

The Florida Club has organized for the year with the following officers: Frank Drew, President; D. H. Killefer, Secretary. Treasurer; W. R. Petteway, Corresponding Secretary. A committee has been appointed to make a systematic campaign for students from Florida. It is also planned to form an association of Carolina Alumni in Florida.



Rev. Lewis S. Chafer, of the Scofield Bible School, New York, ie conducting a Bible Institute at the Presbyterian church this week. The services are drawing large numbers of hearers.

F. D. Conroy, '14, has been initiated into the Alpha Chi Sigma (Chemistry) fraternity.

of these men and have received from them assurances of co-operation when we are ready to open up definite work.

I have before me a private letter written a few days ago by the representative of the Association Press in Nanking to his father in Hangchow. I have received permission to quote from it. One cannot help being stirred and thrilled by the significance to the Kingdom of such facts as the following words reveal: Of the (National) Assemblymen 90 per cent are western educated; so is the retired President (Dr. Sun) and fifteen out of the eighteen of his cabinet officers and assistants, and 75 per cent of the secretaries in the various departments. Apart from the fact that mission schools trained a very large proportion of these men, a good number are professing Christians, including Dr Sun himself, hi son (also an American college student) and his private secretary, nearly 25 per cent of the Assembly, and at least one member of the Cabinet The speaker and Vice Speaker of the Assembly are Christians. The latter of these was a student Y. M. C. A. Secretary who engaged in this temporarily from a sense of duty and will return soon to his original work. He and the Minister of Foreign Affairs are sons of pastors.

I am sure you are not forgetting to pray for your representative whom you have sent to one of the most influential centers in this great land. I shall need your prayers more and more. I never cease to think of you and to pray for the work in which we were recently associated together.

With kindest regards and best wishes to all,

I am
Sincerely yours,
EUGENE E. BARNETT.

honor of the late Mr. William Simpson, of Raleigh.

Mr. Simpson was one of the pioneer pharmacists of this state. He always strove for higher standards among druggists and was the first teacher of pharmacy in North Carolina. He was the only North Carolinian to be made president of the American Pharmaceutical Association, was for years secretary of our own State Board of Examiners and also for some time president of this Board, and until his death practiced his profession in Raleigh.

The officers chosen for the first term's work were as follows: President, J. P. Cordon, of Clayton: Vice President, J. E. Lytch, of Rowland; Secretary, W. S. Wolfe, of Mt. Airy; Trearurer, Harvie Ward, of Tarboro. A committee composed of R. C. Canady, J. E. Lytch, and Paul Brantley was appointed to draw up the constitution and set of by-laws for the society.

The papers to be read and discussed at the coming meeting on Saturday night will be; "Cinchona and its Preparations," "Belladonna," and "The Advantages of a Journal Club."

Among the entertainment features of the society planned by the members is a barbecue which is to be given next month.

Red Cross Christmas seals have been placed on sale in Chapel Hill. These seals have been prepared by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the proceeds from the sales will go to the work of the Association. The North Carolina division of the Association asks the students to help by buying these seals.

Dr. Venable has been attending a meeting of the National Association of State Universities in Washington. He was elected a member of the Executive committee.

MASS MEETING HELD FOR THE TEAM

The Students Practice Songs and Yells for Thanksgiving Game With Virginia

MR. GRAHAM AND MR. BOOKER SPEAK.

Keynote of Meeting Was "Regardless of Record, Whether Winning or Losing, the Team is Our Team All the Time.

Last Friday night in Chapel a rousing mass meeting was held with the object in view of stirring up renewed enthusiasm in the football team and the game that is to be played with our dearest rivals, Virginia, in Broad Street park, Richmond, next Thursday, the same being Thanksgiving Day.

Walter Stokes, chief leader, opened the meeting by leading a hearty Boomer-er-ray for the team. He then introduced Prof. E. K. Graham as the first speaker of the interest renewing meeting.

Prof. Graham stated that he "had not come to bury Caesar, nor to praise him," but to make a plain presentation of the case as it appeared to him

"Our team," he said, "has not made a brilliant record thus far; we know that. But our team is made up of the best that we have and demands our loyalty and support just the same as if it had a championship record behind it. True loyalty counts for more than anything else The team has played so far and will play on Thanksgiving Day just in proportion to the amount of true loyal support that is given it. If we fail to do our part, then we can't expect them to play winning football.

"Support the team; go out on the field every afternoon until Thanksgiving, and root hard. That team represents not only us but thousands of alumni; help it to be representative in a true Tar Heel way in Richmond next Thursday."

Prof. Booker followed up Mr. Graham with a short practical talk on the necessity of our getting together and showing that we are together. He was loudly cheered when he said:

COACHES PUT ON FINISHING TOUCHES FOR THE VIRGINIA GAME IN HARDEST AND LONGEST SCRIMMAGES OF THE YEAR

The final preparation for the Virginia game has been severe and thorough goeing. Hard scrimmages all of last week, culminating in a regular game Saturday, were held under the direction of the coaches. The work has been secret until Saturday. At night too there have been signal practice and blackboard talks regularly.

The presence of additional coaches who have come for the final polishing of the team has helped mightily. Foremost among them has been "Doggie" Trenchard, the old Princeton player and former Carolina coach Mr. Trenchard has been with the Princeton team most of this season and has brought much good advice along with him. His ability to get fight and ginger into a team, as well as his expert knowledge of end play has had noticeably good results. George Thomas, captain of the '08 team, has been here all the week too.

In the scrimmages Coaches Martin and Trenchard have been driving the Varsity, while coaches Cartmell and Thomas have urged on the Scrubs. The latter team has played tip-top ball all season and especially the past week. Their line-plunging on Saturday was powerful enough to rush the ball over 60 yards on successive plays.

The Varsity has paid especial attention to forward passes and several new formations for this play have been perfected. One of the touchdowns in Saturday's scrimmage came on a pass from De Vane to Strange.

The exact line up of the team on Thursday is uncertain on account of injnries to several men. Abenathy's injury is most serious but it is hoped that he will be able to play. His presence means much to the line as he is a veteran of three years experience and will have a steadying effect. In the backfield Wakeley and Applewhite are in poor shape, though they should come around in time. Their condition and the shifting of little Abernathy to guard has necessitated moving Foust from end to full.

At ends Huske and Homewood seem to have the first call, though Strange will probably be used too. Stevens and Abernathy haye been the regular tackles. While "Ab" has been out, Jennings has taken his place. At guard Johnson and little Abernathy succeeded Johnson before the game was over. Jones seems safe at center. On the defence he is being used at guard, while "little Ab" backs up the line.

Captain Tillett at quarter is playing the best game of his career and is the life and strength of the entire team. Tayloe's brilliant playing of the past few weeks puts him forward as the best half back. The other two positions are a puzzle. Moore, Wakeley, Applewhite, Foust, De Vane and Blalock all haye a look-in. Ervin's work on the Scrubs Saturday was most encouraging and he too may be used.

The team will leave Chapel Hill Wednesday morning and get into Richmond that night. They will stop at the Richmond Hotel.

THE TAR-HEEL TROT

Tune: "Everybody's doin' it."

Carolina's doin' it. Doin' what? Gettin' hot;
Carolina's doin' it. Doin' what? Gettin' hot.
Old Virginia's at us with a boun';
See big Jones there, standin' like a moun';
Hold your breath boys! Lordy, look aroun'!
It's a down! It's a down! It's a down!
Abernathy's blockin' it, knockin' it, sockin' it;
Tayloe's huggin' it, luggin' it, pluggin' it;
Guards and tackles crumplin' up their line,
Ends and backfield hangin' to 'em fine.
Come! Come! Come! Come! Everybody "jine"!
Carolina's holdin' 'em now.

Carolina's doin' it. Doin' what? Gettin' hot!
Carolina's doin' it. Doin' what? Gettin' hot!
See our full-back buttin' out a hole?
Get your specs; you're as blind as a mole.
He's off like a shot. Oh, Lordy! Bless my soul!
It's a goal! It's a goal! It's a goal!
Cap'n Tillett's crawlin' it, haulin' it, maulin' it;
Applewhite is rushin' it, squshin' it, crushin' it;
The rest of the bunch we've played pretty well;
But the U. V—A we're playin' like hell.
Come! Come! Come! Come! Everybody yell!
Carolina's beatin' 'em now.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS PLEASED WITH DEBATING UNION

The movement launched by the literary societies two weeks ago to form a State-wide debating union of the high schools of North Carolina has thus far met with admirable success. The plan which provides for the formation of a network of secondary schools for stimulating debating has already been responded to by 47 representative schools of the State. The list includes the High Schools of Raleigh Charlotte, Salisbury, Statesville, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Washington, Hendersonville, Oxford, Lenoir, and other foremost schools of the State. The committee promoting this debating union has been active in arranging the query to be debated, the prize to be awarded, and other technicalities toward making the union a thorough-going one. The prize, by name "The Aycock Memorial Cup", will be a contribution by the local chapter of the Tau Kappa Alpha fraternity, which is composed of inter-collegiate Carolina debaters.

The query that will be debated by members of the union is: "Resolved, That the constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow women to vote under the same qualification as men." Increased interest is added to this query because of the recent election in Oregon, Michigan, Kansas, and Arizona, in which amendments were adopted allowing women to vote.

This movement will be brought directly to the attention of the teachers of the State at the meeting of the Teachers' Assembly, in Greensboro, November 27-30, by Mr. C. E. McIntosh, of the Durham High School, who was influential in planning the whole scheme.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, at a recent meeting in Atlanta, was reelected President of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association.

AMATEURS HOLD A NO-HOOK NIGHT

Buglese Rights and the Huff-Maniac Reek With Puns While the Team Plays Smokers

TOLSON STARS THROUGH CENTER

Members of the Faculty Perform for the Amusement of the Hazers While the Shades of Parker and Lesley Look On.

An Amateur Night where there was no call of "Get the hook"; an Amatour Night where there was more fruit, raisins, crackers and cheese, cigars and cigarettes, than the crowd could consume; an Amateur Night where professors sat on tables and stood on tables, and students put their feet up as high as they pleased, threw banana peels and cigar stumps on the floor, and where even "Cizzors" smoked a coffin tack; such an Amateur Night did the Dramatic Club pulled off in the reception hall of the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening. Needless to say, it was an unqualified success, both from a social and a dramatic standpoint.

There was no regular program; Amateur Night precludes such an idea. Walter Stokes opened the evening by reading a negro poem which struck the keynote of the evening — a good time. Then things started up. When Meeks felt like singing, he sang. Anyone played as the spirit moved him. Occasionally the whole crowd, about eighty-five, sang a college song. Doug Rights mounted the table and set everyone laughing with a string of puns on the names of the various college students. Tolson, who was the particular star of the evening, pulled off some good comic reciting, and at any pause during the rest of the evening, he was called on and always responded with something worth seeing or listening to, or both. He was good at anything from poetry to dancing His composition on the billy goat was fine, but as he said "The goat lost out when noses was fust invented. His clog occompanied by Lipscomb with his mouth organ, brought down the house. Cogging, Strong and Bogan volunteered to shake a foot. John Johnson entertained the club for some time with amusing sketches and jokes. He requested that while he talked everyone be quiet as one mule braying at a time was enough.

Being as how Thursday will be a holiday, and as how the print shop force will very probably—odds seven and a half to two—be in a sad state of demoralization about that time, the able business manager of the Tar Heel with a clarifying perspicuity of perception decided that the publication should be published before that day. In his decision the board of editors acquiesced. For these reasons the sheet now appears.

On Thanksgiving Day the state University and the state College of Agricultural and Mechanic Arts will play the state University of Virginia and the Washington and Lee University of Virginia respectively. One plays in Richmond; the other in Norfolk—both in the enemy's territory, though North Carolina has many loyal sons and supporters in each place. A. & M., here's to you. May North Carolina prevail in both placee.

The safe and sane mass meeting Friday night was of the right kind. There was no bon fire built to cook up enthusiasm, nor band present to stir it while being cooked. It was just a plain mass meeting of the students without any frills. The songs and yells were practiced. Then a few speeches were made reminding us of our duty to the team whether it be a winning or a losing one. The essence of it with regard to the fact that we have a good fight ahead of us was, "God Al-mighty hates a quitter."

It looks good to us to see these old Carolina players back on the Hill to help us get the team in shape for the Virginia game. It makes us begin to bubble with confidence. We like to think of the good old days when they were here playing and beating up everything that they ran against. We know that they by their presence and encouragement can make the team fight better and better; and we know that their advice to the men and their individual coaching of the men will have the right effect.

The student body feels better when they see former Carolina players back helping coach the team. We know that the alumni as always are heart and soul with us.

WITH FLYING COLORS.

"Last year we expected to win and sent up four hundred men to see the game in Richmond; this year we are doubtful about winning and should send up eight hundred." Mr. Booker said this at the mass meeting Friday night and rapped the nail on the head when he said it.

It doesn't take much of a man to throw up his hat and shout when the returns are coming in right. Anybody with a hat and a mouth can do that. But it does require a littls manhood to yell at ths top of your voice and vociferate that your crowd is the best crowd on the face of the ball when the odds are against you.

The idea has got abroad among some that we are going to Richmond on a sort of forlorn hope. Funny how ideas get abroad isn't it? It seems that as soon as a man admits that he has a good stiff fight ahead of him everyone concludes at once that the man is beat. If he goes ahead and says that he is sure to beat, although he knows that there are going to be about fifty points against him to his none, then everyone catches some kind of a betting confidence in him, offers two to one odds on him, and winds up a hearty unsupporter of his erstwhil hero. But about that idea of the "forlorn hope"—everybody who knows the team knows that the "forlorn hope" supposition is a mere gaseous illusion, an airy fantasy, an empty nothing. An Alumnus of Virginia while talking to one of our athletic authorities in Greensboro said that if Carolina would fight against Virginia Thanksgiving like she did against Georgetown for the first half and against Washington and Lee for the first quarter, then Carolina was bound to win She couldn't help herself. "Forlorn hope," say, fellows, I want a bag of peanuts.

Now, that's better.

Let's every drad rotted one of us, who can, go to Richmond and give the team our unlimited support. Now is the time that they need it. They are going up there and give those Virginian's 'ell. We are going to have a fighting team on that day. Let's be there and see it.

Among some of the old men and many of the new, there seems to be a well-defined idea that grass was made to walk on, but that treading upon the paths is taboo. The paths are already there, they seem to think, and walking upon them will do no good. On the other hand, there are some spots of grass through which there are no paths. By walking upon the grass in these places regularly enough and persistently enough, these men hope to be able to add something to the received paths of the time, created new paths, and thus become constructive forces in the life here. This is probably the manner of reasoning which they would adopt if they should stop to think. But the majority of them do not stop to think about it. If they should stop to philosophize they would probably do as Hamlet did—nothing. We hope that since paths are made to walk on and grass to look at, that these devotees of the New Order of Path Makers will stop a moment, think, philosophize, and become inactive Hamlets so far as the pursuit of making paths is concerned. May they leave that to Orange county's next representative.

The Dramatic Club smoker Friday night was one of the most successful and one of the most thoroughly enjoyable affairs that have been pulled off here in some several time. Everybody there was happy. We ate and we laughed and we smoked; then we turned around and did it all over again. After that we smoked and laughed and ate. Then we did that again. Next we sought a new combination. Then we went in for permutations. Next mixed combinations and permutations indiscriminately and finally wound up by not caring in which order we did them just so they were done. On with the smokers; let joy be unconfined.

OUR COLORED SUPPORTERS.

The following was written by one of Carolina's most loyal supporters. He is the head waiter (colored) at the University Inn. If he can support the team like this, then what ought we, the students, to do? We publish it just as it was handed to us, without any alterations:

We are going to Richmond on

We are going Five hundred if you think Virginia is winning that day

You sure are thinking wrong

THANKSGIVING DANCES

Social Glorification Comes On December 5-6

The annual Thanksgiving dances will be held in the Bynum Gymnasium Thursday and Friday nights, December 5th and 6th. The first dance will be given by the Order of the Gorgon's Head, and the leaders will be Kenneth R. Ellington, Floyd Whitney, and Thad Page. The German Club dance comes on December 6th. George Carmichael is the leader, with George Strong and Frank Drew assistants.

From present indications the usual number of visiting young ladies will attend and there is every prospect for a brilliant two days of social activities. Besides the regular dances there will be other social functions. On Friday afternoon, December 6th, the Junior Order of Gimghouls will be at home to the faculty and students, and on Friday night the combined Glee Club and Orchestra will give a concert in Gerrard Chapel.

CAROLINA vs. A. and M.

Cross-Country Race To Be Held On Dec. 14th

Arrangements have been made for a cross-country race with A. & M. to be held here on December 14th. There is a chance that Wake Forest may enter a team also.

Each institution will be represented by a team of from four to seven men. The start and finish will be from in front of the Post Office and the course will cover four miles, the exact location to be decided later. Captain Patterson has had men out working for several weeks and Carolina should be well represented. The two Pattersons, Spence, Cobb and Harrison loom up as the best candidates. Other men are urgently needed, however, and all candidates will be welcomed.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

The combined Glee Club and Orchestra will give its first concert of the year on Friday, December 6th in Gerrard Chapel. From present indications the performance will excel that of previous years.

Practice has been held regularly under the direction of Mr. Sneath and Mr. Woollen. An unusually large number of men tried for places and several stars have been discovered. Among the new features of the concert will be solos by Messrs. Meeks and McCorkle, in addition to Mr. Sneath. A string quartette from the mandolin club will be heard for the first time in a medley of popular airs. The usual chorus and quartette will perform with a variety of new songs. The orchestra has been reorganized and is undoubtedly better than before. The whole concert promises to be of a high order and will be witnessed by a large crowd.

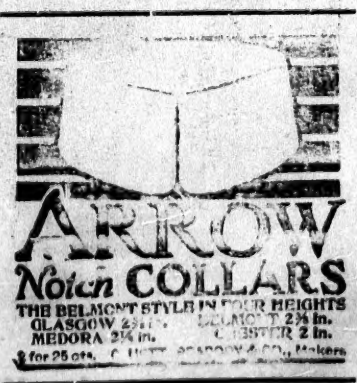
MR. WARREN'S PARTY CAUSES HIM TO BE ADOPTED BY THE SENIORS

Mingling together in the best of good fellowship, the Senior Class last Saturday night enjoyed a birthday spread and smoker at the hands of Mr. J. A. Warren, Treasurer of the University. The occasion was highly enjoyed by all present. It was rendered especially enjoyable by reason of several side issues, the reading of four pages from "Huffman's Book of Puns" by Doug Rights, the christening of Mr. Warren as the first child born to the Class of 1913 by M. T. Spears, and the obstinate refusal of Jim Carter to clog-dance.

In behalf of the Class, Miss Kasey, Vice President, presented to Mr. Warren a meerschaum pipe as a birthday present. The whole Class joined her in extending to Mr. Warren thanks for his hospitality and in wishing for him many happy returns of the day.

The Archibald D Murphy Education Club met last Thursday night. A large number of students and members of the faculty, together with their wives, was present. The program consisted of talks by Prof. Noble, on "Archibald D. Murphy," by Horace Sisk, on the "Impressions of a New Student at the University," and G. B. Phillips on "Compulsory Education."

"Fifty Thousand Miles With Uncle Sam's Army."



The above is the title to an interesting narrative of the experiences of a Varsity boy as an officer in the Army. The author, Major John W. Norwood, is also author of a work that is more often quoted in Chapel Hill than any other—"Yackety-Yack, Hooray, Hooray——!"

The book is exceedingly interesting and is written in popular style. Paper bound, sent to any address, postpaid, for 25c.

"Last year with a good chance of our team's winning we sent five hundred men to Richmond; this year with a doubtful chance of our team's winning let's show our colors and go up to Richmond eight hundred strong. And remember that the game is never won or lost until the whistle has blown at the end of the fourth quarter."

Manager McLendon stated that final arrangements had been made for the excursion to Richmond. The train will leave Chapel Hill at 12:01 a. m. Thursday, getting to Richmond at 7:35 a. m. Returning it will leave Richmond at 12:01 a. m. Friday, arriving at Chapel Hill at 7:35 a. m. Mr. McLendon also said that the Athletic Association had been fortunate enough to secure the services of "Doggie Trenchard", George Thomas, "Coach" Simmons, George Stephens and others to aid in coaching the team. The work of these former football stars will be seen in an improved team Thanksgiving.

Walter Stokes closed the meeting with a few rousing yells, after announcing that there would be a great big mass meeting out on the field every afternoon until Thanksgiving, and a still greater mass meeting in the lobby of the Jefferson Hotel at Richmond just before the game.

Next Sunday morning Mr. Moss will preach at the Presbyterian Church on "The Essentials (the Fundamentals) of Christainity." It will be a sermon which should interest college students.

J. B Halliburton, '12, of Charlotte, is on the Hill for a few days.

AMATEURS HOLD NO HOOK NIGHT

During the evening, Polly Parrott and Dunbar, who had taken a five minutes correspondence course in telegraphy, received a continuous report of the Thanksgiving game. As Doug Rights was the sender, the results were very satisfactory. The audience applauded wildly as brilliant plays were called off. In quick succession was received: "Tillett kicks off from middle of field - Va. downed in his tracks' -ball on Carolina's ten yard line. Applewhite goes through for two inches. Abernathy on a brilliant end run, makes ten yards over center." In the last few minutes of play Carolina woke up and did things:Carolina's ball - center of field. Tillett twenty around left; Applewhite, six over tackle; Little Ab, twelve through center; Moore, ten more. Ball now on Carolina's two yard line. Ball goes over! The game ended as Va. kicked——at the referee.

The crowd called for Booker. With two steps and a leap, he was on the platform and telling about the evening in poetry. Then Prof. McKie gave two well rendered dialect poems. Both gentlemen were heartily encored.

After singing "the good old song" the crowd reluctantly disbanded thinking eagerly of the promised future Amateur Nights.

AN ALUMNUS SPEAKS

Another Virginia game is at hand. Not in six years have we won. Every year we have hoped to win. And now we want to win with all the power of devoted young hearts. Comparative scores say that we will lose again. It is not for us to gainsay the science of figures but we have the right in Carolina's name to rise above them by the power of out spirit and by the might of every fighting Tar Heel ounce of us, pounded, bruised, aching, but always fighting joyously through four hard quarters till the last fierce down. If we win, let ours be the winner's generous joy; if we lose, the fighters game blessedness. Carolina—— may she be ever a fighter. For one one fight more, godspeed!

VIRGINIA SWAMPS CAROLINA, 66 TO 0

Worst Defeat Tar Heels Have Ever Received on the Gridiron

CAPTAIN TILLETT'S WORK WAS BRILLIANT

On a Field Made Heavy by the Snow Virginia Shows Her Best Form and Plays Havoc With Carolina

Swept off their feet by an attract that had everything, Carolina went down before Virginia on Thanksgiving Day by the one-sided score of 66 to 0, probably the largest score that has ever been made against a Carolina team. Virginia played her most brilliant game of the year and gave a wonderful exhibition.

Carolina was out-classed from the start. In the first quarter she managed to reach the 3 yard line, put after that was continually on the defensive and was never in a position to score.

It was in the line that Virginia's superiority was manifested most clearly. She gained frequently around the ends and Todd onceran 70 yards to a touchdown. But from end to end the Orange and Blue was supreme. Holes were opened up big enough to let the whole backfield through; so that the interference, perfectly formed, hit the secondary defense men, runner generally getting back to Tillett. There he was stopped, though, for the Tar Heel captain tackled in deadly fashion. Tillett's playing was the only creditable work done by the Tar Heels. He was fighting all the time, and had he not been playing, there is no telling what the score would have been. He made the only substantial gains for Carolina and was a tireless worker. He closes his football career at Carolina, after a disastrous season, it is true, but with the reputation of a great captain and one of the very best players that ever wore the White and Blue.

Mayer, a new man on the Virginia team, starred in the backfield, making five touchdowns, while Todd was more of a speed artist than ever; and that despite a heavy field after the snow the night before. About 6,000 persons saw the game, including Alumni from all over North Carolina.

Virginia got the jump at the start by pulling off a fake kick-off which was recovered by Woolfolk. Caralina held for downs and gained possesion of the ball. Jones passed it over Tillett's head, but Tillett gained possession of the ball and kicked out of danger. Virginia could not gain and tried forward passes unsuccesslully. Tillett again punted and then Virginia struck her stride and went down the field for a touchdown, Smith going over. Immediately after came Carolina's first and only chance. Two fumbles by Todd gave her the ball on Virginia's 25 yard line. Tillett swung around right

DEBATE CALLED OFF

Washington and Lee Cancels for Unknown Reasons

The debate which was to be held this year between Carolina and Washington and Lee University has been canceled by the latter institution. A letter which was received a few days ago from the Lexington school conveys this rather surprising news. Uhe reason for the cancelingf on Washington and Lee's part seems hazy; the letter merely stated that they had seen fit to cancel the debate, because, it appeared from the letter, Carolina, with the negative side of the query, refused to give her opponents the last rejoinder.

This news comes as a distinct surprise and disappointment inasmuch as in the two previous debates between these schools each instition had won one debate and this contest was thus expected to break the tie. Messrs. J. C. Busby, '13, of the Di Society, and H. C. Petterway, '13, of the Phi Society, had already been chosen to represent Carolina in this debate. On the whole, the general impression of the campus is that more definite news as to the cause of the canceling would gladly be received from our sister institution to the north.

COUNCIL ON FOOTBALL

Different Plans Proposed to the Help Situation

The Greater Student Council held the first regular meeting of its existance Monday night in the Y. M. C.A. mission room. As the medical and law deparment had not elected their representatives, it was decided to postpone the formation of a permanent organization until the next meeting. W. G. Harry, however, was elected temporary chairman.

The chief subject of discussion was the football situation. Many plans were suggested. Those meeting the greatest approval were; a campaign among the High Schools to increase the interest in football and to make all legitimate inducements to get this material to come to the University, and the movement to get a class coach. An informal meesing will be held, before the Christmas holidays, with a few members of the faculty and an attempt made to start something for the betterment of football.

It was also decided to recommend to the facnlty that men be allowbe allowed to sign away ther damage fees, with the express understanding that the amount these fees to be made pulic.

The representatives recently elected to membership on the greater council are: seuiors, G. B. Philips and M. T. Spears; juniors, Whiting and Chambers; sophomores, T. Boushall and W. P. Fuller; freshmen, B. P. Beard and C. W. Beckwith; pharmacy, CROSS-COUNTRY RUN WITH A. AND M.

First Such Race Ever Held in State Will Take Place Dec. 14th.

PRELIMINARY WILL BE RUN DEC. 7th.

Caroliha Hopes to Make This Event an Annual Affair, and Thereby to Develop Long Distance rnnning

On Saturday December 14th, at 4 p. m. on the Durham road will be staged the first Inter-collegiate cross country run ever held in North Carolina. This race makes a new feature in inter-collegiate athletics in North Carolina, and will be participated in by A. & M., Carolina, and perhaps Trinity and Wake Forest. This race has been inaugurated by Manager Stokes and Coach Cartmell with a view of promoting better athletic relations between State Colleges with a view of giving track men work during the months when track work would otherwise fail to interest, and with a view of developing better distance runners in the different colleges. It is given by the track department of the University and its promoters hope and intend that it shall become an annual affair.

These colleges come here as guests of the University, and one half of their expenses will be borne by the Athletic Association.

It is very much to be hoped that Trinity and Wake Forest can be persuaded to enter, as only in this way can they develope the best track teams.

The individual winner of the run will receive a handsome solid gold medal, given by the Athletic Association; and other prizes are expected to be given by the University of North Carolina alumni and friends.

The length of the run will be four miles. It will start at the Post Office and go two miles out Main street and the Durham road, then back and finish at the Post Office.

Each institution will be allowed to start six men, and the first four finishing will count.

The number corresponding to the place each man finisheh in the race will be his individual score and each team's score will be the sum total of the individual scores of its first four men finishing. The team having the largest score will then be declared winner.

The Carolina team will be chosen by a preliminary run which will be held Saturday December 7th, on the course The first six men finishing will receive medals and will represent Carolina on the following Saturday.

N. C. MEN AT TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY

Proffesors M. C. S. Noble, H. W. Chase, N. W. Walker, and C. L. Raper attended the meeting of the Teachers' Assembly in Greensboro last week. Prof. Noble was elected Vice-Fresident of the Assembly for the coming year.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE

First Call for Candidates Reveals Promising Material

A call by Captain Chambers for candidates for the basket ball team to report at the gymnasium at eight o'clock Monday night announced the opening of the basket ball season. The call this year was made a little earlier than last and it is hoped that the squad will get into shape by the Christmas holidays. Only a light practice at goal throwing and a short scrimmage was held the first night to get a line on the new men. There is much good material showing up and there are more men who will come out in a few days. The improvement in those who have been practicing regularly on the outdoor court in the afternoons was especially noticeable. Chambers, Tillett, Carrington, and Smith of last year's team and Long of the team of two years ago and several of last year's scrubs are all out. It is apparent that all positions on the team will be sharply contested and there is a chance for anyone who will come out and work hard and regular. Dr. Lawson has promised to help the squad in every way possible. Considering everything, prospects for a snccessful season look very bright.

Manager Huffman has arranged a heavy schedule of eighteen or twenty games which includes a trip up through Virginia. Games have been arranged with the University of Virginia, V. P. I. Randolph-Macon, and Washington and Lee. We alro have two games each with A &M., Wake Forest, and Guilford. About six of the games will be played on the Hill, among them, Davidson, V. P. I., and possibly Wake Forest. A complete schedule will be published later. The scrubs also should be able to arrange for several games.

PHARMACY MEN HEAR PAPERS

The William Simpson Pharmaceutical Society held its second weekly meeting in the Pharmacy Building. Mr. J. C. Warren read a very interesting paper on Cinchona, describing at some length the history, origin and properties of this much-used drug which yields quinine. He was followed by Mr. J. Hunter Jones, whose paper dealt with the advantages the society affords the student. The third paper was read by Mr. David Heath, his subject being "Belladonna." This plant is of much importance in medicine, it being the source of atropine.

The three papers indicated much thought and study upon the part of the readers and were well recoived by the other members.

Mr. J. G. Beard was asked to serve in the capacity of critic and review each paper before being read. He made a short talk to the society commending the members for their enthusiasm and interest thus far displayed and emphasized the importance of seriousness if permanent good was to result from the society.

EDWIN MARKHAM TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Famous Poet and Literary Man Will be Heard in Chapel Tonight

AUTHOR OF "THE MAN WITH THE HOE"

This Is the First of a Series of Addresses by Prominent Men Which Is Being Arranged by the Faculty

On next Thursday evening, December 5, Edwin Markham, America's most famous living poet, will speak in Gerrard Hall. This lecture will inaugurate the series of lectures to be given throughout the year under the auspices of the University. It is the purpose and the hope of the Committee on Public Lectures to provide, from time to time, lectures and addresses by people of eminence, from North Carolina and from the country at large, which may give stimulus and inspiration to their hearers. Such lectures and addresses, it is believed, will serve a double purpose: to bring to the University from the outside world vital accounts of the newer contributions of scholarship and research, the messages of modern thought and literature, the stories of the larger movements of great events in the world of action; and, indirectly, to acquaint the outside world with a knowledge of the University of North Carolina, its history, progress and contemporary activities.

After years of activity as contributor of verse to prominent magazines, Edwin Markham awoke one day, literally, to find himself famous, in the larger sense, as author of The Man With the Hoe. Unlike many another poet whose fame remains founded upon a single contribution, Edwin Markham has steadily gained in power and strength of appeal since 1899, the year of the publication of his famous poem. Other poems written since that time rival if not surpass The Man With the Hoe in beauty of expression and emotive force, notably The Sower and Lincoln. Today, Edwin Markham, by virtue of worthy achievement and general recognition, stands out as America's premier poet. Eloquent speaker, as well as famous poet, Edwin Markham should have on Thursday night a large and fully appreciative audience from the University and from Chapel Hill.

Praise for Alumni Review from Many Sources

The editor of the Harvard Bulletin writes Dr. L. R. Wilson congratulating him on the excellence of the initial number of the Alumni Review. It was, he says, both "handsome and interesting", From all quarters of the State andcountry Dr. Wilson, the editor-in-chief, has received letters commenting on the general excellence and worthiness of the publication. The December number of the Review will be out in a short time,

Like all other weekly papers we agree that the weather man slipped one over on us the night before.

The motto of the University is, "It is better to smoke now than to smoke hereafter." The Phis have joined the smokers' brigade.

There were all kinds of amusing and tragic things that happened at Richmond and en route there and here Thanksgiving Day. These things written up and turned in to the Yackety Yack will help get out a good annual and also count towards obtaining the writer a free copy of the Yackety Yack.

The football season has closed. It is now a thing of the past. It will live only as history. Before us is our work. In athletics the next thing is basketball. Let us cease at once to adorn all our old lounging places with the happy radiance of our presence while debating backwards and forward the pros and cons of how many yards we were from goal in the third game of the season, fourth quarter, and first minute, what play we didn't make and couldn't have made. Let us get to work, and every man in college who has any ability, go out and make a try at basketball. It will not take long to find wheather you have the makings in you or not. If you have—good; if you haven't—no worse than at present.

We should like to hear the sermon which Mr. Moss preached in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning delivered in Gerrard Hall some time during the year as a University Sermon. The sermon was much better than many of those delivered here under the auspices of the University each year. It was on the kind of subject, too, that we need sermons—good ones—about. Mr. Moss preached on "The Essentials Of Christianity" in a broad way. "The Essential Of Religion" would be just at good a title. We have heard several students who were present at the sermon express the wish that it could be delivered as a University sermon We hope that arrangements can be made for the delivery of this sermon to the student body, Hall?

THE SCRUBS

The members of the scrub team each year contribute about same amount towards getting out the Varsity as do the members of the Varsity themselves. If it were not for them the Varsity would not be possible. Yet the Varsity gets the headlines while the scrubs catch Hell.

This year there were men who went out for tha football team and worked faithfully for it when they knew that they had no chance to make it. Some of these will have another chance at it next year, some the year after; but there were not a few for whom this year will be the last. Those who have another try for it have worked with manhood that when they get that other try they will have more goods to deliver. These are the men who make good in whatever they go into. They do not ask for silver platters bearing to them the gifts of the gods; they only ask for a chance. If given this self-reliant they fight for the things they want.

The others, those who get no other chance, wear upon their brows the laurel-wreathed crowns of the victor. True they did not make the team; but they made it by proxy. They helped make the Varsity the best possible for the tools we had to work with. Without them we would have done worse.

If we only had more men like them here!

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT NOW

Below we publish an editorial from the "University Daily Kansan", the paper of the school of journalism at the University of Kansas. It has to do with faculty-students smokers. The University of Michigan has these smokers. At the University of Wisconsin the student paper is working for them. We do not know how many others of the progressive western Universities are employing them to bridge a serious gap that is felt at practically all the Universities in the United States. This Kansan editorial expresses our sentiments pretty well:

"There should be more of a feeling of fellowship between students and faculty members is a statement that goes unchallenged, but plans on how to bring about such a feeling are noticeably lacking.

"It seems as if the faculty is afraid to start anything, perhaps fearing the undergraduate turndown, while the student hesitates to take the first steps, dreading lest he be classed as fresh, and a genuine bore to persons who have really weighty matters to occupy their attention.

"However it may be, it is true that there is but little personal interest between the two. And in view of the fact that no plans have been suggested to change this state of acquaintance, the Daily Kansan wishes to propose a scheme by which the two may come in time to regard one another as beings actually capable of becoming intelligent companions. The scheme is not an original one, and despite difficulties attached, it ought to work out here.

"The idea is a student-faculty smoker at which informal discussions of university affairs could be held, and at which plans for the betterment of Kansas in particular could be brought out. Of course, some do not smoke, and then there is the objection that there is no building adequate to the purpose. Why not Fraser

"It would be a radical step to make smoking in a University building legal, but the meetings would not be oftener than once a month, and the benefit to be derived from them would more than offset any objections that might be raised."

For the benefit of the new and unsophisticated partakers of the joys and pains of University life here, we shall drop a little hint, which, if it falls not on too stony ground, may be productive. Each year about ten days after we return from the blissful celebration of Christmas, the regular class work of the University is suspended, in order that the students may undergo a "little "test" on the work of the fall term. Now there has been only one person in the history of this institution who could study during the Christmas holidays—and most of the authorities are inclined to regard him as a myth. It is rather hard to do a term's work in the ten days between our return from the holiday dissipations and the time of the beginning of Exams. Hint: Begin to review now.

LIFE'S VICTORS

SAMUEL H. LYLE, JR.

For these, the world-applauded ones, the few
Who dream, and, waiting, realize the dream
In full fruition, finding all things true
In life; the seekers of the rainbow gleam,
Whose feet have trod the smooth and rose-strewn way
That lies through lands of joy, and leads along
The fields that bloom with everlasting May,—
For these, Life's favored ones, I have no song.

'Tis those who strive, and find the striving gall,
Replete with failure all the toiling years,
Yet face the blows and smile, knowing the fall,
And have no part with cravens or with tears;
The victors they of Life, counting the cost,
Who fight, unbeaten still, when all is lost.

COLLEGE MAN TO TALK ON CHINA

Mr. Arthu, Rugh, of New York, will speak in Chapel, Tuesday night, Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock on the present conditions in China.

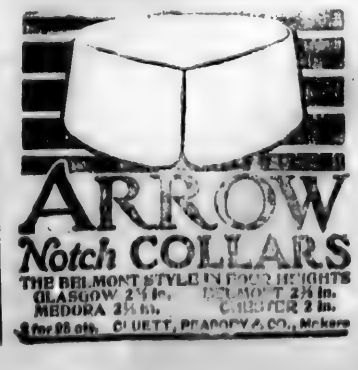
Mr. Rugh graduated from Wittenberg college in Pennsylvania in 1901 and whi'e in college was president of the Young Men's Christian Association, president of his class in his sophomore and senior years, was a member of the college glee club, basket ball team, pitcher on the baseball team, and captain in his senior year.

In 1901 he was state college secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of Ohio, and the year following travelled for the Student Volunteer Movement. He is at present national student secretary for China, having entered the service in that field in 1903.

During his six years in China he travelled through most of the provinces visiting practically all of the important cities in the interests of the Association, and was on the inside of the student life while the revolution was brewing.

Mr. Rugh presents the conditions in China and the opportunities before the Church and Young Men's Christian Associations with singular attractiveness and ability. His address will be of peculiar interest to the students and faculty of the University since he is familiar with Mr. Barnett's field of labor.

LAWYERS WILL HAVE TRIAL



Famous Case to Be Contested in Public

What became of "Jennie Brice," the Pittsburg actress, who so mysteriously disappeared from her boarding house one day during the floods of 1907? Blood stains were found on the boat-rope that is supposed to have borne Jennie to a watery grave. Murder is suspected and circumstancial evidence is strong against the accused. Will the accused be convicted? The whole story and some more will be told in Gerrard Hall on December 13, by the very best legal talent of the law department. It will be seen in the most novel mock trial of the fifty or more years of history of the law department. The original story of Jennie Brice is to be found in three installments of "Everybody's Magazine," as told by the charming novelist, Mary Roberts Rinehart. This mock trial as given by the law school is to contest for cash prizes offered by "Everybody's Magazine" for the best trial held in North Carolina. The first prize will be $100, second prize $50, third prize $25, and two $10 prizes. An opportunity will be given the University law school to contest for a national prize of larger sum than offered in the State. This novel event will be the single interesting entertainment given by the law school during the year. Chapel Hill folks will have the opportunity of enjoying the most unique entertainment of the season free of expenses. The attorneys that will unravel the mysterious murder of the actress and battle over the legal points of the case have been chosen on both sides. Representing the State will be: J. W. Morris, H. E. Stacy, John W. Hester, and W. L. Warlick; representing the defendant: L. A. Swicegood, G. H. Ward, B. F. Taylor, and J. J. Henderson. The presiding judge will be Prof. P. H. Winston.

Yackety Yack Announcement

"It is the purpose of the editors and managers of the Yackety Yack to get out a book this year which will be of the highest quality that the finances of the publication will allow. However we do not intend to overstep the bounds of sound business judgment in expenditures in order that the annual be "better than ever before." But at the same time we will make such changes and additions as will place our book among the best in the south, and make it "something different" from the ordinary run of Yackety Yacks. We believe that our plan is the one that student sentiment and sound judgment dictates.

"There will be no increased charges for space except for the clubs. This is necessary on account of an additional feature of an extra picture to be used in connection with the usual picture. There will be a material reduction in the total charges to a number of the organizations in college on account of a change of plan in the arrangement.

"All material, photographs, etc. to be used in the annual must be turned over to the editors before the Christmas holidays, unless special arrangements are made for them to be handed in later. But on no account will material be accepted later than January 10th. Every student in college who is interested in the success of the annual is urged to write something, humorous or otherwise, or make snapshots, or to suggest novelties in the makeup of the book.

"SENIORS—All seniors who have not had their pictures made must see the Editor-in-Chief, A. L. M. Wiggins, before Saturday night, and make reservation for space. Otherwise, your space will be omitted in the makeup of the senior section. All seniors are urged to arrange with George Holton for having a characteristic picture made.

"JUNIORS—Juniors who have not had their pictures made, must arrange with Joe Caldwell in regard to same before Saturday night. Otherwise a blank space will be left opposite your name in the makeup of the book.

"STATISTICS—All statistics must be turned in before Saturday night.

"ORGANIZATIONS—All organizations in college of which a picture has not been make, must make reservations with the Editor-in-Chief, if they are to have space in the annual.

"SNAPSHOTS—Every student in college who owns a camera or is interested in making snapshots should join the camera club. Give your name to R. C. Spence, Secretary, and turn over to him any pictures you have and all you make. All these must be turned in by December 18th."

IF YOU HAVE A KODAK, GET BUSY

The Yackety Yack managers have turned the enthusiasm of the kodak fiends among the student body to some acconnt by organizing a kodak club for the purpose of obtaining interesting, peculiar, and characteristic pictures of college life for publication in the annual. Any one who has kodak is eligible and is urged to hand his name to W. S. Beam. There are at present twenty-seven members. Any kind, size, or shape of picture may be submitted to R. C. Spence, and the best, to the number of possibly fifty, will be used in the Yackety Yack. The one submitting the best picture will receive free a Yackety Yack. People prominent in college life, interesting college rooms, unusual campus scenes, and similar pictures are especially desired. In order to encourage this work all developing will be done by C. W. Millender and the films paid for by the managers of the picture department.

The officers of the organization are: W. S. Beam, President: P. R. Bryan, Vice-President; R. C. Spence, Secretary and Treasurer; and C. W. Millender, official developer.

The picture of the club itself will be taken this week.

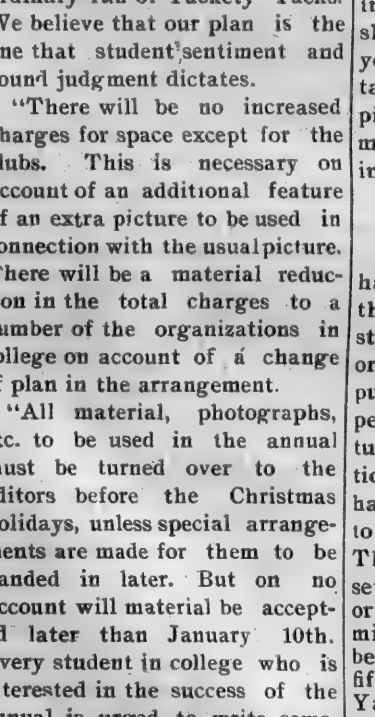
end for 15 yards and Carolina went wild with excitement. Moore grided 2 yards, Smith was thrown for no gain, Tillett got 4 more, but Moore failed to gain and the ball went to Virginia on her 3 yard line.

The deluge came in the second period. Todd in the first few minutes broke loose for 70 yards and a touchdown. In rapid succession Mayer made three touchdowns, most of the gaining being of the line plunging type. A forward pass to Finlay helped for the score and several 15 and 20 yard dashes by Todd gave the line plungers a chance. Carolina played as in a daze and was helpless before the powerful attack.

Virginia started off with her same team in the second half. Receiving the kick, Todd made 20 yards, Landes 20 more on a forward pass, Mayer made 15 more in two rushes, and Todd slipped through for a touchdown. After several exchanges Virginia intercepted a forward pass in Carolina territory. Smith and Mayer smashed through again and brought the score up to 48 to 0.



The Virginians could not be held and Finlay soon recovered a short punt and ran it back to the 10 yard line where Mayer made his fifth touchdown.

In the final quarter Virginia substituted seven freshmen and they played havoc with the Tar Heels. Right through the line they came, 10 and 15 yards at a clip until Cook added another touchdown. A thirty yard dash by Acrel and plunges through the line by Cook gave the final touchdown and ended the most disastrous day in Carolina football history.

The line-up:

VIRGINIA	POSITION	CAROLINA
Wood	Center	Jones
Carter	Right guard	Abernathy
Woolfolk	Right tackle	Jennings
Finlay	Right end	Homewood
Gooch	Quarter	Smith
Todd	Right half	Moore
Smith	Full	Applewhite

Touchdowns: Smith, Todd (2), Mayer (5), Cook (2). Goals: Carter (5), Maiden (1). Substitutes: Carolina, Strange for Huske. Long for Homewood, Dortch for Johnson, Blalock for Applewhite, Harris for Long, Tayloe for Moore, DeVane for Tayloe, Tillett for Dortch; Virginia, Randolph for Gooch, Maiden for Jett, Gooch for Randolph, Farrow for Carter, Gillette for Finlay, Acree for Mayer, Groner for Acree, Loretz tor Landes, Brown for Redus, Cook for Smith. Officials: Neilson, (Nebraska), referee; Donnelly, (Trinity), umpire; Poe, (Princeton), linesman. Time of quarters, 15 minutes.

EDWIN MARKHAM SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

America's Most Famous Poet Interests a Representative Audience

READS AND INTERPRETS HIS OWN POEMS

Discusses Relation of Poetry and Science and Speaks in High Praise of Edgar Allen Poe.

Inaugurating a series of lectures to be given under the auspices the University through provisions recently made by the Trustees, last Thursday night Edwin Markham, one of the most distinguished of living American poets, addressed the student body. "Racy, redolent of the sail" was the apt phrase with which he was introduced by Dr. Archibald Henderson, whose guest Mr. Markham was while in Chapel Hill.

The theme of Mr. Markham's lecture was the relation of poetry to science. He undertook to show that both have come to make the unkonwn known, to reveal hidden truth. Poetry cannot and will not, said he, be destroyedby science. Science removes one veil to discover another mystery. Poetry shows our relations to the unknown, to the infinite. Poetry is truth. It comes with a message, an authenticty that declines to be questioned. Thetrue poet, who is both poet and seer, proceeds by law just as does the scientist. The poet, when he has siad a thing, has said it for all time. Why? Because of the absolute simplicity with which he says it. The simple style, which Matthew Arnold calls the grand style, is the expression of a significant thing in unsurpassable simplicity.

The poet comes with assurance. You caatch more of the Greek spirit from the Iliad than from all the histories of Greece. More of the spirit of the Renaissance, its pride, ostentations, hypocrisy, can be got from Browning's philosophical poem, "The Bishop Orders his Tomb," than from any history of that age. Likewise it is to the poet that we turn to get the essential spirit of a race, of a nation, of man.

Mr. Markham spoke briefly of some of America's foremost men of letters. Poe and Lanier, in his judgment, represent the high water mark that poetry reaches in the South. Emerson and Poe are the most distinctly original geniuses that this country has produced. Poe is our most complete artist. Aristotle said that the mission of the artist is to complete the incomplete designs of nature. Art is nature plus the artist. The artist sees that great beauty through his imaginations This is what Poe did and this it is that makes him immortal.

In connection with his discussion of Poe, Mr. Markham read a poem that he had written in remembrance of this Southern genius, "Our Isrefel." His next

"BIG" ABERNATHY CHOSEN

Carolina's Star Linesman Next Captain

Lonnie Lee Abernathy, '14, of Mecklenburg County, will captain the football team of 1913. This was decided Wednesday at a meeting of those who played in the Virginia game. "Big Ab" has played right tackle for the past three years and his work during that time has generally been well above the average. He came to the University in 1910 from Oak Ridge where he learned the rudiments of the game under "Farmer" Moore. He made the team from the very first, beating out an N. C. man and a former A. & M. star in his Freshman year. Since that time he has been the main-stay of the line. While not particularly fast on his feet, "Ab's" great natural strength has won for him a conspicuous place in South Atlantic football and he has more than once been mentioned for all-star teams. He stands well over six feet and weighs in good shape about 188 pounds.

The coaching plans for next year have not been decided. Abernathy should have good material. From this year's squad, Tillett, Stevens, Wakely, and Strange will probably be the only men lost. With an abundance of experienced men, the Universit will expect a decided improvement in results.

PREP SCHOOLS WILL COMPETE HERE

At a recent meeting of the Teachers' Assembly in Greensboro, the high school principals of the east central district decided to hold athletic and literary contests between their students at Chapel Hill sometime next April. Prof. Walker extended to the principals a hearty invitation, on behalf of the University faculty and students, to hold this meet here instead of elsewhere as it has been heretofore, and they gladly accepted his offer. This move will be welcome news in Chapel Hill, inasmuch as it is a practical step toward encouragins athletics and speaking in public among the high school students of the State. The features of the meet will be a declamation contest, a track meet, a base ball game, and other things.

A TWO-MEMBER STAR COURSE NUMBER GREETED BY LARGE CROWD

Monday night in Gerrard Hall the Le Barge Concert Company gave the third of a series of Star Courses. A full house greeted and enjoyed the performance. The company although consisting of only two persons, Mr. John Le Barge and Miss Ethel Zimmer, rendered one of the most enjoyable programs of the year. Mr. LeBarge was a distinct hit in his negro-dialect songs, and in his character imitations. In his black art he was not up to the standard. Miss Zimmmer sang very beautifully several Southern melodies. At the piano she was especially good.

THE THANKSGIVING DANCES HELD

Fall Festivities Rendered Successful by Visitors From All Over State

GORGON'S HEAD AND GERMAN CLUB DANCES

Gymnasium Beautifully Decorated—Kenneth Ellington the Leader of the First Dance and George Carmichael of the Second.

The annual Thanksgiving dances were held in Bynum Gymnasium on Thursday and Friday nights, December 5th and 6th and were attended by the usual large crowd of visiting young ladies. The first dance was given by the Order of the Gorgons Head and was led by Kenneth R. Ellington with Thad Page and Floyd Whitney as assistants. The Friday night dance was given by the German Club. George Carmichael was the leader and Frank Drew and George Strong were assistants. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated, the first night in purple, and the second night in blue and white. Faulty's Orchestra from Raleigh furnished the music.

Among the young ladies present were: Misses Katherine Boylan, Elizabeth Johnson, Swindell, Patsey and Griselle Hinton, Betsy John Haywood, Sarah Fenner, Mildred Hall, Bettie Russ. all of Raleigh; Sarah Wilson, and Marie Thomas, of Charlotte; Mildred and Eunice Borden, of Goldsboro; Annie Williams and Marie Pemberton, of Fayetteville; Mary Louise Manning, Douglas Hill, Helen Gribble, and Bessie Erwin, of Durham; Katherine Roddey, of Rock Hill, S. C.; Winnie Nicholson, of Washington; Alice Vanderford, of Sailsbury; Sarah Bacot, of Charleston, S. C.; Lucretia Wilson, of Winston-Salem; Florrie Northrup, of Wilmington; Laura Wise, of Staunton, Va.; Kathleen Long, of Graham; Shepherd Leak, of Wadesboro; Martha B. Spruill, of Rocky Mount; Sadie Williams, of Augusta; Elizabeth Baine, Alice Noble, Annie and Polka McGehee, Louise Venable, Christine Mc Intosh, of Chapel Hill.

Among the Alumni and visitors were Jim Manning, Orin Llyoyd, Tom Pierce, O'Brien Norton, T. C. Worth, W. M. Parsley, J. S. Patterson and Foy Roberson of Durham; Joe Boushal and Tom Guthrie. of Raleigh; Bob McNeil of Fayettville: J. N. Jacobs, of Wilmington; Kenneth Tanner, of Charlotte; Fred Page, of Aberdeen; Kennon Borden, of Goldsboro; A. M. Burt, of Greensboro.

SOPHOMORES TO HAVE SMOKER

At a meeting of the Soph. class on Wednesday last it was decided to have a "smoker" on Monday night Dec. 16th in the Y. M. C. A. lobby.

Short "after-smokers"speeches will be had from several younger members of the faculty and from members of the class.

PRELIMINARY RUN HELD

Cobb Wins In Sensational Finish, "Pat" Second

The finish of the cross country preliminary last Saturday was one of the most exciting finishes ever seen here. Patterson had been leading the race all the way. One hundred yards from the finish "Skeet" Cobb, who had been right behind "Pat" sprinted and passed "Pat", winning the race by a yard or so. Spence was only a short distance behind these two In a few seconds Ransom and little Patterson sprinted neck and neck for the tape. "Ratty" won by a few steps. Next came Whiting and then Robinson. The other three finishing soon after.

The purpose of this race was to select men for the cross country race with A. &M. this coming Saturday. The first six men will enter this race against the runners from A &M. Three such runners as Cobb. Patterson and Spence should give Smith and the other A. &M. boys all they are looking for.

Gold medals were given to the three first men, and silver ones to the next three.

LAWYERS TO FIGHT OVER JENNIE BRICE

The famous Jennie Brice murder case will be tried in Chapel Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The best legal talent that the Law school affords will be seen and heard in this case. Don't fail to be present and hear the outcome of this noted case The attorneys for the prosecution are J. W. Morris,Jr. J. W. Hester, H. E. Stacy, and W. L. Warlick; the attorneys for the defense are L. A. Swicegood, J. J. Henderson, G. H. Ward, and W. F. Taylor.

GLEE CLUB AND ORCHESTRA MAKE A HIT

The development of the Greater University movement goes merrily on. The latest addition to the list of improved college activites is the Glee Club. Before a large audience composed principally of members of the student body and those on the Hill for Thanksgiving dances the Glee Club in conjunction with the orchestra, presented its fall concert Friday night in Gerrard Hall. It was a rattling success. From the first selection by the orchestra to the final song by the whole Glee Club of, "Hark the Sound", the audience gave appreciative attention and enthusiastic encores. The program was well balanced, including vocal and instrumental solos, several quartette numbers, and Glee Club and orchestra selections. The individual members showed the results of carefull and abundant training. The whole performance went off without a hitch and the voices and instruments always worked in perfect harmony. Prof. Sneath and Mr. Woolen, as directors, deserve great credit for their work.

M. H. Meeks was the star of the evening. After his solo, "Rosalind", he was called back and back again by the audience. He

ALL-STATE FOOTBALL TEAM CHOSEN

Raleigh Times Presents One Picked By Frank Thompson and Albert Cox

FOUR CAROLINA PLAYERS HONORED

Writers Speak of Tillett in the Highest Terms, Declaring Him to Have Been the Brains of the Carolina Team.

Richardson	End	Davidson
Hurtt	Tackle	A. & M.
Stevens	Guard	Carolina
Plyler	Center	A. & M.
McQueen	Guard	Davidson
Abernathy	Tackle	Carolina
Strange	End	Carolina
Tillett	Quarter	Carolina
Utley	Half	Wake Forest
Graahm	Half	Davidson
McHenery	Full	A. & M.

The following is taken bodily from the Raleigh Evening Times. The team was picked by Frank Thompson, the Wake Forest coach former A. & M. player, and Albert L. Cox, an old Carolina star.

As the state teams are so far below their usual standard this year, the writers, while exercising their own judgement in the selections, have not been unmindful of the opinions of many qualified to judge football playing ability, some of whom have picked teams for various newspapers.

Owing to the fact that two of the best players in the state took part, one in only one game, and the other in only two, these men being tackle Flyod, of A. &M., and halfback Booe, of Davidson, the writers have not deemed it wise to give them a place on this eleven of honor, notwithstanding the fact that they are without a peer in their positions among college players of the state.

As to the individual playing the writers believe that this year furnishes only one player of outstanding ability, Captain Tillett, quarter back of the Carolina team, who with team-mates of anything like equal playing ability could have wrought havoc with any eleven in this section.

"Left End — Richardson, of Davidson, although a light man is a master of the forward pass, clean tackler, and boxes tackle well.

"Left Tackle—Hurtt, A. & M.. is given the position because of his experience, his hard and sure tackling. and his ability to open holes in the opposing line. He is fast, frequently getting down the field and downing the runner returning the ball.

"Left Guard—Stevens, of Carolina, although inexperienced at guard, is given this position on account of his great place and drop kicking ability, he having put his team in the lead against Wake Forest by a place-kick from the 30-yard line, and tied up the University of South Carolina game with two place kicks.

"Center—Plyler, of A. & M. is given the center position because of his ability to back up the line, get down under punts,

All drags for the Yackety Yack must be in before Christmas. Have you a friend?

Some freshmen are still wearing the swaddling clothes of their prep school. They have brought their fire-cracker torpedoes with them. The babies have to have something to play with.

Lets everybody do a little cognitating and see if we can't find some plan whereby the football team can get to work during the winter and spring and become proficient in that course.

The punters, at least, should be out practciing now.

As Mr. Graham said in Chapel, that Chapel Hill Theaer confusion was so rediculous that one can scarcely be serious about it It was Pickwickian in the most accepted sence of that misused word. Nevertheless — torpedoes are a nuisance.

About that Pickwickian affair- there is no need of any one geting hysterical at all. If everybody will just stop for a few moments and consider the matter calmly they will see that there is no cause for hysterics - unless over the lack of manners evinced by some. The managment was perfectly justified in its course. Put yourselves in their position and see if that is not the way of of it. Forget for a moment that you belong to a specially privileged class of people.

Is two hundred hours per day worth saving? When Cain asked if he was his brothers keeper he probably was not aware that he had raised a question. The extent to which we are his keeper depends — how much do we owe him? How far may we impose upon him? To what extent have we the right to use up his time and not give equivalent value for it — no value except the sad experience? If six hundred students go to Chapel each day and get nothing out of the twenty minutes taken out of their time for that attendance, are those two hundred hours well spent? If the Chapel exercises, as usual, are no good for a week, were those thousand hours well spent? Has any one, or any several ones, the right to waste two hundred hours in one day? We respectfully leave the consideration of these questions to the managers of the Chapel lack of exercises.

PATRICK HENRY TURNS OVER

In the name of common justice, for the sake of that which is next to Godliness and for the right The Tar Heel takes up the immemorable revolt of the student against the hard tyranny of fact. Each year the editor of the paper, urged by all the bathing public, has flamed forth in scathing denunciation of the inadequacy of the bathing facilites here and against the seeming inability of the authorities to overcome that inadequancy. Each year, as regularly, the authorities have either made no effort to remedy conditions, or else they have aroused themselves to the extent of sending the college plumber to inspect the piping. Last year or year before, it was announced in Chapel just before the Christmas holidays, that when the students returned they would find the showers in the gymnasium in such condition as to inspire the hope of a speedy millennium. The students, with more than the patience of Job, are still waiting for that inspiration.

Any-one and every-one who baths at the gymnasium knows that the showers are absolutely inadequate. If the runner, or rnnners, of things here were in the habit of taking baths — in the gymnasium — they would know for themselves the conditions. There are four showers that are good practically all the time, and another that is good most of the time. The rest are practically never available for hot baths. Of the five showers only two are absolutely sure. The other three are good unless there is someone using cold and hot water mixed in the stall before you on the hot water circuit. Under those conditions you get alternate blessings of hot and cold water - all of which give a decided stimulus to the impulse to use very short, pithy, and expressive expletives.

Under these five baths eight hundred students, who pay matriculation fees for good baths, are expected to take their daily showers. Eight or ten men go down to get a bath, a half dozen men leave the gymnasium proper for the showers, five or six men come in from tennis, a half dozen from track; a few athletes come in for their baths - this is going on all the time. Then about five-thirty o'clock thirty men come in from the Varsity football or baseball field, an equal number from the class field, a goodly number from the tennis courts, and some fifteen hangers—on desert the gym. The shower room resembles the inside of a sardine can. Ten students, at the smallest possible count, stand around on the cold, damp, health-destroying floor waiting on each shower. And the whole crowd curse like sailors—with good ard sufficient provocation and reasnn. They eurse the conditions and the men in authority who allow those conditions to exist.

It is with perfect justification that they do this. It is the only way, and that an ineffectual one, of expressing themselves about those whom they pay for good baths but who, knowing that the students are powerless, continue to tyrannically tax without representation and spend without consideration.

We all have friends whom we should like to see immortalized in print. Anyone can bestow this immortality easily — confer renown upon his friends "by a little work". Just drop one in the Drag Box, or tell one of the editors about it.

TO BRING IN THE SHEAVES

In a few more wags of the world, as Shakesphere would express it were he present, the holidays will be here and the majority of us will be at our homes. There we will all have abundant opportunity to be of service to the University. This year the University has been torn by a tremendous double shock — the death of a student through hazing, and the disastrous termination of probably the outwardly most unsuccessful football season in the history of the institution. Both of these factors will militate strongly against the efforts of those who love the University to get good new students here next year. The one will influence the parents and the boys; the other the boys and the parents. Now for our part:

It is up to us, the students, to talk the University sanely, and discuss it honestly and with all frankness with the boys who will be prepared to enter here next year, and with the parents of those boys. If you do not know about the institution, then find out all that you can between now and the holidays - its history, its student self goverment, the ranking of its different departments, its stand in athletics, and its rank among the other colleges and universities of the United States as given by the federal commission on institutions of higher learning. Find out about all these things and then when you go home talk to the prospective students and their parents about them. Don't do it in a spirit or tone of boastfulness as though "Carolina" were the only place on earth; for it isn't — though we all believe that it is

FACULTY HEARD AT MITCHELL SOCIETY

The Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society held its two hundred and second regular meeting Tuesday night in Chemistry Hall.

There were two papers on the program, "Notes on the Construction of the Crest-of-the-Blue-Ridge Highway" by Prof. T. F Hickerson, and "Zonation in the Chapel Hill Stock", by Professor Collier Cobb.

The Crest-of-the-Blue-Ridge Highway is being constructed by the Appalachian Highway Company of which Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt is president. This company is building a section of road from Ashville to Boone, a distance of 140 miles. Of this only 4½ miles have been completed at a cost of $4400 per mile. The average width of the road is 24 feet, with a maximum grade of 4¼ per cent. At present the work is going forward nicely under the efficient direction of supervising engineer Mr. J. B. Clingman, who last year graduated from the University.

Professor Cobb gave only an outline of his paper with a promice to take it up again at the next meeting.

the best. But discuss things here frankly. The University is willing for the people to know the facts about her. She kuows that those facts when compared with the facts about the other higher educational institutions in these parts are her best asset.

It is true that we have not had a howlingly successful football season; but it was about as good as that of any institution in the state, even then - which is not saying much. It is true that a student met his death here this fall through hazing; we are glad to have at any and all times comparisons made between the moral life of the campus here and that of any University in the United States. We invite such comparisons and glory in them whenever they are honestly mabe. We like investigations made in the different departments here made and compared with those at other places. We like comparisons, even, of out faculty with those of other colleges.

Whenever anyone criticises things here, go with as far as he is in the truth. Then, having gone with him one mile, obey the biblical injunction and go with him twain. Take him on and show nim that we know as well as he does that we are not perfect here; but show him that we are working on the defects and intend to be perfect there if such a thing is possible with mortals. And then having discussed those defects with him, take him on for a few more miles and show him a few points in which we are strong. And there are plenty of these. Discuss the University and its affairs frankly with the boys and with their parents. The parents are not so entirely bull-headed as we are inclined to consider them. They would be glad to know the facts before sending their boys off to college. Give them the facts. You will find the parents sane and agreeable "by and large", and will be surprised to find that they are really human, and fair minded. And you may even find that you have enjoyed talking to them, the fathers and mothers, too, about your University, and letting them know the truth about the people you go with - that they are not really cannibls.

"Right Guard—McQueen, of Davidson played an unusually strong game at left tackle, but is shifted to right guard because Hurtt of A. & M. has the call at this position.

"Right Tackle—Abernathy, of Carolina while not especially strong on breaking up plays around the end on account of his slowness, is strong on opening holes in his opponents' line and also on plays directed off tackle.

"Right End—Strange of Carolina, although light, is fast, a good interferer and a hard tackler.

"Quarterback—Tillett, of Carolina, has no equal in this position. He is a good general, of wide experience, versatila, and exceptionally quick and fast. In the opinions of the writers he is the brains of the Carolina team. He is stronger on running back punts than on getting off end runs.

"Left Halfback—Utley of Wake Forest, is a steady player of four years experience. He is a good broken field runner, is fast, a hard tackler, and a strong defensive man.

"Fullback—McHenry' of A. & M., although he played the greatest part of, the season as a tackle, his work in the field in the Thanksgiving game entitles him to a place on this eleven. He is heavy and fast, a strong line plunger, and a great defensive player.

"Right Halfback—A place must be given Graham, of Davidson, who played quarterback all of the season. He is shifted to half-back because of his long experience, his speed and broken field running.

"With Tillett calling signals, Plyler passing the ball, McHenry to hit the line, and Utley and Graham, two great broken field runners, to skirt the ends, Graham to do the punting, Stevens the drop and place kicking, and the line doing its share of the work, this all-state eleven possesses great all-round playing ability, both offensive and defensive."

also appeared in the mandilon club and as first tenor in the quartette. M. L McCorkle. who was aiso in the quartette, gave an excellent violin solo. The quartette's humerous song on the subject of "Women" was a good example of the pleasing class of stunts they pulled off. They were full of short, snappy songs. The audience seemed never to grow tired of encoring them. On the other hand, the selections of the orchestra, as was received, gave the touch of superior musical quality necessary to make the performance an unqalified success. The best instrumental music on the program was the mandolin club's, "Chop Suey". The rollicking expression of the musicians caught the audience at once and helped as much as anything else to make the selection a success; althouhg it would have been so without that. For that matter everything on the program wasgood

At the regular meeting of the William Simpson Pharmecentical Society on last Saturday night, seveaal interesting papers were read. Mr. S. B. Higgins read a paper on "Aconite," which was very instructive. He was followed by Mr. John L. Henderson, who had as his subject "Digitalis." Lastly, was a paper on, "Why a Druggist Should Have a College Education" by Mr. R. C. Canady.

All these papers were well expressed and showed that the writers had put much thought and study on them.

Pedoguges Meet Tonight

The Murphy Education Club will hold its third monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m., Thursday Dec. 12, in the Chemistry building. The following program has been arranged: Science in the Elementary schools, by Dr. H. V. Wilson; Why I came to College by Mr. J. B. Scarborough and Mr. J. W. Carter; The State Teachers Assembly by H. C. Miller.

Everybody is invited to attend this meeting.

The men from Granville county met a few days ago and organized a county club, with the following officers: John W. Hester, President: S. R. Winters, Vice-president: H. Hester, Secretary, and Booth, Tresurer. Last year there were three men from Granville in the University; this year there are fourteen men.

The Twin county club, composed of Nash and Edgecombe counties, has organized with fourteen members. The officers are: E. W. Joyner, President; W. L. Thorp, Vice-President; J. D. Odum, Secretary & Treasurer; R. E. L. Cook, Corresponding Secretary.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. 21 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1912 NO. 14

ALUMNI COME TO AID OF ATHLETICS AND ASK FOR A SHARE OF CONTROL

At a Conference With Representatives From the Faculty and the Students They Submit a Plan of Reorganization

The most significant step that has been taken in Carolina athletics in years was made Monday night when representative Alumni at a conference with the Faculty and students demanded a share in the running of athletics. The definite result of the conference was the recommendation that two committees be formed, on both of which the Alumni are to be represented, one committee to have charge of procuring coaches, the other to have the actual management of athletic affairs, schedules, supplies, looking for material, etc.

The significance of such a meeting as was held, however, cannot be measured in a few words. For years the Alumni have felt that they could help the situation with their experience and advice and knowledge of local conditions. Through successive seasons of humiliating defeat this feeling has grown stronger and stronger and their demand for recognition has become louder. The avalanche on Thanksgiving Day brought matters to a head. Immediately a call was issued for a conference and the session lasting well past midnight on Monday was the result. Representing the Alumni at this meeting were: Walter Murphy, and Stahle Linn, of Salisbury, Brent Drane, George Thomas, and J. A. Parker of Charlotte, Albert Cox, Perrin Busbee and Dr. Claud Abernathy of Raleigh, W. F. Carr and Dr. Foy Roberson of Durham, J. M. Thompson of Graham, and James A. Gary, Jr. of Winston-salem. From the Faculty were Drs. Venable, Herty, Mangum, Raper, Howell, Henderson, Royster, and Professors Graham Patterson, and Winston. Representing the students were L. P. McLendon, graduate manager. W. E. Wakeley, president of the Athletic Association, former captain W. S. Tillett of the football team, and the new captain L. L. Abernathy, Walter Stokes, and Frank Graham from the Greater University Council, and G. L. Carrington, Editor of the Tar Heel.

These men discussed the athletic situation from every view-point for over four hours. Many of the Alumni and Faculty were old Carolina athletes and their opinions bore much weight. It was unanimously agreed that the Alumni system of coaching is correct in theory and by all means the desirable system, provided Alumni sufficiently trained could give their time. This seemed to those present, impossible just now. The old system where by coaches were secured each year from a different institution, sometimes Yale, sometimes Pennsylvania, sometimes Princeton, sometimes another place, was unanimously condemned. It has been tried and found wanting.

The plan proposed by the Alumni is made up from plans now being used at Princeton and Harvard. It is distinguished by introducing the feature of continuity. The head coach shall be procured for not less than three years. He may thus evolve a system of coaching that shall be distinctly Carolinian; a nucleus shall be left to start the year with which has already been trained by the coach.

The plan provides that a committee of seven men to be formed, four alumni to be chosen by the Alumni Council, the remaining three members by the present Athletic Council, one of which three must be a member of the faculty, the other two may be students. This committee will have entire charge of the coaching. It will hire the head or resident coach, it will arrange for the alumni coaches to come to the University during the season. It will also provide for the expenses of coaching, the Athletic Association to guarantee as an aid in meeting expenses $1,000 a year and half of the net profits. The Athletic Association will not pay one thing, except the regulor $1,000. All deficits will be met by the alumni. Those present at the meeting were very positive that the money could be easily obtained. This assumption of the expenses by the alumni is stricking proof of their earnestness.

In addition to the coaching committee there should be a resident committee of four members composed of two faculty members, the graduate manager, the president of the Athletic Association, and the head coach. This committee shall have power to make schedules, purchase supplies, make local arrangements, scour the state for material etc.

Representation on these two committees will insure the alumni a hand in controlling affairs. They expressly stated that if the plan failed, its failure would be the fault of the alumni. It is understood that the coaching committee will secure coaches for football and baseball. Alumni present spoke in high terms of Nat Cartmell and said that by all means he should be retained. For head coach the name of "Doggie" Trenchard was suggested and it was evident that he is favored by the majority of the alumni. That, however, will be decided later.

The plan for the two committees have been handed over to the Athletic Council. That body has supreme power now and it lies with it to accept or refuse the advances of the alumni.

VICE-PRESIDENT TO SPEAK HERE

Commencement Address Will be made by Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana

DR. VENABLE GIVES OTHER NEWS

Baccalaureate Sermon by Dr. Mullins of Kentucky. After Christmas Lights Will be on All Night

Vice-President-elect Thomas R. will come to Chapel Hill at commencement next June and deliver the principal address. Dr. Venable announced this most welcome news to the executive committee of the Board of Trustees, in Raleigh, December 13th.

The visit of the Vice-President will mean much to North Carolina and to Chapel Hill. His presence here at commencement will undoubtedly attract many visitors. It is especially significant in view of the fact that only two years ago the address was made by Woodrow Wilson. That within two years the men who later were elected President and Vice-President of the United States should thus come to Chapel Hill speaks much for the outside reputation of the University. The Vice-President-elect is at present Governor of Indiana. He is accounted a speaker of unusual ability. During the past campaign he spoke frequently and always with telling effect.

Dr. Venable announced at the same time that the baccalaureate sermon would be preached by the Reverend E. Y. Mullins, D. D., President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville.

One other welcome piece of news was made public. Starting soon after Christmas the electric lights will burn all night. Heretofore they have stopped at midnight; from sunset to sunrise is the decree now. Go it, you book worms!

DREW NEW MANAGER

Boushall and Paty Elected Assistants in Football

Frank Drew, '14, of Live Oak, Florida, was elected manager of the 1913 football team at the Athletic Association meeting Dec. 14th. Dreg's victory over his apponent, the vote standing 123 to 22.

The new manager has distinguished himself during his term as assistant by his close application to duty and qy his unquestioned business ability. Working under the graduate manager, McLendon, he should make the 1913 successful, from a financial point of view a teast.

As assistants the Athletic Association elected T. C. Boushall and B. E. Paty, both Sophomores. The only other bufiness transacted was the election of I. R. Willioms as Wice-President of the Association, in place of Raymond Tee, who is not in college.

McLENDON ELECTED GRADUATE MANAGER

Athletic Council Selects Former A. and M. and University Football Manager

THE POSITION IS AN IMPORTANT ONE

Graduate Manager Has Charge of All the Business Management of the Athletic Association

L. P. McLendon has been elected Graduate Manager by the Athletic Council of the Athletic Association. He will begin his duties at once.

According to the Constitution the Graduate Manager "shall have charge of all matters of business concerned in the managment and handling of the various athletic teams and of all Athletic activities carried on under the direction of the Athletic Association". He has charge of all supplies purchased arranges all schedules, and together with Mr. C. T. Woollen will act as treasurer.

For this important position the Athletic Council has secured a man eminently fitted. McLendon graduated at A. & M., took law at the University and is now practising in Chapel Hill and taking post-graduate studies. At A. & M. he managed the football team; and this past fall he assumed the duties of Manager after Mebane's resignation. His long experience, his training, and his recognized ability should enable him to be successful with this work.

PROFESSORS READ PAPERS TO CHEMISTS

The Chemical Journal Club met last Monday evening for the most interesting and instructive meeting this term. Instead of the usual papers by students of the department, the chemical faculty read most interesting papers on their own special hobbies.

Dr. Herty opened the discussion with two papers, one on the complexity of tellurium, and the other on the action of catalysers. The subject of tellurium was brought up by an article in one of the recent journals questioning the work done on this much-mooted discussion. The article left the difficulty still unsettled. The article on catalysers showed by some recent work on palladium that catalytic action of platinum in the chamber process for the manufacture of sulfuric acid is probably due to its occlusion of hydrogen from the water necessarily present.

Dr. Wheeler gave the next article, one on the synthesis of organic dyes. He dwelt more especially on the history and uses of artificial dyestuffs.

Dr. Bell closed the evening with a paper on that most interesting subject, the rare earth metals, a review of some work by Meyer. Altho his paper was cut short for lack of time, he presented some quite new facts upon the separation and properties of these comparative strangers in the great chemical family.

"SKEET" COBB LEADS VICTORIOUS TEAM

Carolina Wins From A. and M. in Cross-country Run, 14 Points to 26

FIRST SUCH EVENT EVER HELD HERE

Cobb Senstational Win from Smith of A. and M. the feature of the Race Which was Witnessed by Large Crowd.

A shot!

They're off! Cobb, Smith, of A. & M., "Big" Patterson, and Spence leading the race abreast. There they go, gradually stringing out along the road. In a very few minutes the six Carolina and five A. & M. men were out of sight over the hill.

The big crowd of 500 or more students and citizens cover the sidewalks and the streets about the post-office. All is suspense now. It will be over twenty minuates before the tireless runners come into sight again from their 4 mile run. A low murmur settles over the crowd.

There they are — on the hill! Scarcely 20 minutes have passed. There they are — not a half mile away! Smith of A. & M. and Cobb are running ride by side. Only a few steps behind come "Big Pat" and Spence.

The crowd surges over the street. Gradually a narrow lane opens down the middle. At the other end a hundred yards from the finish are Smith and Cobb, Smith now a few steps in the lead.

"Come on Skeet — come on old boy", shouts the crowd.

And "Skeet" comes. With a burst of speed he evens up with Smith. Neck and neck they rush for the tape. On they come hardly twenty-five yards away. Faster and faster they sprint. With a new spurt, Cobb forges ahead and crosses the tape several yards in the lead.

The crowd goes wild.

"Open-up - open-up", the cry rings out. Spence rushes across the line, only a few seconds behind the leaders. "Big" Patterson follows just three yards behind Spence. There comes another A. & M. boy, Horton; he finishes next. Right after him came Ransom and Whiting, separated by only a step. "Little' Fat is not far behind. Two more A. & M. men come in and the the race is over, the last A. & M. man not finishing.

The four first men of each team score according to their positions at the finish, the team making the smallest score winning. Thus Carolina won her first cross-country run by the score of 14 to 26. Cobb's time was 22 minutes, 27 seconds.

COUNTY CLUBS FORM A TRUST

At a meeting of all County Club men, called by Prof. E. K. Graham on Monday night, it was decided to join all the clubs into an organization for the purpose of bringing the State in close connection with the University.

THE CURTAIN FALLS

As the curtain goes down on the first act we glance back over the events of the term. We have enjoyed the work of getting out THE TAR HEEL—though things have not always run as smoothly as we might have desired. At times the paper would insist upon coming out late; while the typographical errors we have had with us always. Sometimes one thing went wrong and sometimes another; but usually there were two or three. But we have enjoyed it all the same. In some things we may have rubbed the fur the wrong way for some people, in many places we have knocked when we would have boosted; but always we have done what we thought the larger interest demanded. After the holidays we shall continue the same course.

ON A GOOD TERM

In many respects this has been the best term since, clad in the scanty clothes of youthful ignorance, we entered upon the life of the University community. This year our weakness has been the cause of strength, and from our bad has sprung up a new good. This fall the student body has been together as never before, and the students have felt with a hitherto unawakened spirit that their's is a commoninterest. This feeling has given expression to itself in the form of a new institution—class and society smokers. They are an endeavor to get together, and are good. There is, though one danger in connection with them, and that is that they be abused. They are liable to follow the courses of individualism and punning and run to seed immaturely; or their novelty may add too much inflammability and allow them to burn themselves out before their time. They are fine but delicate things, and as such must be guarded jealously and used with discretion.

A SPECIFIC INSTANCE

Among the steps in the right direction here this fall was that of the Student Council when it entered upon a wider field of activity and assumed a new dignity and place in the University life. It has become a Greater University Council, and is striving to bring together in every way the different parts of the college life, relate them, and get them to working in harmony and together. It is working in every way to promote the interests of the University. An example of the broader work which they are undertaking is their endeavor to formulate a plan to remedy the present football situation here. The plan which they formulated for this is the same in general as that upon which the societies are working for the development of good debaters throughout the high schools of the State. The University does not draw upon prep schools to any extent. that have athletics as an essential feature of their curriculum. We draw upon the high schools of the state and upon the prep schools for our men, and then have to develop the men in different kinds of athletics after they come here. This is an immense handicap to us since the larger teams that we play draw from their prep schools men already trained in athletics. To overcome our handicap the Council advances the scheme of high school traning in athletics in the state. The plan is to get some loyal alumnus of tne University to give a few hours each week in the afternoon to coaching the football team of the high school in his town. By doing this the men whom we receive here as freshmen will have football training which will go far towards overcoming the handicap under which we at present labor.

Of course this plan would require about four years before we begin to derive much benefit from it. This is the one serious drawback to it. since it is a common human failing to desire to see immediate effects and not to want to do anything that will bring in benefits farther off than the ends of our noses. But despite this chronic affectation of the race the plan is a good one. The trouble will come in, though, in getting "loyal alumni" to coach the teams. Not many of them have the time. But if the senior class each year could receive good coaching in the game there would be enough good teachers going out into the state each year with football training to coach every team in the state.

IN THE MEANTIME

We have a good captain for the team. Big Ab has won the respect and admiration of the entire student body by his untiring work and dogged fight. He never lets up. When the rest of the team slumps youcan always bet on him as being there and opening up a hole through his tackle. We are glad to see him captain and extend to him the hearty best wishes of the University. Captain, we wish for you many happy returns from the games.

NEARING CONCLUSION

Now that the days draw near to the holidays and we glimpse in our dreams the festive board spread for the home-come prodigal we begin to feel the Yuletide spirit in our bones. Not even the ridiculosities of Pickwickian affairs nor the freshness of the torpedo throwers can entirely take away our good spirits; for we see in them the same spirit of joy that perambulates through our frame, only they are still in the primitive state where the savage can only give expression to his happiness by making a "Big Noise." But as time casts his lengthening shadows upon their advancing years they will continue in the process of their evolution and will come to the realization that noise is not the only boon. This in the process of time. But while that is going on we shall abstain from overmaliciousness. We are not feeling malicious anyway. The senior smoker Friday night—not evening, for it is night here—the senior smoker then got us to feeling good towards everybody we went away from it with one of those joyful feelings that make us re-evolute to that state in nature where we desire to sing—a primitive state instance. But anyhow felt good. Then Saturday night we went to the Sociery smoker and left there with another good feeling. By that time our heart was feeling as large as the proverbal slightly inerbrated gentleman—"just lit up a bit to show that he was human"—said that his was, that he had a heart in him as big as a mule.

OUR WISHES

Now as we see before us the ruddy glow of the open fire—God's first blessing,—and catch the odor of good things from the pantry intended for bad little boys just back from college, as we can almost feel ourselves strolling along on a clear frosty day by the side of a set of furs from whose depths peeps a bright vivacious face we cannot refrain from exclaiming with Tiny Tim "God bless us every one," and adding "A Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good-day."

PLATO DURHAM

Preaches a Powerful University Sermon

Rev. Plato Durham, D. D., of Winston-Salem, preached the third University sermon of the year in Gerrard Hall Sunday, December 15. In this sermon Mr. Durham delivered a very forceful and effective utterance.

In Hebrews 1:1-2 is found his text: "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in times past unto the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds." Progressively has God seen fit to move in his mysterious order into the life and being of man. The process of knowing what is the finality of God is spiritual. Both revelation and science teach us that he began in the far twilight of existence in a progressive order.

Historically as his first word to man God spread out his physical universe. He made every leaf of the forest, every flower of the field a symbol of his being. Out of this, man came to get some idea of God and of his might; but as man moved a higher message and idea of God was needed. Through the law at Sinai God then spoke to him. With this man gave himself more largely to the worship of God. God's next revelation came through the prophets. Hosea spoke to the world of the tenderness of God. God touched the golden tougue of Isaiah and bade him speak, and lo! there flowed out to the sea of mankind the mightiest message man ever spake.

As man moved higher, however, as his heart was enlarged, he demanded God in some higher form, in the Incarnation—a theological mystery inexplicable by the human mind. Yet, if we may not understand this fine process, he of us who looks into the heart of the master knows in his mind that he is our "My Lord and my God."

The process of the Incarnation is the process of this world. The process of Incarnation began but did not end in the life of Jesus. We are intendeded, as his followers, to be just as near an incarnate soul of Jesus as Jesus was the incarnate life of God. We, every man of us, possesses in our lives the power to show forth in us the life and spirit of our God. And God hath ordained it so that, if the soul of Jesus dwell in us, it gives us all but an omnipotent force over the life of men.

But do we, we who are Christian men incarnate that spirit of Jesus in our lives? In order to intelligently answer this, let us put ourselves to these tests: Have we the marks of Jesus in our hearts? There is one of the works of Jesus as man can ever doubt: our Master's heart broke in the presence of sin. To him sin was such an awful tragedy that he was willing to lay down his life against it. Can we, who have some love hidden somewhere in us, can we stand in the presence of the test? There are men who do it—men whose faces shine like beacons in the night. There is one other test: Do we love God? Do we love him so that we would lay down our lives in His service?

Jesus loved man. This has been upon the lips of man so long that it has become a platitude But the love for human kind is the finest thing in this world. There are men who have this love in thier hearts—is it ours? Today in the presence of men who have shown that the Incarnation is not a phiiosophy, not a miracle to be seen by the eye, bnt the spirit of God working in their lives, shall not each of us cry, "O spirit of Jesus, dwell in me, dwell in me; let my heart flash his life, as your's flashes God's life."

TREASURER'S REPORT

Athletic Finances Improving by Efficient Management

The following figures, given at the Athletic Conference Monday night, show the present financial condition of the Athletic Association:

PHI BROTHERS FEAST

Literary Society Forgets Its Dignity

A college need has been supplied. Smokors have come to give the students that long sought opportunity to get togather and know each other. Following the example of the Senior class, the Phi. Society had a smoker in itf Hall las Saturday night. As it was the first event of its kind ever held by either society, it aroused a great deal of interest which was justified by the resnlts. About fifteen of the faculty were present, and spoke while the good things to eat were being put to use. The barrior between the students and faculty was swep away ts the members of the fac ulty caught the spirit of the oc-atsion. Professors Cobb, Williams, Cain ann Cross gave talks of especially interest. Several of the speeches from the older members of the faculty telling of conditions of the society in olden days were given close attention. Prof. Walker discussion of the plan for the High School debating union found responsive listeners.

Rev. Mr. Durham, of Trinity, as guest of the society, also spoke. The good natured jokes and spicy talks of the other served to make the event entirely successfull.

The attendance was unparallelled.

Before the smake proper, however, the annual Freshmen debate was held in plaae of the regular debate. The Question, Resolved that Labor unions as they now exist in the United States, are on the whole beneficial to Society, was argued most ably by the debators. Several of the Faculty present declared it was the best debate of its kind they had ever heard.

The judges, through their chairman Prof. Cobb, announced that the Negative nad and that W. B. Umstead had made the best speech. E. E. Duncan, the negative member, partly spoiled an excellently prepared speech by his delivery. W. O. Smith of the Affirmative easily made the second best speech; although his collegue, W. G. Hudson, delivered some good stuff.

Holy Gee! Will They Never Stop giving smokers

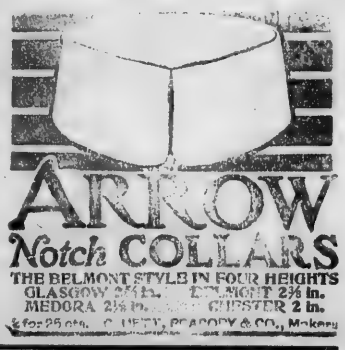
Smokers among the members of the Senior Class are becoming quite popular. The third smoker of the fall was given Friday night in the Y. M. C. A. building; this time the Seniors who room in the old West building were hosts to the class. The affair was a pleasant one and was enjoyed by all present, including the ladies. Prof. "Billy" Noble was there and, called on for a speech, he responded with a characteristic talk on "Keeping in a Good Humor." After the eatables had been disposed of and the smokings taken well in hand, Sam Bivers and Frank Kennedy gave several renderings on the fiddle and banjo, while W. G. Harry. Jim and Carnie Carter danced the clog dance in regular clog style.

The Seniors feel that much good has been accomplished by the smokers held thus far in the right direction of making themselves well known the one to the others.

Miss Margaret Berry was elected Architect of the Last Will and Testament in place of J. Y. Caldwell, resigned.

DRS. HAMILTON AND LONG SPEAK

The Historical Society held its regular monthly meeting for December on last Wednesday night with Prof. Hamilton and Dr. Long as speakers. Prof. Hamilton earnestly asked the aid of the society in collecting old letters and newspapers of historical value by making inquiry and search among the neighbors during the Christmas holidays.



He gave many instances of valuable historical material thus lost by delay.

Dr. Long talked on the Ku Klux Klan. As his information was first hand, his speech proved exceedingly interesting. After showing the need of such an organization at that time, he strikingly showed its secrecy by stating that without his knowledge, his brother, who roomed with him, was head of the Klan in Alamance county. However, he deplored as unnecessary and unjust many of the organization's actions.

TAR HEELS PICKFD BY DOPE ARTISTS

In the numerous All South Atlantic football teams that have appeared in various papers in this section, several Carolina men have figured. The Richmond Times-Dispatch chose Tillett at quarter, Abernathy at tackle, and Strange at end on its second team. The Washington Post gave "big Ab" a place at tackle on its second team, and mentioned Jones at center. Ritch, the Georgetown center, who played here a year ago, is given first place by the Washington Times and the Richmond Times-Dispatch and second place by the Post.

The only men in the South Atlantic States who appear on every mythical team are Costello of Georgetown and Carter of Virginia. Others who have been chosen by various papers are Wood, Todd, Finley and Gooch of Virginia; Ritch, Moriarity, Hegarty, Bergen, Dunn and Fury of Georgetown; Burrus of V. P. I.; Moore and Youell of V. M. I.; Miller, Miles, and Beuhring of Washington and Lee.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. 21 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1913 NO. 15

FACULTY ATTENDS MANY CONVENTIONS

Carolina is Represented at Gatherings All Over the Country

EIGHT MEN AT MODERN LANGUAGE MEETING

Dr. Royster Goes to Athletic Meeting in New York, Where the Most Prominent Athletic Men Were Present

During the holidays numerous members of the Faculty attended associations, conventions, and meetings at various points in the North and West. The prominence of the University is nowhere more clearly shown than in the estimation in which members of the Faculty are held by their Northern associates and in the enthusiasm with which they gather together for the discussion of mutual problems.

The Modern Language Association, held at the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, December 27-29, was attended by Professors Toy, Royster, Dey, Booker, Cross, Towles, K. J. Brown, and Parker. Professor Cross read a paper before the association on "King Arthur in Ireland." It is an extremely significant fact that the University of North Carolina was represented by eight men and all the rest of the South by four men.

Professor Bain and T. J. Wilson, Jr., attended the meetings of the Philological Association of America, at Washington, D. C., December 28-31. At the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in Cleveland, Ohio, December 28-31, the University was represented by Doctors McNider and Coker. Dr. McNider read a paper before the Association.

Dr. J. F. Royster, in addition to attending the Modern Language Association, went to New York to the meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. This organization, formed in 1905, has grown until it includes more than 100 colleges and extends over every form of athletics indulged in by colleges. Prominent University men interested in athletics were delegates, including Dean Briggs of Harvard, who was elected President of the Association, Dr. Harry L. Williams, head football coach at University of Minnesota, Alonzo A. Stagg, athletic director at the University of Chicago, Glen Warner of Carlisle, Professors W. L. Dudley of Vanderbilt, and W. A. Lambeth of the University of Virginia. The Association in its desire to better athletic conditions in colleges discussed all sorts of problems. Summer baseball took up much time, Glen Warner making the suggestion that as baseball was the only sport in which colleges can come into earnest competition with professionals, it should no longer be played by colleges. The Carlisle Indians have already substituted la crosse. Dr. H. L. Williams,

BASKETBALL MEN ARE WORKING HARD

Strenuous Practices Being Held Nightly for the Heavy Schedules

FIVE N. C. MEN ARE AMONG CANDIDATES

Several Men of Promise Are Trying, but Many More Are Badly Needed

With the return from the holidays, basketball practice was again taken up in earnest and every night at 8 o'clock work starts at the Gym. During the temporary absence of Coach Cartmell, Captain Chambers has been in charge. Scrimmages are held nightly and the Varsity is gradually rounding into shape. There is urgent need for more material, par icularly tall men. At present not more than fifteen men are on hand regularly and it is often difficult to keep up scrimmaging. During the Examinations practice will continue as regularly as possible, at least every other night. The first game comes immediately after Exams.

Five N. C. men are on the squad, four of them from last year's team, Carrington, Smith, Tillett, and Chambers, and one from the 1911 team, Long. With these men as a nucleus, prospects are encouraging for the development of a much stronger team than that of last year. Among the most promising new men are Redman, Mebane Long, Strong, Wright, and Homewood, while Ranson from last year's squad is scrappier than ever. In most of the scrimmages the temporary Varsity has been lining up with Carrington as center, Smith and Tillett forwards, Chambers and Redman guards. Redman fits well the place left vacant by Erwin, and this team has shown much smoothness and teamwork, particularly in passing.

DEBATING QUERY CHOSEN

Triangular Debators Will Discuss Panama Tolls

The query has been decided upon for the triangular debate this spring between the University of North Carolina, the University of Virginia, and Johns Hopkins University. It is "Resolved, That, without regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the tolls of the Panama Canal should be the same for the merchant ships of all nations." The debates will all be held Saturday, April 19, 1913. The schedule as to with whom each institution shall defend the affirmative and the negative has not yet been decided upon. Under the stipulation each of these debates will be held on neutral ground, Virginia and Johns Hopkins meeting at Chapel Hill, Carolina and Virginia meeting at Baltimore, and Carolina and Johns Hopkins meeting at Charlottesville.

SECOND ALUMNI REVIEW

Improves on the High Standard of First Number

The December number of the Alumni Review is out from the press. This issue in general excellence measures well up to the standard set by the initial number of the Review in October. It is filled with matter concerning the University and her sons that is in every sense interesting, not only to alumni but to students as well.

Under the head, "Opinion And Comment", various matters are discussed editorially: the Secretaries of classes and local alumni associations and their duties in regard to keeping their organizations united and in touch with the University; the Summer School and its accomplishments and needs; appreciations of the services of Charles B. Aycock and Richard H. Battle.

"Aycock As An Education Leader" is the title of an article by R. D. W. Connor, '99, that pictures accurately the work of the State's Educational Governor. The writer states that Aycock's contribution to education lay not in that he initiated the movement, but in that he brought to the cause of education the prestige and influence of his high office, and gave to it without stint, the benefit of his own matchless eloquence."

An appreciation of the services of Richard H. Battle, '59, who died May 19, 1912, is given by J. B. Cheshire, Jr., '02. Mr. Battle was from 1877 until his death a trustee of the University and for thirty-three years he attended every University Commencement.

Mc NAIR LECTURES BY DR. PEABODY

Distinguished Harvard Professor Will Speak in Gerrard Hall

THE DATES ARE JAN. 23, 24, AND 25.

Dr. Peabody is Professor of Christian Morals at Harvard and the Author of Several Books

The John Calvin McNair Lectures for 1913 will be delivered by Dr. Francis G. Peabody, of Harvard University, on January 23rd, 24th, and 25th. The subjects are announced as follows:

January 23—The Practicability of the Christian Life.

January 24—The Christian Life and the Modern Home.

January 25—The Christian Life and Modern Business.

Dr. Peabody is Plummer Professor of Christian Morals at Harvard University. He graduated from that institution in 1869, studied theology, and was an active preacher for several years. For six years he was Parkinson Professor of Theology at Harvard, and since 1886 he has been Professor of Christian Morals. He is a popular speaker, particularly with college men. He has written numerous books of a semi-religious type. Two of his books, "Mornings in a College Chapel" and "Afternoons in a College Chapel", consist of chapel talks made to students at Harvard and elsewhere.

The McNair Lectures in the past have been of a high order and have attracted large audiences, not only in Chapel Hill, but from the State generally. Dr. Peabody should continue this high standard Among the previous speakers have been Dr. Francis L. Patton, of the Princeton Theological Seminary, Dr. David Starr Jordan of the University of California, Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, and Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale.

JUNIORS ELECT PRITCHETT CHIEF MARSHAL

The Junior Class on the 9th elected J. T. Pritchett Chief Marshal for Commencement over R. T. Allen by the close vote of 23 to 22. At the end of the balloting the result was 22 for each, President Carleton's vote for Pritchett giving him the office. The following were elected marshals: R. T. Allen, P. C. Darden, L. R. Johnson, T. A. De Vane, B. D. Applewhite, and F. D. Conroy.

COUNTY CLUBS FEAST DURING HOLIDAYS

In the effort to put into practice the enthusiasm caught at Dean Graham's Central County Club Association, two County Clubs held smokers in their home-towns during the past holidays.

The Rowan County Club held its Smoker in Salisbury on the night of Dec. 29. In addition to the full attendance by its own

BACK AGAIN

Once more having escaped (?) the insidious arrows of outrageous Cupid, having withstood the violent attacks of indigestion, having weathered the cold grey dawn of the morning after, and having had a glorious time for ten mortal days, the dear student body is back on the Hill of all Hills to take up their researchings again and in a few days, to be perfectlly frank—next Monday—to try their heads and hands and teeth and toes at ascending or going through or getting over or around the Hell of all Hells — another typographical error, it should have been "i" again.

AFTER EXAMS

With this issue The Tar Heel begins it's second act as presented by the present cast. After this issue there will be a two week's intermission that those who desire may take refreshments. When the examinations shall have blown over and all the paths of campus life are again safe and sane The Tar Heel will again come out of its hiding and again assume its place among the tolerated existences of the life here. The Tar Heel, as we understand it, is not to advance the interests of any special class of things here, only in so far as it is the official organ of the Athletic Associa ion. But it is more than that. It is the organ of the student body and of the University. It is not to promote the good of a few. Neither is it to allow a few to promote their own good at the cost of the larger good. It is to advance the interests of the students and of the University. And it is with this idea that we shall work this spring. If any there be who would not be wet, let them get out of the rain; for the rain falls for the good and for the bad alike. But it has different effects.

THE MAIL BOX EPISODE

What has been denominated by many as the "shame of the century" transpired when the mail in the campus box was allowed to accumulate from not later than December 10 until the box became so full that not another letter could be crammed into it on January 5. Then the students for the first time became aware that they had for nearly a month been mailing letters and cards which never entered a post office. When the box was opened on Sunday at the demand and on the information of the aroused students, a large waste paper basket was filled to the top with the mail matter which was extracted from the box. There were letters and cards and packages. There were letters begging for money to go home on, letters inclosing checks in payment of debts, letters bearing tidings of love, Christmas cards, letters and small packages. Each time that an on-looker at the indentification court held by the side of the box saw a letter posted by him he would cuss and explain his troubles. "That accounts for it" was the continual and constant statement of unfortunates. One student had to draw a draft on his father in order to get home for the holidays as a result of the failure of the mail to become mail; another had cussed out a business firm for laxity in responding to an order placed with them by him, a third had missed some friends Christmas as the result of an invitation that failed to invite, while Cupid's arrangements were very nearly annihilated—so some fifty students thought

"The shame of the century", the "crime of carelessness", the "slaughter of the innocents", the "imposing ineffectualness of authority", a "damnable outrage", and "Hell!" were the most nearly printable of the characterizations of the affair that came to the edi-orial ears. With all of which we are very nearly inclined to agree. Some one certainly fell down on his job. But the campus mail box is an University affair; and as we have said before, in this democratic community the welfare of the masses is not sacredly guarded.

SANITATION, FOR INSTANCE

An additional evidence of the fact that democracy cannot attend to everything at so large a place as this is afforded by the deplorable hygienic conditions here—conditions, though, no worse than those that prevail at the other colleges in the state.

Sanitary conditions here are a glaring unreality. The rooms occupied by the students are not half-way swept and cleaned up. A twenty dollar a month negro janitor, who has some not less than thirty rooms on three floors to clean up each day, make up the beds in, carry water to, and janitor generally, cannot do the work, and do it as it should be done. Besides this, even if he had the time to do the work he has not the knowledge necessary He knows nothing about sanitation—nothing at all. He does not know there is such a thing. He has never been used to it. All that he knows to do is to make the beds, hit four licks with his broom, knock the dust and dirt from the center of the room under the bed, chiffonier, washstand, and radiator; and then hits three more licks and knock the remainder of the dirt into the air and corners of the room, After that he goes to do at least twenty-nine other rooms in the same highly efficient manner. All of which is highly injurious to and fraught equally with dangers for the students.

The laboratories are treated in the same highly efficient manner. One of them is so well janitored that the instructor who holds his classes there has one of his classes to clean the room up each day rather than do his work and keep his classes amid such unhygienic surroundings. There is certainly great efficiency in the department of janitorology.

Both of the physicians this year have made reports to the administration informing him of the status quo. But these reports with their recommendations for greater care in looking after the physical welfare of the students have met with no unexpectedly enthusiastic response. As things are, if any bad and contagious disease should make its appearance in our midst, we would certainly be caught in a delicate position.

HIGH SCHOOLS UNITED

Debating Union Meeting With Encouraging Success

The plans of the literary societies of the University for a High School Debating Union are meeting with success. Up to the present time 87 of the most progressive schools of the State have become members of the Union and are now being arranged into triangles. Some of the triangles already arranged are: Raleigh, Charlotte, and Greensboro; Wakelon Cary, and Holly Springs; Washington, Elizabeth City, and New Bern; Lenoir, Morganton, and Hickory; Statesville, Concord, and Salisbury; Troutman, Scott's, and Harmony; Murphy, Andrews, and Hayesville; Durham, Goldsboro, and Rocky Mount; Hendersonville, Asheville, and Waynesville; Chapel Hill, Graham, and Mebane; Oxford, Henderson and Louisburg; Madison, Stoneville, and Wentworth.

The query to be discussed by the members of the Union is: "Resolved, That the Constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow women to vote under the same qualifications as men." A pamphlet containing arguments on both sides of the question has been prepared by the committee from the societies and printed, and several copies of this, as well as additional material, have been mailed to each school in the Union. The triangular debates will be held throughout the State Feb. 21, 1913, and the final contest at Chapel Hill for the Aycock Memorial Cup will be held two weeks later—March 7. Each school that wins both of its triangular debates will send its teams here for the final contest; if a school does not win both of its debates, it does not send any representatives to Chapel Hill.

That the Debating Union and the query to be discussed are arousing great interest among the high schools of the State is attested by a letter recently received by the committee having the matter in charge from the National American Woman Suffrage Association, with headquarters in New York. The Secretary of this Association writes: "We are receiving daily many applications for material from North Carolina as a result of the announcement of the High School debate on equal suffrage."

The Aycock Memorial Cup will be given by the local Tau Kappa Alpha Chapter, which is composed of inter-collegiate debaters.

MECKLENBURG LEADS THE COUNTIES

A list of counties having more than ten men in the University this year has been compiled by Dr. T. J. Wilson, Jr., Registrar, and is as follows:

Alamance 20, Beaufort 13, Buncombe 20, Cleveland 11, Cumberland 12, Davidson 13, Durham 15, Edgecombe 12, Forsyth 23, Granville 14, Guilford 33, Iredell 14, Johnston 27, Mecklenburg 38, New Hanover 14, Orange 35, Robeson 16, Rockingham 16, Rowan 22, Union 15, Wake 26, Wayne 33, Wilson 15.

MORE MEN NEEDED FOR BASKETBALL

We need more men out for the basketball team and we need them badly. At present not more than fifteen candidates are practising regularly and that in the face of the heaviest schedule a Carolina basketball team has ever undertaken. Can a successful team be developed from such a small number? The Virginia, A. & M., and Wake Forest games will call for all the strength that we can muster and if present conditions continue that will not be much.

A formal call is made for more candidates. Tall men of the football type in particular are needed. Don't let the fact that you have had no experience keep you from coming out. Practice starts at 8 o'clock every night in the Gym. and seldom lasts more than an hour. The work will not stop during Exams.

LENOIR CHAMBERS,
Captain.

CAROLINA MEN GO TO FRAT CONVENTIONS

During the holidays T. A. De Vane attended the national convention of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity in Louisville, Kentucky. George Carmichael the Sigma Alpha Epsilon convention in Nashville, Tennessee, and George L. Carrington the Sigma Upsilon (literary) fraternity at Ashland, Virginia.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, president of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, has opened an office in Raleigh during the session of the legislature. He hopes to promote the plan of having the state underwrite county good-roads bonds.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

reprinted in part. In this address Mr. Graham outlines the standards of the University and its place in North Carolina life. "The U. N. C. Colony in New York" is the title of a very interesting article on the Chapel Hill boys who have gone to live in the big city. "The County Clubs At Work" tells of the newly aroused effort of the county clubs to create interest "back home.' A brief article on the "High School Debating Union" tells of the plan of the literary societies for a state-wide debating contest for the secondary schools of the State.

Under the head of "Athletics" write-ups are given of the V. P. I. game in Raleigh, of the Virginia game in Richmond Thanksgiving, and of the Carolina-Trinity contest in tennis the past fall. "The University in Letters" is a part of the Review that is given over to a note on the work recently done in the field of letters by University men. H. H. Horne, '95, R. D. W. Connor, '99, and Clarence Poe are among the number mentioned in this department.

A special corner of the Reiew is devoted to alumni; to a recital of what the different alumni associations are doing, and to a "where they are" of the different classes.

Taking it all in all the December number of the Review must be pronounced excellent. Dr. Wilson and his associates are to be congratulated on the paper which they are getting out.

members, the Club had as its guest the graduating students of Salisbury, Spencer, and China Grove High Schools; several of the younger alumni of the county and Mr. Walter Murphy and Stahle Linn of the "old boys". The affair was enjoyable not only to the club but also to the High School Seniors who were unanimous that next year they will be "University Freshmen".

The Huntersville students and alumni of the University held a banquet at Huntersville December 31, 1912. A number of invited guests were present for the occasion, among them being the twenty boys who are enrolled in the high school of this town. Dr. W. G. Craven acted as toastmaster, and "Ratty" Ranson, '14, was the moving spirit behind the scenes.

chairman of the football committee, reported that the rules this year had worked most satisfactorily and that the game had been immensely improved. Much applause was occasioned by the report that nofatalities had taken place among college students playing football.

COUNTY CLUBS TO BE OF SOME USE NOW

Immediately after the examination period has ended, there will be held, Dean Graham announces, a meeting of all the county clubs of the University to effect a permanent organization that shall succeed the temporary organization which was formed just before the holidays began. The purpose of this organization shall be to make a study of the questions that are of interest to the different counties and to the State as a whole; to bring the University, through a purposeful and sympathetic study of these problems, into a close connection with the local communities and to the whole State; and to call the attention of the high school boys over the State to the advantages which the University offers them.

At this meeting a definite program for work this next term will be mapped out. It is the intention of Dean Graham and others interested in the movement to make this central organization of county clubs a thing that will count for something out in the State along the line of practical achievement. Regular meetings will be held, and subjects such as compulsory education for North Carolina, a constitutional convention and what it might do, the binding together of the high schools into unions for contests, and offering of prizes for those students who excel, will be discussed in a practical manner at these meetings.

It is desired that all counties which have representatives in the University should be represented in this central county club organization. A county club should be formed at once by the men from each of the different counties, if this has not already been done. If, however, it is found impracticable by the men from any counties to form clubs, then they are urged to become members of this organization as individuals.

FIRST GAME LOST BY SINGLE POINT

Durham Y. M. C. A. Defeats the Varsity in Basketball by Score of 23 to 22

CLOSE AND EXCITING GAME ALL THE WAY

Poor Team Work and Wretched Shooting of Fouls Lose Against a Team Individually Inferior

The local basketball season was opened last Monday night at the Gymnasium by a contest with the Durham Y. M. C. A. Carolina lost the game by one point, the final score being 23 to 22 in favor of Durham. The finish was close and exciting, the last two minutes of play being especially lively. The winning goal was made by a Y. M. C. A. player knocking the ball into the basket from a held-ball throw up.

Captain Chambers started the game off auspiciously enough by dropping a pretty one in after a few minutes of play. Holcomb, however, soon retaliated with another, which on account of being thrown after he was fouled, counted three. Y M. C. A. almost immediately added another from field. After that the two teams took turns, first Carolina shooting goal, then Durham scoring. When time was called for the first half the score stood 11 to 10 in favor of Durham.

In the second half Carolina started in to win and ran up six points, two on fouls, before Durham woke up. Then for several minutes both sides failed to score; but with about four minutes to play, Durham rallied and made eight points while Carolina was collecting three, two on a pretty throw by Long, a new man. This left Y. M. C. A. one point ahead, but Redman, another new man, changed the score in our favor by a field goal. With less than a minute to play excitement rose to fever heat to see which way fortune's wheel would turn next. The end came unexpectedly. On the throw up of held ball the Durham player knocked the sphere into the basket, and before anything else could be done the timekeeper rushed into the court calling, "time out."

The game showed the Carolina team to be very weak in passing and team work. There was not enough of either; but there was too much individual playing. With better individual players and better goal throwers they lost the game through lack of these things to an individually weaker team which, however,

NEW BASEBALL COACH

Will Arrive Soon and Prepare for Hard Schedule

It will not be long before the coach for baseball will be here. Coach, George Bowers, highly recommended by Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be the man to put the team into shape for the heavy schedule of twenty three games.

Three years ago--in 1910--Bowers played on the pennant winning team in the Tri State League. In 1911--1912 he coached the team of the Delancey High School in Philadelphia, Penn. Last year he played first base and outfield on the Anderson team of the Carolina League.

Bowers is expected to be here between the first and fifteenth of February, just about a month before the opening game of the season which will be played with Oak Ridge here on March 14. The new coach is fast and ready with a good record behind him--not only of being a player, but also of being a good coach.

The schedule, which is first printed in this number, is one of the best Carolina has ever had. It is this result of the efforts of Manager Strange and Garduate Manager McLendon that gives us eleven games here on the Hill. Of particular interest is the A. & M. game in Raleigh. The two great state institutions are at last getting together and complete relations will be resumed from this time on.

The Athletic Council has awarded football monograms to Jones, Dortch, Johnson, Jennings, Stevens, Homewood, Huske, Abernathy, R., Moore, Tayloe; stars are awarded to Tillett, Strange, Applewhite, Wakely, and Abernathy, L.

The Dramatic Club has come back. "What happened to Jones", presented in Gerrard Hall January 28th before some five hundred people, scored a distinct hit ann showed beyond a doubt that histrionic talent is not lacking in the University.

The play is admirably suited for production by a college dramatic club. A highly artificial comic farce, it is full of ridiculous situations from beginning to end. Jones, a traveling salesman for a hymn book house, with playing cards as a side line, assumes the role of an Australian bishob; the real bishop becomes mixed up with an escaped lunatic, and interminable difficulties result.

Upon the shoulders of C. L. Coggins in the title role of Jones fell most of the responsibility and he handled it well. Throughout the long part he was always at home on the stage, always at ease, and the complicated situations he always mastered. A little more life, perhaps, might have helped out at times, but little fault can be found with his work as a whole Coggins seemed to gather confidence as he went along and was noticeably better toward the latter part of the play.

For the best acting in the entire cast, though, hats off to W. P. M. Weeks as Ebeneezer Goodly Maybe it was because he had living examples of the antiquated professor around him, but certainly he acted the professor of anatomy in impressive style. Every second of the time he was on the stage he was the professor carrying out all the infinite de tails in a manner almost professional. His make-up was the best in the cast, his every little gesture was to the point, and his whole bearing was prophetic of even better work in the future.

In spite of the manifold difficulties of filling a feminine role all six female parts were well taken. H. V. Johnson, as Mrs. Goodly, was probably the best and fitted admirably as the middle-aged, narrow-minded wife. W. B. Pitts as Alvina Starlight looked his part and performed first-straight. H. C. Conrad's Cissy was the best looking woman on the stage and his feminine detailswere excellent.

The minor parts were acceptably filled, B. D. Applewhite as the policeman and Don Harris as the Swedish servant girl being probably the best. The very obvious difficulties of production in Gerrard Hall were met fairly well.

All in all, "What Happened to Jones" was encouraging. It is certainly the best Dramatic Club performance of a college generation, and with a little more snap and go will compare favorably with any amateua performance in this section of the country. To professor McKie, Cross, and Booker go the credit of coaching and to Mrs. W. M. Dey the credit for supervising the make-up of the feminine parts.

GLEE CLUB GOING ON EXTENDED TOUR

The University Glee Club, under the care of Manager Speight Hunter, will leave the early part of next week on a trip through the western part of the State. The itinerary of the club is Morganton, Feb. 3rd; Lenoir, the 4th; Hickory, the 5th; Winston-Salem, the 6th; Mt. Airy, the 7th; and Greensboro, the 8th. From all indications the club should enjoy a prosperous trip—one that will serve as a good advertisement for the University.

PEABODY PLEASES AS McNAIR LECTURER

Large Crowds Attend and Listen to Harvard Profesoor

IS CHRISTIANITY PRACTICABLE?

What Is Its Relation to the Modern Fomily ane to Modern World of Business!

The sixth series of the John Calvin McNair lectures was delivered in Gerrard Hall on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights by Dr. Francis G. Peabody, of Harvard University. The lectures were largely attended. In addition to the student body, many people from various parts of the State were on the Hill in order to attend the lectures.

The general theme of all of Dr. Peabody's addresses was "The Practicability of the Christian Life." He spoke on this directly in the first lecture; in the second he dealt with "Christian Life and the Family," reserving for the third lecture the question of "Christian Life and the World of Modern Business."

In his first lecture, Dr. Peabody laid down the proposition that the problem of the Christian life is a practical and genuine affair. Paul reinforces the general doctrine of Christian ethics to specific circumstances. Is it possible today, as in the first century, to maintain a sober, righteous, pious life amid modern social conditions under which the average man has to devote nine-tenths of his time to the making of a living? Must not one choose between the gospel idealism and modern unitarianism? The effects of the misconduct of professing Christians on one hand and of the austerity of such a life as Tolstoi's seem to confirm this view. So do many other modern interpretations of the gospel, as the interpretation of Jesus as a Socialist.

Such as these, however, distort the perspective: close scrutiny of these arguments reveal the fact that the Christian religion is much bigger than either its defenders or critics have guessed. True Christianity is not something published in Palestine; it is a living, growing spirit. As one reads the gospels of the New Testament, one finds two great words: power, life. They are not words of opinion, but symbols of dynamic faith. Christian character becomes, then, a living and an expanding growth; and on this conclusion rests not the practicability of the Christian life, but its utility.

In his second lecture, Dr. Peabody passed to certain details

THE DANCES

This year when we are trying to get our house in order, and are trying to get square with the world, there is one more room that demands our careful attention with broom, dust-pan, and disinfectant. If we pass over it now and do not give it its cleaning also, sometime, when a transom is accidentally broken, the germs and dust will be carried into the other carefully cleaned rooms of the house, and all the work will be to do over again. As men, without any strings attached, let us consider the problem.

Those dances which are given in a University building, regardless of what organization they are given by, take on the character of University functions. The mere fact that they are given in a University building gives them this appearance. But more to the point is the fact that the trustees allow only a certain number of dances to be given here each year. Before a dance can be given the President must give his approval to it. When he gives his approval to it, the total number of dances remaining is reduced by one. When this is the case, when the dances are under the regulation of the Trustees and the President, they must be considered as University activities. Additional cause for the necessary acceptance of this view is found in the fact that each spring when the University suspends class work for a few days for the celebration of "Junior Week," the schedule of the dances always appears in the printed program for the exercises of that week; and in the fact that last fall the dances took precedence over two University activities—the regular gymnasium work for two days, and Varsity basketball practice for three nights. From these facts it is manifest that the dances take on the appearance of University functions.

The dances given in University buildings here—with the exception of the commencement dances—are open only to the members and invited guests of three organizations: The Order of the Gorgon's Head, the Gimghouls, and the German Club. The first two are highly secret organizations. The German Club, with a membership of between sixty and seventy-five, requires only three balls to kill a proposed new member.

What we say, and believe that we are right when we say it, is that if there were fifty-seven open and one closed dance-giving organizations here, then that one should not give a dance in a building of the State's. If it should have a private hall and give its dances there—well and good. But the dances here, if they are given in a University building, should be open to all students—with the possible exception of those not yet naturalized—to all students of the University who will pay their dancing fees.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES."

Dramatics here reached their thus far highest point Tuesday evening with the unparallelledly successful presentation of "What Happened to Jones". The play itself is rib-splitting, and when presented by the all-star cast of the Dramatic Club it was howling. The serious ceased to be serious, and the dignified forgot that there had ever been such an institution among men. It is all a mistaken idea anyhow that a member of the faculty never laughs. Tuesday evening the students could not hear half of the lines of the play on account of the boisterous and continual laughter of all the faculty there. And even when they could hear they could not well attend because of fear that their instructors in French, or Math, or Geology, or Philosophy, one would become unable to straighten up again and come out of the latest attack of convulsions. But they all came through O. K., though some few had sore ribs the next day.

The cast, the coaches, and the ladies of the town who helped to perfect the "girls" in all the arts of the sex are to be congratulated upon their production. It has been pronounced by everybody who saw it an unqualified success, and by many the biggest hit of the kind that they have ever known. In this connection it is regrettable that Mr. McKie, who was so largely responsible for the success, on account of illness could not be present to enjoy it.

BASKETBALL SPECTATORS

The behavior of the gallery spectators at the basketball game Monday night was not at all of a kind to be confused with that commonly ascribed to Lord Chesterfield. It was rude to say the least. But it is probable that those who dropped into the ways of the semi-civilized came from places where such proceedure was the everyday thing. Viewed in that light they are to be commiserated rather than contemned. But even at that it showed a poor spirit of sportsmanship, a spirit that gives a black eye.

Let's show our visitors that we are the right kind, that we are good sports and can do the gentlemanly thing. The conduct at the Durham game disgusted several of our most loyal alumni who were present at the time. Let's not give them cause again. It is not only a reflection upon the personnel of the student body; but it is also a reflection upon the University and upon the communities from which the students come. It is really a condemnation of the State. Show them that we, the University, and the State are the real things.

THAT PROBATION BUSINESS

Human beings are just about the most interesting things in the world, even when they are like the general run of other human beings. But when you put eight hundred students in one crowd and put over them seventy not very good masters of practical psychology, and then let the students begin to act like all normal healthy animals, and the impractical psychologists begin to pass resolutions in faculty meetings, the results are generally ludicrous to the point of tears, or else excrutiating to the same point.

We have always felt sorry for those sane, normal facultates who do their best to keep the rest of the crowd in the right path. They must have a devil of a time. For the rest of the crowd will not stay in the path, and will insist upon passing all kinds of resolutions, prohibitions, punishments, etc. If they but knew it the old ball is nothing in the universe except a big psychological laboratory. Everything is a matter of psychology and the liver. So when one year they allow all the students to go home a week before time for the Christmas holidays and then the next year jerk them up, jack them up, and put them on probation when they miss only one class—and do this without any previous intimation of such a course of action, we can only say "Psychology," and then give a little excerpt from one of Bacon's Essays:

"The answer of Appolonius to Vespasian is full of excellent instruction. Vespasian asked him, 'What was Nero's overthrow?' He answered, 'Nero could touch and tune the harp well; but in government sometimes he used to wind the pins too high, and sometimes to let them down too low.' And certain it is that nothing destroyeth authority so much as the unequal and untimely interchange of power pressed too far, and relaxed too much."

Miss Mary Roberson, of Baltimore, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Roberson.

Miss Katherine Minor, of Asheville, is the guest of Miss Louise Venable.

Miss Carol Gray, of Raleigh, came Saturday to be the guest of Mrs. Pratt.

Miss Thomas and Miss Wilson, both of Charlotte, who have been the guests of Mrs. Chas. Mangum, returned to their home Saturday.

Mrs. H. H. Williams was the hostess on Wednesday afternoon at a delightful reception given in honor of her niece, Miss Margaret Wells, of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. Williams, gowned in white messaline, was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Holmes, in white crepe de chine, Mrs. Cobb in yellow messaline draped with chiffon, and Mrs. Raper in filmy white over pink. A delicious salad course, followed by ice cream and cake, was served by Misses Elizabeth Bain, Louise Venable, Nannie Smith, Annie McGehee, Mrs. Sneath, and Miss Roberson.

On Friday afternoon, January the twenty-fourth, a beautiful reception was given by Mrs. Joseph Hyde Pratt in honor of her guest, Mrs. Frazier, and Misses Thomas and Wilson, of Charlotte. Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Frazier, Miss Thomas, Miss Minor, Miss Wilson, Miss Busby of Raleigh, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Wheeler were in the receiving line. Miss Louise Venable and Mrs. Hamilton served delicious punch. The dining room was beautifully decorated with smilax and jonquils, and here Mrs. Mangum and Mrs. Royster presided. Refreshments were served by Misses Elizabeth Moses, Annie McGehee, Elizabeth Bain, Alice Noble, and Nannie Smith.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

At a meeting of the Dramatic Club, Wednesday, the 29th, the following resolutions were introduced and passed:

(1) Resolved, that the Dramatic Club is most grateful for the assistance rendered the Club by Mrs. William Morton Dey, Mrs. James Finch Royster, Mrs. George McFarland McKie, Mrs. Joseph Hyde Pratt, Mrs. Edward Kidder Graham, Mrs. Fred Patterson, Miss Louise Venable, and Miss Sallie Royster, whose generous contributions of time and costumes enabled the Club to stage "What Happened to Jones" in a suitable manner; that the Secretary of the Club be directed to notify these ladies of this resolution.

(2) Resolved, that the Dramatic Club desires to express its sincere appreciation of the assistance reudered the Club by the Faculty Committee on Dramatics —Professors McKie, Cross, and Booker—in coaching the cast for the Club's presentation of "What Happened to Jones."

Dr. H. W. Chase has returned from Goldsboro, where he has been in attendance upon an educational meeting.

Major Cain recently attended in New York the meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

WON'T TELL WHOM THEY SELECTED

Representatives of the Alumni, of the Faculty, and of the student body met in Chapel Hill on Jan. 27th and selected a head football coach for next season. His name is withheld, however, until it can be found out whether he will accept.

This meeting is the first direct result of the demand of the Alumni made in December for an active participation in the athletic affairs of the University. At that time the selection of a head coach under at least a three-years contract and provisions for bringing in Alumni coaches from time to time to aid him were entrusted to the commiitee which met last night. From the Alumni were George Stephens of Charlotte, C. G. Wright of Greensboro, Albert L. Cox of Raleigh, and James A. Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem. From the Faculty Dr. Charles S. Mangum; and from the student body Frank Drew and L. P. McLendon. This committee organized with Mr. Stephens as chairman, Mr. McLendon as Secretary, and James A. Gray, Jr., as Treasurer. Besides selecting the head coach, various athletic matters were discussed at some length and hearty commendation was given to the resumption of athletics with A. & M.

TENNESSEE HONORS AN ALUMNUS

The University of North Carolina has another Senator. Tennessee has thus signally honored William R. Webb, the head of the well known Webb School at Bell Buckle, Tennessee, and a graduate of the University of the class of 1869. The telegram of congratulations which the Webb School Club sent to "Old Sawney," as he is known by his boys, but echoes the feeling of the entire student body.

Mr. Webb is a native of Person county and received his early education at Bingham School. He entered the University, but left with the call for volunteers. During the war he served as Captain of the Second North Carolina Cavalry, although for a time he was a private in the Fifteenth North Carolina Infantry. He returned to the University and received both an A. B. and an A. M. degree in 1869. While here he was a member of the Dialectic Literary Society and of the D. K. E. fraternity. He taught at Horner's School and in 1870 founded the Webb School, first at Culleoka, and later at Bell Buckle, Tennessee.

The Law Class has elected officers for the Spring term as follows: President, W. F. Taylor; Vice-President, T. B. Woody; Secretary and Treasurer, J. R. Branch; Solicitor of Moot Court, P. H. Gwynn, Jr.; Sheriff of Moot Court, Zeb Vance Babbitt; Clerk, J. L. Roberts.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for ciinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

of modern life which test the practicability of the Christian life. The first test Christianity has to make good is that of the organization of the family.

The institution of the family is threatened on two sides: first by those who abuse it, then by those who abandon it. The teaching of Jesus assigns a central position to the family. The parables are for the most part stories of home, and the kingdom of God is the fulfillment of the ideal of the family.

What are the problems of the average family in the creation of home? The first problem is that of the family as a physical creation. Next comes the question of the indissolubility of this relationship. The doctrine of Jesus is that young people may not enter into union with the idea that the way out is as easy as the way in. Then the normal family has to meet the problem of children and their rearing and education. Within the problem of the family is the problem of the individual. To discover what each member of the family has in him is the problem of a Christian education. The purpose of each selection is to sift what is good in each child and then to sow that in good soil. Then after the giving of the child to its full life, the family comes to that phase of its existence where the parents face the sunset of life. They have come out on the higher ground of their journey; and the few steps which lead them into the dark bring them no alarm, as they remember that the surprises of the past have brought them safe thus far.

Is such a family impracticable and visionary? The forgotten millions still find in the family the best experiences of life and in the religion of Jesus its best interpreter.

The third and last lecture was devoted to the discussion of the influences that oppose and those that promote the conditions of Christian life in the world of modern business. Can one make a living and at the same time make a life? Great numbers of students claim that business has become an immoral affair, that the gain of one is the loss of many. And many signs of the business world seem to justify this—the greed of the employer, and the hate of the employee. But Christianity must enter this world and find its place, if it find any place at all. Humanity is going to remain as it is.

How, then, is a business man to live a Christian life? The attitude of Jesus to the world of business is that of an idealist. Here is the starting point. The law of service is the supreme law of the Christian life. The principle of proportionate service is the key to the social teaching of Jesus. This gives us a clear answer to our question. The vast work of buying and selling is fundamentally nothing else than a great co-operative enterprise of social service. The salvation of our country from the spirit of Commercialism is assured by its stamp of the spirit of Idealism.

DAVIDSON AND ELON EASILY DEFEATED

Carolina is Too Fast and Piles Up Big Scores in Each Game

NEITHER OPPONENT STRONG ON DEFENCE

Carrington and Long Shoot Many Goals and Tillett's Floor Work and Dodging Are Always Sensational

The basketball team defeated Davidson on the home floor Monday night by the lop-sided score of 42 to 8. During the first half Carolina made 16 points, while the Davidson team failed to score a single point, and in fact did not score at all until the last few minutes of play. Carolina scored almost at will during the last half, running up 26 points to their opponent's 8.

From the first tip off to the time-keeper's final call the ball stayed almost continually in Carolina territory. Carrington and Long made the majority of points, shooting eight and six goals respectively. Tillett, although guarded by probably the best man on the other team, dropped four. Chambers's two long distance shots were features of the game.

THE TEAMS

CAROLINA		DAVIDSON
Carrington	Center	Cashion, Carson
Tillett, Ranson	Forward	White (Capt.)
Long	"	Carson, Gibbon
Chambers (Capt.)	Guard	Howell
Redmon, Homewood	"	Booe

Summary—Referee (1st half) Cook, (2nd half) Smith; Umpire (1st half) Smith, (2nd half) Cook. Halves, twenty minutes. Goals: Carrington (8); Long (6); Tillett (4); Chambers (2); White (2); Carson (1). Fouls thrown: by Long (2); by White (2).

Carolina defeated Elon College in a spirited game of basketball Wednesday night. Although the score was 41 to 11, the play throughtout was fast and lively. Most of the time the team worked together well and piled up the score rapidly. The score in each half was practically the same, in the first half being 21 to 6, in the second 20 to 5. Long played phenominal ball for the first few minutes but slowed up after that. Carrington and Tillett played a consistent game all the way.

The line-up:

ELON		CAROLINA
Bradford	Center	Carrington, Chambers
Newman	Forward	Long
Johnson	"	Tillett
Rand	Guard	Chambers, Homewood
Voughn	"	Redman

Summary—Goals: Newman (2); Bradford (2); Carrington (6); Long (6); Redmon (4); Tillett (3); Chambers (1). Fouls called on Carolina (9); Elon (3). Fouls thrown: by Long (1); Newman (3). Referee: Doak, of Elon. Umpire: Long, of Carolina.

At the last meeting of the Dramatic Club Blake Applewhite was elected assistant manager.

COUNTY CLUBS ORGANIZE

Form Definite Associaton and Plan for the Future

The University Association of County Clubs has completed its organization by adopting a constitution and electing officers.

Dean E. K. Graham, as temporary chairman, opened the meeting. He said the purpose of the club was to better and strengthen: first, the relations between the college individuals and the State; second, the relation between the clubs and their counties; third, the relation between the University and the State. He said, "This organization can be made the biggest thing in College. It is a good idea."

The Constitution, the preamble of which begins, "Keenly aware of our obligation to the State," was read and adopted. The various officers were elected. I. M. Bailey, President; Frank Graham, First Vice-President; G. B. Phillips, Second Vice-President; Fred Morrison, Secretary; E. M. Coulter, Treasurer. E. K. Graham, Prof. Noble, and Dr. Raper were elected members of the executive committee, which is further composed of the Club President and the various County Club Presidents. Any one may become a member of this club upon paying an initiation fee of twenty-five cents.

After this routine work I. M. Bailey, E. W. Joyner, and Fred Morrison told of the various plans that had already been tried along this line. Dr. Hamilton then delivered the main speech of the evening. He spoke on the need of the State for a new constitution and told how this club could forward that movement. He said in part: "The statute law, contrary to general belief, is not the important thing—it is constitutional law Our constitution was made by selfish and often ignorant carpet baggers; therefore there are many faults in it. The chief of these are special legislation, the lack of a definite responsibility of State power, inequalities of taxation, the inflexibility of judiciary laws, and the absurdities in our educational provisions. The way to change all this is to educate public sentiment."

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF BIBLE STUDY GROUPS

The Y. M. C. A. gave an entertainment to the members of the Bible Study groups Tuesday night for the purpose of getting the individuals of the several groups better acquainted. After a flash light and a speech of welcome by Secretary Hall an abundance of fruit and lemonade was served. Then talks were made by Mr. Moss, Frank Graham and "Cy" Thompson, and others. The speeches treated of everything from the Bible to Bronchos.

FINAL BANQUET OF THE CLASS OF 1913

Seniors All Weep Together and Swear to Mutual Love Forever

MISS BERRY TOASTS THE CLASS

Drs. Venable and Raper and Professors Williams and Graham versus Carrington, Busby, Mebane and Tillett

Gathering for the last time as undergraduates around the festal board, the Senior Class last Friday evening banqueted most happily. Although there was naturally a kind of "last time" feeling in the atmosphere, this detracted not a whit from the enjoyableness of the occasion, the wit of the class's many humorists and the cigars coming to the aid of those who might be pensively inclined.

The banquet committee had done its work well, and the menu was a reminder of the old "Marse Jesse" days. Between courses speeches were had and hearty applause greeted both the wit and the wisdom of the speakers. Walter Stokes made an excellent toastmaster; he was always strictly on the job.

Dr. Venable, the first speaker, gave a serious talk. Now that the class, 75 strong, was about to be sent away as the finished product of the University, he asked "What"? The University man is expected to make good, to measure high. "The three essentials are", he said, "first Character, then Industry, then Training."

George Carrington responded to Dr. Venable. George, who incidentally presides over the destinies of the Tar Heel, made a breezy speech. He had provided himself with a set of jokes and some big words and these he manipulated effectively, here a little and there some more

Prof Graham, the next speaker, told a joke about "food" and one about "fellowship". Then he expressed sincere thanks, both for himself and the University, to 1913 for the helpful course it had stuck to during a trying year. He urged that the class see to it that its progressive measures be continued by succeeding classes.

Will Tillett, responding to Mr. Graham, made a talk characteristic of the energetic football captain. He advised all 1913-er's to "bat out a home run the first time up, to make a touchdown from the kick-off".

Dr. Raper, who had kindly consented to be present in the place of Dr. Henderson, said that between "preparing Chapel talks on taxation and Sunday School talks on the Flood" he had not had not had time to get up a ban

LAW SCHOOL WINS $100

Trial of the Jennie Brice Case Best in the State

The University Law School has won a prize of $100 offered by the Ridgeway Publishing Company for the best mock trial in North Carolina of the Jennie Brice murder case. This news was received Tuesday in a telegram to S. R. Winters, the official court stenographer at the trial. It is a distinct triumph for the law department.

The mock trial arose from the publication by Everybody's Magazine of a serial story by Mary Roberts Rinehart. It concerned the supposed murder of a girl, Jennie Brice, during flood times in Pittsburgh in 1907. In order to advertise the story, the publishers of the magazine offered numerous prizes for the best mock trial of the case. All over the country trials were held and much interest was aroused. The prizes were awarded by states.

The law department of the University held its trial in Gerrard Hall. It ran for two nights, Dec. 13 and 14, and the hall was crowded with students who were much interested in the proceedings. The best men in the department acted as attorneys in the case and fought as bitterly as if a life were really at stake. Prof. P. H. Winston acted as the judge. The lawyers for the State were J. W. Morris, H. E. Stacy, John W. Hester, and W. L. Warlick; for the plaintiff were L. A. Swicegood, G. H. Ward, W. F. Taylor, and J. J. Henderson.

TO MAKE COUNCIL MORE EFFECTIVE

At the last meeting of the Greater Council several matters of importance were discussed. It was decided that the present Presidents of the Sophomore and Junior classes continue in office as members of the Student Council until the students at large and the representative elected by the Council are chosen and installed. This is to insure a strong, working Council at the first of each year. Also it was decided to submit the following resolution to the student body for its consideration. "Resolved; that the representative chosen by the Council itself be not limited to the Senior class as heretofore, but that any old member of the council who is then a Junior, Senior or a Professional student be eligible." This is intended to insure the presence of an experienced man on the Council.

The committee appointed to seek some way of building up Athletics reported, and recomended that an organized effort be made to promote coached athletics in the State Public High Schools, as sixty-three percent of our men come, almost untrained, from them. It was thought most practicable to forward this plan through the County Clubs.

DOGGIE TRENCHARD SIGNS CONTRACT

Princeton All-American End to Coach Carolina for Three Years

Trenchard Has Always Been a Favorite With the Alumni and it is Largely Due to Them That He Has Signed

Graduate Manager McLendon has announced that T. C. Trenchard, better known to the athletic world as "Doggie" Trenchard, has signed a three-year contract as head football coach at the University of North Carolina. Mr. Trenchard, who is at present engaged in lumber and real estate business at Ridgeland S. C., will come to Chapel Hill about March 1 and live here in the future. The salary he will receive has not been announced but it is understood to be the largest ever paid to a Carolina coach.

The news of "Doggie" Trenchard's coming was received here with great delight and the student body believes that he can pull Carolina football out of the rut of the past few years. Trenchard is a Princeton man, graduating there in 1894. During his college career he was one of the greatest ends of all times and was unanimously selected for all-American elevens.

In 1895 he coached the Carolina football team with brilliant success. It was at this time that he acquired the liking for Chapel Hill and the University that has brought him back year after year to assist in the last few weeks of the season. At various times also he has gone back to Princeton and helped there in the development of the Tiger teams. Last Fall he spent six weeks at Princeton in charge of the ends.

Besides possessing accurate technical knowledge of football "Doggie" Trenchard is noted for instilling fight into a team. He is a man of great spirit and energy and he is able to impart much of it to the team under him.

Trenchard was selected as head coach at a conference here on January 27 between representatives of the alumni, faculty and students. This commitee, in entire charge of all coaching arrangements, it is one of the results of the recent move by which the alumni have an active interest in athletic managment at the University. Trenchard has always been a favorite with the alumni, and it is largely due to their efforts that he has been signed. The alumni will pay the greater part of his salary, the athletic association guaranteeing $1,000 a year.

A modified system of alumni coaching will be installed. From time to time alumni coaches will come to Chapel Hill and help Trenchard.

CONTINUING ON DANCES

In taking up any matter such as the dance situation here there is always the danger of arousing a certain unreasoning kind of antagonism on the part of some who are not opposed to a change but, in fact, are in favor of one until another person suggests it to them, but who, as soon as that suggestion is made, instead of being glad of the confirmation that "great minds run in the same channels" at once take up arms because they think that some one is trying to "run something over them". With that other class which merely wants that suggestion for an excuse for antagonism we shall not concern ourselves.

It is merely human to take offence at suggestions; but it is manly to follow one's convictions regardless of suggestions. There is a sentiment among the leaders of the dances and a movement on foot among them for some change in and improvement on the present system. This movement has been on foot for some time, and we hope that it will materialize soon into something definite. That any change that is made should be made from within is certainly proper. Such a change would be much finer and more effective than any other that could be accomplished.

Whether under another system there would be more dancers is not the question at all. As a matter of fact we are inclined to believe that the crowd would be substantially the same as under the present system. Neither is it a question of whether the German Club should become an open organization. It is a question of wheather five per cent of the student body may appropriate to themselves privileges granted by the trustees to the whole student body. If ninety five percent do not care to make use of the privileges then the other five should not be deprived of their privileges, on that account, but should be allowed to use them — not, however, as a hundred per cent in themselves. They should use them as a part of the hundred per cent of students to whom the privileges were granted. If the German Club were made entirely open but other organizations still continued to appropriate to their use privileges which were granted to the hundred per cent, there would still have been no progress made.

We trust that the inside reformers will take these things into consideration, and will take them in the spirit in which they are given — the desire to see a University that can stand up and say "We Are Clean".

A FOOTBALL CLUB

Parables are interesting things in whatever form they occur. They save a useless expenditure of breath and energy. Below we quote a sentence which, in modified forms, is found four times in the first three books of the New Testament: "For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath".

Not only are parables interesting; but newspapers likewise. It is entertaining to speculate as to just how much of the progress of the world recently has been due to newspapers and other periodicals. They, quite often, contain much valuable information, many practical suggestions. The occasion of these reflections is the following clipping from "College Topics", the student paper of the University of Virginia:

"Whereas, we believe that interest, enthusiasm and education in football should extend throghout the entire session instead of being confined to the active football season;

"Be it resolved, That the Executive Committee of the G. A. A. do promote the organization of and render every possible assistance in the establishment of a football club, whose objects shall in general be to advance the interest of football in the University or Virginia".

It seems to us that here is an excellent opportunity for those men who recently received their monograms and stars in football with the men who hope to receive theirs next season or the season after or the season after that, to get together and do a bit of work now with the view of winning a few games in futere. For the benefit of any who may be heavy in avoirdupoise and light in gray matter we shall elucidate a bit farther to show the relations between "A Football Club" here and the biblical quotation above used.

If Virginia, after having had a very successful football season, considers it necessary for her to organize a club for the practice of the game during the rest of the year - and that, too, when she has the prospects of most of the old team back next year with several new men on the string who are good - then how much more should we, after having had an absolutely disastrous season, and with no especially brilliant prospects for an all-anything team next season, how more ought we to be working hard with the material that we have?

If our men will get to work now and work hard, practicing through the spring we have conservative reason to believe that Carolina will put out a creditable team next season. Otherwise — "For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath".

PROFANITY

We all, probably, use profanity more or less at times. It seems to come so naturally and to take the place of so many words which would otherwise require some thought to put into the right arrangement to express our thought that we just use a "damn" or so mething else of the same species. All of which goes very well around here where there are a goodly number of others expressing themselves in like manner. But as soon as we get out of here-not into the cold hard world, but into the warm, soft one— we begin to feel ourselves a bit unhandy at expressing ourselves. A "damn" or "darn" or "dern" or "Hell" persists in desiring to come out. And although we suppress them with fair success they are always lending a slight uneasiness to the situation.

Well, now is a pretty good time to begin to stop them and to grow mustaches instead.

HAIL TO CAROLINA'S NEW POET!

The poetic spirit of Carolina will not down. W. B. Clinard, '11, has burst into song before and his name has become well known to readers of the University Magazine and the Yackety Yack. But now he comes before the public as a full fledged poet, the author of an attractive little volumn called "Stray Poems", published by the Barber Printery of Winston-Salem. The poems were published before Christmas and were evidently intended to serve chiefly as a Christmas gift. They are chiefly love lyrics and many of them show encouraging promise. The volume is dedicated "To my Alma Mater, the University of North Carolina under whose fostering care have come inspiration and incentive to lofty endeavour."

Miss Mary Graham of Charlotte, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Graham last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Venable paid a short visit last week to their daughter, Mrs. Lewis Sutton of Raleigh.

Mrs. Frazier, who has been the guest of Mrs. Pratt, returned to her home in Asheville Spturday.

Mrs. Collier Cobb was the guest at a delightful little morning party last Thursday given in honor of Miss Margaret Wells.

On Saturday morning Mrs. Bell entertained at a charming sewing party. The morning was spent delightfully in sewing and chatting, after which a salad course was served.

Mrs. Dey entertained a few friends on Saturday in honor of Miss Lucy Minor. Each guest was allowed to choose three sheets of tissue paper, was provided with needle, thread and scissors, and instructed to make a hat. A delightful hour was spent at this occupation, the results causing much merriment, and revealing much talent in that line. Delicious refreshments were served when the final finishing touches had been put on these really wonderful millinery creations.

SEVEN SATELLITES OF VENUS COMING

The seven satellites of Venus, the University Girls, will come to Gerrard Hall on Friday night February 7th as the next Star Course attraction. If prospective literature, or the guarantee they demand, are to be judged, this is the best performance of the year. Seven young ladies, pretty, charming, attractive, fascinating, and above all things talented in music, with not a single masculine being in the company - is not that enough to fill the Chapel? They play every musical instrument that has ever been invented, they sing like the angels themselves, and it is even rumored that if the audience shows that it can appreciate artistic efforts, they may be induced to dance.

"JONES" WINS MORE LAURELS

The Dramatic Club's presentation of "What Happened to Jones" in Raleigh at St. Mary's School, February 3rd, met with great success. The confidence gained through the successful production here, together with the better mechanical arrangements of the stage in Raleigh, enabled the cast to do its work easily and thoroughly. The charm of H. C. Conrad as Cissy, the attractions of W. B. Pitts as Alvina Starlight, and the stolid beauty of Don Harris' Helma were appreciated even by such critics as the St. Mary's girls, while Coggins as Jones and the Bishop, and Weeks as the Professor won so many hearts that they could hardly stand up under the burden.

After the performance the Wake County Alumni of the University gave the Dramatic Club a dance at the Auditorium. About fifty couples were present and the affair was enjoyable to all.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO CONFER HERE

The January number of the North Carolina High School Bulletin, of which Prof. N. W. Walker is editor, is out from the press. Among the other things of serious interest to high school teachers of the State, there is an announcement of "A Conference on High School Problems", which will be held at Chapel Hill, May 1-3. The committee on arrangements, composed of Professors Walker, Noble, and Chase, is now at work on the details of this meeting, and will have a definite program ready at an early date. Friday night, May 2, will be given over to the dedication exercises of the new Peabody Education Building.

As a supplement to this issue of The Bulletin there is sent the pamphlet on "Woman Suffrage", which the high school debating committee has compiled for the use of the schools having membership in the High School Debating Union. This pamphlet is sent to all schools of the State, irrespective of whether they are members of the Union this year or not.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

At the meeting of the Dramatic Club a few days ago it was decided to give a minstrel show and smoker to the members of the Club. No admission is to be charged at this smoker and none but members are invited. A committee will canvass the college for members between now and the time the smoker is given. The committee to make the necessary arrangements consists of Rights, chairman; Meeks, Applewhite, Tolson, and Professors Booker and Wilbur Royster.

ZOOLOGISTS HONOR DR. WILSON

The American Society of Zoologists, at their recent meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, passed a resolution urging upon President-elect Wilson that he appoint to the headship of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries a trained zoologist familiar with the problem of American fisheries. Professor E. G. Conklin (Princeton), Dr. A. G. Mayer (Carnegie Tortugas Laboratory), and Professor H. V. Wilson, of the University of North Carolina, were designated as a committee to present the resolution.

Bruce H. Lewis, 09, spent Friday and Saturday on the Hill. He is now the representative in this State of the Virginia School Supply Co., of Richmond, Va.

"Ed" Hall and W. W. Rankin, Jr. represented the University at the dedication last Friday of A. & M.'s new Y. M. C. Building.

At the dedication exercises, Mr. Rankin spoke, representing not only the University but also, on account of the short time allowed for the greetings, Trinity, Elon, Wake Forest, and Guilford.

Dr. Archibald Henderson delivered the principal address at a banquet of the Contemporary Club, given in his honor in Henderson last Friday.

Prof. E. K. Graham spoke before the Woman's Club, of Raleigh, on the "Modern Tendencies of Our Literature," last Thursday, Jan. 31.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

SPORTOGRAMS

Some couple or so years ago a certain individual, diked out in a picturesque sombrero, flowing tie, and possessed of a somewhat tabasco style of writing, conducted periodically a column of sporting items in this estimable sheet. When he departed from beneath our classic shades, with an A. B. tagged onto his cognomen, to seek out his further good fortune either in the wild and wooly west or in the daily scrambling of pot-hooks on the sporting page of a metropolitan daily, The Tar Heel lost the best sporting writer it ever had. In other words, Frank Hough's column of "Sportgrams" ceased, died, and remained in a state of defunctness when Frank Hough checked his dudschest hence for other parts. We could not revive Frank, in all his picturesque entirety, for the undying delectation of all the red-corpuscled readers of college sporting dope who read The Tar Heel. Frank is too busy scribbling elsewhere. We did the next best thing. We delved into the depths of our "cut shelf" and dug out Frank's old "Sportogram" cut. We brushed off the cob-webs from type, and to-day we slap it up at the head of its old time columu. We scratched our editorial head, and with a determined smile we have taken on to ourselves the title of the "new sporting editor." Henceforth for the remainder of the present semester at least, the Tar Heel will periodically present, with a new dope-artist behind the key-board, some tabloid sporting comments under Frank Hough's resurrected caption—"Sportograms."

quet speech. He expressed his sincere good wishes to the members of 1913 in all their endeavors.

Responding to Dr. Raper, John Busby advocated the placing of another requirement in the development of the University man. "To our physical, mental, and moral man, let us add", he said, "the social man".

Prof. Horace Williams, the last speaker from the faculty, made a strong talk. Quoting from statistics to show the progress of the South in the past thirty years, he said that the call of the South in the light of the present-day scientific development was for men who would free business from its bonds. "There is no court in North Carolina in which the Southern Railway can get simple justice." To place business in its proper place in regard to the State, to let business manage itself,—that is the problem, and for its solution there is a great call for men.

Banks Mebane, the official prodigal son of the class, was the last speaker on the program. He expressed his joy at being installed into the full graces of the family, and told some jokes that brought smiles and laughter.

After the regular toasts had been given and responded to, there was a general call for speeches from the young ladies of the class, Misses Kasey, Summers, and Berry, each of whom generously responded. Of especial interest was Miss Berry's toast ending with—"1913—Here's a Co-ed's Love for You".

Impromptu speeches from Lee Wiggins and the Class's new member, Bursar Warren, and others were to the point, expressive of the unity of the class and of the idea—"aren't we glad we came?"

"Hark the Sound" with an Oo-ee-wow-wow on the end of it closed the activities of 1913's last undergraduate banqet.

Dr. Wilson before Legislature on Behalf of Libraries

Dr. L. R. Wilson spent Thursday in Raleigh, where he appeared before the library committee of the Legislature in the interest of a system of traveling libraries in the State. Dr. Wilson, who is Chairman of the North Carolina Library Commission, the organization which is to have charge of the proposed libraries, has been hard at work on the project for the past several years. The Commission now receives from the State $1,500 per year. It is the hope of Dr. Wilson and others interested to get this amount so increased as to allow the establishment of an effective traveling library system.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL TIGHTENS UP ON MONOGRAMS

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Council it was decided that hereafter in the awarding of monograms to men who represent the University on athletic teams the record of the team during the season and the playing of the individual men will be taken into consideration. Merely having played on a team will not be sufficient to secure the monogram. The team must have had a creditable season and the men must have played well. This was decided upon in order to make the monograms mean more and at the same time to stimulate the players to harder work. The same ruling, of course applies to stars.

VIRGINIA WINS IN THE SECOND HALF

Redmon's Disqualification Breaks up Team Play Result, 30 to 19

FIRST HALF ENDS A TIE

Crowd Goes Wild, Jeers the Referee's Decisions, and the Game Stopped Temporarily.

Virginia won from Carolina in basketball Monday night at the Raleigh Auditorium, 30 to 19. The first half euded in a tie, 13 to 13, and the game looked to be an even chance. Early in the second half, however, Redmon was disqualified for rough playing and his loss seemed to take the life out of the Tar Heels. After that Virginia made 17 points to Carolina's 6.

The disqualification of Redmon caused an uproar. The twelve hundred spectators hissed the referee, called him names and yelled themselves hoarse. For ten minutes everybody lost their heads, then the game was resumed. But the Carolina team was a changed organization and Virginia had things her own way.

The first half was a fine exhibition ot basketball. The teams were closely matched and both fought desperately. Virginia played a dribbling game, Lyman in particular proving a star in that feature. Carolina relied more on passing and took many long shots.

Carrington's field goal and Longs's goal from the foul line gave Carolina the jump, but Virginia soon overcame that lead and worked the score up to 8 to 3. Two long shots by Tillett and Chambers made it more nearly even and from then on it was nip and tuck, the half ending a tie 13 to 13.

At the beginning of the second half each team scored once and then came Redmon's disqualification. Homewood took his place. Carolina fouled a number of times and Gill's shooting from the foul line was deadly. Rixey scored two pretty goals and Lyman put in another after a long dribble, the game ending at 30 to 19.

Carolina's play in the first half was the best the team has done. Tillett was all over the floor and Long made some beautiful shots. Redmon, against a star player, stuck to his job and did more than his share.

The line up:

VIRGINIA		CAROLINA
Gill	Right Forward	Tillett
Stickley	Left "	Long, Ranson
Rixey	Center	Carrington
Lymon	Right Guard	Redmon, Homewood

Goals: Long (4); Tillett (2); Chambers (2); Carrington (1); Rixey (4); Stickley (4); Gill (1); Lymon (1); Churchman (1). Goals from fouls: Long (1); Gill (7). Referee: Rice, of Georgetown.

JUDGE CLARK SPEAKS

Is the Guest of Honor at the Law Class Banquet

The annual banquet of the Law Class was held last Thursday evening at the University Inn. The address of the occasion was made by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the State Supreme Court. Judge Clark made a strong speech. He pointed out that the present position of the State was far from what it should be. "Poverty assails our public school system and our great University, and why is it so"? he asked. He traced the cause down to the influence of the large corporations in our political life and to freight discriminations which, he said, "rob us of $12,000,000 annually". He appealed strongly to the rising lawyers to change this state of affairs, to put the State at the top, where she rightly belongs. W. F. Taylor, President of the Class, acted as toastmaster. The speakers from the Faculty were Professors McGehee, Winston, and McIntosh. From the students Messrs. P. H Gwynn, Jr., Milton Alexander, and Z. V. Babbitt spoke.

PROF. WILLIAMS' ADDRESS

Analyzes Methods of History Before Society

Prof. H. H. Williams delivered the talk at the regular monthly meeting or the Historical Society last Monday night. His subject was "Historical consciousness," which he defined as the interest that one has in studying History even to the minute details. This interest touches the mind of man from three different angles. First comes Rationalism, the attitude of philosophical speculation from which man works out the theory of the universe. Empiricism, the second, is the reaction and the exact opposite of the first. It wants facts. Enlightenment, the last and final stage of the developed mind, takes the facts and uses them to explain theories. Therefore, since in enlightenment we prove the principles through facts, anything that happens anywhere should interest us.

If the above is true, then comes the question, "what is the right way to study History?" Minds treat History from three standpoints. The Static mind wants to know facts. The Dynamic mind wants to know cause and effect. It cares nothing for facts. The Organac mind seeks to find the principle that shows why a fact is a fact and why it produced such an effect. This last is the ideal way to study History.

JUNIORS WILL NOT GIVE ANYTHING

Vote Down Every Possible Form of Entertainment at Stormy Meeting

THE ACTION UPSETS ALL PRECEDENT

They Won't Have a Prom or a Reception or a Smoker or a Banquet or any Combination From These Four.

The Juniors fairly outdid themselves Wednesday nigh. After wrangling for an hour and a half and voting down every suggested form of entertainment for Junior Week, they ended up by deciding to give nothing. Senior Stunts may go on forever, but the Juniors will hereafter pay for their seats.

The meeting was a stormy one. Two or three preliminary gatherings had been held at various times in the last two weeks, but they only prepared the way. Every body was there, men who had not attended a class meeting since entering college. The only real thing accomplished was the setting the week after Easter as the time for what used to be Junior Week. That was the first business and also the last. After that it was talk. H S. Willis, George Strong, J G. Lee, Felix Webster, E. J. Perry, J. S. Cansleer, J. A. Holmes, Ratty Ranson, R. C. Spence, L. R. Johnson, and a host of others were on their feet offering motions, and countermotions, amendments, and suggestions until the air was blue.

The Prom was voted down first. Then a smoker for the Seniors fell by the wayside. A joint banquet suffered the same fate, and a reception found only six supporters. Different combinations of these four were brought up and knocked down in rapid succession. Nobody had any good solution of the problem; everybody wanted to kill his neighbor's proposition. The Prom was unrepresentative, smokers have lost their newness, a banquet was too commonplace and expensive, and no reception could succeed after last years' effort. Finally some one with sense moved that Junior's give nothing at all. Eureka! The solution was found. The motion was passed unanimously amid cheers. Hurrah for 1914!

George Strong in Big League

George V. Strong has a short article in the February Educational Review, on "Required English Courses in College." It was originally written as a theme in English 3 and was forwarded by Dr. Royster to the publishers in New York. The Educational Review is one of the best magazine of its kind in the country. It is edited by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University.

I. R. WILLIAMS ELECTED

Other Commencement Ball Managers Are Chosen

I. R. Williams was elected Chief Ball Manager for Commencemedy on Tuesday. The election was held under the new plan recently adopted by the Junior and Senior classes by which an open meeting was held attended by all Seniors and all other students who had paid $500 as a guarantee of their intention to stay to Commencement. The assistant managers elected were M. T. Spears, Robert Strange, Walter Stokes and F. H. Kennedy of the Senior Class, and Frank Drew and Lenoir Chambers of the Junior class.

I. R. Williams, the Chief Ball Manager, is one of the most popular men in college. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternaty and has been a prominent figure in class athletics.

TO HELP RELAY TEAM

Psychic Entertainment for Track Department

The Athletic Association wants to send a relay team to Washington to run against Virginia and to help raise money for the trip has secured the services of Mr. Delroy, a Psychic Entertainer. Mr. Delroy will appear at Gerrard Hall on Wednesday, February 19th, and he should be greeted by a large audience. His performance is in many respects remarkable. He does not claim to have more supernatural power than any other person, but he will perform all the standard acts of mind readers, clairvoyants, hypnotists, palmists and then show how all of them are fakes. He is principally a revealer. He will explain methods of telling names, how answers appear on slates, how sealed questions are answered, how character may be determined from hand-writing, how to acquire personal magnetism, and everything else on the calendar. Mr. Delroy has appeared before many large clubs, hotels, and in private audience with prominent people.

The prospects of sending a relay team to Washington are excellent. It will race Virginia at Georgetown Indoor Games on March 1st. The distance is two miles and each runner will go a half mile. From Captain Patterson, Spence, Cobb, Whiting, Ranson, and others a team can be picked that will make anybody hustle to beat them. The problem now is raising enough money and the student body has an excellent chance to help.

The Philanthropic Society last Saturday night debated the following query: "Resolved, That the President of the United States should be elected for a term of six years and that he be not eligible for more than one term." The judges decided that D. H. Killeffer made the best speech and that A. B. Harper deserved honorable mention.

HELPFUL LECTURE COURSE STARTED

Faculty Experts to Speak on Health, Reproduction and Eugenics

DRS. MacNIDER, WILSON AND CHASE

Greater Council to Furnish Valuable and Necessary Information Which the Univerity Does Not Give

Beginning next Mnday evening at 7:30 o'clock a series of lectures will be given by members of the faculty dealing with the subjects of Disease, Reproduction, and Eugenics. These lectures will be in Gerrard Hall and will begin promptly on time. They will be limited to one hour each. After the first lecture the remainder of the series will be given on Tuesday and Thursday nights. When this is the case the Y. M. C. A. will suspend religious exercises on those nights in order that there may be no conflict.

The Greater Council with the aid of Drs. MacNider, Wilson, and Chase have arranged this series. The subjects of the lectures are matters about which the students are interested and ignorant. They deal with things that the students have a right to know and should know, too. Realizing this the Council set to work. They thought that it would be much better to have men from within the University, men about whom they know and in whom they have every confidence, deliver them than to get some traveling lecturer to give them. When asked to co-operate with the Council and help them out, the above named members of the faculty were glad to do so. Each of them is well up in the line that he will speak on, and will speak as an authority.

Below is the schedule of lectures and the men who will give them:

Dr. W. DeB. MacNider—Monday, Feb 17, "Origin of Disease"; Thursday, Feb. 20, "Prevention and Cure of Disease".

Dr. H. VanP. Wilson—Thursday, Feb. 27, "Reproduction."

Dr. H. W. Chase—Tuesday, March 4, "What the Eugenics Movement Means"; Thursday, March 6, "Some Investigations Into Human Heredity"; Tuesday, March 11, "Eugenics and the Future."

MR. WARE TO COACH SEWANEE

Mr. John N. Ware, instructor in French at the University for two years and at present head of the French Department at the University of the South (Sewanee), will coach the Sewanee baseball team this spring. Mr. Ware has had wide experience in baseball. Last year he had charge of the Freshmen team here and did well.

PROPOSED PLAN FOR DANCES

We give below a plan which has been proposed for holding the dances which are allowed the student body each year by the trustees of the University. The plan did not originate with us, but was proposed by another. In our opinion it furnishes a solution of the dance proposition that is both representative and just.

Under the proposed plan there will be a German Club which will be open to any student who wishes to dance and will pay his fees. This Club will give one dance in the fall and one in the spring, as the German Club now does. In the place of the other two dances which are given each year, one in the fall by one of the Junior Orders and the other in the spring by the other Junior Order, there will be given in the fall a dance by men of the Senior Class who desire to dance and in the spring one by the members of the Junior Class who desire to dance. Only those men of the Senior Class in the fall and only those men of the Junior Class in the spring will pay who go in for the dances.

This plan seems to us to fill the bill as nearly as it is possible to do so. While there may be some items about it which do not meet with the approval of all of us, the least that can be said by any one in its favor is that it is by far fairer and juster than the present system.

It seems to us that it would be a fine thing if we could have the same spirit here about the dances which the following clipping from The Cadet, the student paper of V. M. I., shows to exist there—and there is no reasonable reason on earth that we should not have it too:

"All cadets in barracks who dance are looking forward with much pleasure to the opening hops, which are to be given on the 20th and 21st of this month. It was at first expected that they were to take place at an earlier date, but unforseen obstacles caused this idea to be abandoned. This posponement may keep away some of the expected calic whose schools open before that date, but there is no reason why these dances should not be a big success. Every cadet in barracks knows at least one girl who would be glad to come; so get together, boys, and have them up. It is a fine chance to show off some of those fancy steps you learned last summer."

ASSOCIATION OF COUNTY CLUBS

The University Association of County Clubs has before it, certainly, a brilliant opening for service to the University and the State. Here is to her. May every county organize and every club join the Association. And then, may the Association realize its purpose and strengthen "the relations between the college individuals and the State; the relations between the clubs and their counties; and the relations between the University and the State".

AT THE VIRGINIA GAME

We regret that our basketball game with our old rivals of the Dominion State was marred this year by a decision of the referee's of which no one has been found who approved, and by a prolonged and stormy session of yelling by the Raleigh audience which was directed against the referee. Redmon did not deserve at all to have been put out of the game. The Virginia men, although without effect upon the referee, asked that he not be taken out but be allowed to play the rest of the game, saying that he had done nothing on account of which he should have been taken out. But the referee was obdurate. The hissing and yelling which resulted from the referee's action, we are glad to say, was not done by Carolina students. There were only about a dozen of these there, and the noise was of the eight hundred size.

FILLING A GAP

The Greater Council certainly hit on a good thing when they arranged for those lectures the schedule of which is given on the first page of The Tar Heel. These lectures deal with subjects about which most of the students are densely ignorant, yet subjects of Cardinal importance. The Council is here providing, through the interest and kindness of Dr. MacNider, Dr. Wilson, and Dr. Chase an opportunity for the students to get some knowledge for which the University makes no provision on behalf of the layman students.

Ignorance is a crime. The University has long been criminal in it failure to provide suitable facilities for the students to obtain knowledge about the vital things of their physical life. Man is not merely intellectual, or intellectual and spiritual. He is physical, intellectual, and spiritual. It is necessary that he know how to care for his body, as well as know how to think and act. Here the Greater Council and the individual members of the Faculty are filling a serious gap this year. We hope that such a series of of lectures will be given and well attended every year until the University recognizes its duty and gives instruction in the academic department about physiology and hygiene.

"SHOWING OFF"

Every-one at some time in his development goes through a stage when he tries to "show off." It may be the three-years-old who endeavors to attract the attention of his elders by all kinds of animal actions and noises; it may be the twelve-years-old who worships his divinity by suddenly doing hand springs before her startled gaze from all kinds of unexpected places; or it may be the young college student who shouts at passing autos, shoots popping matches during a Star Course, and tells the girls in the summer what a terrible place the University is—all under the belief that he is making a remarkable kind of impression upon the spectators. Well, he is—a remarkably asinine kind it is, though. It is strange that so many of the students here are still in that stage of their development where they desire to disport themselves for the amusement of others, to "show off."

This "showing off" is responsible for much of the bad misconception which the State has of us. Whenever there are visitors on the Hill, people from the State, autoing parties from Durham, teams from other colleges, drummers, traveling entertainers, in fact when there is any visitor here, the students, instead of trying to impress that visitor with the fact that we have a good University here, that we are good people here, and that we know the right and proper thing, instead of that, the dear students with almost one accord and universal acclaim try to see how much Hell—and we use the word advisedly—they can raise for the benefit of the visitor. Then, of course, the visitor goes back home or continues on the road, as the case may be, and tells everybody every time the University is mentioned that it certainly is a "Hell" of a place.

And yet these same students love their University, reverence her, and would do anything in their power to promote her interests.

DEBATING UNION READY

The Literary Societies Have Done This Work Well

A new departure in the secondary school life of the State will be taken on Friday, February 21, when at 90 high schools, representative of the most progressive in the State, debates on the "Woman Suffrage for North Carolina" question will be held. All of these schools are members of the High School Debating Union — the organization that has been brought about by the Di and Phi Societies of the University for the purpose of stimulating debating in the secondary schools.

Each of these schools have been placed in a triangle with two other schools. Each school puts out two teams, one on the affirmative and one on the negative, and every school which wins both of their triangular debates will send their teams here for the final contest on March 7. Tau Kappa Alpha has provided the Aycock Memorial Cup: on this Cup will be inscribed the name of the school which wins out finally here, together with the represedtatives of this school.

The interest which has been aroused by the Debating Union and by the query selected, "Woman Suffrage", is large is large. Ninety schools compete; others had to be refused admittance into the Uuion this year because suitable triangles could not be arranged in the short time allowed. The Union is to be a permanent thing — already plans are being made for its better organization and enlarged scope for next year. It is probable that no school which desires to enter another year will be left out because of inability to arrange a triangle.

For quite a number of schools girls will compete, Sailsbury, Lenoir, Smithfield, and Pikeville being among this number. The Woman with the vote seems to be coming from the interest which high school girls are taking in the question.

A few of the triangles which have been formed for these contests are: Durham, Goldsboro, and Rocky Mount; High Point, Winston, and Reidsville; Washington, New Bern, and Elizabeth City; Greenville, Kinston, and Wilson; Statesville, Concord, and Salisbury; Gastonia, Cherryville, and Shelby; Raleigh, Greensboro, and Charlotte. In all, thirty triangles have been formed.

It is expected that quite a number of these schools will succeed in winning both sides of the query. The students who come to Chapel Hill for the final on March 7th will be entertained here as the Societies' guests—they will be given a look-in at that thing called "college life."

VARSITY STRIKES A SNAG

Emory and Henry Wins in Basketball, 20 to 17

The usual large crowd saw the Emory and Henry quint of Virginia take a fast and close game from Carolina Saturday night in the Bynum Gymnasium. Neither team was in good condition. The Virginia team had gone through a hard trip, and a sprained ankle kept Redmon out.

The first seconds of play resulted in a goal for the visitors. No goals were made during the next few minutes. The play was wild and erratic, as each side seemed to realize that it was up against a stiff proposition. After Homewood dropped in an easy one, however, both sides settled down and the spectators were treated to a period of as fast and brilliant playing as has been witnessed on the home court this season. Each team collected a goal, and Carolina threw two fouls in this time. During the rest of the half Carolina was playing a defensive and losing game, as Emory and Henry collected seven points. The half ended 11 to 6 in their favor.

The second half also started off in favor of the visitors and the first part of this half was all However, quickly succeeding goals by Carrington and Long started a Carolina rally which swept Emory and Henry off their feet. They began to weaken before the fierce attack and welcomed the end of the time. Five minutes more might have told a different tale than 20 to 17 in favor of Emory and Henry.

Long had to his credit eleven of seventeen points made. Three were on fouls. Carrington, in spite of a taller and heavier opponent, gathered four points. Tillett played a red-hot, aggressive game. Chambers's guarding materially cut down the score of the opponents.

The teams lined up as follows:

Emory and Henry		Carolina
Logan	Forward	Long
Crowe (Capt.)	"	Tillett
Russell	Guard	Chambers (Capt.)
Brouder	"	Homewood, Ranson
Nickles	Center	Carrington

Summary—Referee: E. F. Brouder, of Emory and Henry. Umpire: Smith, of Carolina. Goals: Logan (5); Long (4); Carrington (2); Crowe (2); Nickles (2); Homewood (1). Fouls called on Carolina (6); Emory and Henry (4). Fouls thrown by Long (3); by Crowe (2).

COUNTY CLUBS DOWN TO REAL WORK

A meeting of the executive committee of the Central County Club Association was held in the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. As this meeting was for the purpose of perfecting the organization, the chairman, I. M. Bailey, appointed the following committees:

A sub-committee to work up a list of topics for discussion at the meetings of the general association: E. R. Rankin, Dr. C. L. Raper, Prof. M. C. S Noble, I. R. Williams, F. W. Morrison.

A program committee to prepare a program for each general meeting: Prof. E. K. Graham, G. B. Philips, A. A. McKay.

A membership committee for the purpose of increasing the membership in the general association: E. W. Joyner, R. E. Parker, T. H. Norwood.

Short talks were made by Dr. Raper and Prof. Noble.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of a liberal knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

SPORTOGRAMS

Coach George Bowers landed on the Hill yesterday with his war bags. He had his new base ball proteges going through the preliminary capers yesterday and today. Here's the glad hand, Coach. We are with you from the jump.

Daily practice for a heavy schedule will be the program from now on-old Sol permitting. The Varsity sand-lot each day for the past week has been cavorted all over by ardent young Honus Wagners, Tris Speakers, and Ty Cobbs. Practice before the Coach arrived was conducted under the direction of Capt. Edwards. This has helped to loosen up winter joints and ligaments in preparation for harder work.

Yes; we will be out the next couple of weeks to watch the scrap amongst the youngsters for a berth on the first and second teams. The rattle of the can makes them fight all the harder. Admission free; peanuts extra.

Only three of last year's men are back this spring. These are Jimmy Leak at the initial sack: "Rabbit" Baily at the keystone bag; and Capt. "Bur" at the third station. However, every man must scrap for his job this year. Varsity sweaters and prep school reps will count for nought from now on at Carolina. "The best man for the job — gets it" is the new slogan. Yes, Brother Alumni, we are going to serve up the best we have in shop.

Another word to Brother Alumni; keep your peepers open for any local saud-lotters, pig.skin huggers, sprinters, basket-ball wonders, and other embryonic athletic celebrities. Keep your peepers open, we repeat. And by all that is holy, SEND THEM TO CAROLINA. Under such a a system, our winning teams in their moments of victories will reflect a great deal of the spirit, energy, and effectiveness of you. Coaches and such help; but it is you, Brother Alumni, who can in your own quiet, unheralded way bring still further honor to old Alma Mater. You are something of the real cheese around college yet, though you no longer hike breathless across the campus en-route to Chapel.

That basket-ball game Monday night at Raleigh came pretty near being the real classy stuff. Virginia had her lunch hooks full in getting away with the big end of the bag. The score was tied at the end of the first half. Then — well, its the same old tale. They licked us. But darn it, Brethern, we are going to turn around on a day not far distant from now and smite somebody's wrist real Frenchified. Smack! You'll hear it from Murphy to Manteo.

Hats off to A. & M.! She was right there Monday night. From all reports our Farmer cousins filled their lusty lungs full of good old Tar Heel ozone — and bellowed for Carolina. We still remember some mighty yells we heard last fall in Raleigh when we were battling the Virginia Pollies. A. & M., we appreciate the spirit. May it live long, and never falter in the feat of our renewed relations.

Varsity basketeers play the Water Babies at Wake Forest Saturday night. The Baptists have lost only three games on their home floor, in all its history. The third game was lost recently to Emory and Henry. The next game, after the one with Wake Forest, will be played the following Saturday night in Raleigh - opponent, A. & M.

The best news we have heard since we learned of Woody Wilson's date to ride the little donkey to the White House, came a few days ago over the telegraph wires. The message said "Trenchard wires acceptance; expects to reach Chapel Hill March 1 st.

When Coach "Doggie" hits the Hill, spring football practice will be inaugrated at Carolina — and a new era will begin.

Rev. D. H. Rolston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Charlotte, will preach the University sermon for the month Sunday morning in Chapel. Rev. Mr. Rolston is reckoned as one of the strongest preachers in the State, and his first visit to Chapel Hill will doubtless be the occasion for a large body of hearers at Chapel.

GENERAL HYGIENE LECTURES BEGUN

Dr. MacNider Starts Series With Good Lectures to Full House

"THE ORIGIN OF DISEASE"

He Divides Man Into Pysiological and Pathological and Assigns Four General Causes for Student Diseases

To a packed down stairs and a scattered gallery, Dr. MacNider delivered the first of the general hygiene series of lectures in Gerrard Hall Monday evening. He spoke on "The Origin of Disease". It is doubtful if there has ever been given a lecture on the Hill which contained so much in such brief space. Dr. MacNider spoke for only about forty minutes, but in that time he covered his subject remarkably, and was absolutely clear at all times. He began with a short history of medicine and the theories that have been held as to the causes of disease. He then divided man into the physiological and the pathological, and explained what he meant by each. Then he went into the origin or causes of disease: germs—vegetable and animal,—auto-intoxications, lack of work, and overwork. At the next lecture, which will be given Thursday evening, 29th, Dr. MacNider will take up "The Prevention and Cure of Disease".

All who attended the lecture Monday evening pronounced it fine. The few members of the faculty who were out enjoyed it greatly. Many who heard the lecture said that it was one of the best that they have heard since they have been on the Hill.

The schedule for the remaining lectures of the series is as follows:

Dr. W. DeB. MacNider—Thursday, Feb. 20, "Prevention and Cure of Disease."

Dr. H. Van. Wilson—Thursday, Feb. 27, "Reproduction."

Dr. H. W. Chase—Tuesday, March 4, "What the Eugenics Movement Means"; Thursday, March 6, "Some Investigations Into Human Heredity"; Tuesday, March 11, "Eugenics and the Future."

UNIVERSITY SERMON

Dr. Ralston Delivered the February Sermon Sunday

The University sermon for February was preached in Gerrard Hall Sunday morning by Dr. Ralston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Charlotte.

The subject of Dr. Ralston's sermon was "The True and the False Education." The text chosen from Daniel 2-19 reads as follows: "Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a night vision. Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven." The speaker related briefly the story of the captivity of Daniel and his residence in the Royal University of Babylon, and noted his faithfulness, even when he was a young university student.

The chief purpose, however, the speaker declared, to point out the difference between the education that develops the man and that which develops only the intellect. This difference was first brought out when the king demanded the astrologers to interpret his dream. As long as the test was only ordinary the difference did not stand out prominently. The religion of the astrologers was a polytheistic religion. Daniel, on the other hand, had brought the thought of monotheism, and of the omniscience of one God, from Judah. In his belief that all men are known to the mind of at least one being—the all-knowing God, he had the major premise of all human thought. "Young men, the major premise of all human thinking is one God, omniscient, omnipotent, just and wise and good."

In the second place, the true education is practical. Daniel

DR. BATTLE'S HISTORY

The second volume of Dr. Battle's "History of the University of North Carolina" is just off the press. The first volume covered the history of the University from its founding by the men who took their meal and liquid benefactions under the Davie Poplar on that historic autumn day, to the suspension of exercises in 1868. This second volume takes up the history there and brings it down to the close of the summer school in 1912.

The history is written in Dr. Battle's quaintly delightful and scholarly style. It is written, too, about one of the things nearest the heart of the man who is nearest the heart of the faculty and students alike here. It is a distinct contribution to the literature that now deals with the University and is invaluable as a history of the institution. It is a volume that every student and alumni should have a copy of. It is published by the Edwards Broughton Company of Raleigh.

SPRING BASEBALL PRACTICE BEGUN

First Call for Candidates Brings Out 56 Young Hopefuls

COACH BOWERS HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

The Development of a Battery is the Most Serious Problem Before the Coach. Prospects Not Brilliant

56 aspiring baseball artists were on the field Wednesday to greet Coach George Bowers on his first appearance in Chapel Hill. In spite of the chilly weather the bails were snapped back and forth for more than an hour. No hitting was done, though, and the general work out was the gentelest.

Coach Bowers comes to Carolina highly recommended. No less a baseball leader than Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics wrote Nat Cartmell that he was eminently fitted to coach a college team. He has had experience both as a professional player and as a coach. He played in the Tri-State League and last year was with Anderson in the Carolina Association. He has coached the De Lancey High School of Philadelphia and met with success there. His biggest job at Carolina will be the development of a battery. "General" Lee, Eugene Wood, and Swink, the mainstays of last year, are not in college and their places will be hard to fill. The infield with Captain Edwards, Baily and Leak is fairly well fortified and though none of last year's outfield are in college, their places will not be so hard to fill. But the success of the team depends on the pitchers and catchers to be developed from a none too promising lot of candidates. Practice begins every fair day on the field at 2:30. In bad weather the battery candidates work out in the Gym. The first game is with Oak Ridge on March 19.

A delightful party was given by Mrs Kluttz, at her home, on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Crawford and Miss Rankin, of G. F. C.

Dr. John Berry is in Chapel Hill ona visit to his mother. His sister, who has been very ill, is better.

COACH TRENCHARD HERE

He is Now at Work on Foot ball for Next Year

Coach "Doggie" Trenchard is at home to all students at his room, No. 1, Battle. He has established headquarters there and has opened his campaign for the football teams of the next three years. To help him he asks the aid of the entire student body; and as he is particularly anxious to know as many as possible, he asks that they come to see him, to talk about football, if they please, or about anything else from national politics to Junior Prom.

Coach Trenchard has come to Chapel Hill this year far in advance of the football season in order to get in contact with the men here, to become accustomed to the atmosphere of the University; and to learn thorougnly the methods of the past. This might seem superflous in a man who knows the University and the State as well as Trenchard does. But the move shows clearly that no stone will be left unturned in the effort to pull Carolina football teams out of the rut of the past few years. Trenchard and Graduate Manager McLendon are busily engaged in making plans for next year. The schedule will be published in a few days. An active search for new material is the business on hand now. This is a feature in which everybody can help. Trenchard will live in Chapel Hill from now on.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomores meet Tuesday night to decide about their banquet. Committees were named to arrange for the time and place of the banquet and all other necessary preparations A strong committee was chosen by the class to select fitting names for the best, sorriest, "freshest," and most promising youngsters of 1916.

The date, place, etc., of the banquet will soon be announced.

Mr. Zack Whitaker was chosen by the class to manage the Soph baseball team this spring.

The class gave a committee the power of looking into the possibilities of a Sophomore Hop during Junior Week.

Miss Nannie Smith was the hostess of a charming sewing party on Friday morning.

COMBINED MUSICAL CLUBS SWEEP STATE

Six Western Towns Are Overcome by Unprecedented Flood of Music

MANAGER HUNTER RESCUES COIN

Rights and Huffman Wear Pumps Through Watery Scale to Preserve Meeks' Orange Blossomed Voice

Last week J. Speight Hunter's troupe, the Combined Musical Clubs of the University of North Carolina left Broadway (Franklin street) for a six days' engagement, touring Western North Carolina.

In rapid succession six cities were visited. Morganton, first stop, gave the warmest welcome in its history, even though the streets were so watery that the boys had to wear pumps. Lenoir gave a striking display of true Carolina spirit. The excellent high school is under the management of Carolina boys and is one of the most up-to-date schools in the State. A crowded house, hospitable entertainment, and extemporaneous concert at Davenport College, not to speak of punch served by dainty fingers, linger in memory. Hickory, happy little city, turned out en masse, rosy cheeks, escorts and all. Here, as usual, probably the snappiest concert of the trip was given, and for the sake of an ablative absolute, M. Henri Meeks, of the orange blossomed voice, (see last number of Hickory newspaper), being recipient of many pinky notes and R. Huffman persisting in hiring a fish wagon to run over the music in various scales.

At Winston-Salem the Club was, of course, captivated by Salem College Seniors, who conducted the party over the buildings and grounds after a hearty reception. This was followed by a smoker in the college office, by courtesy of Mr. Rice. A fair sized, appreciative audience enjoyed the concert, which was followed by a reception at D. Rights' home. Friday found the Club in Mt. Airy, accent on the Airy. After the concert an enjoyable dance was attended by the members who were not frozen in the slightly heated opera house. Saturday, the last, was spent in Greensboro. An automobile drive, a vast, intelligent and attractive audience, and a delightful reception by the Normal Seniors, crowned a happy and successful trip.

The musicians were triumphant. Everybody enjoyed the concerts. Henry Meeks was the particular star, never stopping at less than two encores. Prof. Sneath's work, both as expert and trainer, was clearly recognized and appreciated. Locke McCorkle was a

The late appearance of The Tar Heel this week is due to the recent illness of the managing editor and more especially to the scarcity of hands at the Print Shop. Accept our regrets for both causes.

WELCOME TO OUR MIDST

Coach Bowers and Coach Trenchard, in the order of your arrival, we greet you. As the official representative of eight hundred students, and more especially those who belong to the Athletic Association and have paid their subscriptions to The Tar Heel, we welcome you into our midst, wring you by the metaphorical hand and say, "We are glad to see you here." If anybody ever was fortunate in their coaches we just guess that we are. With "Good Old Bloody Nat" for basketball and track, Bowers for baseball, and "Doggie" Trenchard for resident and football coach we are just about fixed. There is not a better coaching staff anywhere in the South—and you will have to go to a good many places before you will find a better anywhere. We have got the coaches. That much is sure. If we don't have the teams it will be because we haven't got the men to make them. No one can blame it on the coaches; for no one could ask for better ones.

Gentlemen, we are glad that you are here—all three of you; and we wish for you every success.

DANCES

A number of attempts are being made to right the dance system here; and so, of course, a number of plans are being proposed whereby all those of the student body who want to dance may obtain a part of the dances allotted to them by the trustees of the University. Some of the plans proposed give rise to the ethical question—If it is wrong to appropriate to one's use all of another's goods, is it all right to appropriate just half of them and let him have the other half? This is a problem which we confess unable to cope with. But we would like to call attention to the practical fact that open dances sandwiched along during the year with closed dances can never be successes. Comprises between the two systems cannot be effectual. The dances must be either open or closed—and as the trustees granted them, they are open.

TWO "SOUTHERNERS."

Below, for the entertainment of our readers, we copy an editorial dealing with Greek letter fraternities at this seat of learning. The editorial appeared in the issue of February 12 of The Southerner, a weekly newspaper published at Mount Gilead, N. C.:

"A bill has been introduced in the Legislature prohibiting hazing in North Carolina, and no one doubts the fact that this measure will become a law and that there will be none to criticise the lawmakers for such an act. The cause which prompted the Legislature to take action in this matter was the killing of a young student at the State University at Chapel Hill early last fall by a gang of ribald young sophomores. It is well for the Legislature to classify hazing and make it a punishable offense whether damage results or not. But the State University is beset with another evil which is more repugnant to the best interests of the school, and which is a greater injustice to the tax-payers who support the institution than is the crime of hazing. The evil to which we refer is the Greek letter fraternities. These organizations, created for the purpose of sifting and sorting the citizenship of the student body and purging from the institution's social life the mean and the unworthy, has failed to remain within the border of its confines. The faculty to a man belongs to some fraternity, and by reason of this, the fraternities are able to dictate the policy of the school. The faculty, being bucked and gagged by these secret orders, becomes only a figure-head in the class room to carry out the orders received the previous night from a pack of fatheads. If they decide some fellow should be expelled (as they have done time and again) they tell his instructors at a secret meeting that they must flunk the fellow in all or enough of his classes to make it equal to an expulsion. When this is done it makes no difference how smart the student is or how hard he studies. He is a gone sucker. He may prepare his lessons to perfection and answer every question correctly on examination and then go to the wall. Of course incidents of this kind may not be frequent, but they should not be tolerated at all in an institution supported by the tax-payers of the State. The Legislature ought to make a provision prohibiting members of the faculty holding membership in local fraternities This would work an injustice to no one and would place all the students on a comparatively equal basis so far as their work in the class room is concerned."

Whether this is a willful and malicious misrepresentation of conditions, an unwitting exhibition of deplorable ignorance, or a mere humorous essay, we cannot say; but we are inclined, from the lack of humor in the remainder of the sheet, to believe that it was one of the first two. Anyway, we cannot help being reminded of a book which is rather worth while, though having the same title as the sheet from which we have just quoted. The book is "The Southerner", by Nicholas Worth (pseud), published by Doubleday, Page & Co. In it there are a number of good things, among which is the intimation that the Baptists are not a religious sect, but a political party in North Carolina. But the thing to which we wish to call attention in it is an injunction which we here quote, both because it is in itself worth while and because it contrasts rather favorably with our excerpt from the other "Southerner". The injunction is—"Write fair script; sit your horse erect; and never pull the trigger until your aim is clear".

But if our friend, the editor of the weekly sheet, had read the real "The Southerner", we might not have had the delightfully amusing and ridiculous piece of literature which we have quoted and commented upon for the delectation of our readers, and to show that it really is true that the ignorance of some people is astounding.

BAPTISTS DEFEAT VARSITY

Extra Period of Play Required to Decide Game

Carolina's defeat in basketball by the score of 22 to 21 at the hands of Wake Forest Saturday night was largely due to the remarkable goal shooting of Holding, the Wake Forest forward. He scored 20 points out of the 22, and 18 were made on field goals. It did not seem to matter from where or how Holding shot; the ball inevitably found the basket.

The game had a sensational finish. At the close of the second half the score was tied, 20 to 20. An extra five minute period was played and Holding crowned his evening's work with the winning goal. Long shot a foul, but Carolina could not tie the score.

The entire game was a fine exhibition of basketball. Both teams fought hard and rough playing was much in evidence. Largely on account of their familiarity with their own court, Wake Forest had the better of it during the first half, at the close of which they had the big end of a 14 to 8 score. Carolina came back strong and the score in the second half was exactly reversed, Carolina making 14 points to Wake Forest's 8. Carolina profited largely by fouls. Long displayed great skill in this respect and shot 9 goals out of 12 attempts.

The team played well, the passing being especially noteworthy. Tillett as usual was much in evidence and Long's foul shooting was the best a Carolina man has done in many a day.

The line-up:

CAROLINA		WAKE FOREST
Tillett	Right "	Cuthrell
Carrington	Center	Holding, B.Capt.
Chambers Capt.	Left Guard	Davis
Redmon	Right Guard	Utley

Field Goals: Holding, W., 9; Holding, B., 1; Tillett 2; Chambers 2; Long 1; Carrington 1. Foul Goals: Long 9, Holding, W., 2. Referee, Cartmell, of Carolina. Umpire, Crozier, of Wake Forest.

Dr. A. S. Wheeler contributed an interesting paper, on "The Chemical Action of Light". He discussed the present waste of Solar energy and the probability of its future utilization.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

SPORTOGRAMS

The program for the last few days has been batting practice, followed by infield and outfield work.

We counted 56 men on the field the day after the snow disappeared. Stranger faces and strange uniforms covered the whole scenery. The color scheme ran a riotous gauntlet, from a pale lavendar pair of hose on a Freshman from last year's "Mars Hill Sluggers" to the colorful "Irish pink" sweater of Gilliam Craig.

It is too early yet, brethren, to deal in personalities. But a number of the youngsters are hitting the pill right on the snout. This is a sign of hard luck—for opposing pitchers.

A bunch of spry new material is cavorting about the infield. Some of the boys mop up the bounding ball rather classy. But they have a tendency to be overanxious in making their throws to the initial sack. Coach Bowers is putting the kibosh on that, however.

Infield practice has been carried on down in right field on an improvised diamond. The regular clay diamond is still uneven from winter ravages. But workmen are rapidly combing it into its old time terrapin convexity.

The men trying for berths in the outfield look good. Some of them cover a bunch of territory. It seems that the trio who handle the bat the niftiest will get the call out there. But, brethren, its the pitchers and catchers who have our anxious eye. We have been scanning the bunch for an embryonic Raymond Lee. We will give a list next week of some of the firing-line gentlemen who are showing up as "likely candidates."

"Doggie" Trenchard is on the Hill now. He hit the campus last week filled to popping with football and enthusiasm. A mass meeting met him in Chapel; and, well, Coach Trenchard has the hearty support of all the students from now—ad infinitum. Spring football practice begins next week.

Gentlemen, read over the football schedule in this issue; and if anything thumps in your breast real strong, come out next week for the 1913 Football Team.

UNIVERSITY SERMON

not only knew that God could be inquired of, but in addition he translated this fact into practice. "So must you, young gentlemen, if you would have the complete education, in addition to knowing of God, commune with Him daily. Take time to pray. The man who does not is lacking in education."

The true education, last of all, manifests the difference between itself and the false in that it is humble. Daniel, when raised to the first place in the empire, denied that he had any ability save what he received from God. The truly great man is always stamped with humility.

"Let an education of this sort mark the teaching of this University and there need be no fears for the future of this commonwealth," declared Dr. Rallston in conclusion. "What the University thinks today, North Carolina will be doing tomorrow."

TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Carolina Debates Virginia and Johns Hopkins April 19

It has been decided, by votes taken February 1, by the institutions in the triangular debate, that Carolina shall uphold the affirmative of the query, "Resolved: That without regard to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the tolls of the Panama Canal should be the same to the merchant ships of all nations," with Johns Hopkins University at Charlottesville, Va., and shall have the negative against her old rival, the University of Virginia, at Baltimore. The novel feature of these debates is that they are held on neutral ground. Virginia and Johns Hopkins will meet each other in Chapel Hill. The debates will be held April 19.

A number of men are working to represent Carolina in these debates, among them being W. R. Petteway, J. C. Busby, D. J. Walker, H. C. Petteway, T. J. Hoover, and R. W. Isley.

VOL. 21 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1913 NO. 20

NINETY HIGH SCHOOLS ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The Btg Question Discussed From Waynesville to Elizabeth City

WHOLE STATE APPLAUDS DEBATING UNION

The Sixteen Schools Which Won Both Debates Will Come to Chapel Hill for the Final, March 7

Wide-spread interest was taken throughout the State in the high school debates, held under the auspices of the Debating Union of North Carolina, last Friday night. "Woman Suffrage" was discussed in ninety high schools, ranging from Waynesville in the west to Elizabeth City in the east, and from all reports it was discussed with intense enthusiasm.

Sixteen schools have reported to the committee as having won both of their debates. These will compete in the Final Contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup, which is to be held Friday, March 7th, at Chapel Hill. They are the schools of Durham, Stoneville, Philadelphus, Haw Fields, Concord, Morganton, Liberty, Harmony, Mt. Pleasant, Lumberton, Hendersonville, Oxford, Coolemee, Holly Springs, Stem, and Pleasant Garden. The debaters for these schools will arrive in Chapel Hill on Thursday, the 6th, and the preliminary contest, in which two teams will be selected, will be held Friday morning. Friday night in Chapel these two teams will debate each other for the award of the cup. On the cup will be engraved the name of the debaters winning out, together with the school they represent. The debaters, while here, will be entertained by the different county clubs. The societies and the county clubs will spare no effort to make their stay here a pleasant one.

No other movement started by the University in recent years has so been stamped with the approval of the State as has this debating union, which is the creation of the Di and Phi Societies. It is endorsed strongly by high school students, principals, and superintendents, the press and the general public the State over. Supt. A. S. Webb, of Concord, writes the committee thus:

"We wish to again express our appreciation to you and the Societies of the University for what you have done for the schools of the State. We feel that it is the greatest thing that ever happened to our school. Our boys will be proud to make the trip to the University for the Final."

This letter is typical of many that have been received. Supt. E. C. Ruffin, of Lenoir, writes that although his school lost one debate they are still there, and in the Union "will be heard from along the fighting line." The Winston-Salem Journal of Feb. 22nd has a leading editorial on the debating union, in which it throws a bouquet "of unusual beauty and fragrance" at the Societies for starting such a movement.

The success of the Union is already large—nothing that can be done is being left undone in the effort to make the Final on March 7th a fitting event.

CAROLINA vs. CARLISLE

Tar Heels to Meet Indians in Indoor Relay Race

Carolina will meet the Carlisle Indians in a relay race at Washington Saturday night. This has been definitely decided by the track department. The team will be composed of Captain Patterson, Spence, Whiting, and Hazel Patterson.

An effort was made to get the race with Virginia, but the plans did not materialize and the Indians were taken on instead. The race will be at the indoor meet in Convention Hall given by Georgetown University. Virginia, Johns Hopkins, Georgetown, Washington and Lee, scores of smaller colleges and prep schools, and possibly some of the bigger Northern universities will be represented at the meet. The distance will be two miles, each man running a half mile. The Red Skins are worthy opponents, but the Tar Heel team is an exceptionally good one. Captain Patterson and Spence are stars and can negotiate the half in fast time. Whiting was in several meets last spring and has improved wonderfully of late. Hazel Patterson is a brother of Captain Patterson and seems to have the family ability to run.

BARNETT REPORTS PROGRESS IN CHINA

The following extract is from a letter by Eugene E. Barnett:

"The National Convention of the Y. M. C. A., which was held in Peking last month, was an epoch-making event in the history of the Y. M. C. A., and of the Christian church in China. There were 440 delegates present from 15 provinces. Cities as remote as Chengtu sent a delegation which was on the road one month each way. The convention lasted three days and one night. The flower of the Christian church of China was there. Christian students, teachers, business men, preachers, editors and officials composed the gathering.

"One of the striking features of the convention was the reception accorded the delegates by Yuan Shik Kai and the words of strong endorsement and encouragement he spoke in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. at that time. The Christian church has perhaps never received such official recognition and endorsement before during its history in China The Premier, the Minister of Justice, the Minister of Commerce and Industry, Vice-Minister of the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, the President of the National Assembly and others occupying similar places of influence and power in the nation attended the meeting and took part in the program."

PLANS MADE FOR A NEW DINING HALL

Committee From Trustees and Facnlty Selects Site for Building

THE COST WILL BE $40,000

Will Seat 600 People on Ground Floor and Capacity May be Eoabled if University's Growth Demonds

The committee appointed by the Board of Trustees of the University to make plans for the new dining hall met in Chapel Hill Tuesday, selected a site for the building, and made tentative arrangements for the construction of it. The committee is composed of Josephus Daniels, Chairman; J. S. Carr and A M. Scales, from the trustees; F. P. Venable and A. H. Patterson, from the faculty.

The site selected is the plot of ground in the center of a triangle made by the University Inn, the Alumni Building and the Episcopal Church. The dining hall will will face towards the Gymnasium. It will be so placed that a drive way from the kitchen to the street will not pass over but very little of the campus.

According to the plans the new building will be an ideal dining hall, fitted with the most modern system of cooking, baking, refrigerating, and cleaning. It will be large enough for six hundred people on the gronnd floor, with three hundred more in the balcony,and it will be so constructed that it may be doubled if the growth of the University demands it. The cost will be $ 40,000, the funds coming from the sum of $ 200,000, appropiated by the Legislature two years ago, out of which Caldwell Hall and the Battle-Vance-Pettigrew Dormitory have already come.

Walter Stokes, President of the Web School Club has received a letter from Seeator W. R. Webb, of Tennessee accetting an invitation to pay a visit to his Alma Mater some time during the spring and to address the student body. Senator Webb is the head of the well known Webb School of Bell Buckle Tennessee. His visit here will be eagerly looked forward to.

Mebane Wins Contest Over Busby and Petteway

Banks Holt Mebane won out in the preliminary contest for the Peace prize on George Washington's birthday. His speech on "Peace and Progress" was favored by the judges over those of the other contestants, J. C. Busby and W. R. Petteway. Busby spoke on "Peace and the Scholar" and Petteway on "Peace and Arbitration". The judges were Dr. C. L. Raper, Dr. J. F. Royster, and Rev. Mr. Moss.

By virtue of winning this preliminary contest Mebane becomes the University's representative at the State contest in Raleigh, Saturday, March 1. He will there meet men from the other State colleges and the winner of that contest will meet other State champions to decide who shall represent this section of the United States in the Final Contest. The winner of the State contest wins a prize of $75.00. The whole series of contests are held under the auspices of the Lake Mohonk Peace Conference, which is thus making an effort to scatter all over the country the ideals of peace and arbitration.

A. & M. FARMERS PLAY A GREAT GAME

Best Carolina in Basketball Before an Enormous Crowd in Raleigh

THE FINAL SCORE WAS 26 TO 18

Mason. Sumner, and Terry Play a Fine Game, Mason Shooting Five Field Goals and Sumner Three

The largest crowd that ever attended a basketball game in the State saw A. & M. beat Carolina at the Raleigh Auditorium Saturday night by the score of 26 to 18. It was the first athletic contest, with the exception of track meets, in which the two state institutions had met in seven years and close to 2,500 people were present.

The game itself was fiercely fonght. The play was fast and the crowd was kept continuously in uproars at brilliant features. The Farmers showed better form than they have exhibited before and clearly deserved the victory. Carolina guarding was off color.

A. & M. shot several goals which they should never have been allowed to make. Carolina also missed many easy shots. In the first half the basket was fairly bombarded, but the ball would not drop in.

The early stages of the game were marked by close guarding and careful play. Each team seemed to be watching the other. A. & M. however, had the uppor hand and led 9 to 6 ot the close of the half.

Both teams played more roughly and took more chances in the second half. The play was faster. Many long shots were made which brought cheers from the crowd. Mason shot a number of goals, most of which were easy. Long and Carrington both made long shots and Snmuer dropped one in with a long distance backward throw over his head. A. & M. kept its lead and the most desperate efforts of the Carolinians could not overcome it. Toward the end, with each team ffghting desperately, the crowd almost lifted the roof with creers. Homewood was substiuted for Redmon, but he could not keep Mason from shooting one more goal, thus bringing the score to 36 to 18.

Long's foul shooting was above the average. He made 6 out of 9 goals. Carrington's playing against a bigger and heavier man was first-rate.

Mason, Sumner, and Jeffery played best for A. & M.

The line up:

CAROLINA		A. & M.
Long	Left Forward	Mason
Tillett	Right "	Sumner
Carrington	Center	Terry
Redmon, Homewood	Right Guard	Phillips

Field Goals: Mason 5, Sumner 3, Terry 2, Long 2, Chambers 2, Carrington 1, Phillips 1, Redmon 1. Foul Goals: Long 6 out of 9; Sumner 4. Referee, Cheshire, of Sewanee. Umpire, Young.

W. T. Ragland has been iniated into the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Zack Whitaker into the Kappa Sigma fraternity, F. D. Conroy into the Sigma Alpha Epilson fraternity and W. Speight Beam into the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

WHEN OLD FRIENDS MEET

The long desired has at last been consummated. Carolina and A. & M., the State University and the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, have at last met again in dual athletic contest. And nobody was killed! There was not even a riot! And why should there have been? Nobody knows, but for many years they have said that it was impossible otherwise, all the same. The best of good spirit was manifested throughout the game. There was only one regrettable feature about the contest. That was the score. We should have preferred for it to have been otherwise; but since it wasn't we can only wait until next time. And we hope that the next times will come often and come, and go with the same fine spirit of clean play that attended this time. A. & M., we are glad to meet you again.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS

About two weeks from now, on March 7th, to be exact, there are expected here some forty or fifty high school boys and girls from all over the State who will take part in the finals of the contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup. These students, the large majority of them boys who will some time go to college, will be here as the guests of the two societies. As such they should be treated with every consideration—not, of course, as conquering heroes, but as prospective and possible students of the University. They will represent the highest that the State has to offer in the way of high school students; they are the pick of the men who will go to college in the State next year. They are the kind of students whom the University wants, and they are the kind the University will do the most for and benefit most. They, in turn, will some day be the men whom the State needs. Let's show them that the University is the place that they need and the place that needs them most for the good of the commonwealth.

CHANGE AND THE BUNNY HUG

The impression seems to have got abroad among some of the students that our discussion in these columns of the dances allowed the students by the trustees of the University has been an attack leveled against the German Club in an endeavor to force, coerce, or otherwise get them to open their doors to the masses. Nothing could be farther from the truth. We do not care a continental whether the present German Club is open or closed. But what we do object to is the monopolization by the German Club and the two Junior Orders of privileges of which they own not more than twelve and one half per cent. We are not merely concerned with the German Club; we are discussing any organization and all dances.

As we sit back in the editorial sanctum in the easiest chair with our feet on the proverbial radiator and dictate to the typewriter our words we are actuated by no unkind feelings towards anyone. We donot hurl books at the door or alarm clocks at the window. We merely desire to see the right triumph, as it cannot fail in the end. We are not inclined to blame those who have succeeded in getting possession of the dances, drawing a circle around them in order that they may be more exclusive, and then sitting down in the center and saying, "Lo! What a good boy am I." In so doing they have done the natural thing and obeyed the first law which reads: "Take what you can."

But the old order must change in time and give place to the new. As one philosopher said, there is nothing permanent but change, and even it changes. It is not always necessary to kick against the pricks though.

But the objection has been made, to opening the dances that it would, so to speak, lower them. If such should be the case they would just have to be accepted and made the best of; as all public dances have to be whether an inauguration ball, at the seashore, or an ordinary city pay dance. We very much doubt, however, that the dear masses could in anywise improve upon some of the Grizzly Bear Turkey Trot Bunny Hug contortions that seem to have been—if we remember rightly—pulled off at the dances of the past fall.

LISTEN, OH! FRESHMEN.

"Listen, oh! Freshmen, and ye shall hear
Of the possibilities of Paul Revere."

Paul is a great young fellow and has all kinds of possibilities which he may turn to many kinds of advantage as soon as he wakes up, stretches himself, gets down his lantern, saddles his horse, and gets on the job. If his horse is not quite strong enough to carry him over the highest hurdles and bring him out first at the finish he need not be disappointed, for he must remember that the other jockeys have been training their horses to hurdle and to run hard and long for several years, whereas this is the first year that Paul has got into fast company where he must work continuously and assiduously if he is really to come out good in the final. And Paul wants to come out good both for his own sake, to show that he has the stuff in him, and for his company's sake, to show that they handle the proper line.

Moral: Get busy and do something. If you are now any good or stand any show of ever becoming any good in baseball, track, debating, writing, football, or anything else that we do here, for the love of the University go to it good and hard. Don't be bashful. Everybody can do something. If you pick the wrong thing the first time, try something else the next. But don't be too quick to change; for it will very probably take a couple of years to make anything especially out of yourself. Go to it. The University needs you. You may not be any good this year or you may be very good—but you are pretty darn sorry if you can't be of some service before you leave here.

C. E. McIntosh, '11, spent Sunday on the Hill.

W. Frank Brown, '00, originally of Goldsboro, has recently obtained a Ph.D. degree in English at the University of Chicago, Magna cum laude. For several years he taught at Bingham School at Asheville and was Instructor in English here in 1907-'08. He is now Professor of English at Northwestern University. His rapid strides in his profession are no surprise to those who knew him here, where he was considered one of the brightest men ever graduated from the University.

And Listens to Much Oratory at Annual Banquet

The Juniors may not be able to give an Easter entertainment, but they star at a banquet. The annual class banquet on Thursday, Feb. 20 was a glorious affair and did not break up until after one o'clock. The amount of food consumed compares favorably with the best records of previous years and the quality of the talks, including that of T. I. Jones, was above the average.

Frank Drew, Vice-President of the class, acted as toast master as President Carleton was ill. The class had as its guests from the faculty Professors Noble, Hamilton, Bernard and Patterson all of whom made interesting talks. Responses were made by George Strong, B. D. Applewhite, J. T. Pritchett and T. I. Jones. Several other members of the class were called upon for impromptu addresses andall appeared very glad of a chance to get upon their feet. The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of Oscar Leech, chairman, J. S. Cansler, R. C. Spence, H. S. Willis and J. A. Holmes.

OFF TO INAGURATION!

F. L. Euless, Manager of the Party, is Optimistic

Forty University of North Carolina men will be in Washington on March 4 to see Woodrow Wilson "bring home the bacon". That genial Cook's courier, F. L. Euless, general manager of the party, states that all plans are perfected and the trip is going to be the greatest ever.

"A special Pullman car", said the red-headed financier, "will leave Venable at 8: 15 P. M., Sunday March 2. It will put us in Washington about seven o'clock Monday morning. Special arrangements have been made for the party to stop at the Ideal Apartment House, just two blocks from the White House. Coming back the train will leave Washington at 11: 30 Tuesday night and get into Chapel Hill at noon Wednesday."

"What about the cost?"

"The railroad fare is $ 5.95 for the round trip. The Pullman fare is $ 1.00 each way if there are two in a berth. In an upper it will be eighty cents each way, if you double up. The rates at the Ideal Apartment House are, I understand, as as reasonable as could be expected.

"Are you going to be in the parade?"

"You bet your life," came the answer and he almost bit his cigar in two in his eagerness to explain; caps and gowns have been ordered my friend, and also sashes and gloves. We are going to be some sports. I myself am going to carry a large North Carolina pennant.

"Do you expect to shake the Presidents hand?"

"We certainly do. What do you think we are going to Washington for?." The cigar broke in two pieces and F. L. Euless business man par excellence seeing an innocent student across the street who had not paid his Tar Heel subscription, rushed after him with a do-or-die look on his face.

Miss Alice Noble has as her guest Mrs. B. H. Huske, of Fayetteville.

V. P. I. GOES UNDER.

Varsity Plays Well and Overwhelms the Virginians

With every man in good condition the Carolina team went up against V. P. I. on the home floor Tuesday night—and the score was 29 to 9 in Carolina's favor. The quintet gave its best exhibition of team work of the season on the home floor. The team played a fast and consistent game with the exception of a let up for a few minutes at the last of the first half. They kept the ball in their end of the court practically the entire game. Some difficult goals were the features of the contest.

The first point—a foul by Long—came after five minutes of fierce playing. Then by hard work Carolina slowly piled up nine points and in the meantime holding V. P. I. scoreless. But in the last minutes of this half both teams slowed up and each gathered five points. The score ended 14 to 5.

V. P. I. started a rally at the beginning of the last half, but Carolina soon checked this and began its steady work, which resulted in fifteen points by the end of the time. Score of second half, 15 to 4.

The work of the whole team was exceptional, the guarding of Redmon being especially good. Long and Tillett both threw some pretty goals.

CHEMISTS DISCOVER SOMETHING

C. B. Carter, of the Department of Chemistry, has succeeded in preparing ammonia from Hydrogen and air by the catalytic action of Rubidium. This seems to be another step in the utilization of the immense store of nitrogen of the air for practical purposes. This is a problem that has been receiving the attention of the chemical world for some time and if the production can be put on a practical basis it should greatly affect the production of ammonia. The experiment has at least a great chemical value, in that it has never been done before. Hats off to the Chemistry Buils!

HAVE YOU AN EXTRA BOOK?

The Y. M. C. A. has set on foot a plan to supply the various Sunday Schools of the surrounding country with libraries. There has long been a need for such a thing. There are scores of people in a radius of five miles who read practically nothing; consequently they are getting a long way behind the rest of the world. Every true college man should be interested in abolishing such a state of affairs. Friday night the college will be canvassed for donations of books and money for this cause. Books on farm problems, good fiction and general educational books (not text books) are especially desired.

Miss Susie Fulgum, who was called home several weeks ago on account of the illness of her mother, returned to Chapel Hill Monday.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

SPORTOGRAMS

Rain broke up practice this afternoon. At present it looks as though Jupiter Pluvrius will butt-in again to-morrow. There is a certain gusty slant in the downpour—March is whistling at the heels of February. However, official clearweather predictions are abroad to the effect that there will be ideal weather next week for the Inauguration---and some lively scraps between the first and second teams,

By the bye, just who is going to form the first and second teams?. As the mighty Wrench of Philosophy says, accompanied with a fleshy pat upon his glistening for-e head, "I'd give a great deal to know".

Two consecutive rattlings of the can have put the kibosh on a majority of the initial squad. The canned Pork and Beaners have hied to the tall timbers and the class field.

Here are the real Ketchup and Cherry-smash gents who are still gamboling around the sand-lot under the critical eye of Coach Bowers. The infielders are: Leak, K. B. Bailey, Capt. "Burr", Norris, Royster, Field, Rousseau, Williams, and Lewis. The regulars are Leak, Bailey and Capt. "Burr". And its a bloody scrap among the youngsters to find out just who is going to crawl into that vacant berth in the infield.

Out in the blooming garden, Mabel, there is going to be some blood shed. All three positions are open to the youngsters. No regulars stalk across the scenery to put the scare-jinx into the chance of young candidates. Out there the three positions are still unbetrothed, and coquettish. And its going to be a free-for-all Mexico-minus-Madero seranado, alle samee. Behold, Juanita, these are the bandana-ed, scrapping Greasers: Johnson, Zollicoffer, Thompson, Long, K. H. Bailey, Jennings, Nance and McLean.

The firing-line candidates are: Williams, Foust, Kelly, Garrison, Hatcher, Graves, Kennedy, Craven, and Aycock.

The gentlemen who do the receiving are Knowles, Hart, Stubbs, and Love.

Keep your eye on a pair of the above batteries. Which pair? "I'd give a great deal to know."

Dr. Dodd Delivers Interesting Historical Lecture

Dr. William E. Dodd, Professor of History at the University of Chicago, delivered an interesting lecture in Gerrard Hall Wednesday night on Robert James Walker, America's greatest Imperialist, Senator from Mississippi, Secretary of the Treasury under Polk, author of the famous Walker tariff of 1846, which has been called America's greatest tariff, and financial representative of the United States in Europe during the Civil War. Dr. Dodd is a North Carolinian by birth, a native of Wake county; he taught at Randolph Macon and is now at Chicago. He has written a number of books on Southern statesmen. His lecture on Walker is composed from material discovered by himself and many of the facts in the lecture have never been published. Over two hundred students were present.

Fleet Williams, short-stop on the 1910 Carolina team and last year first base on A. & M. has accepted a position as coach at Lenoir College.

Dr. and Mrs. Venable left Wednesday for a short visit in Baltimore.

FEBRUARY ALUMNI REVIEW OUT

The February number of the Alumni Review is out fron the press. This issue keeps up to the standard set by the previous issues. It deals with timely topics of interest to alumni, students, and friends of the the University.

The editorial department. "Opinion And Comment," is well edited. The leading article of thss number is "The New Crop," which is a story of the work of twelve educators who went out from the University in the period from 1890 to 1900. These twelve men, B. B. Doughtery, '99, R. H. Wright, '97, Walter Thompson, '98, W. C. Smith, '98, I. M. Hardy, '00, and others are a vital factor in the eduucational life of North Carolina today--the men who are carrying on the work begun in the eighties by Alderman, Aycock, McIver, and Joyner.

A report of the the recent conference on athletics between faculty, students, and alumni is given. Other athletic notes are given together with the baseball and football schedules.

The doings of the alumni naturally form a vital part of the Review. Accounts of various banquets during the holidays are given. The whereabouts of the alumni are given according to classes.

The Dramatic Club will present "What Happened to Jones" before the Normal School in Greensboro on Saturday, March 1.

RED SKINS VANQUISHED

Carolina Defeats Carlisle in Relay Race

Carolina's victory over the Carlisle Indians in a two-mile relay race at the Georgetown Indoor Games Saturday night was one of the most notable track events in Carolina history. Whiting, Hazel Patterson, Spence, and Captain "Pat", composing the team, showed up in splendid form and reflected much credit on Nat Cartmel and track athletics at the University.

Whiting led off for Caolina and at the end of his half mile was a few yards behind his red skin apponent. Hazel Patterson, taking up the race, ran in great style. He regained the distance and touched off Spence with a five yard lead. Spence not only held this lead, bnt picked up about three yards more and gave "Pat" an eight yard margin. Then came the greatest struggle of the race. The Indian slowely closed in on "Pat", but the Carolina captain was not to be headed. With a final burst of speed, he flung himself over the line, about two yards in the lead. The time, 8:47, is considered good for the track conditions and was only 3 aeconds slower than Yale's time for the same distance over Princeton.

The meet was won by Georgetown. Athletics were present from Pennsylvania, Yale, Princeton, Lehigh, Georgetown, Hopkins, Virginia, George Washington, Washington and Lee and scores of athletic clubs and prep schools. Ted Meredith, the Olympic star and worlds record holder, competed.

TRIAL OF HAZERS

Will Take Place in Hillsboro next week

The trial of R. W. Oldham, A. C. Hatch, W. L. Merriman and A. H. Styron, the four former University students charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Isaac William Rand while he was being hazed on the night of Sept. 12 will be held next week in Hillsboro. Unusual interest is attached to the trial because it will be the first blow by the state aimed at the institution of hazing and because of the wide prominence which has been given to hazing at the Uuiversity.

A large number of students and members of the faculty will have to go to Hillsboro and many more will probably go as interested spectators.

The list of attorneys includes names known all over the state and their work alone will make the trial a noteworthy one in North Carolina history. A partial list follows: for A. H. Styron, Kenan and Stacy, and Louis Goodman, all of Wilmington; for W. D. Merriman, J. O. Carr and George Roundtree, of Wilmington, D. P. Stern and Duncan, of Greensboro; for R. W. Oldham and A. C. Hatch, Victor S. Bryant and W. J. Brogden, of Durham. The prosecuting attoaney for the state, Solicitor Gattis, will be assisted by E. J. Justice.and E. D. Broadhurst of Greensboro, and J. A. Wellons, of Smithfield.

C. E. McIntosh, father of the High School Debating Union, accompanied his team herd.

TRENCHARD STARTS SPRING FOOTBALL

Alumni Authorize Securing of Two More Coaches to Help Him

OTHER INTERESTING ATHLETIC DOPE

New Life That Has Been Breathed Into Management Is Making Every Effort to Produce Winners

Coach "Doggie" Trenchard has opened his active campaign for the 1913 football team with a call to spring practice. Last Monday afternoon about thirty five men, half of whom were not varsity or scrub men, reported on the class field to begin work under the coach and Captain Abernathy. This practice will be continued from now on, beginning every afternoon at 3 o'clock. Everyone who has any desire to play next year is asked to come out and pick up some of the rudiments of the game.

For the present the work consists in passing, catching, and kicking. Later on there will be tackling, short sprints and other work. Special attention is paid to beginners--they will be carefully and patiently taught and will not be worked hard until they have become thoroughly seasoned.

Suits and shoes will be gladly furnished by the football management.

This spring practice is but another evicence of the new life that has taken hold of athletic mangaement at the University. Coach Trenchard is already devoting his full time to the football team. The alumni are actively behind him and are aiding him all they can. If the student body will only do its share, there may be some surprises in South Atlantic football next year.

The Graduate Athletic Committee has authorized Coach Trenchard to secure the services of a first class coach for the backs and another for the centers and guards. Trenchard himself will pay special attention to tackles and ends. He was a famous All-American end in his day and his coaching at Princeton has always been largely to ends and tackles.

This plan will give the Carolina football squad three active field coaches, besides the alumni coaches who will be coming to the Hill at all times during the season. The expenses of these coaches are being borne almost entirely by the alumni who are sparing no efforts in their attempt to put Carolina football on its feet.

Coach Trenchard has also been authorized to employ a stenographer to keep up correspondence with the alumni, prep schools, high schools, prospective students, and any other business connected with his elaborate work.

Dr. L. R. Wilson has heen elected secretary the North Carolina branch of the American Peace Society.

Cyrus D. Hogue, law student and instructor in German here last year, has been appointed deputy clerk of the superior court of New Hanover county.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS ARE HERE FIGHTING FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Plans of the Debaters Union Have Brought Them Together for the Last Rounds of the Big Tournament

Debaters from nineteen North Carolina high schools, victors in the preliminary contests of the High Sch ool Debating Union, have arrived on the Hill to take part in the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup. Out of the ninety schools that debated February 21st under the auspices of the Debating Union the nineteen are the ones that succeeded in winning both of their debates — so, by the rules of the Union, they are now competing here for the Cup. The question to be discussed is the same as that discussed in the triangular debates - Woman Suffrage for North Carolina. The Societies have turned the matter of entertainment over to the different county clubs and the Greater Council, and these organizations are now looking after the comfort of the debaters and principals.

A regular progrom has been mapped out for the stay of the debaters on the Hill. At 2.30 o'clock they met at the Y. M. C. A., and drew for places in the first preliminary. The affirmative and negative debaters have been divided in two sections each for this preliminary. One section of the affirmative will meet at the Di Hall, and the other at the Y. M. C. A. One section of negative will meet at the Phi Hall, and the other at the Davie Hall. Everyone is invited to attend these contest, if he desires. From each section two teams will be chosen and Friday morning at 9:45 the four teams on each side will contest in the two society halls. One team will be chosen on each side and these two teams will debate in Chapel at 8:00 o'clock Friday night for the award of the Cup. After the final a reception will be tended the debators and principals at the Y. M. C. A.

At 3:00 o'clock the debaters are asked to gather at the Well where a picture will be taken, and later published in the Alumni Review and the High School Bulletin and the Tar Heel. Then through the courtesy of the automobile owners of the town, they will be given a chance to see the territory surrounding Chapel Hill.

The different commitees which are in charge of the plans are: Arrangements, Dr. J. F. Royster, A. L. Hamilton, J. A. Holmes, T. E. Story, Reception, Horace Sisk, W. P. Fuller, R. C. Spence; Halls A. A. McKoy,; Pairing, E. R. Rankin; Program, A. L. M. Wiggins; Entertainment; County Clubs and Greater Council.

The Y. M. C. A. building will be the headquarters. An information bureau will be established there, and the debaters and the committee arrangements will work from there.

The schools which are represented here, together with the representative from the county clubs in charge of their entertainment are:

DRAMATIC CLUB STILL MAKING A HIT

The Dramatic Club's presentation of the comic farce, "What Happened to Jones," before the State Normal School in Greensboro March 1 was the most successful production the club has given in years. Seven hundred people were present and applauded loudly the antics of "Jones" and his co-workers. The confidence and experience gained through the other two performances added ease and finish to the work of the actors. The work of C. L. Coggins, W. P. M. Weeks, H. F. Conrad, and Don Harris was applauded repeatedly.

On March 25 the play will be presented in Raleigh for the second time. The Woman's Club of Raleigh has offered a handsome guarantee for a return engagement at the Academy of Music. On Wednesday night of Easter week a performance will be given in Chapel Hill, and the first week in April Manager Busby will bring to a climax the most successful season the Dramatic Club has ever known with a tour through Goldsboro, Fayetteville, Wilmington, Smithfield, and Wendell.

WATER BABIES DROWNED

Carolina Takes Revenge for an Earlier Defeat

In the last game of the season the basketball team came back at Wake Forest on the home floor and won Tuesday night, 19 to 15. The game, contrary to expectations, proved slow. Neither team showed any ginger. Carolina took the lead from the very start and always maintained it, though in the second half the Baptist came dangerously close more than once.

The first half ended with Carolina having the long end of a 12 to 9 score. Carrington's three field goals made him the chief scorer: one of his shots was a long one from the center of the floor. Redmon also shot one long goal and narrowly missed several others. Tillett's floor work was remarkably aggressive. Wake Forest's play centered around the Holding brothers, and Utley guarded closely. Carey Dowd, Jr. of Charlotte refereed a satisfactory game.

The line-up:

Wake Forest		Carolina
Holding, W.	L. F.	Long
Hall	R. F.	Tillett
Holding, B.	C.	Carrington
Utley, Billings	L. G.	Redmon
Davis	R. G.	Chambers

Field goals: Carrington 3, Tillett 2, Long 1, Redmon 1, Holding, W. 2, Holding B. 2, Hall 2. Foul goals, Long 5, Holding, W. 3. Referee- Dowd.

All U. N. C. men, who need summer work in order to help them pay their University expenses will please see Coach Trenchard.

SHADES OF WEBSTER

It is our unadulterated pleasure to unofficially shake hands with, slap on the back, and welcome to the Hill the High School Debaters with their friends, allies and constitutents; to turn over to them the keys of everything except our gymnasium lockers; to tell them that we are glad to have them here; and to offer them our services. Gentlemen, if you want anything except Boger. Judge Brockwell, and Doctor Kluttz's store, all that you have to do is to let it be known. But those three we cannot part with. We should like to accommodate you, but you must not ask for either of those three. If you want information, just step up to the first man that looks as though he were wise to things and give him the wink. Tell him what you want to know and if he has any goods lying idle in his cranium he will deliver the stuff. There are only three men in college who won't. If you need an official guide and interpreter to show you around and explain the esoteric conditions of an exotic neighborhood, why just inform anyone whom you know about your needs, and if you don't know any one, inform someone whom you do not know and an effort will be made to obtain the aforesaid official guide and interpreter for you. And now while you are enjoying yourselves we shall just wish you all success and say, "Look around."

MAGIC

One day is a rather short time in which to encompass a Junior Week; and the Friday after is certainly an original day to select for an Easter Monday holiday. Yet such is the exotic anomaly with which we find ourselves confounded. Joshua's making the sun stand still for a few hours was a four-flusher's trick compared wilh the manipulations of a modern college fuculty who think nothing of adding a Junior Week and an Easter Monday together, mrking a few magic passes over the mitxure, saying "Presto", and handing out to the students one day - and that the Friday after.

Give them Friday, they take Saturday - which is rather unimportant anyway, stay over Sunday and come back Monday or Tuesday, demoralizing at least two days of class work in the meantime. Now we believe in a few holidays once in a while. The students need a bit of rest and recreation. If they are behind with their work they have a chance to catch up and if they have been working hard and are up they have a chance to rest a bit and get on edge for the remaindert of the term. With only one day for Junior Week and Easter; especially for Junior Week, the students have to crowd their activities, give Senior Stunts, Glee Club Recitals, Dances, Dramatic Presentations, Junior Oratorical contests, and eleven other things in one day and the lappings. As a result, instead of being refreshed by the holiday they are worn to a frazzle.

We should like to suggest - and the suggestion is a quite popular one - Saturday and Monday as additions to Junior Week and Easter, i. e. that we have Friday and Saturday for Junior Week and the Monday after for Easter Monday. Also that if neccessary strict requirements might be made for presence on the Hill Thursday and Tuesday. It would certainly meet the hearty approval of the students, and we believe would be a much better arrangement than the present.

A NEW MOVEMENT

To those who are interested in the advancement of the State's good the North Carolina Conference for Social Service offers a means of showing that interest in a very real way by inviting them to become members. The aim of this organization as publicly stated is: "To study and improve social, civic, and economic conditions in our State, especially conditions that injuriously affect child life, or tend to perpetuate preventable ignorance, disease, degeneracy, or poverty among our people." For membership, there are three classes of annual dues—$1, $2 and $5. A member may choose whichever class he prefers. Each member receives a copy of the published "Minutes" of the conference which contains the reports and addresses of each annual meeting.

The first meeting of the Conference was held in Raleigh Feb. 11 and 12, when such men as Clarence Poe, the President, Dr. W. S. Rankin, the Secretary and Treasurer, Bishop Strange, Hon. T. W. Bickett and other men of like caliber took active parts. The personnel of the men behind it is enough to recommend it.

It may be that here is an opportunity for the Association of County Clubs, which is interested in a similar work, to become of greater service by in some way working with the State Conference for Social Service. It may be that the Association can do more effective work otherwise. Here is a possibility worth the considering, anyhow. But even if the Association as a body does not care to take any action along this line, the State Conference needs the support of the students at the University. The students can give this support by becoming members. We shall be glad to give any information that we can about the Conference to any one interested in it; for it is a really big movement that is going to mean something to the State. We are so interested in the movement that we shall be glad to take any one's dollar who desires to become a member and forward that dollar to the Treasurer. In fact, we have a special little slip for taking down the name of those who wish to become members. Don't be bashful. Step right this way.

AMES BROWN ON NEW YORK SUN

RED STEWART GOES TO WORCESTER

B. C. Stewart, familiarly known as "Red" Stewart, has been ordered to report to Worcester, Mass, on the first of April. Mr. Stewart was recently traded by Winston-Salem to the Worcester Club for catcher Smith. He has given up pitching and will play in the outfield hereafter. "Red" was pitcher and outfielder for the Twins for two consecutive seasons, and was a former star at Carolina.

Attractive Lecture Series Under Faculty Auspices

The committee selected from the faculty to arrange for a series of lectures to be given this spring, has announced the dates of these lectures. Two speakers of these series have already been heard here, and the attention accorded them has been most gratifying.

On March 14, under the auspices of the medical department, will come Dr. J. Whitridge Williams, dean of the medical department of John Hopkins University. Dr. Williams will speak not before the entire student body but probably in Chemistry Hall. His address will probably be directed toward some phases of medical education.

On March 28 will come Prof. Percy H. Boynton of the University of Chicago. Dr. Boynton will lecture on "Victoria London", or London of the Victorian Era. Dr. Boynton is Dean of the Junior Colleges of the University of Chicago, and is also secretary of instruction in the Chatauque Instution. He is a noted lecturer and has addressed audiences throughout the United States. His lecture promises to be an unusually charming one, and since one of the spring dances falls on this date, it is hoped that the dancers will bring their partners to the lecture before the dances begin.

On April 4 will come one of the most delightful writers and one of the most distinguished American essayists, Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers. His essays "Gentle Reader", originally appearing in the Atlantic Monthly, won him an enviable reputation as an essayist and caused him to be regarded as the successor of Oliver Wendell Holmes. This is a rare opportunity to hear one of America's most noted men of letters, and the privilege should not be missed.

Prof. Vladimir Karapepoff, professor of electrical engineering in Cornell University, will be the next speaker in the series. Prof. Karpepoff is a pioneer in the reorganization of electral engineering in the United States, and will lecture here on some subject of general scientific interest. He will also address the higher classes in the Physics department on some technical subject relative to that science.

Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, former State Geologist and geology professor in the University, but now Director of the Bureau of Mines at Washington, will give two illustrated lectures probably on April 25 on 26. Dr. Holmes recently visited Panama where he inspected the Panama Canal and his lecture before the University, illustrated with lantern slides, will give the results of this tour of investigation. At this time the opening of the Canal is imminent, and an illustrated lecture on this subject seems peculiarly timely. On the following night he will give another lecture before the Elisha Mitchell Scientfic Society on the important work now being done under his directorship in the Bureau of Mines.

On May 2 President D. H. Hill os the A. & M. College will deliver the last lecture of the series. Dr. Hill's subject is yet to be announced but all who heard his speech here two years ago were delighted and this is a sufficent guarantee that his next visit to us will be much enjoyed.

TWO GAMES LOST

Guilford and Elon Win on Their Home Courts

Carolina fell before Guilford, probably the best team in the ssate, on Febrnary 28 by the score of 44 to 21. The game was played on the Guilford floor. Benbow, the star forward, was at his best and to him directly can the Quakers attribute their victory. He shot 14 field goals and 4 foul goals, scoring in all 32 points out of the total o 44.

Guilford completely o.. classed Carolina in the first half and led at the close, 29 to 9. The second half was much closer, the score in that half standing 13 to 12 in favor of Guilford. Carolina guarded more closely and showed more aggressive ness. Carrington's playing against a biggier and heavier opponent was the featureof Carolina's play. Tillett displayed his usgal speed and was all over the floor.

The line-up:

GUILFORD		CAROLINA
Benbow	R. F.	Tillett
Moorefield	L. F.	Long, Ranson
Edwards	C.	Carrington
Stuart	R. G.	Redmon, Homewood
Finch	L. G.	Chambers, Parker

Field Goals: Benbow 14, Edwards 3, Moorefield 2, Stuart 1, Carrington 4, Tillett 1, Long 1, Homewood 1.

Foul Goals: Long 5, Carrington 1, Benbow 4.

Referee, Cartmell; Umpire, Doak.

Carolina played her weakest game of the season against Elon in Elon on Saturday, March 1 and lost by the score of 19 to 23 to a team that had been easily defeated earlier in the season. The play was at all times close. Carolina led in the first half, 12 to 9, but Elon overcame that lead by superior playing in the second half. Johnson was the star for Elon, shooting 5 field goals. Carrington did the best work for Carolina, and Homewood's playing was aggressive, but the entire team seemed off its game. The low ceiling spoiled many shots.

The line-up:

Elon		Carolina
Bradford, Newmam	L. F.	Long, Ranson
Johnson	R. T.	Tillett
Atkinson	C.	Carrington
Vaughn	L. G.	Chambers, Redmon
Browning	R. G.	Homewood

Field goals: Johnson 5, Bradford 2, Newman 2, Carrington 2, Tillett 2, Long 2, Chambers 1, Foul goals: Elon 5, Carolina 5. Referee, Williams, of Greensboro.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

During their stay on the Hill the high school boys are getting a taste of college life — while they are here the University students are getting a breath of wholesome air from the high schools. It is is good for these boys to be there. It is good for them to debate under the auspices of the Union here. It is well for them to come to know what the University is now, to feel the kindred touch of the uppor and lower parts of the State's education system. There isn't a factor in the University but is wishing them luck and is anxious to contribute a little to the pleasantness of their stay here.

As Dr. Chase's talk on Eugenics Tuesday night was but a part of his discussion of the whole subject a complete report will be withheld until he makes his other two talks, Tuesday the 11th and Thursday the the 13th at 8:30 p.m.

"General" Raymond Lee has signed up with his old coach, Manager Clancy of the Winston-Salem Twins. "General" has had great success at Stetson University i Florida where he has won eight games out of ten.

The Thursday night meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on March 13, will be devoted to a discussion of "Church Going." Anyone who has any thoughts on this interesting subject is asked to come to this meeting and take part in the discussion.

Last Thursday evening Dr. H. V. Wilson delivered the third of the general Hygiene series of lectures that are being given under the auspices of the Greater Council. His subject was "Reproduction." He began with the early idea held by man about reproduction, and then traced the growth of our knowledge about this most important function in the lives of plants and animals. The lecture was good, and was heard by a large crowd of students. It was a distinct contribution to the knowledge of the large majority of those present.

Through the generosity of Mr. J. A. Warren and some members of the faculty, DeWitt F. Kluttz, the old Davidson athletic star, will next year coach the class teams in football and baseball. Kluttz is a well known figure in South Atlantic athletic circles. As end and as out fielder at Davidson he made a reputation second to none in the state. For the past two years he has been coaching at Woodberry Forest, Orange, Va. where he has twice won the prep school championship of Virginia in football and once in baseball. He will be a member of the University next year, but is ineligible to compete.

PLEASANT GARDEN WINS THE FINAL

Debating Union Brings Most Successful Movement to Climax

MANY DEBATERS ASS[illegible] T

[illegible] S. C. Hodgin [illegible] Triumph in [illegible] st over Durham

Sixty four high school debaters, representing sixteen North Carolina high schools, gathered in Chapel Hill last Thursday and Friday for the first annual final contest of the High School Debating Union of North Carolina. Out of the 90 schools and 360 debaters who discussed the "Woman Suffrage for North Carolina" question on February 21st, there were nineteen that succeeded in winning both sides of the debates and so were entitled to send their representatives to Chapel Hill for the final. Sixteen schools availed themselves of this privilege and sent their teams here. The coming of these boys to the University to contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup was an event of significance. It was significant of the larger life of the University in the State—of the interlacing of the upper and lower parts of the State's educational sys-

Messrs. Grady Bowman and [illegible] the affirmative [illegible] High [illegible] counties, belongs the proud honor of winning out over the other [illegible] two debaters who were here. After they had won out in the two preliminaries, Friday night in Chapel Hill they were pitted against Messrs. Henry Greenberg and David Brady of Durham, on the negative side and were victorious. Their names will be inscribed on the Aycock Cup.

Previous to this final debate two preliminaries were held, Thursday night the sixty-four debaters were divided into four sections for the first preliminary. From these sections four teams were chosen on either side for the second preliminary Friday morning. These four teams on either side were: Affirmative, Pleasant Garden, Durham, Holly Springs, and Graham; Negative, Durham, Holly Springs, Morrisville, and Hawfields. From these teams the two chosen for the final were Pleasant Garden on the affirmative and Durham on the negative.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS AND PRINCIPALS WHO ATTENDED THE FINAL CONTEST OF THE DEBATING UNION

THE FINAL

Rarely has there been seen in Gerrard Hall a larger or more enthusiastic crowd than gathered there Friday night to witness this final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup. Fully eight hundred people were jammed into the building. As the teams entered the Hall there came from one side a hearty Rah, Rah for Durham, while from the other side there came a resounding yell for Pleasant Garden.

Prof. E. K. Graham presided over the debate and E. R Rankin acted as secretary. The debate itself was of the inter-collegiate caliber. Especially effective was Mr. Samuel C. Hodgin, the second speaker for Pleasant Garden. In native ability and for rough and ready power in debating it would be difficult, if not indeed impossible, to find his superior in any college in the State.

The query was the same that had been discussed in the triangular debates in the ninety high schools scattered over North Carolina, "Resolved, That the Constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow women to vote under the same qualifications as men."

Pleasant Garden had the affirmative and Durham the negative. Mr. Grady Bowman was the first speaker for the affirmative.

Mr. Bowman argued that the idea that women were inferior to men was a relic of barbarism. The nation which gives the most liberties to women is the most civilized He showed that the ballot would not deter women from care of the home and raising children. Women can do many things without the ballot, but they could do more with it.

Mr. Henry Greenberg was the first speaker on the negative. He admitted that woman suffrage might be right in some States and in a small degree in North Carolina, but not "under the same qualifications as men." He argued that woman would not better conditions with a ballot, and he pleaded that she be kept out of the strife of politics.

Mr. S. C. Hodgin was the second speaker for the affirmative. He was as much at home as a seasoned stump speaker. He argued that woman represents the sentimental and moral side of human nature and would be a good addition to the ballot. Physical force should not and does not prevail, and the ability to bear arms should not count. If physical force prevailed, "Jack Johnson", he declared, "would be President of the United States". Morality and intelligence is the real basis for suffrage.

Mr. David Brady was the last speaker on the negative. He contended that woman suffrage in the Western States had been a complete failure. The conditions in the suffrage States are no better than in those adjoining. He cited quotations from Roosevelt, Bryce, and others to prove this. He contended that North Carolina had no business to take up suffrage for women,—that it didn't need it at all here.

The rejoinders were spirited on both sides. The applause was frequent when the debaters dug into their adversaries both in their first speeches and in rejoinders.

After the speeches were over, Prof. Graham called on the judges for their decision. The judges, who were Dr. C. L. Raper, Dr. H. W. Chase, Prof. H. H. Williams, Prof. M. H. Stacy, and Rev. W. T. D. Moss, voted separately. The votes were taken by Prof. Graham, and were turned over to Prof. W. S. Bernard, himself an old intercollegiate Carolina debater, to whom had been assigned the pleasant task of awarding the Aycock Memorial Cup. Prof. Bernard announced that the decision of the judges was for the affirmative. In presenting the cup he told of the splendid record of the Di and Phi, and expressed the hope, which was the conviction of the Hall, that in awarding it to Pleasant Garden the judges had awarded it to worthy keepers.

After the awarding of the cup a reception was tendered all of the visitors in the Y. M. C. A. building. Walter Stokes, Jr., president of the senior class, was master of ceremonies. The reception was delightful in its informality and in the spirit of common understanding which it expressed.

ENTERTAINMENT

No small part of the great success of this final contest is due to the county clubs and the Greater Council, which two organizations had complete charge of entertaining the guests. The plan of having each county club entertain those who were from their county was followed out. The high school boys were thus enabled to get a taste of college life and the principals who accompanied the boys were enabled to get a glimpse of life that was a remembrance of their old days. Baseball games, an auto ride, trips to the Pickwick,—these were among the pleasant features provided for in the entertainment line. A picture of the whole group was taken. This picture is seen in The Tar Heel and will be put in The Alumni Review and High School Bulletin.

PERMANENCE OF THE UNION

The Debating Union, as provided for by the Di and Phi Societies, is to be a permanent affair. This year its success was phenomenal. Letters from superintendents all over the State express approval of the Societies' work in extending their aid to the high schools. Every high school in the State is invited to become a member of the Union next year. Already a committee is planning for the enlarged usefulness of the Union for next year. The great success this time and the benefit to 360 high school pupils are but forerunners of still larger achievements in the future.

EASTER WEEK PLANS

Preparations Now Being Made For a Joyful Occasion

Although all the details have not been completed, the main features of Easter Week have been planned and a most attractive programme is promised. Three days of oratory, athletics, dramatic events, dances, and social festivities of every sort will combine to make the occasion memorable. In two respects the glorification will differ from those of previous years. The name of Junior Week can no longer employed because the Junior class did not see fit to entertain in any form this year. But the sophomores rose to the occasion and will give an afternoon dance.

The holiday question is embarrassing. The faculty has given Friday the 28th, but has turned down petitions for Thursday. The chances are that classes that day will not be fully attended. The night of Wednesday the 26th will start the programme. The Junior Orators contest for the Carr Medal is due to take place then in Gerrard Hall, though either the Dramatic Club or the Glee Club may land that date. Later on that night in the Bynum Gymnasium the Order of Gimghouls will give its annual dance with Robert Strange, Jr. as leader, and Frank Drew and Lenoir Chambers as assistants.

Thursday afternoon comes the Sophomore dance. W. O. Huske is leader and R. E. Little and Ted Tilley are assistants. Thursday night the crowning event of the week, the Senior Stunt will occupy the attention of the whole University. The usual secrecy as to the exact nature of the performance is being observed, but from the shrieks of laughter coming from the nightly rehearsals in Gerrard Hall, something rich is promised. W. N. Post is chairman of the committee in charge.

Friday, the holiday, will be taken up by the inter-class track meet in the morning and the Lafayette baseball game in the afternoon. Friday night there is a chance of either the Glee Club or Dramatic Club. The festivities will come to a close with the German Club dance under the leadership of W. S. Tillett with W. C. Lord and Peyton M. Tmith as assistants.

Dr. J. F. Royster will teach this summer at the summer session of the University of Chicago, and Professor Oliver Towles at the University of Virginia.

THE CONSUMMATION

The dream that young men have dreamed and the vision that old men have so often seen have materialized. After two years of planning, devising ways and means, overcoming difficulties and surmounting obstacles, a plan has been worked out and brought to a successful termination for bringing all the High Schools of the State together in one fair Union for debating, with the two oldest debating societies in the state, and with one exception the two oldest in the United States, as their head. Thus the University becomes more really than ever before the head of the educational institutions of the state; and the two literary socities, with their long and honorable record of noble service, become the head of a Union which is to train the youth of the state to search for truth, and finding it fight for the right with all the strength of their bodies and minds. For that is what the High School Debating Union means, if it means anything. It means that the High School boys and girls shall take an interest in the affairs of the state and the nation; that in these affairs they shall search for the right; and that having found what they believe is the right they shall go out and show other people the right as they see it, and give their reasons for believing that that is the right. This means that ten years hence the state, as never before, will have men to help her, to plan for her good, and men with the ability and power to go out and fight for her good--the common good of all the people. And it is not merely the state that will draw upon them; the townships, the counties, the districts, and the nation will call them to their services.

Another thing it means, too. The annual gathering here of these young men from the schools all over the state means that the University will come into closer contact with the schools and citizens of the state. It means that each year many young men who are going to college will come here and see their state University before deciding where they will go; and that means that some of them cannot fail of deciding to come here. That is what we want. We want good men, the best men that the schools of the State are turning out, to come here and get their training for service—for their work. The purpose of the University is to educate and train. She wants the men that she trains to be the best in the state. She wants students to come here who want to learn and want to work. These are the men that she needs and the men that need her. When they come we are all glad, and when they leave with the stamp of her approval set upon them, they go out into the state clear thinkers, clean livers, and hard workers.

The finals here were unqualified successes. Many of the debates put up would have done credit to any college in the state. They had been worked upon enthusiasticly and well. They were a credit to the boys and girls who came here and debated, and to the teachers and schools which sent them here. We were glad to have them here; we hope to see them all here again next year, either as students or debaters, again. We hope, as we believe, that the Debating Union among the High Schools of the state will be a permanent and growing institution.

THE ALUMNI

Now, for the first time in several years, we are begining to feel good about athletics here. For the last several years we had been beginning every season with the knowledge that we were handicapped in money equipment, coaches and men. We did not have the money and could not get the equipment or the coaches as a result. Not having equipment or coaches we did not attract students who were interested in athletics, and could not produceathletes from the raw material with which we were surrounded. Thus we continued to lose in athletics, by small scores, often, but lose all the same.

Thanks to a disastrous football season and a growing restlessness among the alumni, anyhow, we are now beginning to see once again a pleasant, rose-strewn path ahead. The path is now rugged, of course, but when we have the money and the men and the coaches we can get to work and set out a few rose bushes that by proper cultivation, working, and attention will begin to produce shortly. After the past disastrous season in football the alumni overjoyed the student body and the alumni themselves by rising up and exclaiming with a loud voice" It won't do." Having spoken, they went to work. Now we have Coach Trenchard here working all the time, and we have the promise of two other of the best coaches in the East for football next season. Through the beneficence of that fine adopted son of the senior class—who will be an alumnus as soon as the class graduates—and the interest of several members of the faculty we are assured of a good class football coach for the season, too.

All these things look good to us.

The spring football practice, which is now going on, is a thing that pleases our heart, also. The re-awakened interest and participation of the alumni in affairs here is the thing that we have long needed. And now that it has come, we believe that under a democratic president there is about to be a birth of a new era in the life of the institution. Messers. Alumni we are glad to see you in it.

We only hope that you will stay in for good.

CHAPEL HILL'S GIFT FROM UNCLE SAM

Chapel Hill gets its piece of pie. In the closing moments of the last Congress, some one slipped in an appropriation of $ 65,000,00 (unheard of sum !) for a post office and it went through with a whoop. Mr Lindsay's present hut will give place to a palace. Rejoice, ye mail-getters, rejoice! And now every property owner in Chapel Hill is hoping to furnish the lot for the building at bargain (?.) rates.

CLASS TRACK MEET

Many Prospective Stars Are Getting in Readiness

With the increasing feeling of spring in the air interest in Track athletics is growing. There will be a lot doing this year, too. Besides four regular track meets with various colleges, there is to be a big class meet March 28th, a medley relay race by N. C. men, and possibly a combined High School and Prep. schoool meet on April 11th.

The interest for the present centers in the class meet which promises to develop some good material, as there is a large number of entrees for every event except the broad jump and the high jump. For the hundred yards there is an especially large number. Among them are Mebane, Tayloe, Strothers, DeVane, and J. L. Wright. The last three of these and Smith look good for the 220. On the quarter Forney and Turner are showing up well, while "Ratty", Whiting and Henderson are possible winners in the half. Harrison, Scott, and Robinson look promising in the mile. "Little Pat" is showing remarkably fine form in all the distance runs. Recently in a mile run he led easily, with Ranson second and C. W. Strong third.

At both low and high hurdle Strothers is developing especially good form. Blair, a low hurdle man, is also making a fair showing. Parker, an old man, and Cox are heaving the shot around the lot satisfactorily. The hammer is receiving its share of attention, also, Axley, Homewood, Dystar, being the best. "Phoebe" Johnson, although out for baseball, may throw also. The discus throwing, affording a new branch of athletics for Carolina, is being developed promisingly by Parker and E. G. Hogan. Ranson and Homewood are showing up well for the pole vault.

The medley race last year proved most interesting. The men who may run this year are Captain "Pat" Spence, Cobb, Woolcott, Sears, Strong, and Blalock, all Varsity men. The distance each man runs will be different. It is hoped that Coach Cartmell can be persuaded to don the spikes and show his proteges how it should be done.

DRS. PATTERSON AND MOSS WILL SPEAK

Every year for about two months in the spring for the past four years Prof. Patterson has been giving a series of lectures on the problems of country and city. In these lectures Prof. Patterson has been dealing with such questions as marriage, divorce, crime, immigration, population, health, politics, development, of community life, etc. These lectures have proved to be of real interest to a large number of students and with the new data gathered by Prof. Patterson for the series this spring, doubtless a still larger number of students will be interested.

The lectures will be given in the Y M C A auditorum on Wednesday night of each week at 7:30 o'clock and will last for one half hour. The series begins March 19th, Six addresses on China by Dr. Moss will form another splendid series of talks this spring. The subject of these addresses will be, The General History of China, Its Geography, China's Awakening, China's Women, China in Legend and Story, and Barnett in China. These will be delivered in the Y. M. C. A. auditorum on Sundays at 12:30 P.M. beginning Sunday March 23rd, and will last from twenty minutes to one half hour each time.

DR. CHASE ON EUGENICS

In Two Lectures He Discusses the Laws of Heredity

Two lectures of the three which Dr. Chase is to deliver as the concluding part of the series given under the auspices of the Greater Council have been delivered. The subject of these two lectures was, Some Investigations into the Human Heredity. The science which deals with human heredity is Eugenics. In deciding the fate of the race, said Dr. Chase, heredity is much more important than environment, because it is very doubtful if we can transmit to our decendants traits that we have acquired.

The law of human heredity has been formulated by Mendell. The individual, according to Mendell, is made up of a great number of unit characters, These characters one may inherit from one or both of his parents; ie., he may be duplex, or simplex. If one has inherited a trait from both of his parents, the determiners for that trait will be present in all his germ cells; if he has inherited it from only one, the determiners will be present in one-half of his germs cells. This has been worked out with almost mathematical certainty.

Dr. Chase read several interesting and valuable accounts of certain families through which for five or six generations certain inherited mental traits have been traced.

The concluding lecture will be delivered by Dr. Chase Thursday night at 7:45

CHEMISTS IN SESSION

Hear Papers by Hoke, Bagwell, Rhodes, and D. Bell

On Monday evening the Chemists listened to four very interesting and practical papers at their regular bi-weekly meeting.

The first was a paper on "The Technical Use of Starches in the Cotton Industry", reviewed by Mr. Hoke. The paper dealt with the use of starch in the finishing of cotton cloth as it is dohe it in North Carolina. It showed very clearly the importance of chemical knowledge in this field of endeavor which is so important to this state.

The second paper was on the possibility of substistution Tantalum for Platinum in the laboratory work. Mr. Bagwell's review of this showed in a very concise manner the application of this metal for "cutting the cost" in laboratory work Its value may be easily seen from the fact that the new ware will cost abont a a third as much as the old and that the value of the Platinum in our laboratory runs into four fifures.

Mr. Rhodes review of a paper on the preparation of Calcium Cyanamide presented a new and promising aspect of the problem of utilizing atmospheric Nitrogen for fertilizers. This new development bids fair to make "fertilizer from air" practical at last.

Dr. Bell brought up again, in a review of an article in Chemical News, that ancient problem of the Transmutation of the elements. The paper contained an account of some recent work by a Dr. Thompson in refutation of the supposed transmutation carried out by three eminent English scientists. They thought that they had succeeded in making Neon and Helium from Oxygen, but Dr. Thompson showed that their results were due to experimental error. This was by far the most interesting paper of the evening.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

PLANS FOR TRACK MEET

Greater Council Arranging One for High Schools

At the last meeting of the Greater Council the problem of arranging for a state interscholastic track meet for April 11, was taken up. Coach Trenchard, Big Patterson and the committee who managed the High School debate were present by invitation. It was decided to make the meet into an annual affair beginning this year. A cup and medals will be given. All High schools and prep schools are eligible to enter. Entertainment will be provided by the county clubs aud other organizations as in the Debate. A committee composed of Spears, Whiting, and Fuller was appointed to draw up the rules and regulations of the meet and attend to all preliminary arrangments.

This committee will be aided by Patterson, McKay, and E. R. Rankin. While this meet will take place ce at the same time as the district State High School meet it will in no way interfere with it or supersede it. They will be managed by the same officials however.

The athltic association alumni faculty, and student body are expected to back up the project financially if the admission charges fail to cover expenses.

The council also received a communication from Dr. Archibald Henderson concerning the O. Henry memorial. Since several classes had already taken up this matter it was decided to turn the whole thing over to them to be managed separately.

SEWANEE THINKS HIGHLY OF DR. HAMILTON

The Sewanee Purple, published by the students at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. has an editorial comment on Dr. J. G. deR. Hamilton, together with a cut. Dr. Hamilton graduated from Sewanee in 1910. The editorial calls attention to his rapid rise in his profession and to the excellent quality of the historical work he has done, and is deservedly complimentary.

The Junior class has elected R. T. Allen manager of the class baseball team and George Holton of next year's football team. The football manager was elected now in order that he might help Coach Trenchard get out the class players for spring practice. A committee was appointed to solicit funds for the proposed memorial to O. Henry.

AYCOCK HELD TIGERS TO SIX HITS

Pendleton Was a Mighty Factor in the Victory---Carolina Out Hit Princeton, but Played Bonehead.

Loose field play and general lack of team work enabled Princeton to score a 9 to 3 victory over Carolina in Greensboro Wednesday. It was the opening game for both teams and one of them, Carolina, showed it. A drizzling rain and a bad field caused the infield to pull off poor work.

Princeton could not hit Aycock to any advantage. He went the ull nine innings and in view of circumstances did extremely well. Princeton used three pitchers and all save Rodgers were affective. Pendleton, the great football artist, was easily the star of the game. He made three hits, scored three times himself, and fielded sharply.

Carolina scored in the second when Long beat out a slow ground ball, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on Johnson's out, and home on William's clean single. The other two runs came in the seventh. Aycock and Thompson both singled and Captain Edwards' drive to right brought them home.

Pendleton beat out a hit in the second and scored from first on Reed's single to center. Some base running! In the sixth Princeton scored twice on a hit batsman, a base on balls, and a lack of understanding on part of the Tar Heel infield. Two runs and not a hit!

In the seventh, two doubles, a base on balls, an error, and a failure to back up home cost three runs. Hanks was hit in the ninth and Pendleton singled. Reed brought them both across with a double

Edwards and Williams did some clever fielding.

TAYLOR AND BUSBY WIN

Will Represent Carolina in Debate against Virginia

W. F. Taylor, of the Law Class, and J. C. Busby, of the Senior Class, have been selected as Carolina's debaters against Virginia. The preliminary contest was held Wednesday night in the Phi Hall. The contestants for places on the team besides Taylor and Busby were H. C. Petteway, E. R. Rankin, and L. B. Wall. The judges were Professors Graham, McIntosh, and Noble.

The debate with Virginia will be one of the three debates that will be held on April 19 beetween the members of the triangle composed of Carolina, Virginia, and Johns Hopkins. Each deba w l be held on neutral ground. Carolina will thus meet Virginia at Johns Hopkins, Virginia and Johns Hopkins will meet at Chapel Hill, and Carolina will meet Johns Hopkins at Charlottesville. Out of the four debates that have been held between Carolina and Virginia in the past, each of these ancient rivals has won two.

The preliminary to select the team to go against Johns Hopkins will be held tonight in the Di Hall. Those trying for places on this team are W. R. Petteway, R. W. Iseley Frank Graham, Kenneth Royall, D. R. Blalock, W. S. Tillett, and T. J. Hoover.

The query in both debates is: "Resolved, That, disregarding the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the tolls a Panama should be the same to the merchant ships of all nations". Carolina has the negative with Virginia and the affirmative with Johns Hopkins.

Sophs Eat and Name Freshmen

The Sophomores had their first banquet at the Inn last Friday night and the Student Council hasn't even had a meeting yet. That is no sign they didn't eat a lot, however, and make a great noise and a bon-fire Th[illegible] had some speeches too. Prof McKie started the conversatio[illegible] ball by telling of the attitude of the people of the state toward the University and what we should do to remedy it. O. M. Marsnbnrn replied to this speech with a bunch of good jokes.

Toastmaster. Woolcott introduced the next speaker as "Jimmie." Dr- Royster rose and addressed the class on "Individualism." He said individualism was a good thing, but it might go too far and degenerate into selfishness. He closed by saying, "Class anything is a good thing." B. L. Fields responded on "The Duty of the Class to the University."

Mr. Warren's expression of interest in the class wass heartily received. G. A. Mebaue then urged the class to have more smokers and other class functions. He said we needed more class unity.

Prof. Stacy, the last Faculty speaker, was absent. W. P. Fuller told the class what he thought was

YOUNG ATHLETES WILL MEET HERE

The First Annual Scholastic Track Meet to Be Held April 11

ALL SCHOOLS IN THE STATE INVITED

Greater Council's Plans Are Being Put Into Execution and There Is Every Indication of Success

The first Annual Scholastic Track Meet of the University of North Carolina will take place on April 11. The plans for the meet, inaugurated by the Greater Council, and backed by the alumni and the Athletic Association, are rapidly taking on definite shape under the active managment of Walter Stokes, manager of the track team, and Coach Cartmell.

Letters of information and entry blanks have been sent to all the principal High Schools and prep schools and notice has been given to practically every school in the state. Replies are already beginning to come in and several schools have signified their intention of sending representatives. There is every indication that the meet will be as much of a success as the High School Debating Union.

The events will be ten in number: 100 yard dash, 220 yard run, 880 yard run, mile, 120 yard low hurdle, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, 12 pound shot put, 12 pound hammer throw. Handsome prizes will be awarded the individual winners and a trophy will be given the school winning the meet.

The contestants will be entertained while here by the Greater Coun[illegible] Every effort will be made for their comfort and pleasure. The University has a great opportunity of coming in contact with promising young athletics and should put its best foot forward in welcoming them.

PROFESSIONS PRAISED AT CHAPEL

Especially interesting have been the Chapel periods this week. Various members of the faculty have set before the students the advantage of various fields for a man's life-work. Monday morning Dr. J. H. Pratt spoke to the students on the geological resources of the State, and of the attractive opportunites here opened for engineers in this field through the North Carolina Economic and Geological Survey.

Tuesday Dr. J. S. Holmes presented the claims of forestry engineering. And Prof. P. H. Daggett spoke very interestingly Wednesday on electrical engineering; its opportunity and requirements.

Dean E. K. Graham has been selected as one of the judges in a debate between Wake Forest and Baylor University of Walgo, Texas, to be held in the Raleigh Auditorium Easter Monday. The other judges are Judge Henry G. Connor of Wilson and ex-Judge J. S. Manning of Raleigh.

OLDHAM, MERRIMAN, AND HATCH ARE ALL CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Four Months Imprisonment Is the Sentence, but the Judge Allows Them to Be Hi ed Out to Their Fathers

Ralph W. Oldham, of Raleigh, William L. Merriman, of Wilmington and Aubrey C. Hatch, of Mount Olive, three former students of the University concerned in the death of Isaac William Rand in a hazing escapade on September 13, 1912, were found guilty of manslaughter by an Orange County jury in Hillsboro on March 15, and were each sentenced by Judge Peebles to four months in prison. The terms will not be served however, as authority was given the county commissioners to hire the boys out to whomsoever they pleased and they will be hired out to their fathers. Arthur H. Styron, of Wilmington, the fourth boy brought to trial, was set free by order of Judge Peebles because of lack of evidence against him.

The announcement of the verdict by the foremam of the jury came at the end of three hours deliberation and the decision did not cause much surprise. The little court house in Hillsboro which had been crowded during the trial was jammed to its utmost capacity when the jury filed in to give its decision. The deciding moment of the horrible tragedy came with intense silence, but with calm by the defendants and their fathers.

Immediately after Judge Peebles had passed the sentence of four months, which is the minimum under the law, Victor S. Bryan, of Durham, one of the defending attorneys, arose and in a few words thanked the judge for the humane attitude which he had assumed towards the young men. Judge Peebles replied to the expression of thanks from the attorney of the defendents in these words: "I hope this will be the last case of hazing in any college or university in North Carolina. It is incomprehensible to me that boys brought up as those boys should go to a poor freshman's room and take him out of his room, pour blacking on him, and have fun at his expense. I am glad of an opportunity to show these young men that I have no inclination to be severe. I only want to make an example of this case. I understand that another boy has been blacked at the university since this case began. If I had the boys that did that here I certainly would put them on the roads."

Although the conviction of manslaughter carries with it a stigma and deprives a man of citizenship, the actual puishment meted out to Oldham, Hatch, and Merriman by the court is light. The payment of the cost in tha case and the hireing ot the boys to their parents, sums up the punishment administered in its last analysis. It was positively indicated that this will be the method of procedure approved by the county commisioners when the appointed day comes for hireing them out.

Thus ended a trial memorable in the history of the University and State. It establishes a precedent in regard to the punishment of hazing for there is no record of a hazing controversy being threshed out previously in any court of this state.

It is the final chapter in what began as a frolic and ended as a tragedy that was sent broad-cast over the state and nation, and was commented upon and discussed everywhere. The tragedy was the direct cause of a sweeping investigation into the practice of hazing at the University which resulted in the expulsion of four students besides those tried and the suspension of nine more.

The trial began in Hillsboro on Thursday, March 13 and the decision of the jury was announced Saturday March 15 at 3:10 P. M. During that time great crowds thronged to the court house. Public interest was keen and the state papers carried columns of news. The array of legal talent included some of the best in the State. Solicitor S. M. Gattis of Hillsboro, was associated in prosecution by E. J. Justice and E. D. Broadhurst of Greensboro. The defendants were represented by Victor S. Bryant, of Durham, W. P. Stacy, Louis Poisson, anb Louis Goodman of Wilmington, ex-Judge J. S. Manning and A. L. Wissburg, of Durham, D. P. Stern, of Greensboro, and John W. Graham, ot Hillsboro.

The winesses brought out no material new facts. The familiar story was gone over of how the boys, masked, entered Rand's room after midnight, took him and his roommate, Wellons, out to the athletic field; of how Rand was put on an up-turned barrel and told to sing; of how he fell from the barrel upon a piece of broken glass which cut his throat; and of his consequent death.

In charging the jury today Judge Peebles called attention to the fact hat whether young Rand fell off the barrel during the hazing and was killed, or the barrel was kicked over was not a matter for consideration.

If the three men under indictment masked and with sticks in hand as produced in the State's testimony, entered the room of Rand and laid hands on [illegible] and against his will carried him to [illegible] tic field then it is the duty of the jury to find a verdict of guilty," said the court.

The fact that hazing had been practiced at the university for a hundred years, and that this was the first case to be tried in court, it was pointed out, did not abrogate or change the laws of the State and should not affect the jurors in reaching their verdict.

Dr. Archibald Henderson has been invited to address the Woman's Club at the city of Cincinnati on the evening of March 31.

ATTEMPTING TO INCITE HAZING.

Friday night while the sophomores were holding their banquet a crowd of freshmen, disregarding the position of the University before the state and conscious of the possible results of their action—probably desirous of that result—offered what can only be considered as a flagrant challenge to the sophomore class to haze them, by ringing the college bell and continuing to ring it until an upper classman went down to investigate, when the ringer of the bell quit and manfully legged it out of the building. We submit that the man, or men who rang the bell. and those who stood by and gave their moral support and encouragement, if there were such, should be shipped by the authorities.

The men who rang the bell knew that if the sophmores learned that they were ringing it, there would very probably be some results that would not be pleasant for the University; since the ringing of the bell without cause is regarded as a rather serious matter. Only two years ago a member of one of the upper classes was expelled for ringing the bell without what the faculty regarded as cause. Not only, then, was the ringing of the bell bad as considered in the light of the precedent established by the action of the faculty in shipping a man for a previons and similar offence, but it is condemnable as being an attempt to incite hazing.

It is unlawful for a student to practice hazing here. To do so is to lay himself liable—and judging from the number suspended last term, extremely liable, at that—to expulsion from the University community. For a sophomore or any upper classman or any student in the profesional departments to lead a band of hazers, or to incite others to hazing, is declared unlawful here. To do so subjects them to expulsion upon their discovery and conviction.

Since the thing holds true of all other students here we say that the same measure should be meted to freshmen, that when tney endeavor to incite hazing by intentionaly doing things calculated to stir up class feeling and precipitate hazing, then they should be shipped. If they are expelled for no other reason they should at least be allowed to depart in peace as being undesirable citizens for the community.

Fortunately the banqueting sophomores did not know of the affair at the time and there were no bad results from it. There might not have been any anyhow. But we say that when men show themselves to be so utterly out of harmony with the spirit of the institution and so absolutely regardless of its good, they ought to go.

CATS! APPOINTMENTS! AND LIES

If the ancient philosopher who remarked in the presence of an admiring and discriminating disciple that "there are more ways of killing a cat than by hanging him" was correct, then the student council has grounds for beginning to clean things up by shipping itself - and the student council is about the best thing that we have here, too. The reason for this suggestion to the council for action may be found in the last issue of the University Magazine. Therein is contained an article signed by a member of the council and containig this sentence: "Even the student council meets tardily". Now the council, among other duties, is supposed to have the duty of shipping all liars from college. And we submit that if the council meets tardily, it is, like everybody else here, lying by that tardiness. That seems to be a rather hard statement of the case; but let's examine it a bit more and see if it is not a correct statement.

Whenever a man tells us something for the truth and we later find that it was not the truth we say that that man lied to us. If he tells us that he will do something and then fails to do what he promised, we again have small hesitancy about what word to use to describe his negligence of doing what he said that he would do - provided he did not say that he would meet us somewhere. If he makes an appointment with us, though, and fails to keep that appointment, we think nothing of it because everybody else here except the busy men do the same thing. Or at least, if we think anything about it that is as far as it ever goes. Now we submit that, when one man makes an appointment with another man and fails to keep that appointment, he is to use the mildest term, at least a falsifier. If it is a meeting of ten men that he has agreed to attend and then failed to attend, he has just broken his word. If the ancient and respected philosopher of cats was right, we are certainly a callous community of unmitigated falsifiers.

And the men who fail to keep the appointments, both among the faculty and students, are not, as the Magazine contributor correctly pointed out, the busiest men. On the contrary, as the writer again pointed out, the busy men are the ones who keep their appointments punctually. And that is one of the reasons why they have jobs that allow them to be busy. Men have confidence in them. In the world of business if a man makes an appointment and then fails to keep it, unless he is mighty high up he gets sat upon good and hard. If he is in a subordinate position with a company, the second offence is very, with emphasis on the very, often sufficient, and sometimes the first is, for ceasing to be in any position at all.

The conclusion of the whole matter is: Keep your appointments on time, for if you don't you prevaricate, and no business firm of class A 1 desires in its service the suing members of the old or revised order of Ananias.

PROF. BOYNTON COMING

Distinguished English Scholar On March 28

At 8 o'clock in the evening of Friday, March 28, Professor Percy H. Boynton, of the University of Chicago, will speak in Gerrard Hall.

His subject on which he is a recognized authority will be: "Victorian London." Professor Boynton is a charming lecturer as well as an able writer and teacher; and it is hoped that the young men who purpose attending the dance that evening will persuade their partners to dress early and atend the lecture.

Since the recent announcement of the lectures and dates for this spring, the follwing list of corrected dates is now given :—

Rev. S. M. Crothers, Thurs. Apr. 3.
Dr. J. A. Holmes, Thurs. Apr. 17, and Friday, April 18.
Dr. D. H. Hill ..... Friday, May 8.

It will doubtless be of interest to everyone to learn that Dr. Holmes has agreed to bring with him a moving picture apparatus.

The Panama canal seen under Pickwick conditions in Gerrard Hall is certainly worth the money. Admittance free.

Gee! Fresh 7; Juniors 0

In a gently falling rain the Freshmen as a class won their first athletic contest of their career Wednesday afternoon. The victims were the Juniors, and they made good victims too. Seven times they let the lowly Freshmen complete the big circle, and didn't even ask a single one in return. Just to show their innate kindness they made eight errors to aid the seven clean bingles of their opponents. DeVane and Applewhite, as they spiritedly and often chased the wet pill over the outer lot seemed to enjoy themselves especially well. But Allen was right there with the goods as usual. With three chances he improved two of them. Taylor, Royster, and Love did first class work for the Freshmen.

The team as a whole fielded cleanly n spite of the mud.

(Box score enclosed)

Summary:

Long struck out 6, walked 2. Hancock struck out 9, walked 2, hit 3. Two base hits: Darden, Allen. Three bas hits: Royster. Sacrifice hits: Huske, Hardson. Umpire: Lipscomb, Stubbs. Scorer Redmon. Time 1.40.

DEATH OF MRS. BATTLE

Wife of Dr. K. P. Battle Goes to Her Reward

Mrs. Martha A. Battle, wife of Dr. Kemp Plummer Battle, died at her home at 5 o'clock Sunday morning, March 16. She had been ill from an attack of pneumonia caused by a broken hig received in a fall several weeks ago. Mrs. Battle was a native of Edgecombe county and was 80 years old. She was married to Dr. Battle, the "Old President", over fifty years ago. Besides her husband she is survived by four sons: Kemp Plumer Battle, Jr., of Raleigh; Thomas Battle, of Rocky Mount: Dr. Herbert Battle, of Montgomery, Alabama; and Prof. W. J. Battle of the University of Texas.

The body was taken on Tuesday to Raleigh. The funeral services at Christ Episcopal Church were conducted by Rev. Milton A. Barber, the rector, assisted by Bishop Cheshire and Dr I. McK. Pitting of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

The sympathies of the entire community go out to Dr. Battle in his time of bereavement. Student of the University have always felt a great interest in him and his family for his life has been largely given to the University. His sorrow is their sorrow.

YACKETY YACK! HOORAY! HOORAY!

A. L. M. Wiggins, editor-in-chief of the Yackety Yack, has received from the printers, the Observer Printing Company of Charlotte, the first proof of the copy of the volume for 1913. This marks the first step in the final chapter of an annual that promises to eclipse those of recent years. From present indications the Yackety Yack will come from the press complete before May 1.

The 1913 Yackety Yack has many new and interesting features The cover will be of flexible cowhide of a grayish color. It will have the usual group of buildings, the South, the Old East and the Old West, with the well in the center, but the design differs from that of last year. The book is dedicated to Junius Parker, of New York, a distinguished alumnus who is attorney for the American Tobacco Company. On every page a gray tinted skyline view of the campus will be carried

The entire volume is divided into six main divissons, or books. The first concerns the University; the second, the undergraduate classes; the third, the professional schools; the fourth, athletics; the fifth, organizations; and the sixth, college life, which includes the humor department. Instead of having the usual cartoon beside the individual Senior picture, there will be a small kodak picture of a characteristic pose. This same idea is extended to all the organizations, each of which will have an informal characteristic picture in addition to the usual formal ones. The entire volume is especially noteworthy for the large number of pictures of every sort; in all there will be over 700.

The literary features include a history of the principal progressive movements of the college year, written by S. R. Winters; and a sketch of the interesting places around Chapel Hill and the University, by Dr. Battle.

The Junior Class has been honored with individual pictures, a distinctly new feature. There will be ten to a page. The humor department, in many respects the most interesting in the whole book, will have the addition of an unusually large number of pictures. The principal cartoons come from the pen of Mr. Russell Henderson, cartoonist on the Pittsburgh Post, who has handled this work so well in the past.

All in all, the Yackety Yack promises to be a fine volume and will be a distinct credit to the editors: A. L. M. Wiggins, editor-in-chief, J. Y. Caldwell, I. R. Williams, Lenoir Chambers, George L. Carrington, B. D. Applewhite, J. S. Simmons, W. S. Beam, S. W. Whiting, T. I. Jones, T. C. Boushall, M. N. Oates, George V. Strong, V. A. Coulter, T. S. Royster, H. C. Long, R. T. Allen, K. C. Royal, and Frank Drew. The business managers are I. M. Bailey and M. T. Spears.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

wrong with the spirit in the student body. He said, "Our attitude is wrong. We look upon ourselves as as here by right, when in reality it is a privilege to be here."

After the regular speeches quite a number responded to calls for talks. The best of these were those by C. E. Ervin, who forcibly urged the class to respond to the new athletic awakening; by Lipscomb, who talked on the value of friendship; and Carr, the last speaker, who made an appeal for no hazing, and proposed that the freshmen be compelled to wear green caps as a substitute.

Then those freshmen who have so distinguished themselves as to warrant the attention, received their reward at the hands of Fuller and his committee in the shape of names. The banqueters then adjourned and soon became a crowd of lusty cheerers around the well and bon-fire near by.

Freshman names.

Auld. The man Cobb, Froggie, Herty, and Horace failed to classify.

LOSSES ON THE ROAD ARE OFF-SET BY TWO VICTORIES ON HOME GROUNDS

A. C. L. and Guilford Win in Wilmington and Fayetteville, but Penn State and Trinity are Defeated in Chapel Hill

In the first game on the home grounds Carolina defeated Pennsylvania State 5 to 1, hitting the ball all over the lot. Twelve clean hits were chalked up against pitcher Hesselbacher. Craven, the old Oak Ridge pitcher, was in the box for Carolina and pitched a steady game all the way. He allowed six hits, only one being for an extra base. He fanned five and walked three. The infield played a strong defensive game. Twice "Rody" Williams raced over behind Craver and dug up slow grounders and each time Leak by great stretching saved his wild throws.

But for bonehead base-running several more runs would have been added to the Tar Heel score. Five times runners were caught off the bases, Henderson twice catching men off third and first by quick throws. Penn State gave Carolina her first run in the first inning.

Bailey walked and went all the way to third when Long's attempted sacrifice was thrown to right field. Two more bases on balls forced him home. Hart opened the fifth with a long double, but was caught trying to steal third, Craven singled and Baily doubled, scoring him. In the sixth Hesselbacher was found for five hits and three runs. Edwards, Williams and Hart singled Johnson doubled, and Thompson trippled. Two more hits came in the seventh, but poor base running broke up a splendid chance.

Penn State's lone tally came in the third on Miller's hit, his theft of second and Henderson's double. Crawford's pretty catch of Edwards' long drive and McKibben's throw home from deep left featured. Captain Edwards' all round playing featured. He drove out two hard singles, was robbed of a three-bagger, and fielded smartly besides.

Last Saturday the Varsity lost to the Atlantic Coast Line team in Wilmington by the score of 7 to 2. After maintaining what seemed to be a safe lead through the first five innings, Carolina blew up in the sixth and settled again to terra firma only after the A. C. L. team had pushed five runners across the pan. All the scoring for both sides was done in the first, third, fourth, and sixth innings. Carolina made three runs in the first and one in the fourth; while the Coast Line secured one each in the third and fourth, and five in the sixth.

Corbett, of the A. C. L. team, gave an excellent exhibition of pitching. Although very wild at times, walking seven men, he never let it worry him. He gave up only five hits and fanned thirteen men, several of them coming in succession when the bags were densely populated. Aycock, who showed great form in the opening game with Princeton, pitched true to form until the Railroaders got next to him in the fatal sixth. After the bases were filled and with only one man down, Craven replaced him on the firing line. But the A. C. L. men quickly took to the big twirler's offerings, and combined some sharp hitting with bases on balls and loose fielding on the part of Carolina for a total of 5 runs.

Carolina's scoring occurred in the following manner: In the first inning Bailey, the first man up, walked. Long fanned. Bailey stole second and went to third when Bundy gathered in Leak's grounder too late to get either man. Leak stole second while Edwards was fanning. Thompson singled to left, scoring Bailey and Leak. Thompson stole second and scored on Johnson's single to right. Williams ended the frame by fanning. In the fourth inning Carolina secured its final run. Williams reached first. Hart fanned. Aycock singled to right, and Williams went to second and then to third, when there was no one on the latter bag to take the throw. Bailey went out to Lutterlough. Williams scored when Long's grounder to second was fumbled. Leak hit to Lutterlough, who fumbled, but Bundy pounced on the ball and caught Aycock on second.

On the Coast Line team were two former Carolina stars in the persons of Oscar Hamilton and Ferd Duls. These players, in last Saturday's game, showed a good deal of their old time form.

F. L. WEBSTER WINS THE CARR MEDAL

CARLTON, STRONG, AND PUGH CONTEST

Webster is Second Winner of the Medal Donated by Gen. J. S. Carr, Banks Mebane Winning Last Year

The second annual Junior Oratorical Contest for the Carr Medal was held in Gerrard Hall Wednesday evening. Dr F. P. Venable presided and Dr. I. H. Manning, and Professors N. W. Walker and M. H. Stacy were judges. The contestants for the Medal together with the subject of their orations were, for the Phi society, J. F. Pugh "Some New Forces In American Politics," and George Strong, "Education and Future Industry;" for the Di Society, D. H. Carlton on "Christian Citizenship," and F. L. Webster on "Education for social service." The decision of the judges was that Mr. F. L Webster had made the best oration, and so he was declared winner of the Carr Medal for the year of 1913.

The Carr Medal was established last year through the generosity of General Julian S. Carr of Durham, and largely through instrumentality of Mr. C. E. McIntosh. Banks Mebane won the Medal last year.

Carolina can not beat the New York Giants. Pitcher Shore of Guilford, who was under McGraw for two months last summer, was the chief factor in a 9 to 1 defeat at Fayetteville on Easter Monday. The six feet six hurler mowed down the Carolina batsman better than an International Harvester machne can garner a wheat field. He had them eating out of his hand from the first inning right through the last. Johnston's single was the only clean hit and it brought in Carolina's lone run. The other hit was an infield hit. Sixteen batters whipped the air in a vain attempt to help the cause.

In addition to having Shore to pitch, Guilford batted hard. Craven went in at the start of the game, but he was rather easy picking, and gave way to Aycock who, however, did not do much better. The Quakers play ball all the year round and they showed what can be accomplished by practice. Pitcher Shore himself slashed out a three-bagger and his team mates piled up eleven other hits.

EASTER WEEK GIRL TO BE GREETED BY AN UNUSUALLY ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME

Three Days of Oratory, Dramatic Productions, Athletics, Dances, and Social Affairs Ready for Their Entertainment

The long heralded Easter week has come and brought with it the Easter Queen in all her glory. Through the weeks of planning and of re-planning she has ever led the way by the brilliance of her beauty and her charm. And now she is with us—and with all sincerity the university cries "Welcome!"

A kindly faculty has added one more joy to sum total of humane happiness. Friday has already been announced as a holiday. Every date had been taken and the Dramatic Club wishing to tell once more "What Happened to Jones," asked for a holiday on Thursday that the performance might be given that morning in Gerrard Hall. The holiday was granted. Coggins and his crew, who have already proved their worth in successful performances in Chapel Hill, in Greensboro, and twice in Raleigh, will once more bring the house down in laughter and anplause at the best dramatic production of a generation.

The official programme of the week is opened Wednesday night with the Junior Oratorical Contest for the Carr Medal, awarded by Julian S. Carr, of Durham. The four Juniors who have won out in the preliminaries and who will meet in this contest are George V. Strong, and Jesse Pugh from the Phi Society and D. H. Carlton and F. L. Webster from the Di Society. Immediately after this contest the first big social event, the annual dance of the Order of Gimghouls, will take place in the Bynum Gymnasium, which has been specially decorated for the occasion. Robt. Strange, Jr, will lead the dance Frank Drew and Lenoir Chambers will act as assistants.

Thursday will be taken up with the Dramatic Club in the morning, the Sophomore dance in the afternoon, and the Senior Stunt at night. The Dramatic Club's production of "What Happened to Jones" comes at 10:30 A. M. in Gerrard Hall. In the afternoon the Sophomore dance will take place in the Gym. Time was when the Junior class gave a dance, but ideas have changed in the last few years and the class of 1914 preferred to sit back and watch others. It remained for the younger generation to lead the way and to save occasion. Junior Week it used to be; now it is anything but Junior Week. The Sophomores are the heroes. Their dance will be led by W. O. Huske, assisted by R. E. Little and E. J Lilley, Jr.

The Senior Stunt Thursday night in Gerrard Hall is in many respects the crowning event of the Week. It is the event in which the University is most interested. Because of its local nature its greatest appeal is to the students. Seniors in the past have embraced nearly every possible form of dramatic production; they have ranged from a circus under a regular circus tent through vaudeville and minstrel shows up to a legitimate drama with at least an attempted plot. The usual secrecy has been observed this year and little is known as to nature of the performance. From the shrieks of laughter at the rehersals in Gerrard Hall something great must be coming. "Nic" Post is chairman of the committee in charge.

Friday morning the inter-class track meet will take place. Embryonic Olympic heroes have been training for two weeks just for this opportunity to show their worth. The meet will be the first good chance the University has had of judging the ability of the new men.

The inability of the Trinity College of Connecticut baseball nine to lank a single safe hit off Aycock combined with an abundance of costly errors by the Connecticut lads, brought the overwhelming defeat today by a score of 10 to 1. Carolina's youthful pitcher was invincible throughout the nine innings, and it was only by an error in the second inning that a lone run was tallied by Trinity.

To the credit of Aycock is the distinction of pitching the first no-hit game on the home grounds in a couple of years. The last man to perform this feat was "Red" Stewart.

Connecticut's pitching staff proved weak and it was in the second inning that a change was made, Swift substituting for Warner. Johnson, Carolina's hefty slugger, nailed a two-bagger in the second inning, sweeping the bases. This, added to the costly errors of Trinity, gave six runs to the Tar Heels' tally sheet in this frame. In the sixth inning the only other startling play of the game was recorded. Captain Edwards' three-bagger was followed by Johnston's second two-base hit.

THREE BALLS GOING

"On with t e dance, let joy be unconfined", sang the poet; and the very practical man said, "Keep the good work going." The powers that be have listened with attentive ears to the petitions of the students and have nodded their heads like great Jupiter in token of assent. An extra day has been granted for the celebrating of Junior Week Festivities, Sophomore hops, and Senior Stunts.

And now the Easter Week Girl, once the Junior Prom Calic, is among us, clad like the lilies of the field—only with the addition of the iridescent hues of the rainbow and the aromatic benefactions of fragrant flowers and sweet essence of flowers.

The admired of all admirers and the observed of all observers, she is the cynosure of eight hundred pairs of eyes as she languidly wends her conscious way along the board walk. But she is like the lovely women of Massachusetts whom the gallant old Daniel Webster evidently had in mind when he made his most famous and chivalrous remark—she needs no eulogy; she speaks for herself. In view of which we shall desist from our pursuit of these beautiful butterflies and extend our felicitations and hearty appreciations to those in charge of the chapel exercises for the high order of proceedings and the vastly increased interestingness of them since the mid—year examinations. In the words of the poet "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined" while the very practical man murmers "Keep the good work going."

TWO SIGNS.

Danger!

All those who sit in the upper part of the grand stand behind the partition of planks and all those who sit in the lower part of it while others are sitting above the dividing line are urged to take out life and accident insurance at once, as they are playing hands with death. The athletic management has had a partition of boards made to keep students and others from going on the top rows of the grand stand as that part is unsafe and dangerous. In addition to this; the men who sit there have been warned and asked not to do so. The warning and the request have been disregarded. Why? Because the perons giving the warnig and making the request were doing so for the good of those whosat there.

The upper part of the grandstand is unsafe. All are warned not to go beyond the plank partition. And although there is a god who is supposed to have the especial duty of watching over the ways of the rash, even a fool gets hurt sometimes.

Notice!

To whom it may concern: Know ye, that, to quote from a famous bit of verse in Doc'sstore, "stealing a view of a baseball game is the same in the process of the law asany other theft."

Among some of the more recent additions to the population here there has been evidenced a tendancy to become spectators of the ball games without contributing their part towards defraying the expenses attached. Probably bringing with them here a custom recognized as allowable at their prep school, they have been going to the high places around and just outside the fence of the athletic field and from there looking over and viewing the game. Some few climb upon the fence and from that position of vantage review the game. This of course, as those who do it will see upon reflection, is stealing. They are getting something on which a price is set without paying that price; which constiutes a ratherserious offenceagainst the ethics of the communitv. We hope that it will not be done again.

TO THE FACULTY AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES

We come here from out the state somewhere more or less ignorant about many things, take our little latin and mathematics and history, and then go back in very much the same manner as we came - not to live under the rules of syntax and the law of sines in the reign of Pericles; but to live in harmony with the laws of nature under the statues of the commonwealth in the society of today. The latin and the mathematics and the history are all good. They train our minds and broaden our conceptions; but they are not sufficient. We need somthing more. We are not all minds and not all spirit. We are natural and material persons living among and by means of material things on a very terrestial and mundane ball. We are also living with other like persons with whom we have certain compacts for our mutual well-being, which we designate as laws. When we eat too many apples and fail to sleep enough we gather the inevitable results and become inefficient. When we break the laws of society we are punished by our fellow beings. Now comes the point that we want to make — if we know that eating too many apples and sleeping an insufficient amount will cause us to become sick, and that breaking the laws of the commonwealth will cause us to be punished, if we know what those laws are, we can avoid the evil consequences in both cases by avoiding the causes. But if we do not know, then we are just risking our lives and our fortunes on blind chance.

We need courses that will give us instruction, in the academic department, about the two sets of laws under which we live as physical men - the natural and the social laws. We need a course of instuction in hygiene and elementry physiology, a course which will give information on such subjects as were treated by the speakers in the General Council series recently; and we need a course that will give us a practical working knowledge of the laws that effect our every-day life and activity. It is true that seniors are allowed to take three hours of law that will count towards their degree; but it is also true that for some remarkable reason those three hours cost all who take them fifty simoleons extra.

The natural and social laws — the ones under which we live, not the rules of syntax and the law of sines.

UNIVERSITY SERMON

Dr Caldwell of Atlantic Christian College Preaches

The University sermon for the month of March was delivered in Gerrard hall last Sunday by president Caldwell of Atlantic Christian College. Dr. Caldwell preached from the text found in Matthew 16:25 "For whosoever will save his life shall lose it and whosoever will lose his life for my iake shall save it."

This lawis universal in nature, declared the speaker. If it were not for it there could be no seedtime and harvest.

This is not the law of nature only; it is just as truly the law of the buisness world, and of the intellectual world, no matter in what sphere you test it.

In the material world this law is not questioned; yet it is we think, very queer and hard when applied to religion. Here it is, however, equally as potent. It is the story of the life of Moses, who preferred to be a servent among the people of Israld than to be the son of Pharaolis daugnter. It is the story of the apostle Paul, the Pharisee of the Pharisees, pupil of the great Gemaliel, membar of the Sainhedrin, who after he had seen the vision and heard tne call of service, became a humble worker, driven from place, to place, persecuted and finally put to death. This is the story of our own Lord and Mastnr, who insiead of setting up the temporal kingdom of power which the Jews were expecting, because the spiritual leader of fishermen, incurred the contempt of the Jewish nation, and finally died between two thieves.

University Graduate Enters Educational Service of State

C. E McIntosh, principal of the Durham City Schools, has accepted the position of chief clerk in the State Department of Education, tended him by State Superintendent J. Y. Joyner. He succeeds E. E. Sams, who has been advanced to the place of Supervisor of Teacher Training, succeeding the late J. A. Bivins.

Mr. McIntosh has been with the Durham schools three years, and is a graduate of the State Uuiversity class of '11. He will enter on his in the State Department of Education at once.

Dr. Royster Honored

Dr James F. Royster of the department of English was elected President of the North Carolina Folk Lore society at its annual session in Raleigh Easter Monday. Professor Frank C. Brown of Trinity was elected secretary and treasurer. This is the state branch of the American Folk Lore society. It has for its object the collection and preservation of all traditions worth saving. North Carolina furnishes a fertile field in this respect and the state branch that has just been organized has great possibilities before it.

Dr T. P. Cross made the chief address at the meeting and Professor Collier Cobb spoke also. The total University representation included Professors Royster, Cobb, Cross, Howell, and Booker.

ANOTHER TRIP FOR THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club can't stop flitting around the country, teaching the people of the State what music is On April 12, the day of the Virginia baseball game in Raleigh, they will give a grand performance in the Raleigh Auditorium. Both the teams will be there, all of Raleigh, and half of Chapel Hill. After the musical performance a dance will be given in the auditorium. It will be a great occasion all around. Manager Speight Hunter of the Muiscal Clubs states than his organizations will give their best performance of the year. They are practicing for it now.

DRAMATIC CLUB MADE ANOTHER HIT

In Raleigh Tuesday night at the Academy of Music the Dramatic Club repeated its performance of "What Happened to Jones" with great success. The Woman's Club of Raleigh had made a special request that the Club return and had made an especially attractive offer. The crowd that attended was not particularly large, but every one present seemed to enjoy the comedy and applauded generously at all times. The Dramatic Club worked with success at every appointment this year and has shown conclusively that historical talent is rich at the University.

WAKE FOREST WINS AND LOSES

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority. Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

MESSRS. TILLETT AND GRAHAM WON OUT

The preliminary contest to decide upon Carolina's debaters against Johns Hopkins was held last Thursday night in the Phi Hall. Messers. Frank Graham and W. S. Tillett were the ones chosen to represent Carolina in this debate. Those entering the preliminary besides Messrs. Graham and Tillett were W.R. Petteway, R. W. Iseley, K. C. Royall, D. R. Blalock, and T. J. Hoover.

The debate will take place April 19th. The question is that of "Equal Tolls at Panama." Carolina has the affirmative against Johns Hopkins and the negative with Virginia. Messrs. W. F. Taylor and J. C. Busby will contest with Virginia.

President Venable has taken charge of Chemistry 1 and will himself deliver lectures on Inorganic Chemistry the rest of the term. This work was done last year by Dr. R. B. Hall. Dr. Venable is one of the most distinguished chemists in the United States and his lectures will prove unusually interesting.

SPORTOGRAMS

The dope artist of "Sportograms" is once more on the job. Some time back his typewriter refused all of a sudden to beat out any more sporting pot-hooks; and, instead, got to hitting off stuff about "dreamy eyes", "moonlight," and "wisps of brown hair". You know that line of tootsie-wootsie dope that the gink named Romeo used to whiff across the plate in the Shakespeare League. Its this dim-lights-and-soft-music kind of dope that suddenly gave my typewriter "the itch, the tang to write", as Browning called it—or maybe it was just the measels the old geezer was talking about. Anyway, you'll pardon a short month's literary relaspe; for you know, "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of bock beer.

Well, gentlemen — and also Miss Easter Week Girl, for appropiate politeness, the team's Losing-Jinx was broken up Wednesday with a vim. The team gave us a little inside base-ball Wednesday. The new men seem to be grasping the idea that Coach Bowers has been trying to drill into them—"team-work". In most of the previons games that all essential thing, "team-work", has been woefully lacking. In some of the games the tin-domed plays pulled off would have put shame in the artistic souls of a bunch of jaytown boobs on a hay tossing nine. However, any team composed almost wholly of raw material must travel the rough road a bit before they strike their stride. We've got confidence in our players. We've got confidence in our coach. We are right there with the glad hand, Coach Bowers. You've got a tough proposition in whipping a raw team into shape; but we believe you can put the finishing touches on with a few more games.

Take it from this dope dealer right now, there is no use to worry about a team as long as it hits the pill. The men we have this year, though new, clout the pill on the snout with a vim. In every game so far, with the exception of the Guilford contest, we've outhit our opponents. We have a bunch of left-handed stickers this year; and they raise a little havoc with the opposing right-handed pitchers. As we intimated before, when the men get their "team-work" down pat, and with the hitting ability that they show, we are going to reap some big scalps before the season is over.

"Govnor" Aycock did some real classytwirling Wednesday. The first no-hit game of the season goes to his credit. The little "Govnor" is making a rapid rise from the class team. He is showing his true form in every game.

Julian Hart was right there with the clouts Wednesday. He garnered three with his willow. His peg to the keystone bag shows some improvement.

BATH IMPROVEMENTS MADE

To those who are interested in the progress of the University, who have the welfare of the eight hundred students at heart, the recent additions to the bathing facilities at the Gym cannot but be hailed with delight as the dawning of a new era. For years the essential hot water could be obtained from only five showers. Now the facilities have been doubled. From the bottom of thankful hearts praise mounts up to the Faculty and Trustees who have thus seen fit to answer the appeals of countless generations of Tar Heel editors.

THE ALUMNI ARE BEHIND TRENCHARD

Immediately after the Carolina-Guilford ball game Monday afternoon, a meeting of the Cumberland County Association of the University of North Carolina Alumni was held in the offices of James B. MacRae, ex-mayor of Chapel Hill, son of the former dean of the University Law School, which was very largely attended and most enthusiastic in its unanimous endorsement of the policy and administration of Head Coach Trenchard.—Fayetteville correspondence Charlotte Daily Observer.

Mr. Lewis Sutton of Raleigh spent last week in Chapel Hill with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Venable.

CAROLINA WINS ONE GAME AND LOSES TWO ON THE HOME GROUNDS

The Team Splits Even With Lafayette and Loses to Amherst, Forshee and Robinson Proving Effective

Last Friday in the first of the two games with Lafayette, Carolina lost to her opponents by the margin of one run, score 4 to 5. Lafayette won the game by timely hitting. Several chances to score for Carolina were lost by poor base running. The features of the game were Johnston's shoe - string catch of Meyer's drive, and the all-round fielding of Troxell, the Lafayette short stop. Carolina used three pitchers during the contest, Captain Edwards twirling for a while during the later stages of the game. Although Carolina out-slugged Lafayette by four hits, there were no timely drives to bring the winning run across the plate.

A touch of color and gayety was added to the background of the game by the presence of the Easter Week Girl, who was out in full springtime florescence.

Carolina scored three runs in the seventh and one in the ninth. In the seventh Edwards and Thompson singled to left with one down. Johnston flied out to left. Williams singled to center, scoring Edwards and placing Thompson on third. Hart smashed out a two-base drive to left, scoring Thompson and Williams. Zollicoffer, as pinch hitter for Graves, fouled out to catcher, ending the game. In the ninth Johnston singled to center, and was forced at second by Williams. Hart walked. Norris, as pinch hitter for Rousseau, singled cleanly to center, scoring Williams. On the throw in Hart was caught at the plate by a close margin.

Lafayette scored twice in the sixth and three times in the eignt. In the sixth Fager was safe on Edwards fumble, and advanced to second on an infield out. Altschuler was hit by ball. Lauback walked, filling the bases. Blackburn singled to left, scoring Fager and Altschuler. Lauback was caught going to third on play. Forshee closed the inning by fanning. In the eight Myers walked, and went to second on Hart's wild peg to first to nab him. Altschuler fonned. Lauback doubled to left, scoring Myers. Blackburn singled to left, scoring Laaback. Blackburn took second on the throw in, and scored when Hammer, relieving Foushee, doubled to center. The inning was closed when Scheeren walked and was later forced out at second.

Summary: Earned runs, Carolina 3, Lafayette 1. Two-base hits, Hart, Lauback, Hammer. Bases on balls, off Craven 0, off Graves 4, off Edwards 2, off Forshee 1, off Hammer 1. Struck out, by Craven 0, by Graves 4, by Edwards 2, by Hammer 1. Left on bases, Carolina 5, Lafayette 10. Time of game, 2:15. Umpire, Henderson.

In a slow but at times exciting contest, Carolina won from Lafayette Saturday in the second game with that team by the score of 4 to 3. The contest went eleven innings before a decision was reached. Aycock pitched a good game and had perfect control, walking no one. Graves finished the last two innings in the box. The features of the game were Fager's hitting and Helfrich's fielding for Lafayette, and Baileys fielding for Carolina.

Carolina scored two runs in the sixth and one each in the ninth and eleventh innings. In the sixth Edwardssingled to right and Thompson to left. Zollicoffer advanced both runners by a sacrifice Williams beat out a slow grounder to the infield, Edwards scoring on the play. Thompson went to third, and scored on Hartsont at first. Aycock went out, second to first. In the ninth Williams was safe on short-stops muff and went to second when the latter threw wild to first. Hart fanned and was out catcher to first on dropped strike, Williams going to third on the play. Norris, batting for Aycock, fanned and was safe at first on dropped strike. The catcher threw wild to first and Williams dashed in home, tieing the score. Bailey fouled out to third. Long walked. Leak ended the frame by flying out to deep center. In the eleventh, with one down, Graves walked. Hart, running for Graves, took third on Baileys single to center and scored on Longs tap to the infield, the game being won on the play.

In the first inning with two down Lafayette scored when Helfrich reached first on Aycocks fumble of his grounder, went to third on Harts wild peg to second, and pranced in home when Edwards fumbled Fagers hot grounder. Myers closed the inning by flytng out to Edwards. Again in the eight, with two down, Helfrich scored when he hit to center for two bases, and was sent across the plate by Eagers single to left. Myers then trippled to right, scoring Eager Althschuler went out, pitcher to first.

Summary: Earned runs, Carolina 2, Lafayette 2. Two-base hits, Helfrick, Altschuler, Edwards. Three-base hits, Myers. Bases on balls, off Aycock 0, off Graves 0, off Fager 6. Struck out, by Aycock 6, by Graves 1, by Fager 8. Left on bases, Carolina 11, Lafayette 8. Time of game, 2:20. Umpire, Henderson.

Carolina lost to Amherst Tuesday in the first of the two with that team by the score of 5 to 2. The defeat was due to failure to hit Robinson at opportune moments and costly errors at critical stages of the game. Williams did some good stick-work, garnering a triple with his willow. Edwards fielded his position well, accepting ten chances with one error. Partenheimer for Amherst did some heavy

TRIPPERS OF LIGHT FANTASTC WORSHIP

The Easter Weekers Propitious Goddess in the Temple of Terpsichore

THERE WERE THREE SHRINES

A Large Number of Visiting Girls Added to the Pleasure and Beauty of the Time. Those Who Danced

The three Easter dances were the prettiest and most enjoyed that have ever been given on the Hill. With about seventy five couples at each dance, and the best music ever heard, they were all great successes. Young ladies from all over the State and from several other States were here with their latest style creations to grace the happy event of the week. It would be impossible to find a better looking bunch of finer dancers–they were all just grand.

The first dance was given Wednesday night by the Junior Order of the Ghimgouls. This most beautiful of dances was led by Robert Strange, Jr., assisted by Frank Drew and Lenoir Chambers.

On Thursday afternoon a Hop was given by the Sophomore Class. This is the first time in many years that Sophomores have given a dance. When the Juniors refused to give their Prom (or anything else), the the Sophs rose nobly to the occasion and offered an afternoon dance. The hall was appropriately decorated in Red and White, the class colors, and every Sophomore wore the same colors to distinguish him from the other class men. Billy Huske, Tad Lilly, and Kitty Little led the dance as well as any Senior could. On the whole this was the most pleasant dance given.

Next, on Friday neght came the German Club Dance. This as usual was the prettiest dance of the season. Will Tillet, Peyton Smith, and Bill Lord led the many figures and dances.

To borrow partly from the poet the same old lines we have used so much, let's say,

"On with the dance
Let youth and beauty dip along."

Youth and beauty were certainly there—sparkling youth—entrancing beauty. May all our dances be as full of pleasure as the Easter Dances and may every girl at future dances be the equal of the Easter Week Girl. Fare—ye—well until Commencement.

The foll wing are some of the young ladies who attended the dances:

Misses Betsey John Haywood, Betty Russ, Katherine Sherwood, Griselle Hinton, Mildred Holding, Elizabeth Johnson, Albertine Moore, Nannie Lacy Moore, of Raleigh; Misses Annie Williams, Francis Lilly, Marie Pemberton, Henry, Helen Slocumb, of Fayetteville; Misses Long, Reid, Mary Neil Mellon,

GOOD WORK BOOMING

So Says Mr. Barnett, Our Missionary to China

Below is an extract outof a letter which was recently received here from E. E. Barnett, the Y. M. C. A.'s missionary to China:

"We received a visit of two days from Dr. C. R. Henderson, w o as Barrows Lecturer is lecturing in the Far East on 'Social P ograms in the West.'' On Tuesday afternoon he delivered one of these lectures dealing with the plans emyloyed for the care of little children; the betterment of the conditions of workingmen, the improvement of the lot of women; and the general diffusion of education in Western countries.

We solicited the help of the Provinc al Commisiioner (State Superintendent) of Education, and he inserted special notices of the meeting (in addition to our paid announcements) in the daily papers and sent requests to government school principals to excuse from classes such students as might wish to attend. The Governor's representative presided over the meeting. There were about 1,000 present—mostly teachers, officials, Christian pastors, students and newspaper men, (Hangchow has thirteen daily newspapers.)

On Tuesday evening Governor Chiu and Mr. Wen, Head of the Foreign Bureau of this province, dined with us and discussed with Dr. Henderson various plans for social and civic improvements. The Governor, a strong, upright, courageous young man, (educated in Japan) is deeply interested in these questions and has already initiated a number of plans for poor relief, sanitation, popular education, industrial and otherwise, flood prevention, etc. i n this city and province.

Dr. Henderson is the representative of the American government on the International Bureau of Prison Reform. On Wednesday morning a member of the Foreign Bureau staff and the Judge of the Provincial Court came as representatives of the Governor to escort us to and through a model prison recently opened in Hangchow. I had visited it before and had been delighted to find a splendid modern prison; clean and sanitary; well disciplined; providing medical inspection and an infirmary for the sick; and furnishing to all the prisoners industrial training and regular instruction in morals.

The Foreign Affairs man who accompanied us to the prison is

SENIORS SERVE STUMPING STUNT

Wherein Local Life and Celebrities Are Honored by Pleasing Recognition

COLONEL EULESS COINS THE FILTHY

Killett, Gwendolyn, Collier, the Sage of Chapel Hill, the Baby, the Booloo's, and Others Are There

The Senior Stunt of the class of 1913, heralded by the posters with the weighty name of, "That Awful Mr. Killett," or "Gwendolyn, Get The Hooks," proved to be a fitting big part of the festivities of Easter Week. It was pulled off, or performed, shall we say, to a much crowded chapel last Thursday night. The Easter Week Girl was there, she the cynosure of all eyes, the sage of Chapel Hill was there, ready to take his annual helping along with others of a geological turn and some not. Yes, they were all there down to, or up to, if you prefer, the original charter members to the Booloo Club.

The Stunt itself was somewhat of a mixture of various elements. It resembled what the Greensboro poet called life, "mixed mess." It was a picture of college life and college celebrities in variegated colors. To describe it minutely is out of the question, for all its minuteness has been forgotten by the Tar Heel scribe, and it is only the big high places that are left. So we'll have to be content with a shot at the bright particular stars of the cast, allowing the lesser lights to reflect that, though not mentioned, they were parts of the composite whole and contributed to the general good of all.

The Bee Club, with John Busby as the chief buzz bee, greeted the big crowd first. They were all gathered around the well, cracking jokes and unwinding yarns in the typical college way. They entertained for a while and passed away, leaving in their place the mass meeting, with Fred Morrison as cheer leader. The feature of the mass meeting was an address by the old time prince of speakers, Marcus Cicero Stevens Noble, per Mitchell Ingram, Esq. Mr. Ingram, a la Mr. Noble, in his representation dwelt on everything from "the banks and braes o' bonnie doon" to "that hope, born in the days of Julius Caesar, that Carolina would some day beat Virginia.

The Stunt, we said, showed all sides of college life. Walter Stokes, then, was courting Gwendolyn, Miss Kasey, with the earnestness of all times, when the drama part commenced, and the villians, Tillett, Strange, and Shamburger came on the scene, seized our hero, gagged him, and carried off his Gwendolyn. Trouble commenced then which was finally settled only by catching of Tillett, the chief villian of them all, and his near-hanging.

For the bright particular star of the evening commend us to Mr. Boger and his delicatassen band. They came on the stage clad not in all the colors of the rainbow, but just in red and scarlet and they furnished amusement that was of a lasting kind. But in our raptures over the band, let us not forget about the Booloo Club, chiming in to their leader "We don't know,

FROM EVERY CORNER OF THE GLOBE

The High School Debating Union was a general step—and a long one, too—towards increasing the usefulness of the University to the State. The Inter-Scholastic Track Meet, which will be pulled off here shortly, is another general and good step towards securing the same end. But now comes the time of year that requires personal and specific work. These public Statewide movements have been fine for general purposes; but now we need individual work in order that the general may bear the best fruits.

The State now knows that the University has the goods to deliver and is going to deliver them. There are many boys in the State who are going to college somewhere next year, but who, although they know about the University, have not yet definitely decided where they shall go. The thing for us to do is to get hold of every last one of them that has the stuff in him and make him come here—and all that it will take to do this is just a little personal work. It will require a bit of time and trouble, but then it will be worth it. There is no use of the State maintaining an institution here for the youth of the State if the aforesaid youth are not going to use it. So let's bring the youths here to use it. Let's go out into the highways and by-ways and get all the good fellows and convert them. All that will be required for their conversion will be the facts about the place. We've got the place for them and they will be only too glad to come as soon as they know it as we do. Let's get to work on our high school friends now just before the end of their school while they are making up their minds about where to go next year.

If every one of us will work on the men from his county and town we can have here the best bunch of youngsters next year that have ever entered these ancient and classic walls.

FLIES

Now that their season of hibernation is about over, any one who is interested in the normal psychology of the house fly can find an excellent field for research work in almost any of the kitchens of the Chapel Hill boarding houses—public or private. Of course the season is not quite in full blast yet, as only the early guests have begun to arrive; but for the next two months they will be coming in ever increasing numbers. By the first of May everything will be in full blast. This year especial arrangements have been made for the comfort of the flies. They will be provided with morning baths of milk—that intended for use on corn flakes. At mid-day in lieu of the sweet milk they will be allowed the privileges of the buttermilk and the syrup baths. In the late afternoon they will receive their "For Coffee" milk bath. Every arrangement has been made for their comfort during the day. There will be regular exercise at mountain biscuit climbing, gravy swimming, cake walking, pie eating, chicken trotting, potato racing, and all the other amusements that lend so much zest to the life at summer resorts. The kitchins will be open to guests at all hours of the day.

Students who are interested in the life and activities of the fly may secure accommodations with a permit for study at the regular rates, $10 to $18 per month, American plan. We also have the European.

RUBBISH!

There ought to be some way of getting rid of the rubbish of the community without just hauling it to the woods and dumping it all over the most convenient places. As it is, the whole territory to the south of the campus between the Raleigh road, the Purefoy's Mill road, and the branch that is the principal party to the "Meeting of Waters," has become, for the most part, a glorious succession of trash piles. The walks there are no longer pleasant paths through shady woods—they are mere windings among dumps of rubbish.

Everything that pertains to the life of the community can be found there among the discards. If one desires to study clothes, there they are. If one is interested in the writings either of contemporaries or of the classic authors—there they are, everything from love letters to treatises on man and calculus. If old checks are desired, that is the place to go for them. If the kind of beverages that the students and faculty and boarding house keepers use are in question—the bottles and coffee pots lying around over the ground simply cry out with information on the subject. And the tin cans—the community has probably lived on canned goods for the last century. There it all is—all the information that one could ask for on the life and the habits of the Chapel Hillians of the present and immediately past ages.

It will certainly be a rich find for the historian who may be engaged in doing research work some five thousand years from now about the life and the habits of the people here now. But the geologist of a few millions of years hence—may the gods pity him, poor fellow! For he will never have any idea from the multifarious character of the fossils in that rock what kind of animals lived here then. Bottles, and bones, and tin cans, and iron bedsteads, and knives—what kind of animal ever had a steel protuberance just above a glass-like formation immediately beyond the end of something which has a long tail made of a streak of ferrogenous substance which was probably once a part of the dorsal tail which has since had deposited upon it certain ferrogeneous compounds from solution in superheated steam? It is doubtful whether all the inhabitants of Old Olympus could have, by putting their imaginations together, invented such an animal. And the poor geologist—!

Of course, such a careless manner of procedure as dumping the rubbish of the community indiscriminately through the woods is neither in accord with the modern ideas of sanitation or with the tenets of the ladies' "World Beautifiment Association".

*Note: This same theme has furnished the burden for the songs of former editors of the Tar Heel on numerous occasions. It is interesting to note that their effusions have usually occurred in the spring of the year. Whether this has been due to the fact that like all other young men their thoughts turned to love then and they have had to resort to walks through the woods for consolation and inspiration and there have been affronted by the unsightly rubbish, or not, we cannot say. But whatever their reasons may have been, we are one with them in the desire to see the trash properly handled and the woods preserved in their pristine beauty.

1916 WINS TRACK MEET

More Than Doubles Score of Any Other Class

In a class track meet held on Friday morning somewhat marred by a lack of entrees the Freshmen walked or rather ran away with first place taking 49½ points out of a possible 108. The Juniors, last year winners came second with 24. The Seniors by making 17 points beat the Sophs by one point who made 16. Strong, a Law student, scored 1.

Some good material showed up. "Little Pat" came in half a point of equaling Woolcotts splendid record of last year. He pulled four first places with ease. His high jump looked especialy good. He got the first place without doing anywhere near his best. Axley won all the weight throwing events although Parker came within a qnarter of an inch of tying him in the shot put. Homewood also made a good showing. Clark's work on the two mile was especially promising.

Below is tne score. First place counts 5, second 3, third 1. Two mile: Clark 5' time 11 min. 19 sec; Harrison 3; Turner 1. All Freshmen. 100 yards: DeVane 2, Junior; Smith 3; Mebane 1, Sophs. Time 10—2 Sec. High jump: Patterson 5, Freshman; Lipscomb 3, Soph; Homewood 1, Freshman.

Height 5 feet ½ inch.

Hammer throw Axley 5, Senior; Johnson 3, Freshman; Homewood 1, Freshman Distance 108 feet and 4½ inches.

880 yards: Patterson 5, Freshman: Whiting 3, Junior; Ransom 1, Junior.

Time 2 min. 9 Sec.

Discus: Axley 5, Senior; Hogan 3, Freshmen; Parker 1, Senior.

Distance 88 ft 6 inches.

Shot put: Axley 5, Senior; Parker 3, Soph; Rankin 1, Senior.

Distance 35 ft 1 in.

220 yards: Smith 5, Soph; Struthers 3, Junior; Mebane 1, Soph.

Time 24—1 sec.

Broad jump: Wright 5, Freshman; Struthers 3, Junior; Turner 1, Freshman.

Distance 20 feet 3 inches.

440 yards: Patterson 5. Freshman; Whiting 3, Junior; McDuffie 1, Freshman.

Time 53—4 sec.

Pole vault: Homewood 5½, Freshman; Ransom 3½, Junior.

Height 9 ft, 2 in.

Mile: Patterson 5, Freshman; Ransom 3, Junior, Strong 1, Law.

SOPHOMORES MOP UP

And Defeat Devotees of Blind God 17 to 0

The Sophs literally "mopped-up" with the Juniors Monday afternoon when they won their second game by the score of 17 to 0. It was worse than the Freshmen beat the Juniors.

The first inning was a second Soph. banquet. In this inning, 15 of the runs were made After this Ransom succeeded in holding the "Bloody Sophs", down to only two more runs.

The most sensational play of the game was the catch by Moore, of 1615, of a long hit that looked good for a homer.

Ransom and Angel were the battery for 1914. Lipscomb and Mebane slang the sphere for 1915 while "Little Ab" was behind the bat.

MR. MOSS TO Y M. C. A.

On "Reputation, and the Kingdom of Heaven."

Rev. Moss delivered the last regular Tuesday Y. M. C. A. talk. His subject was, "Repent, for the kingdom of Heaven is at hand." He started his talk by stating that we know more about the Bible today than has ever been known before.

He declared that the only way to experience the full Christian life is to repent. He admitted that the Church has limitations and that in many things it has fallen short, but the Church never the less does supply the Emotional side of a man's nature necessary for his best development.

The religious zeal leading to repentance must not be through fear but with the mind. Then he gave his idea of what the Kingdon of Heaven is. The Kingdom of Heaven is a place in which the men who do and create have as much a place and part as those more Religious in a narrow sence.

MODERN ALCHEMISTS MEET

To Discuss Commercial Chemical Subjects

The Chemists heard four interesting papers at their meeting on the twenty fourth. Mr. Struthers presented a review of an article on the manufactoring of filter paper. Mr. Killeffer followed with a review of an article on a new process for the determination of Carbon in iron rnd steel which takes half time previous required. Mr. Flume's paper on mine-glasses was very interesting and instructive. The final paper of the evening was a discription of a new chamber process for the manufacture of Sulphuric Acid by Mr. Venable. This paper occasioned very lively discussion amomg various members present.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

slugging.

Carolina scored her two runs in the eighth inning. K. Bailey was safe when second fumbled the ball. He was forced out at second by Zollicoffer, who was in turn forced out by Leak. Edwards was safe when right muffed his fly, Leak going to third and Edwards to second. Thompson walked, filling the bases. Leak and Edwards scored when second fumbled Williams grounder. H. Baily fanned.

Amherst scored one run in the fifth, and three runs in the eight. In the third Kimball walked and scored on Partenheimer's double to left. In the fifth Amherst again put a runner over the plate when Kimball bounced one off left field fence for two bases. Partenheimer was safe on Edwards' fumble. Kimball went to third on play, and scored when Strahan flew out to deep center. The next two men were easy outs. In the eight Partenheimer beat out a slow one to the infield. Strahan sacrificed, pitcher to first. Partenheimer advanced to third on Washburn's out. Swasey took second. Williamson singled to left, scoring Swasey, and went to second on throw in. Goodsidge singled to left, scoring Williamson, and was put out at second trying to stretch the hit.

sir, you see we're fresh, sir" and rolling around in his own carriage a big bouncing boy, he the "first-born of the class of 1913--and our honored bursar, Mr. J. A. Warren." Then, too, as "Collier" and as "Horace", Robert Strange, Jr. and Clyde Kelly won fame of the undying kind. Their proofs that all Orange county rocks were made from volcanic ejectamenta, and that because a thing can't be both here and there, can't be either here or there, and therefore there can't be any such thing as reality anywhere in the big world, these proofs were enough to draw a one plus on igneous rocks or on second Philosophy.

Summing up the Senior Stunt as a whole we will have to admit that it is almost indescribable. But it was good. Yes, it was great. It was fine. Why? Because the Easter Girl said so? That's one reason. Because the crowd cheered? That's one reason. But quit your kiddin' and tell why you said it was great. This is it-- Doctor Euless, he of the red headed business fame, you know him, was manager of the Stunt--and Doctor Euless deposes and swears--that the profits to the class from the Stunt were over one hundred dollars. That means--That there will be no class assessment on the Seniors this Spring. Hurrah for 1913 and its first and last great Senior Stunt!

A. & M. FARMERS BEATEN, 80 TO 36

Nat Cartmell's Bunch Runs Away from Opponents in First Meet

PHILIP WOOLLCOTT IS THE INDIVIDUAL STAR

He Wins Three Firsts While Spence Wins Two. A. & M, Wins Only Four Events out of Thirteen

In the first meet of the season Carolina showed a most promising track team by overwhelming A. and M. in Raleigh Saturday, April 5, 80 to 36. From the first event there was never any doubt as to the out-come; the only question was the size of the score. Nat Cartmell's boys ran, jumped, vaulted, heaved, and threw with a skill and an endurance that swept their Farmer opponents off their feet. Out of the thirteen events the White and Blue of Carolina showed first in nine, in seven events Carolina ran first and second; and in the half mile, Spence, Whiting, and Ranson finished in the order named without serious opposition.

Woollcott stands out as the biggest point winner. He won the high hurdles and the high jump, tied for first place with Struthers in the low hurdles, and finished third in the broad jump. Close benind him in individual skill was Spence with first place in the half and in the mile. "Baby" Sears had things his own way in the 100 and ran second to Caliborne Smith in the 220.

Smith's performance was the best of the new men and he promises to show better work later on. Wrignt a Freshman, took second in both jumps and at that he was not up to his best form.

Captain Floyd of A. M. won both the hammer throw and the shot put. His distance of 120 ft. 6 1-4 inches for the hammer was excepional. A. and M. 's other fitsts came from Briggs' broadjump and Nichol's quarter.

The crowd was not what it should have been.

1-mile—Spence, Carolina, first; time, 4 56 3-5. Roberts and Nash, A and M.

1-4 mile—Nichols, A. and M., first. Time, 55 sec.; H. Patterson, Carolina, and Jennette, A. and M.

High hurdles—Woollcott, Carolina, first; time, 18 sec.; Struthers, Carolina; Howell, A. and M.

100.yd. dash—Sears, Carolina, first; time, 10 2-5 sec.; DeVane, Carolina; Nichols, A.and M.

2-mile—E. Patterson, Carolina, first; time, 10. 54; Smith and Harris, A. and M.

1-2 mile—Spence, Carolina, first; time, 2. 12; Whitning and Ransom, Carolina.

Low hurdles-Woollcott and Struthers, Carolina; tie for first; time, 28 1-5; Pothter, A. and M.

220-yards—Smith, Carolina first; time, 24 sec.; Sears, Carolina; Hine, A. and M.

Shot-put—Floyd, A. and M., 36 ft. 7 in.; Axley and Parker, Ca olina.

Vault—Strong and Blalock, Carolina; tie for first 10 ft.; Ethridge, A. and M., and Homewood, Carolina third.

H. C. LONG MANAGER

Mebane and Pruden Elected Assistants in Basketball

At a poorly attended Athletic Association meeting Tuesday H. C. Long, Jr. was almost unanimously elected mrnager of next year's basketball team over his opponent "Ratty" Ranson. G. A. Mebane and W. D. Pruden Jr. were elected assistants,

George Carrington proposed two amen ments which are intended to change the method of electing athletic team managers. Instead of limiting the candidates to former assistant managers it is proposed to make any Senior or Post-graduate who is a member of the Association eligible. These amendments will be voted upon at the next meeting.

The Association endorsed practically unanimously the proposition of establishing a compulsory athletic fee. The Greater Council is behind the movement.

PROFESSOR HOLMES WILL SPEAK

On Thursday and Friday, April 17th and 18th the University will have the opportunity of hearing Joseph A. Holmes, Director of Mines at Washington, and for many years Professor of Geology here at the University. On Thursday night Professor Holmes will speak before the Elisha Mitchell Society; on Friday night he will speak in Gerrard Hall under the auspices of the Faculty Committee on Lectures on the subject of the Panama Canal. He will illustrate both lectures with lantern slides. Professor Holmes is a master in his field and and his talks should be interesting.

WHAT! AN INTERESTING GLASS GAME!

The Juniors and Seniors played a ball game a week or so ago and each side made runs until they got tired, only the Seniors got tired first. A few days later the Meds and Pharmacy had a game just like it, only more so. But for a real classy class game take the Fresh-Soph game last Saturday. For eight innings the score sew-sawed back and forth to come to rest at 5 to 5. In their half of the ninth the Freshes counted once. Then Lipscomb got on, stole second—and died on home trying to score on a single. The game ended 6 to 5. Edgerton's stick work was a feature. The two pitchers, Royster for the Freshmen, and Lipscomb for the Sophs, both pitched a steady game.

FIVE GYM SWEATERS WON

At the annual try-out for N.C. sweaters for proficiency in the gymnasium held April 4, five men qualified and will receive the Varsity insignia from the Athletic Council. Those men are Peyton Smith, Fred Morrison, and L. L. Shamburger all Seniors, and Ted Lilly and C. L. Isley, Sophomores.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS ELECTED

At the regular annual business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night the following officers were elected for next year. President, J. E. Holmes; Vice-President, H. S. Willis; Secretary, R. C. Spence. Treasurer, J. A. Holmes.

TEAM IS READY FOR THE VIRGINIA GAMES

Crowds in Greensboro and Raleigh Expected to Fill Athletic Treasury

TAR HEEL HOPES CENTER ON AYCOCK

He and Graves Will Face the Virginians. The Team Has Shown Great Hitting Strength

On Friday, April 11, Carolina meets Virginia in Greensboro and on Saturday April 12, the scene of battle will be transferred to Raleigh. The Virginia games are at hand and the crest of the season is reached.

The usual tremendous crowds are expected. Greensboro has always furnished the biggest crowd and this year will be no exception. The annual excursion train will be run from Chapel Hill and intervening towns. It will leave Chapel Hill at 8 A. M. The round trip fare is $1.50

Raleigh is making every effort to out strip Greensboro in the attendance. This is the first year that a Carolina-Virginia game has been played in Raleigh and the Capitol City is on a trial. Charlotte and Winston-Salem were foresaken because they did not furnish enough people. The Carolina Glee Club will give a concert at the Auditorium and afterwards there will be a big dance with free tickets distributed to University men.

The team has rounded into splendin form for these all-important games. From a raw organization at the first of the season, handicapped by an inexperienced battery, the team has developed slowly into one that will compare favorably with any previous Tar Heel aggregation. In steadiness and team work wonderful improvements have been made. The hitting ability has always been present, and now that it is being more scientifically directed, improvements may be expected. The pitching staff has shown itself capable of checking opposing batters. Aycock, an unknown class team pitcher at the beginning of the season, promises to rank alongside of Red Stewart and Raymond Lee. His no-hit game against Trinity and his two-hit game against Davidson proved his worth. He will probably be Carolina's choice for the opening game in Greensboro. Graves and Craven are the other two possibilities with Graves showing the better form. He is almost certain to face Virginia in one of the games.

Behind the bat Julian Hart will hold sway. He has improved since the first game and is a hard working catcher, while his hitting has always been prominent.

The infield with Leak, Bailey, Williams and Captain Edwards looks air-tight and all have been hitting the ball hard, Captain Edwards in particular. The outfield presents a rare combination of hitting and fielding strength. Bailey in center is as good a man on a fly ball as Jim Hackney or Thad Page ever was. "Shag" Thompson is fielding well and stinging the

THREE GAMES RIGHT

Davidson Succumbs Twice and V. M. I. Once

Aycock's pitching was too much for Davidson and Carolina won in Charlotte Saturday, 4 to 1. While Davidson's three pitchers yielded only six hits, they came along with passes and errors. Carolina did not display much energy, but did take advantage of most of her chances.

Only once did Aycock get in a hole. In the second, Crayton's bounder jumped over William's head and Crayton went on to second when Thompson fumbled in left. Witherington and Brown drew passes, filling the bases. Kluttz hit to short and Edwards threw wild to home, allowing Crayton to score. The next two batters were easy. The only other hit off Aycock came in the ninth and it did no harm.

In Carolina's half of the second with two down Thompson hit a hard drive to center. Fast fielding might have cut it down to a single, but the ball rolled past Whitner and Thompson circled the bases. Another run was added in the third. Aycock walked and after Baily went out, Leak walked also. Edward's drive to short was fumbled long enough to allow Aycock to score.

In the fourth Thompson's grounder was booted. Hart's sacrifice advanced him and Baily's clean single to center brougt him home. Davidson substituted Osteen for Marrow in the fifth after Aycock and Baily had walked. Two passed balls advanced Aycock to third and home for the final run. Bell replaced Osteen and stopped the scoring. He showed the best form of the trio.

Aycock pitched steadily after the second inning and was never in trouble. Williams fielded cleanly and made one pretty stab. Hart threw out the only attempted stealer.

Carolina ran away from V. M. I. Tuesday and won as she pleased, 12 to 5. The Virginia boys put up but little defencive against the slugging of the Tar Heels, and errors at critical times helped raise the score. Craven, in the box for Carolina, made no effort to puzzle tne batsmen, but simply floated the balls over to them. The Carolina outfield consequently had plenty of work, and Bailey and Thompson pulled down several long ones.

V. M. I. started out with two runs in the second inning on two errors and a double by McCormick. Their other three runs came in the eight inning on hits by Bryan, Graham, and Clarkson and a sacrifice sly.

Carolina sent four runners across in the second inning on two errors a sacrifice and safe drives by Johnson, Craven and Leak. In the fourth Knowles hit safely, Craven sacrificed and Bailey's single brought in the run. Bailey scored on a wild throw to third. In the fifth two errors by McCormick and a wild throw by Gillespie, coupled by hits by Johnson and Williams brought three more runners home The final three runs came in the eight on an error, a hit batsman, and singles by Edwards, Johnson, and Williams. Johnson for Carolina hit safely four times out of five times at bat. Pitts catching of fouls featured for V. M. I.

FIRST ANNUAL INTER-SCHOLASTIC MEET

One Hundred Young Athletes Will Contest For Cups and Medols

GREATER COUNCIL IS DOING GREAT WORK

Meet Will be on Even Larger Scale Than the Recent High School Debating Union

The State High School track meet to be held here Friday will be a fitting sequel to the debate of last month. This meet has been made possible by the action of the Greater Council and the personal work of Capt. Patterson and Coach Cartmell. The contestants, of whom between 125 and 150 are expected, will be roomed throughout the college and will be boarded by the Greater Council. The students, Facualty, and Alumni have been asked to contribute towards the expenses which are rather heavy. There will be three cups awarded, one for any team securing the greatest number of points, another for the winning State High School of this district, and the third for the winning relay team. The plan is to make the meet an annual affair as the point cup must be won three times by the same school to permit perminant ownership. Medals will be given for first and second places, making twenty in all.

The following places are sending teams for the scholastic meet. Raleigh, Greensboro, Goldsboro, High Point, Hillsboro, Huntersville, Graham, Burlington, Friendship, Horner, and Bingham of Mebane.

As before explained in the Tar Heel, the meet of the schools of this district supported by State aid will be at the same time also. In the absence of Prof. Walker it is not possible to state definitely what schools will be represented. For the Declamation Contest to be held in connection with this Friday night there are eight contestants.

There will be ten events: 100 yard dash, 220 yard run, 880 yard run, one mile run, 120 yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, 12 pound shot, 12 pound hammer.

Score;	R.H.E

Carolina	.. 0 4 0 2 3 0 0 3 x - 9 11 3

Batteries- J. Pitts and L. Pitts; Craven and Knowles.

In the last contest before the Virginia games Carolina kept up her heavy hitting and drove two pitchers from the box, winning from Davidson, 11 to 1. Bell, who last Saturday held the Tar Heels well in hand, lasted less than two innings while Osteen served about the same time. Wolfe showed better form, but he was hit hard in the fifth and eight. Graves pitched steadily for Carolina and was invincible in pinches. Davidson's lone run came in the second on Crayton's double and two infield outs.

Carolina jumped into Bell for four runs in the first inning. A hit batsman, a base on balls, singles by Johnson and Thompson, and a long triple by Bailey H. did the work.

TWO RED LETTERS

Friday we mark two red letters on our calendar. One is for the first baseball game this season with our old rival of the Dominion State; and the other is for the first great inter-scholastic track meet held in the state—and held under the auspices of the students of the University.

The annual recurrence of the Virginia game at Greensboro is always looked forward to by the people of two states and by the students of two great educational institutions. In many ways it determines the success or failure of the season so far as we are concerned, for most of the Tar Heels had rather lick Virginia than to eat; as well as they like to perform that plesant and satisfying function. To view the game, besides the mere male portion of the state that always attends, there is always a large section of bleachers filled with the old timed, ante—bellnm galaxy of Southern beanty about which we have heard so much, (It is sincerely hoped that the reader, especially the young one, will take the above dubious sounding sentence in the way it was intended, viz. as a compliment. The editor did not realize that it had a possible double meaning for the malicious until after he had written it.)

But the other red letter stands for something even more vital to us (if such a thing is conceivable) than a Virginia game. The interscolastic track meet which will be held here is another advance made along the same general line as the Debating Union which came to such a successful conclusion here recently with the representatives of nineteen schools debating here for the Aycock Memorial Cup. The debates brought here the young debaters under the auspicies of two of the oldest literary societies in the United States and under the auspicies of two, also, that have as enviable a record as any in the nation. Now we are to have a track meet—the one branch of athletics in which we conspicuously excell—of the high schools and prep schools of the state held here on the Hill. This meet is of vital importance and significance to us because it brings to us so many of the good men in the schools - the fellows who are doing something - and helps them and us to get together with many possibilities for benefit to both.

We are glad to have them here as guests, and hope soon to see them full fledged citizens of the community

THE ELECTION OF EDITORS

Under the constitution of the Athletic Association as it now stands all nominations for positions on the board of editors of the Tar Heel must be made by the Athletic Council of the student body. For associate editors the Council is required to nominate men to at twice the number that are to be elected. This provision, in view of the haste and carelessness that was manifested in these electians prior to its adoption, we think is a good one. Before the adoption of the present method someone would get up at a meeting of the Association after the meeting had been dragging along for a couple of hours and after some ten or twenty elections had already been pulled off and a dozen or two motions, ammendments, and bills had been engineered to a successful or disastrous termination, and there nominate six or eight students upon the spur of the moment for positions on the board of editors of The Tar Heel. Someone else would second all the names or add about one other and then the whole thing would go through without any thought. But that has been done away with by the present system. This part of the present method is good. But there is another part of it that we desire to call to the attention of the student body and more especially to the attention of the members of the Athletic Association, that we believe to be bad. That is the method of the election of the editor-in-chief of the paper.

The present provisions for his election are that the Athletic Council shall nominate at least two men for this position. These two men must have served at least one year on the Tar Heel previously. From these nominees presented to the Association by the Council the Association elects the editor-in-chief. We believe that this system should be changed for four principal reasons

First, One year's prior service on The Tar Heel is not at all necessary to fill the position of editor-in-chief. We know this from our experience on the paper. This requirement as a prerequisite to being editor-in-chief is merely a useless restriction that may prove pernicious by keeping a better man out of the job - and a man whom the student body prefer.

Second, It enables the Council to practially elect from the board of editors the one whom it prefers for editor-in-chief of the paper. By so doing it becomes in part a self-perpetuating body since the editor-in-chief is a member ex officio of the Council. The Council is not required to nominate more than two men for the position so by knowing the status of the various men in college the Council can nominate two men for the position with the certainty that the Association will elect a certain desired one of those two. It can gonern the final selections by governing the possible selections.

Third, The position of editior-in-chief of the college paper is a too important one to allow it to be subject to possible private manipulations. We believe that in the great majority of cases the men elected to the council will act with absolute integrity and sincerity. But there are bad posibilities in the system. And anyhow, the postion is important enough that the Association should elect the men open and directly.

Fourth, The present system may cause the election of a not so efficient man. Under this system the editor-in-chief is virtually elected at the end of his Sophomore year; for the elections of those associate editors are made then from whom usually either two or three rising Juniors— the editor-in-chief must be elected in the spring of the next year for the following year. This often, always, in fact, puts out of the race any good man who failed of election in his Sophomore year. If a man in his Junior year begins to show great ability and is desired by the college for the next years editor, under the present system he cannot be elected if he was not elected in his sophomore year as an associate editor.

We should like to see the present method of election changed to one by which the Association could elect the man whom they preferred, simply and directly without having to govern their choice by the choices of other men and without having the canidates limited by unnecessary prerequisites.

A summer training camp will be conducted at Chapel Hill under the supervision of Head Coach Trenchard beginning June 1st. and ending September 1st.

Men who have entering conditions to work off; those who have failed in the preceding year's work; those who wish to lessen the next year's course by doing some advance work or reduce the usual number of years necessary for a course; and who desire to employ their summer vacation for mental and physical development, will be greatly benefitted.

There will be preliminary training in football, baseball, track, tennis, and gymnasium; lectures on football, baseball and tennis matches and special work in other branches for those who desire it.

The use of the University equipment and fields insures the best working conditions. There will be no charge for the regular athletic work.

This training camp is but another evidence of new spirit in Carolina athletics. Coach Trenchard is on his job all the time.

Big Sunday School Conventions to Meet There

The program for the North Carolina Sunday School Convention, to be held in Greensboro, April 22-24, is nearing completion, and promises to be one of much interest and helpfulness.

Three speakers of international reputation have been booked for this convention in addition to the splendid array of home talent to be used.

A large, new warehouse with a seating capacity of three thousand has been secured for the regular sessions and a large platform will be built to seat a chorus choir of three hundred voices.

Messrs. Tullar and Meredith, the well known music composers and publishers of New York City, will have charge of the music, which insures life to this department.

Who are delegates? The counties can send two delegates for each township in the county, though they do not need to be elected by townships, but can come from any part of the county that seems most convenient.

Each Sunday School of all denominations can send two delegates. They can be pastors and superintendents, or two others volunteering, elected, or appointed, and should more desire to come from larger schools they will be taken care of as long as there is room.

Colleges and High Schools can send two for every fifty students.

All who expect to attend should send their names to the North Carolina Sunday School Association, or to C. C. McLean, Chairman of Committee on Entertainment, Greensboro, N. C., that homes may be provided as early as possible.

As a specialty is to be made of the Secondary Division, there should be a number of delegates sent from classes of teen ages, so send some bright boys and girls.

HE MYSTIFIES AND VENTRILOQUIZES

The mighty Walden, master of the world of magic and wonder, closed the series of Star courses in Gerrard Hall Wednesday night. A fairly large huse was present to see him pull off the same sleight - of-hand,and ventriloquistic stunts that no one else can do—except that guy who pulled the same eggs and bottle of rye out of P. Gwynn's pocket last year.

The performance was rather good, though, taken all in all, and afforded an enjoyable two hour's entertainment. Many Freshmen and Seniors had the opportunity of making the acquaintance of Wellington, Napoleon, and Woodrow; and of hearing Teddy make one of his characteristic speeches on putting the bosses out of politics.

DR. CROTHERS PLEASES

The Pleasures of an Absentee Landlord

The fourth of the lectures to be given before the students under the funds provided last fall by the Trustees was delivered in Gerrard Hall Friday night by Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers, the Cambridge essayist.

The subject of Dr. Crothers address was: "The Pleasures of an Absentee Landlord". Dr. Henderson in introduced the speaker related an anecdote of his worshiping God one Sunday at the seashore - "picking shells on Itasca beach". Dr. Crothers had those shells with others added to them to show to the inagination of his audience Friday. night and a splendid collection of most delicate and exquisite colors it was.

The theme of his address was a plea for the simple, sensuous, genuine pleasure that we get out of reading quaint old books. For man of us, he said, the business of reading has not become altogether natural and easy. The great satisfaction of the obsentee landlord in the literary world is that he gets all the enjoyment of his place without assuming its responsibilities. "I haven't anything against my comtemporaries nor against the 20th century, but I confess that if I had to live among them all the time I should be bored to death. It is a great relief for us to get away sometime - to get away from our newspapers, from our problems, and from our personalities. To choose some period of the past like one would choose a summer home, some period to which one likes to return, is one of the enjoyments of the absentee landlord. It dosen't matter much what period we choose, except that it be one with certain people in it.

Bringing us into immediate, natural and human relation to the people who have worked and lived in other times is all that literature is.

It is the little things, the little events, that count. We dont get anything when we generalize. One of the most important things to do, if we wish to enter the intellectual life of any age in the past, is to enter it in the same spirit that we live in our own day. In making these little discoveries in any age of the past, the absentee landlord finds the night perspective for his own life.

TRENCHARD STARTS FOOTBALL CLASS

Coach Trenchard's first class on football instruction held in the Y. M. C. A. Monday night was well attended. The rules of the game along with the new changes were taken up and discussed.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Technical Medicine and Hygiene offers unexceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and eq few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

Prizes for Football Proficiency

In order to add a little zest to the spring football practice by creating a bit of friendly rivalry among the men who are out and at the same time offering some inducement for harder work, Coach Trenchard has decided to give five sweaters as prizes for the best work done in punting, drop kicking, passing. catching, and tackling by men who will be back in college next year. Sometime in May there will be held a contest and the person who succeeds in booting the pigskin for the greatest distance will be given a sweater. The best drop kicker, the best passer, and the best catcher will receive one also. At the same time there will be a tackling touruament in which the person who does the best work will receive a twin sweater to the others. Those who are interested can see Coach Trenchard for further information regarding the conditions and the time of the contest.

Again in the second Leak and Edwards hit safely and Johnson's three base drive scored them. Johnson himself came home on William's single.

In the fourth Johnson doubled to left and scored when Thompson's long fly was muffed. H. Bailey's hit brought Johnson home. Leak added another in the fifth when he scored on Edwards' two bagger. The final count in the eighth resulted from hits by Edwards and Johnson and an infield out.

In spite of five errors Carolina fielded sharply, Edwards in particular handling difficult grounders. He also starred with the stick, getting two doubles and a single, while Johnson led with two singles, a double, and a triple. Graham played well for Davidson. Crayton at first had only one put—out and no assists.

Contrary to their first expectations the Glee Club and Orchestra will not give a performance in Raleigh Saturday night after the Carolina-Virginia game. The performance has been called off on account of a competing show that will be there on that night, and on account of other things that also militated against the arrangements.

FIRST ANNUAL INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET WON BY HIGH POINT HIGH SCHOOL

Nearly One Hundred Young Athletes Contest Together and Make the Meet a Grand Success. Friendship Wins Division Meet

The first annual interscholastic track meet of the University of North Carolina was won by High Point School on Friday the 11th, with Friendship School of Alamance County second and Horner School third. The annuel meet of the county schools of the east-central district held at the same time, was won by Friendship. Cary was second and East Durham third.

From every point of view this first attempt at a scholastic meet was a splendid success and it reflects much credit on the Greater Council and the track department under whose supervision all arraingements were made and every detail caraied out. Immediately after the High School Debating Union's debate was held here with such encouraging sucess, the Greater Council saw the possibilities of an interscholastic track meet worked out on the same general principles Plans were begun; and togather with Coach Cartmell and Captain Patterson, and Manager Stokes of the track team perfected every arrangement. The young athletes were gived rooms in the different dormitories and their entertainment was entirely in the hands of the students. The Alumni, the faculty and the students all contributed to to help defray the expenses and to buy the handsome medals and cups given to the winners. Nearly a hundred athletes competed togather and their excellent performances made the meet an unqualified success. High Point's victory was due to the work of Hoffman and Barton who between them corraled 21 points. Friendship's 17 points earned second place over Horner's 19. Raleigh was close on their heels with 15, and Greensboro had 12. Graham made 7, Huntersville 6, Goldsboro 3, Hillsboro 3, Bingham 2, and Jamestowh 1.

In the county school division Friendship won easily with 33 points. Cary, who was represented by only one man, Green but his work was the most impressive of either meet. He won the 100-yard dash, the 220, the broad-jump and the shot-put and was second in the hammow-throw. His broad-jump of 20 feet and 9 inches ranks along with any college performance in the State.

Other notable performances were the pole-vault, tied by Mills and Bowen of Raleigh at 9 feet 7 inches; the high-jump of B. Isley at 5 feet 5 ¼ inches; the half-mile, won by Ranson of Huntersville in 2 minutes and 14 seconds, and the quarter of Moser in 56 3 5 seconds. The last was all the more creditable since Moser had run the mile just a few minutes before. The relay race for the championship of the state was won by Friendship, with Goldsboro second, Horner third and High Point fourth.

The Friendship boys, who made such a fine showing, always do well in track. They won the division county High School meet in Greensboro last year. Among the well-known athletes developed there are Captain Earl Patterson and young Hazel Patterson and Homewood, all of Carolina.

Hoffman of High Point who won the 220 and hurdles and came second in the broad jump, is a brother of Joe Hoffman, one of the best track men Carolina has ever had. All the Chapel Hill youngsters rooted for Hutchins, their sole represenative. He came second in the 220 and in the 100.

Below follows the complete list of events:

Interscholastic events: 100-yard dash-Klingman of Horner first; Perry of Graham second, Allen of Goldsboro third, Wyrick of Greensboro fourth. Time, 11 seconds.

220-yard dash- Hoffman of High Point first, McAlister of Greensboro second, Williams of Graham third, Morphew of Horner fourth, time, 24 3-5 seconds.

120 yard low hurdles-Hoffman of High Point first, Holding of Hornor second, Cousar of Bingham third; time, 17 seconds.

YOUNGSTERS DECLAIM

A. C Reid of Churchland High School Wins

The third annual declaimers contest of the east central division of state high schoo's was held at 8 o'clock in the evening April 11 in Gerrard Hall. Representatives of nine schools participated in the contest, and the competition was very sharp. Professor W. S. Bernard presided.

On the program Friendship High School was represented by Lafayette Isley, whose subject was: Beyond the Alps Lies Italy. Hawfield High School by Albert Gibson; subject: Give me Liberty or Give me Death. Biscoe High School by J. L. Maness; subject: Sparticus to the Roman Envoys at Etruria. E. Durham High School by Aubrey Wiggins; subject: Signing of the Declaration. Churchland High School by A. C. Reid: subject: The New North. Sylvan High School by D. H. Lashley; subject: Centralization in the United States Jamestown High School by Percy Groome; subject: We Shall Restore, Not Destroy. Stem High School by Bacon Hardee; subject: The Blue and the Gray. Cary High School by M. G. Eatman; subject: The Occasion and the Demand.

The judges of the contest, Pres. F. P. Venable, Dr. H. W. Chase, and Professor Collier Cobb, gave their decision to Mr. A. C. Reid of Churchland High School.

After the presentation speech of Dr. Venable Walter Stokes announced from the rostrum the winners in the Interscholastic Track meet. Later in the evening a reception was given in the Y. M. C. A. in honor of the debaters and the track men.

THE TRIANGULAR DEBATES SATURDAY

Carolina, Virginia, and Hopkins Meet Each Other on Neutral Ground

VIRGINIA AND HOPKINS DEBATE HERE

Taylor and Busby Will Meet Virginia in Baltimore; Graham and Tillett Against Hopkins

The triangular debates between Carolina, Virginia, and John Hopkins will take Saturday night, April 19. Carolina meets Virginia in Baltimore and Johns Hopkins in Charlottesville. Here in Chapel Hill the University will have the honor of hearing Virginia and Johns Hopkins. The query is the same in all cases: "Resolved, That without regard to the obligations of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty the tolls of the Panama Canal should be the same for the merchant vessals of all nations.

Against Virginia Carolina will be represented by W. F. Taylor and J. C. Busby who will uphold the negative side of the question. Against Johns Hopkins in Charlottesville Frank P. Graham and W. S. Tillett will fight for the affirmative. These are the men who won out in the preliminaries four weeks ago. Since that time they have worked without ceasing on the final details of their speeches. The fine points of team work and the preperations of rejoinders have all been completed and everything is in readiness.

The debate between Virginia and John Hopkins will take place in Gerrard Hall begining at 8 o'clock. Hopkins with the affirmative will be represented by Messrs. Leo Walman and Lindsay Rogers. The Virginia debaters are Messrs. Henry Hayman Kanter and Charles Maurice Durrance. With the interesting query and speakers of high ability there is every prospect of a big audience.

The judges will be members of the faculty: Drs. C. L. Raper and J. G. deR. Hamilton, Professors E. K. Graham and H. H. Williams, and Dean L. P. McGehee of the Law Department.

TEAM IS OFF TO VIRGINIA

The baseball team will leave Chapel Hill Thursday for a three game trip into Virginia. On Friday the 18th they take another shot at Virginia. On Saturday they go on up to Lexington and strike Washington and Lee and V. M. I. on the 19th and the 21st. The chances are that Aycocok will again face Virginia and he will likely be opposed by the south paw Grant who pitched the last two innings in Greensboro. Graves will then be sent against Washington and Lee and Aycock back against V. M. I. The team seems to be in tip top condition right now and should get away with all three games.

John Hall Manning represented the local chapter of the Zeta Psi fraternity at the recnt convention in Boston.

BAILEY AND AYCOCK LIFT THE GREENSBORO JINX AND N. C. WINS, 5 TO 4

Virginia Beaten in an Exciting Game. Bailey's Three-Bagger Puts It on Ice and Aycock's Superb Pitching Keeps It There

Hubert Bailey's three base smash with the bases full broke up the Virginia game in Greensboro Monday and at the same time lifted that jinx which from the time immemorial has withheld Carolina from victory in Cone Park. Facing a lead of two runs garnered in the first inning Carolina bided her time and in the third the break came. When the dust had settled and the shouting and tumult had died away, five runners had crossed the home plate and the victory was in sight.

Then it was that young Mr. Aycock showed the Old Dominion boys what pitching was. He knew that he had to hold that lead and hold it he did. In the fifth they slipped one run across on him and in the seventh they got another, but he never lost his head. He had the old curve ball breaking the corners and behind him the team was fielding in big league style. In the eighth Virginia had a man on second and none down. It looked squally, but the little Governor was at his best and sailed out to clear water. In the ninth just to show them how much he did have he struck out the first two batters and caused the third to fly out.

It was a great Carolina—Virginia game and for thrills will rank along with the best of them. The crowd numbered around 3,000, not so many as in former years because of the various postponements. When rain butted in at Greensboro on the 11th and again at Raleigh's game on the 12th, it looked as though the two teams would never come together and the Athletic Association began looking around for a receiver. But Graduate Manager McLendon persuaded Virginia to stay over on the chance that sun would shine Monday. It was a wise move. The crowd showed all kinds of enthusiasin and White and Blue pennants were there in abundance. When Carolina rushed ahead in the third, a grand demonstration took place. The grandstand, bleachers, and side lines rose en masse and their victorious shouts sounded all the more glorious after the lean years.

With the exception of one bad inning Pitcher Neff handled the situation pretty well for Virginia and pulled out of several holes in his seven innings. In the eighth Grant replaced Neff, the latter going to short in place of White. In his two innings Grant pitched to but six men.

Aycock did not start off auspiciously. Finley, who played a great game, drove one of his first offerings through short and stole second on the next pitch. Phillips was passed and Neff advanced both runners with a sacrifice. Lile came across with a hot liner down the third base line and both runners scored.

The game was put on ice in the third inning. Karl Bailey started off with a clean single and Leak walked. Edwards hit over Neff's head and every body was safe. A mighty cry went up when Johnson came to the bat. Neff kept his head and his sharp breaking curves fanned Carolin's best slugger. But his curves broke too fast with Williams, one of them catching him on the knee and sending him to first while Baily strolled home. With three men still on Thompson drove to short. The play was made to catch Williams at second, but he beat the throw. Leak scored and still the bases were soused. Hubert Baily was the man of the hour. He caught a fast one squairly and lined it out. Edwards, Williams, and Thompson romped home and Baily stopped at third. Pandemorium broke loose.

Virginia played desperately after that and was always dangerovs. In the fifth a hit batsman and Finley's single brought one across. Again in the seventh the irrepressible Finley drove a legitimae singlte to left. By great speed and a Ty Cobb slide he stretched it to a double. Phillip's hit counted him. The best chance to tie the score came in the eighth and Aycock never showed to better advantage. With a runner on second and none out, Beckwith's racrifice sent him to third. But there was nothing doing. Stickly popped up and Green fanned.

Aycock put everything he had on the ball in the ninth and fanned Grant. Finley who had previously hit safely three times went by the same rout. The crowd called for a third strike-out on Phillips, but with two strikes against him he lifted a long fly to Bailey and the game was won.

The work of Williams at third, Thompson in left and Bailey in center had much to do with Carolina's victory. Bailey hauled in several long drives. Stickley at third was easily the star for Virginia and his brilliant stops cut down the number of hits. Finley led both teams in batting with a double and two singles.

THE ELECTION OF MANAGERS

At the last meeting of the Athletic Association an amendment to the constitution was offered providing that instead of the present method of electing the managers of the various athletic teams viz., from two assistants who are elected in their sophomore year, the managers shall be elected in open meeting of the Association with no prerequisites for their election except that they be members of the Association, and be seniors or graduate students during the year of their terms of office as managers. Under the present system two assistant managers for each team are elected at some time during their sophomore year. These serve for one year as assistants. The next year one of them must be elected manager of the team. Under the proposed plan this one year's service as an assistant would not be necessary in order that a man might be elected manager, and the men eligible for election would not be confined to two.

The proposed change is a rather important matter and should be considered carefully before adoption, as the manager of a team not only holds that position but is also, ex officio, a member of the Athletic Council. This amendment together with one providing for a change in the method of electing the editor - in chief of the Tar Heel will come up at the next meeting of the Association for passage or rejection. We hope that both will pass as we believe that both are good. But about the proposed chauge in the system of electing the managers.

In theory the old way is that two men shall receive training as assistants managers and that then one of these shall just step in with this experience and run things. In practice the proposed change is about the same as the old method so far as experience goes, for though the theory was that these assistants received experience and training the paoctice was that they did not. The manager did it all. Yet the Association can only select the manager from these two, who are usually elected as assistants in their sophomore year at a meeting during which the important election of the day has just occurred. After that important election has been pulled off—the election of the manager, the assistants are elected. And these are usually elected in rapid fire order - at least as fast as candiates can be found who are willing to let their names go before the house. The haste and carelessness there employed necessarily results at times in the selection of incompetent men as assistants. From these incompetents must then come the manager. The result follows; said result being a several thousand dollars deficit. Under the proposed change, however, if neither of the assistants were able to fill the bill some one else could be elected. The Association would not have to confine its consideration to two men.

Even if the assistants obtain valuable information and experience under the present system—and we do not believe that they do secure much of it—that training is almost useless to the Association since it now has a paid graduate manager to look after arranging all games and managing the team generally.

The old way has one other drawback- its political feature. In the past it has been a practically accepted understanding and custom that one of the assistant managers should be a fraternity-man and one a non-fraternity-man. This always provided the amunition for a hot political battle in which much harm resulted and often the least efficient of two perhaps ineficient men was elected because of his political affiliation with one sid or other. This managership business has been an important factor in drawing injurious lines, and now that the lines are passing out more and more we should like to see the causes of the lines disappearing more and more also; for we are convinced that this petty fighting internally has done more to make and keep relatively bum every activity of the college and especially the athletics of the place than any other three causes that can be assigned—with the exception of the men who promote those lines.

Think it over. And The Tar Heel editorship, too.

THE MAGAZINE

For several years the Magazine has had great difficulty in making any kind of a decent appearence before the public on account of the dearth of material contributed to it for publication. When it has appeared it has been with a blushing acknowledgment of the scantiness of its literary garments and a shame-faced apology for their inappropiateness. The editors could not secure sufficient material of a high order to hide the poverty of numbers of creatively inclined literary students. What materials they were successful in obtaining, they secured only by going out and getting it by the nap of the neck and the skin of the teeth. The contributions came only after a seige and as the result of much physical and mental persuasion.

From the character of this month's Magazine it would seem that the editors have had their blandishments in full force, for the April issue is the best we have seen in some time. It has a good assortment of material in it of a very creditable order, the contributions of the freshmen being especially praise-worthy. Their contributions of sketches and short story articles help out greatly. Theae were obtained by securing the interest of the freshman class by turning over to them the Sketch Department. The result was good. But if the full benefits of this experiment are to be realized the English department will have to be the means for that realization.

The instructors in English composition can have the Magazine here one of the best in the country if they get interested enough in it to encourage the men under them to write for it. One ot two members of the English staff have made sporadic attempts to create an interest in writing for the Magazine and the other publications and these attempts have borne some fruit; but they were too causual and scattering to accomplish much good. A concerted movement by the instructors in English for stimulating creative literary work would certainly be the cause of much good to their students and would prove an inestimable boon to the Magazine and its editors. If in addition to the stimulus which a student now receives towards writing because of the good he will reap from it within himself and because of the possible reward of members ip in Sigma Upsilson, he should further receive a stimulus from the faculty side of the fence, creative literary life in the commnnity would flourish and we would no longer have to trust entirely to The Saturday Evening Post.

BARNSTORMERS FOREVER!

Most Successful Dramatic Tour in Centuries

Listen, and you shall hear of "What Happened to Jones" and his histrionic aggregation of gab artists.

In the pink dawn of Monday, April 7th, Prof. George McKie and Manager John Busby in company with a round dozen of Varsity actors and near- actresses steamed away on the Blackwood Limited for a week's tour of the eastern part of the state. Their nocturnal itinerary included, in the order named, the cities, towns and villagesof Fayetteville, Wilmington, Kinston, Smithfield, and Wendell. Each place just literally stretched out the civic hand and turned the burg over to the boys, slipping the keys of the town to them openheartedly and cheerfully. And it goes without saying that the boys enjoyed the trip from "Alpha to Omega" — which is, by the way, Greek for "Monday to Saturday."

The Fayetteville German Club gave the boys a dance at which the pretty cullings from the feminine flower garden of the famous city swayed their terpsichorean charms with the April breezes of the orchestra, all to the undying delectation of the boys.

At Wilmington the boys were met by the local Alumni reception committee in classy gas wagons and and given a delightful rubberneck tour of the city and a bit of the surrounding country. After dinner the boys, as guests of Mr. Louis Goodman, '02, President of the New Hanover Alumni Association, were carried en masse to Wrightsville Beach. Here they were given a most enjoyable oyster roast, climaxed by the real live fifteen-cent La Preferencias. "Smiley" Mangrum Weeks smoked one ere Mrs. Goodly nabbed him. The attendance at Wilmington was, according to the professional slang, a "jam-up capacity house". Over $500.00 worth of tickets were sold.

"What Happened to Jones" next appeared in Kinston. A classy reception was given them at the at the Pythian Hall by the ladies and local alumni. There were girls galore. Miss Nick Post soulfully manipulated the eletric piano.

The troupe performed on the next night in the hospitable town of Clayton, made famous by the violet-tinted huckleberry. The boys made an uproarous success at every town; but here it was a cyclonic outburst of applause that greeted their performance. Ike Wright, the champion welter-weight Hee-Hawer of the state, almost stopped the show with his vesuvian outbursts of laughter. After the performance the boys were given a very enjoyable dance in the local armory.

In rapid succession of "What Happened to Jones" was brought to an end by visits to Smithfield and Wendell. The glad hand was extended on all sides to the boys at both places.

DR. BATTLE PRESIDES

Tells Di Society of His Sitting Beside First President

It was the great pleasure and good fortune of the DialecticSociety to have Dr. Battle preside over its meeting last Saturday night. To Dr. Battle belongs the distinction of having presided over the Society in his undergraduate days with its first president, Mr. James Mebane. Dr.Battle made a delightful and helpful address to the Society, relating many reminiscences of its early history, telling anecdotes on its big men of those days, and also giving sound pointed advice to its members of today.

In his charmingly quaint and reminiscent style, this old president of 81 winters told of that time 65 years ago, when Mr. Mebane sat on the rostrum with him." In August, 1848, said he, " We moved our society from the third floor of the South building to the second floor of the old West. At its first meeting in these new quarters it had Mr James Mebane down from Caswell. He and I presided jointly. He made a good talk, which was printed. That night after the talk of Mr. Mebane, Hon. Samuel L. Philips, delivered an address befor the Hall on the early history of the Society—an exceedingly interesting paper which has been lost.

Now after 65 years I am back here sitting on the right of your president as he was on mine that night. I claim to have the Apostotec succession. But the most remarkable thing,"—and here Dr. Battle fairly beamed with smiles " is that I am now just as young as I was that night.

DURHAM BULLS TOO MUCH FOR VARSITY

The Durham "Bulls" of the Carolina League shut out Carolina in Durham Tuesday 5 to 0 bofore six hundred fans. Graves was in the box for Carolina and though he was touched for only eight hits, they were bunched and came at exactly the right times. Against Eldridge and Batson Carolina made five hits, two of them by Leak and the others by Edwards, Williams and Thompson. Only once did a Carolina man reach third.

A three-base hit by Hargrove brought in their first run in the first inning. In the third Durham bunched hits and sent four more runners across the pan. After this Graves held them safe and there was no more scoring. Angier who played half backon Bingham School here last fall filled center field for Durham and cracked out two hits.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEARS STUDENTS

At the last meeting of the Historcal society for this year the speakers were E. C. Harris and E. M. Coulter. Mr. Harris spoke on the refusal of the state of North Carolina to ratify the Federal constitution at the foundation of the nation. The cause of the refusal was individualism and love of states rights. Mr. Coulter related one of the destroying raids of the Federals in the last year of the civil war. He told of the immense amount of property destroyed that was useless to the North and necessary to the South.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene offers exceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and equaled few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

"GENERAL LEE ON THE HILL"

"General" Raymond Lee, baseball pitcher par excellence, spent Sunday in Chapel Hill with friends. The "General" was on his way from Stetson University in Florida where he has been studying law this winter, to Winston-Salem where he will report to his discoverer and former Coach, manager Clancy of the twins for the season's work in the Carolina League. He saw Carolina brat Virginia in Greensboro Monday.

Professors Graham, Walker, Noble and Raper attended the Conference for Education in the South in Richmond this week and Professors Graham and Raper made addresses.

NEW OFFICERS START

Y. M. C. A. Under Another Administration

The new officers elected last Tuesday have taken charge of the Y. M. C. A for the coming year. The transfer took place at the regular Tuesday night meeting. The retiring President, Doug Rights, gave a report, briefly outlining the work acomplished in the closing year and thanked all who had taken part in the work. The incoming President, Jimmie Holmes, then thanked the members of the Association for his election, declared his intention of doing his best in the next years work, and outlined the policy of the coming administration

Mr Farr of Union Theological Seminery of Richmond, then delivered the address of the evening. He made an appeal for men to enter the ministry and told briefly the cause why one should enter this great field and the wonderful work one can do in it.

Dill C. McRay, 09, of Thomasville spent Sunday with his parents in Chapel Hill.

VIRGINIA EVENS BASEBALL SERIES

Wins a Freaky Game, 12 to 9 after Carolina Had a Six Run Lead

W. AND L. WINS, V. M. I. LOSES

The Teams Hits Hard on the Trip, but the Pitchers Are Badly off Color

Virginia evened up in Charlottesville, April, 18, by taking a freaky game from Carolina 12 to 9. At the end of the third inning Carolina led, 6 to 0; at the end of the fifth Virginia led, 12 to 6. And when in the ninth Hubert Bailey, who had already won one of the Virginia games, drove out a home-run, sending two more ahead of him it looked as though the score might be reversed once more.

Carolina used Aycock, Craven, and Graves in the box. Aycock started off in fine style, grew a little wobbly en the third when Virginia scored four runs, and was finally chased in the fifth when the Omaha cyclone broke loose. Craven took up the burden and lasted just one inning. Graves then went in and for the rest of the game held the Virginia batters helpless. If he had only gone in sooner —

Grant, the Virginia southpaw pitched a peculiar game. Thirteen hits he yielded, but he struck out an even dozen. In the first few innings he was severely punished, but he kept at it and got better as he went along.

The game was lost in the fifth inning. Five hits, including a triple by Philips with the bases full, mixed up with three errors at critical times, allowed eight runs. The whole team seemed to go up in the air and Virginia took advantage of every opportunity. Once with men on third add second, Thompson caught a foul in left field. When the runners made a break at home he threw the ball Hart let the ball get away and two more runs were added. That was a fair sample of that inning

Once in the lead Virginia tightened up and Carolina could not break through her defence. Bailey's home run in the ninth brought a a ray of hope, which grew when Hart followed with a singie, but subsided when Knowles, pinch hitter flew out.

Bailey's fielding was in big league style and Sickley's work at third was as good as it was in Greensboro, which is going some. Phillips hit like a fiend.

DR. HOLMES INTERESTING

Large Crowds Hear Him and See Movies

Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States Bureau of Mines delivered two very interesting and instructive lectures before the University Thursday and Friday nights. Dr. Holmes, who before he opened up this department in the national government, was State Geologist of North Carolina, is no stranger in Chapel Hill. Up to 1903 he was in the faculty of this University, as Professor of Geology.

Thursday night Dr. Holmes gave an open lecture before the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society on the Rescue Work of the Bureau of Mines; and Friday night he lectured to the faculty and student body on the Panama Canal. Both lectures were illustrated by moving picture slides. In this way Dr. Holmes showed in the first lecture the great importance of the mining industry—ranking as it does along with agriculture— the vast mineral resources ef the U. S., the enormous amount of waste—both raw material and human life in the operation of these mines, and the splendid work the Bureau of Mines is dosng towards bettering this condition by seeksng to check the exploitation of natural resources and by studying methods of preventing the enormous toll of human lives that the industry annually exacts.

In the second lecture Dr. Holmes described with the aid of his pictures the progress that the government has made in constructing the big ditch in the isthmus. He told of tne work formely done by the French the difficulty of the task presented to the U. S. on account of the sanitary conditions in Panama, the method of building the Gatun dam and of digging the Culebra cut.—After he had concluded his lecture on the canal, Dr. Holmes showed some views of other gigantic pieces of engineering work that are being accomplished in other parts of the country.

Those two lectures were the most largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed that have been delivered to the students this year.

TRACK TEAM HOPES TO WIN CUP

The track team goes to Raleigh Friday to compete in the State Track Meet Great interest centers around this contest because of its state wide nature, still greater interest because Carolina, by winning this contest, can retain permanent possession of the trophy cup. To keep it a college must have won the meet three successive times. Twice Carolina has easily captured first place, last year taking 67 1-2 out of a possible 143 points, 34 1-2 points ahead of her nearest rival. This year Carolina is as strong as ever, if not stronger. Wake Forest and A. & M. are the only other Colleges that will give trouble with probabitity of A. & M. having the stronger team of the two. And what Carolina has all ready done to the Farmers this year is ancient and honorable history. It looks as though another trophy will soon be added to the proud collection in the Trophy Room.

THE NEW BUILDING TO BE DEDICATED

Big High School Conference With Many Important Speakers, May 1, 2, 3.

HORNE, JOYNER, FOUST, LAY AND OTHERS

Every Phase of High School Work Will Be Discussed by Experts and Plans Made for Future

On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week, May 1, 2, and 3, there will be held in Chapel Hill the dedication of the new Peabody Education Building and a High School Conference. Many of the state's leading educators, representing all phases of the State's educational life, city superintendents, county superintendents, rural high school principals, and others engaged in college work and in work in the state office in Raleigh, will be present during these three days and will take an active part in the Conference. At this Conference high school problems will be discussed and a constructive program will be mapped out for the continued growth of secondary education in North Carolina.

The first session of the Conference will be held on Thursday, May 1. The topic for discussion will be: "The Place and Function of the Secondary Schools in a System of General Education." The speakers for this meeting are Zebulon Judd, Superintendent of Wake county schools; R. J. Tighe, Superintendent of Asheville city schools; W. T. Whitsett, Principal of Whitsett Institute; E. C. Brooks of Trinity College; J. E. Turlington. Superintendent of Mt. Airy schools; H. H. Horne, of New York University.

The second session will be held Thursday evening. At this meeting, "The School Plant: Its Equipments and Environment" will be discussed by R. H. Latham, Superintendent of Winston city schools; J. A. Matherson, of the Normal; Geo. W Lay, of St. Mary's; E. D. Pusey, of Goldsbooo; and M. L. Wright, of Holly Springs.

On Friday there will held departmental conferences on the teaching of the various high school subjects, English. Mathematics, etc. These conferences will be held in the morning and afternoon. Friday evening the dedication exercises of the Peabody Education Building will be held. The program of this occasion is: Adress of Welcome, by Dr. F. P. Venable, and Responses by C. W. Massy, for the country school ; J. J. Blair for the city schools; J. H. Highsnith, for the private and denom inational colleges; J. I. Foust, for the other State schools aud colleges; Following these responses, addresses will be made by J. Y. Joyner, H. H. Horne, and Dean M. C. S. Noble, of the School of Education. Following these a reception in the Peabody Hall will be held.

The program will be concluded Saturday, May 3, with the reports and discussions of the different committees and the making out of a constructive program for high school development in North Carolina.

CAROLINA DEFEATS BOTH VIRGINIA AND HOPKINS IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Taylor and Busby Win over Virginia in Baltimore, Graham and Tillett over Hopkins, While Hopkins Defeats Virginia Here

The news of Carolina's double victory in the triangular debating contest with Virginia and Hopkins was received on the Hill with an enthusiasm that has not been equaled in years, When telegrams came in Saturday night announcing that Graham and Tillett had won over Hopkins and Taylor and Busby had taken the measure of Virginia, a mighty shout went up all over the campus from students who had had their interest aroused by Hopkin's victory over Virginia in Gerrard Hall.

A bonfire was hastilly constructed, various members of the University band began tooting their instruments, repeated yells were given for the winning debators, and the singing and frolicking around the fire in front of the South Building lasted until late in the night. Not since Carolina's historic football victory over Virginia In 1905 has there been such a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm.

And well might there be rejoicing; the victories were notable. Judging by the caliber of the Hopkins team here, Graham and Tillett must have had their hands full at Charlottesville. Taylor and Busby deserve all the more credit for their victory in that they were the only negative team to win. The decision of the judges in each case was three to two in favor of Carolina, and though the contests were thus remarkably close, there was no kicking over the results. The admittedly best teams won.

The query was: "Resolved, That without regard to the obligations of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, the tolls of tpe Panama Canal should be the same for the merchant vessals of all nations". Carolina had the affirmative against Hopkins. Frank Graham's argument concerned chiefly the international aspects of the Canal. He showed that it was an international waterway and such should be placed on the same basis to all nations.

Tillett took up the business side of the question and showed that even if American ships were exempted, the practical result uwold be harmful. The Hopkins debaters Messrs. Albert L. Hammond and Abel Wolman, argued that each nation should decide the question for itself. The judges were all members of the Virginia faculty, Drs. Richard H. Dabney, William M. Lile, Chas. A. Graves, Thos. W. Page, and Professor William H. Echols. Dr. Alphonso Smith presided.

Against Virginia, Taylor and Busby argued for the exemption of all American ships and of other ships doing business in American ports. The Virginia debaters Messrs. William A. Adams and Geo. L. Bosman were not prepared for this stand and their chief reply to it was that the idea was not seriously regarded save in Chapel Hill. The decisi on here too was three to two for Carolina.

The Johns Hopkins - Virginia debate in Gerrard Hall was one of the most thoroughly interesting and enjoyable intellectual combats ever heard here.

Professor W. S. Bernard, himself an old intercollegiate debater, presided, with J. T. Pritchett as secretary. The judges were: Dr. Chas. L. Raper, professor H. H. Williams, Dr. J. G. DeR. Hamilton, Professor E. K. Graham, and Professor L. P. McGehee, Hopkins defended the affirmative, Virginia the negatsve. The Hopkins debaters were Leo Wolman, and Lindsay Rogers; the Virginia, H. H. Kantner ane C. M. Durrance.

Mr. Wolman in leading off for Hopkins stated that the query presented two aspects for consideration, an economic, and a moral or ethical aspect. The economic side of the question he handled, leaving the ethical to his colleague. He argued that the U. S. should not discriminate in favor of vessels engaged in coast wise traffic because that is the best protected monopoly of this country. Discrimination would benefit not the consumer nor the producer: but the refunded tolls would find their way no farther than the treasury of the carrying company. To discriminate in favor of our other merchant marine would not help put it on a sound basis, because it would require a subsidy of at least $ 12, 000,000 annually to put it on a competitive footing with that of England, Germany, and France, whereas the tolls that will be paid by all of this class of vessels will amount to only $ 1, 500 000

Mr. H. H. Kantner opened for Virginia. Virginia would consider two classes of American vessels, he stated that should for economic reasons have use of the Panama Canal free of tolls: that port of our merchant marine plying between this country and the South American states, and that port trading between the twe coasts of the United States. To prove the first half of th t proposition he devoted his time. The potential resources of the Latin republics to the South of us are euormous. Europe has at present a larger trade with these countries than we have, because of certain natural advantages. After the opening of the canal a large part of it should come to us, however, providing we place our vessels trading with these countries on an equal or better basis than those of England, Germany, and France. The speaker pointed out how our advantages nearly balanced now with theirs and would be greater if we followed their example and either paid the tolls of our vessels as those governments intended to do for theirs, or did not charge tolls at all.

Mr. Lindsay Rogers, the second speaker for Hopkins, declared that without any reference to the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty wnatever, he would prove that from the very birth of the idea of constructing this canal

THE DEBATES

Under the new tri-angula debating arrangements between Johns Hopkins University, the University of Virginia, and the University of North Carloina the first contests were pulled off Saturday evening in a highly successful manner—at least according to North Carolina's way of casting her optics. By the results of those contests Carolina's already high debating record goes up one more notch, putting to her credit twenty-seven out of the thirty-seven debates in which she has participated since beginning inter-collegiate debating in 1897. In that time she has debated the best Universities from Pennsylvania to Vanderbilt to Tulane.

It was a pleasure to have the debaters from Hopkins and Virginia here, and it was a pleasure to listen to one debate in which we did not have a team participating and lending constant anxiety to one's spinal column. This time we could rest and enjoy the debate where two worthy rivals were contesting—although we could not help from letting our thoughts leap once in a while to Baltimore and Charlottesville where our men were alse fighting in the forensic ring.

We enjoyed having the Virginia and Hopkins men here, and we were glad to send our men to their homes. Needless to say, we are highly gratified at the results and hope that the Triangle will last and always with as pleasant results.

THE YACKETY YACK

The Yackety Yack has been completed and is now out. The managers say that they will be deliveaed when the clubs, classes, individuals, et cetera shall have paid their debts--and not before. So it behooves us to pay up at the earliest possible in order that we may get ours and see how many statictics and pictures we have in it. Besides, the managers need the lucre.

UNPLEASANTRIES

In the issue of April 15 The Ring-tum Phi, the student paper of Washington and Lee University contains an editorial under the caption "Accident, Coincidence, or Habit" in which the unpleasantries between that University and the University of North Carolina last season are dissertated upon and the failure of the two institutions to meet in track, gymnasium, and debate after negotiations had been entered into concerning such meets, is discussed. The result of the editorial discussion was that the blame was very nicely and satisfactorily shelved upon North Carolina. Although we have never had a very strong leaning towards editorial controversies but rather dislike them, justice to Carolina demands that we give the facts in the cases.

In football North Carolina protested against certain men whom Washington and Lee had on their football team — men whose athletic records would, we believe, have rendered them inelgible for any other professedly amateur team in the East. In this protest North Carolina was not alone among the colleges that played Washington and Lee. We played them, however, with the men still on their team. Whether The Ring-tum Phi desired to blame Carolina because we protested against these players or because Washington and Lee had the players was not quite clear.

In track there was a contract calling for a meet between the two institutions last year. The meet for some reason was deferred until this year. In the meantime the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association passed a resolution substitution the discus throw for the hammer throw. Carolina having a good hammer thrower wanted the meet under the same rules that would have held had it come off as first scheduled. Washington and Lee having a discus thrower and no hammer thrower developed a remarkable tenacity for rules quite different from their attitude of last year towards football eligibility rules, and demanded that the discuss be subistuted for the hammer. As neither would give in Carolina called off the meet - the only contest called off by her.

Washington and Lee asked for a meet in gymnastics. We gave them a date. They wired acceptance and said they were forwarding rules. We wired back not to consider date closed untill we had accepted the rules. When these came they were spread out over considerable foolscap and were both unreasonable and unfair to Carolina. We amended them but Washington and Lee's manager would not accept the amendments. Instead he wired back that the meet was called off and that "he was surprised at North Carolina's conduct". His telegram was sent "collect", by the way.

The debate affair was amusing. Washington and Lee at first wanted to submit three queries of which Carolina was to choose one. Then our friends wanted to have the choice of sides on that query, thus naming the query and selecting sides, both. Of course no such absurdity was agreed to. The final agreement was that Washington and Lee submit the query and North Carolina choose side. Carolina chose the negative of the query submitted, largely because she desired the last speech in rebuttal. But when our friends at Lexington forwarded final stipulations they had the affirmative down for last rebuttal. Elsewhere they said that they thought the conditions submitted by them were in accordance with the stipulations of 1910 - the last debate between the two institutions But article 7 of those stipulations reads in part (and there is nothing supplementary or contradiciory to that part in them).

"The affirmative shall open the debate and the speakers shall follow in regular order throughout." This was what caused Carolina to select the negative side of the question submitted. When Washington and Lee could not get for her affirmative side the last rebuttal she cancelled the debate, not even signing the letter of cancellation.

The above are the facts in the cases.

BILLY QUOTES POETRY TO THE HEROES

At a mass-meeting in Chapel Monday morning— yes, it was a mass-meeting, because the inimitable Marcus Cicero Stephens Noble said it was, and "Billy" ought to know what a mass meeting looks like if anyone does-again, at a mass-meeting during "chapel persod" Monday morning the four members of the vsctorious relay team which licked the Carlilse red-skins in Washington City on March 1st were each awarded a oandsome silver loving cup. That is the mere gist of the matter.

Billy started off by taking a friendly dig at his Senior Stunt caricature, the faculty and others, and then launched into American literature, quoting a passage from "Hiawatha". He spoke in such a delightful round-about manner, with his digressing wittisms and other familiar tricks of speech, that students wondered at the ultimate object of his talk. Finally he requested Walter Stokes to bring forth the cups and the half foot beauties were presented amid clapping to Earl Patterson, Hazel Patterson, Ralph Spence, and Seymour Whiting.

FOISTER

McGEHEE--BEARD

Lovely Wedding in the Chapel of the Cross

Beautiful in every detail was the marriage of Miss Mary Polk McGehee and Mr. Grover Beard which took place in the Chapel of the Cross Tuesday evening. Dog-wood and native flowers had made of the church a thing of beauty and the chancel was a bower of white. While the many friends were filling the space to overflowing Mr. Henry Meeks sang in his sweet tenor "The Voice that reathed O'er Eden", accompanied by Mr. Reginald Mallett on the organ,

The ushers were Messrs C. A. Vogler of Winston-Salem, Don MacRae of Thomasville, L. deK. Belden and John Lasley of Chapel Hill.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the wedding march from Lohengrin announced the coming of the bridal party. First entered the bridesmads Miss Annis McGehee, sister of the bride, and Miss Sadie Williams of Georgia. Both wore lovely gowns of embroided net over messaline. They were followed by the groomsmen, Messrs. Sneath and Horton. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. McGehee. She was attired in white satin with orange blossoms and a beautiful veil. The groom with the best man, Mr. L. P McLendon, entered from the side and met the bride at the alter. The solemn vows were then spoken, the Rev. Homer Starr officiating,

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Beard left later for their honeymoon.

MR. BEARD GOT DEGREE

The instructors of the University held a smoker at the room of Mr. Wilbur H. Royster on Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. J. Grover Beard, who was married Tuesday evening. During the evening a mock examination was held with Mr. Beard as the candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophical Matrimony. Mr. Beard answered the questions successfully and was presented with a diploma handsomely engraved by Mr. Alexander M. Atkinson of the drawing department, and duly signed by the authorites. The diploma was engraved in the words of Mr. Parker, "On the bona fide skin of an imitation sheep." A beautiful chafing dish with electrical attachment was also presented to Mr. Beard, as a token of the esteem which his fellow instructors have for him. A poem in regard to the occasion was read by Mr. George M. Sneath. Due to the energies and irrepressable wit of Mr. Eugene F. Parker, the toastmaster, and the clever answers of the candidate, a most enjoyable evening was spent, one typical of the happy, successful life which all wish most heartily for Mr. Beard and his affianced bride, Miss Mary Polk McGehee.

Announcement has been made that the Coburn Players will be in Chapel Hill on May 12th, They will give two performances, "A Comedy of Errors" and "Romeo and Juliet." Those who have seen this company of genuine artists here before know the charm of their productions. As in the past a stage will be erected on the campus and, weather permitting, they will show out of doors.

CLASS GAMES BOOMING

Lowly Seniors Refuse to Be Trod Upon

Four class ball games this week, and all of them good ones. The surprise of the series has been the performance of the Seniors. From hopeless tail enders they have taken third place by taking two out of three. Kennedy's work in the box was chiefly responsible for this, although the team has been doing some good work behind him. The Sophs, by beating the Seniors went into first place only to hand it to the Freshmen in their next game.

The series started off Friday with a surprise. The Seniors defeated the Freshmen 12 to 7. Kennedy pitched a good game but errors let in several runs. The Seniors pounded Freshman Hancock all over the lot, although errors also caused some addition to the score on this side of the fence also.

Kennedy went in the box the next day and tried to play the iron man against the Sophs, but it did not work. They got to him in the fourth and made three hits and two errors count for four runs. Lipscomb kept the five hits of his opponents well scattered and they netted only two runs. He struck out seven men to Kennedy's six. "Little" Ab. smashed out two doubles and "Little" Harper got two singles.

Monday the Seniors went after the Junior's scalp and got it to the tune of 7 to 3, Kennedy again occupied the mound and allowed only six hits. Long for the Juniors, pitched a steady game excepting in the third and seventh The Seniors wouldn't get out in the third until they had made four runs. The features of the game were a home run by fielder Long with a man on, and two fast double plays by the Seniors.

In a game packed full of hits, errors, and runs the Freshmen snatched first place from the Sophs Tuesday. In the third ten Freshmen faced Lipscomb and made seven runs. Love got two three base hits in this inning The Freshmen made other runs at odd minutes and had 13 chalked up by the beginning of the ninth. The Sophs then started a rally and made four runs after two men were down, but it was too good to last. The pitchers records were peculiar. Hancock struck out 0, allowed 11 hits, walked 2, hit 1. Lipscomb struck out 8, allowed 12 hits, walked 7, hit 0. Love got four hits out of five times to the bat.

Standing of the class teams to date.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene offers exceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and equaled few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

Hits—off Aycock 7 in 4 innings; off Craven 2 in 1 inning; off Graves 1 in 3 innings. Struck out—by Grant 12, by Aycock 1, by Graves 1.

Washington and Lee won a hard thirteen inning game, 8 to 7, in Lexington on the 20th. A three base hit by Terry and crash through short by Colville broke up the game. Gaaves and Aycock performed in the box for Carolina and both showed the effect of their work against Virginia the day before. Nine bases on balls which they together gave figured largely in the scoring.

Thompson leaped into the lime light in the 4th with a clean home run, sending two more across the plate in front of him. Karl Bailey's fielding at second was spectacular and Williams' accurate throw from short left caught Donahue at the plata and saved the game earler. Washington and Lee ran wild on the bases.

The last game on the Virginia trip, V. M. I. in Lexington on April 21, went to Carolina 9 to 5. It was a slow featureless contest, with neither team showing much baseball. Craven pitched steadily and good fielding by Thompson helped him more than once. V M. I. used the same battery as in the first game at Chapel Hill, J. Pitt and L. Pitt, and while Pitt was never hit hard, the Tar Heels beat out lots of infield taps and made many bases on errors. Clarkson's batting and Creswell's fielding were the most noticable features of V. M. I's work.

CAROLINA DEEEATS BOTH VIRGINIA AND HOPKINS IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE

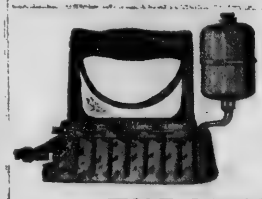
thisgovernment had always held the ground that whatever government should construct it, no country should have any special advantage over the other countries of the world. He reviewed treaty after treaty to show that until a few years ago such an idea had never entered the mind of this government. When France wished to construct it, that was the main stipulation made by the United States. Greater than any economic advantage to be reaped by not chargng to our own vessels was the moral obligation our country owes the world. The self respect and good faith of the United States is greater a thousand times than the paltry sum of an annual income of a few million dollars.

The last speaker of the first round, Mr. C. M. Durrance of Virginia, stated that he proposed to show that the granting of free passage to our coastwise vessels would lower both land and water rates between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts, and this reduction would be reflected in the cheaper prices of goods to the consumer. The water companies and the railroads are competitors and the reduction of rates by one would be followed by a decrease in the charges of the other. Our people expect and demand this as a return for the millions they have spent in the construction of the canal.

The rejoinders were used to greet advantage by both sides clinching arguments made it the first speeches.

After the debate a reception was extended the debaters and officers of the debate by the Tau Kappa Alpha in the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. J. T. Southgate of Durham spent a few days with Miss Nell Battle at Dr. Battle's resident last week.



Mrs. Chas. I. Raper was the hostess at a very delightful sewing party given on Friday morning to Miss Margaret Wells.

Mrs. Chas. Mangum left Monday for Raleigh to attend a musical festival.

Miss Mary Moses returned to Morganton the first of this week after a short visit to her sister, Mrs. E. K. Graham.

Miss Sadie Williams of Augusta, Ga. is the guest of the Misses McGehee.

YACKETY YACKS REACH THE HILL

The Volume for 1913 Is a Thing of Beauty and a Joy Forever

BUT HAVE YOU PAID YOUR BILLS

Nany Interesting New Features. Over 700 Pictures in the Book. Individual Juniors. Characteristic Senior Pose

The first volumes of the 1913 Yackety Yack have come from the press and are in the hands of the editors; and every one who has seen them swears that they are the best ever. The main distribution will not take place yet a while, the buisness managers being too buisy answering complaints about the size of the bills. The chances are that you can get your copy about the middle of May.

The book is a beauty. It is distinctive in many features from the ordinary run of Yackety Yacks. The cover is of flexible cowhide, with the usual group of buildings stamped on it, the South, the Old East, and the Old West with the well in the center. It is dedicated to Junius Parker of New York, attorney for the American Tobacco Company.

The entire volume is divided into six books. The first concerns the University; the second, the undergraduate classes; the third, the professional school; the fourth, athletics; the fifth, the organizations; and the sixth, college life which contains the humor department. On every page a gray-tinted sky-line view of the campus is carried Instead of having the usual cartoon besides the individual Senior picture, there is a small kodak picture of a characteristic pose. This same idea is extended to all the organizations, each of which has an informal character-picture in addition to the usual formal ones. The Junior class has been honored with individual pictures, a distinctly new feature.

The humor department, in many respects the most interesting in the whole book, it is different from past years in that no one is severely butted. The editors have been charitable and whenever they did not know what else to do, they put in a bunch of pictures. The result is most pleasing. The entire volume is especially noteworthy for the large number of pictures of every sort. In all over 700 have been used.

The literary features include a history of the principal progressive movements of the college year, written by S. R. Winters; and a sketch of the interesting places around Chapel Hill, by Dr. Battle.

The sooner you pay your bills, the quicker you'll get a peep at this treasure. It is worth while from every stand point; and will rank with the best in the country.

MONOGRAMS AWARDED

Athletic Council Awards Basket Ball and Gym N. C's.

At a recent meeting of the Student Athletic Council basketball stars were awarded to Chambers, Tillett, and Carrington. Monograms were awarded to Mebane Long and Redman.

At the same meeting the matter of awarding monograms to the gymnasium men came up. It was decided to award these although the gym men had not had ameet as is required by the rules of the Athletic Council before they may be considered for monograms. Their failure to comply with this rule was due to the fact that the team tried to obtain meets, but owing to the few similar teams in this section and to a scarcity of finances they could not. Cognizance was also taken by the council of the failure of the gym team to have present as a judge at their tryout the Athletic Directors, as required.

F. W. Morrison, Peyton Smith, L. L. Shamburger E. J. Lilly Jr. and C. L. Isley were awarded gymnasium monograms.

TRACK TEAM OFF

Coach Nat Cartmell, Manager Walter Stokes, and twelve track athletes, the best that the State can produce, left Thursday morning for Baltimore for the South Atlantic Intercollegiate Track Meet. The men are Captain Patterson, Spence, Cobb, Sears, Woollcott, Strong, Homewood, Whiting, Ranson, H. Patterson, DeVane. All of them are in good condition and something big in the way of results is looked for. Cobb has about recovered from an injured leg and Captain "Pat" has rested for the past two weeks in preparation.

All the important colleges in this section will be represented including Virginia, Hopkins, V. P. I., Washingtod and Lee, Georgetown, A. & M. , etc, Hopkins won the meet last year with Carolina second.

SENIORS DEFEAT FRESHMEN

By defeating the Freshmen by a score of 12 to 5 Friday the Seniors gave the Sops another chance at the class championship. Kennedy, the standby of the Seniors, went in the box and pitched an air tight game excepting in the ninth. In the first eight innengs only 27 men faced him. In the last frame the Freshmen started a rally on some Senior miss-cues and a little hitting that was headed only after three men had crossed.

The Seniors did all their counting in the first part of the game with Hancock pitching. They got two in the first four in the third and nobody knows how many they would have got in the fifth if Hancock had not been pulled and Huske substituted. Huske found three on and one down. He let those on score and then shut down. There wasn't a thing doing in that line for the rest of the game. He got in one or two tight holes but always pulled out in spite of the demornlized team team behind him.

Kenneth Tanner; 11, spent Sunday on the Hill with friends.

CAROLINA WINS STATE TRACK MEET

For Third Consecutive year She Is Champion Of The State

THEREBY WINS LOVING CUP

Beats nearest rival by 17 1-2 points Strong beats state record. While Team did great work in field events

With only one man in each of nine events and only two in each of the other four events, Carolina scored 53 1-2 points against 36 for A. & M., 28 for Wake Forest, and 24 for Trinity, taking 8 out of 13 possible first places and winning the prettiest relay ever seen in North Carolina.

Sears as usual was there with the goods, winning the 100 and 220 from Tyner of Wake Forest. Tyner was good, too, but "Baby" had too much for him on the finish. "Little Pat" came back in the quarter and beat Nichols, the A. & M. man who won in the dual meet. In the half Whiting and Ranson won easily, Whiting leading. Spence had things all his his own way in the mile, while Cobb, after a splendid burst of speed, came in only inches behind Smith of A. & M. in the two mile.

The high hurdles came to Carolina easily. In the low hurdles Struthers came out a few inches in the lead, but was disqualified for stepping out of his lane.

Woollcott won the high jump, while Strong broke the State record by vaulting 11 feet flat.

After these events came the relay the climax of Carolina's glory. Mc Duffie lead off and, after a fine race, came in only a few yards behind the leader. Taylor followed Mc Duffie. The big Freshman football star himself and, in the prettiest relay ever made, overtook his man and gave Spence a lead of 7 yards. Langston of Wake Forest, with a tremendous dash of speed, caught up with Spence, on the first curve and passed him on the straightaway. Spence stuck right there, however and on the home stretch the Carolina man passed the leader and touched "Big Pat" off 10 yards to the good. Patterson, fresh and strong after staying out of the mile and two mile, walked away from the others, winning easily the annual relay.

Thus Carolina for the third year in succession has won the State meet in Raleigh and is thereby the possessor of the beautiful loving cup offered by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce.

The following is the list of events and runners.

100-yard dash-Sears, Carolina, first: time 10 2-5 seconds; Tyner, Wake Forest, Potter, A. & M.

120-hurdles-Woolcott, Carolina, first: time 18 2-5 seconds, Horne, Wake Forest: Nichols, A. & M.

220-hurdles-Brown, Trinity, first, time 29 3-5; Herring, Wake Forest; Potter, A. & M. Carolina was disqualified.

Quarter-mile-H. Patterson, Carolina, first time 54 seconds, Nichols

ALUMNI REVIEW OUT

The April Number Lives Up To High Standard

The April number of the Alumni Review, which has just been mailed to subscribers from the Observer house in Charlotte, is filled with interesting matter. The School of Education gets a large share of attention, because of the dedication of the new Peabody Building and the High School Conference. Dr. Wilson points out what shall be the policy of the University in making this school, under the leadership of Dean Noble, a completer head of the state's school system.

Interesting write-ups are given of two distinguished alumni - Josephus Daniels Secretary of the Navy, and Hannis Taylor, famous writer on government and law. An account is given of the recent high school debate in Chapel Hill. An interesting review of Dr. Battle's "History of the University" is given by J. K. Wilson, '05.

The athletic department is well edited, as it also the alumni department. Base ball and track are especially noted in the athletic line, and in the alumni department much interesting information is given of the doings of the older Carolina men.

WAKE FOREST GAMES ARRANGED

Graduate Manager McLendon announces that arrangements have finally been completed for the postponed Wake Forest games. There will be two games, with possibly a third in case of a tie. The first game will be played in Durham, May 5, and the second in Raleigh May 9. The thrid, if there is need of a third, will be played in Raleigh on May 10. All chances of deciding the Virginia series seem to have gone glimmering. Conflicts with the Carolina League make it hard to get a date and the two managements have not been able to agree on financial matters.

PHIS WIN FRESH-SOPH DEBATE

The annual Fresh—Soph Debate, held in Gerrard Hall, Wednesday, April 30, was won by the Phi Society debaters, H. G. Hudson, '16, and Wade Kornegy, '15. The losing Di men were J. O. Dysart, '16, and Graves Martin, '15. The query was Resolved, That Government Interference inthe Affairs of Corporations Should not Go Beyond Requirement of Full Publicity in the Transaction of the Corporations. Professors Patterson, Bain, and Wagstaff acted as judges. M. R. Dunnegan presided and W. P. Fuller acted as secretary.

COBURN PLAYERS TO PERFORM

Tickets for the two performances by the Coburn Players on May 12 will be placed on sale, Monday, May 5 at Eubanks Drug store. These players will present "A Comedy of Errors" in the afternoon and "Romeo and Juliet" at night. In past years their open-air performances have always delighted large audiences and their work this year will no doubt be fully appreciatad. The stage will be in the usual place, back of the Alumni Building

A. & M. CAPTURES BASE BALL GAME

Carolina Puts Up Great Up-Hill Figet But Can't Overcome Lead

CAROLINA 6, A. M. & 7

Before 1500 People the University team Fight Manfuly to down the Fatal First inning, only to lose in the ninth.

In one of the greatest games ever seen in this state A. and M. took the big end of a 7 to 6 score from Carolina Wednesday in Raleigh before 1500 people. Facing a lead of five runs picked up in the first inning on rotten playing, Captain Edwards' boys settled down and showed what up hill fighting is. They counted once in the fourth, drove three more across in the seventh, and tied the score in the ninth by clean hitting, only to have A. and M. win the firstbaseball contest between the two state institutions in years by slipping one over in the last half of the ninth. It was a hard game to lose.

That first inning was enough to break anybody's heart—three hits and five runs. Farmer led off with a clean singleand Aycock messed up Correll's bunt. Patton tried to sacrifice, but Farmer was caught at third. Winston hit safely and the whole Carolina team started throwing the ball around loosely, and letting it roll away, particularly Hart. When the dust settled three runs had been scored. That wasn't all. Terry walked and Page was safe on an error. Passed balls and wild throws allowed both to score.

After that disaster Aycock and Hart were jerked out and Craven and Knowles took up the burden. Craven's underdand ball was always effective, though he allowed one run in the fourth. Carolina drew her first blood in that frame on Correll's muff of the easist fly ever hit.

Along about the seventh Russell began to let down and things began to happen, Williams beat out a bunt and "Shag" Thompson lifted a long fly into right field bleachers. It looked good for a homer, but ground rules held him at second Williams on third. Hubert Bailey came through with a single to center and both scored. The Carolina rooters went wild. Bailey himself scored a minute later on Karl's safety.

Carolina had a great chance in the eighth, but Russell rose to the occasion and struck out two men, leaving runners on second and third. In the ninth they were not to be denied. Zollicoffer, substituted for Craven, beat out a high bounder and Bailey followed with a double to the bleachers. With all Carolina imploring him, Jimmie Leak slapped a hard single to center and the score was tied. Leak went to third on Edwards' sacrifice, but again Russel rose up and struck out Johnson and caused Thompson to pop to the infield.

A. and M. won the game in the last half of the ninth. Graves hit Patton, the first batter. Winston

OUR PLATFORM

As this is the next to the last issue of The Tar Heel that we shall get out this year and as we desire to devote the editorial page of the last issue to a consideration of the University, what it has done this year, and what it is, we take this occasion to state briefly what The Tar Heel has advocated this year.

1—The unification of the University community and spirit by still better relations between the faculty and students, by the abolition of the monoply on mid-term dances, and by everybody's getting behind and pushing the things that concern the whole University regardless of factions.

2—Progressive and constructive work for the upbuilding of the University, its organizations its usefulness, and its spirit; and to this end the fostering of a spirit that will force even man who has ability to go out and work to help develop the best teams for our contests and the best output for our publications—and not to knock. Under this comes the all - year practice of all forms of athletics.

3—Instruction in general physiology and hygiene

4—The constructive advertising of the University by the students.

All of which may be summarized by - the students, the University, and the state.

THE TWO WORLDS

"There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hue them how we will—"

said a member of the Dramatic Club on a dark night as he rounded the ninty degree angle at the Sigma Nu hall and started towards the Methodist Church en route to the Post Office. That was trust.

"Damn." he exclaimed six seconds later as he stepped into a mud puddle with a new pair of shoes. That was life.

Some of the students still trust to luck on their quizzes or do not crack a book until the night before exams. Three out of the four churches on the Hill stick to the common communion cup. A merchant still drives an automobile. And the University does not keep a light on the dark corner by the Sigma Nu hall. While on class day the seniors will very probably continue the ancient custom of smoking the pipe of peace.

There are the world of trust and the world of life. The world of trust never changes, while the world of life is never twice the same.

NEXT YEAR

On Saturday night at the meetings of the two societies and next week at the meeting of the Athletic Association there will come up a number of important matters for consideration, and there will be a large number of offices to fill by elections. There are so many of these offices to fill that we all tend to get rather tired before the meetings are over and sometimes rush men through without careful consideration in order that we may get the meeting over with so as to leave and do something else. The results of this haste and thoughtlessness are reaped one and two years later in an Athletic deficit, a Magazine that costs the societies twice as much as it should, an unsatisfactory Yackety Yack, and several bad whatnots.

As a result of bad elections several years ago we this year have been fighting against and handicapped by a deficit in the Athletic Association and one in the accounts of the University Magazine of a previous year. The Athletic Association managerships and the Magazine managership of a very shortly anterior date have been causing those who are here now a greatdeal of trouble. The cause of this tronble was that some students two or three years ago got tired at a meeting and rushed things through. They got out a little earlier but we poor suckers have caught the mischief as the result of it.

The results of these elections will be felt next year and for several years to come.

"Verbum Sapienti ——"

CLASS DAY

Class Day is usually the most enjoyable day of Commencement Exercises. Then the seniors for the last time meet together around the Davie Poplar, sing their songs, read their last will and testiment, make known to the world the glorious history of themselves as a class, listen to the prophets foretell their fates, and then smoke the pipe of peace ere departing the classic shade of this secluded spot for the great untried. We should like to suggest one addition to the accepted ceremonies of that day. That addition is in the nature of a subistution. It is that instead of merely having a pipe of peace, we have a last farewell peace smoker, and thus end our career with one of the happiest institutions that our muchly instituting class has instituted. After the other exercises of the afternoon are over and the last greatest accomplishment of good old '13 has been prophesied, instead of going each to his (and her) supper, why not stay around the base of the poplar and have a few sandwiches and cakes a la picnic? It would be a last and a pleasant innovation with which for the class to bring their progressive career to a close.

REAL MUSIC BY NATIVE ARTISTS

On Monday, May 4, the best musical performance of the year will be given in Gerrard Hall. The artists will be Mr. Henry Meeks (he of the soulful tenor), Mr. Preston Epps, a recently discovered baritone singer of the class of 1916, and Mr. Reginald Mallett, the pianist who needs only to let his hair grow to become famous the world over. These three stars have prepared a program of a high degree of merit and those who have heard them know how well they can carry it out. Music lovers in the community are looking forward eagerly to this opportunity of hearing high class music interpreted by high class artists. The concert is for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. and is under the management of Walter Stokes.

TWO GAMES SPLIT

South Carolina Wins and V. P. I. Loses Last Home Contest

In one of the most exciting games of the season South Carolina won from North Carolinr on the 25th, 3 to 2. The varsity out hit the visitors but stupid base-running broke up the many chances. Both teams started off at a lively clip, South Carolina making two runs on Schulers double, a muffed fly, a passed ball, and McMillans bingle to left. Karl Bailey opened for the Tar Heels with a slashing three - base drive to right and scored on Leak'c single through short. The score was tied in the third by Thompson's infield tap, a wild throw, and Hart's clean hit.

South Carolina came back and won in the sixth. Tommy McMillan, the Carolina League player, singled, stole, and counted when Rudisill hit. Perrit relieved Adams after this inning and held North Carolina safely. Aycock allowed but five hits, but they counted in the scoring. Leak hit hard and fine fielding was done by K Bailey and Edwards of the home team and Watts and McMillan of the vistors.

N. C.	1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0	2	9	4
S. C.	2 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0	3	5	3

Aycock and Hart; Adams, Perrit and Von Kolnitz,

The Varsity qefeated the V. P. I. team Monday in the last game of the season on the home grounds by the score of 7 to 3. The game was an attractive exhibition of base ball from the start to finish.

The Virginians onthit Carolina, Powell, Pick and Jones each slamming out a clean triple to the outter garden. Craven replaced Graves on the mound in the seventh inning.

Evans, the V P. I. firing-line gentlemen, allowed only five hits; but by linking together a combination of a few-titanic heaves over the back-stop's head and by handing out a round baker's dozen of free passes to the initial station. he figured rather prominently in the day's disaster. Legge. the bow-limbed third sacker for the visitors, allowed Carolina to chalk up three runs on a couple of loose plays. Edwards, for Carolina, permitted a grounder to crawl between his feet in the second inning which caused V. P. I. to tie the score. H. Bailey the, little Varsity tar-barrel, did the uncanny stunt of dropping a fly ball, which allowed the Virginians to score.

The scoring of the game progressed in the following manner. Carolina scored in the initial frame. Edwards scored on Legge's error at third. V. P. I tied the score in the fourth inning when Jones tripled to right—center and scored on Edwards' slip up. Carolina came back in the lower birth of the fourth and tallied two runs when Karl Bailey hit a clean single over second. In the fifth inning the Virginians scored a man on Bruce's two bagger. Carolina scored two men in the seventh when Legge threw wild to catcher. V. P. I. scored her last point when H. Bailey dropped a stave out of his tar—barrel. Carolina's last two runs came when Johnson drove in one with a single and the pitcher scored the other on a final wild heave to catcher.

FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

Sweaters to Be Awarded for Proficiency in Different Lines

On Saturday afternoon May 17 th there will be held a spring football tournament. It will begin at three o'clock. Sweaters will be awarded to the winners. A sweater will be given to each of the following: the best punter, drop kicker, passer, tackler and catcher. All University students who will return next year and are eligible to and will try for the team then are invited to enter the tournament. The judges in the contest will base their decisions on the following points in the various events

Punting- Average distance, quickness of kick, number of steps taken, and placing of punt.

Drop-kicking - Average distance, quickness of kick, and accuracy. (Place kicking from a center pass may be substituted for dropping.)

Passing - Distance, accuracy of pass to stationary and moving objects.

Tackling - The number of times a runner is stopped and the distance gained after he is tackled both when the runner is sent through narrow lines and when given greater latitude.

Catching - Catching passes and kicks on the run, getting the ball when not in motion upon the ground and getting it when rolling. When the ball is fallen upon the time taken to regain the catcher's speed will be considered.

On Saturday evening of the same day a written examination on football rules willbe given. The person making one hundred percent on the examination will be given a sweater also.

The judges will be Drs. Mangum, Royster, Lawson, Profs. Patterson, and Howell.

WAKE GOUNTY CLUB LOOKS AHEAD

The Wake County club met last Wednesday night and elected the following officers for next year. Seymour Whiting, President; O. M. Marshburn, Vice-Pres.; C. W. Beckwith Sec-Tres. By beginning this early to make plans for next year the members have determined to make their club the most active in college. The enthusiasm of the members was evinced by their deciding to meet in Raleigh next August and to invite to this meeting all the prospective High School students in the county.

JACK HEGARTY GOES TO A. AND M.

Jack Hegarty, captain of the 1912 Georgetown football team, has been engaged to assist Coach Eddie Greene in developing the A. and M. football team for 1913 Hegarty played end and tackle at Georgetown and was regarded as one of the best Southern players.

There were numerous times when Carolina had the S. B. O. sign hung out on the bases; but the Virginia twirler arose to the occasion, pulling himself out of bad situation. Cap. Edwards gave a stell exhibition of ball in his last game on the University diamond

The score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene offers exceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and equaled few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

OUR PLATFORM

As this is the next to the last issue of The Tar Heel that we shall get out this year and as we desire to devote the editorial page of the last issue to a consideration of the University, what it has done this year, and what it is, we take this occasion to state briefly what The Tar Heel has advocated this year.

1—The unification of the University community and spirit by still better relations between the faculty and students, by the abolition of the monoply on mid-term dances, and by everybody's getting behind and pushing the things that concern the whole University regardless of factions.

2—Progressive and constructive work for the upbuilding of the University, its organizations its usefulness, and its spirit; and to this end the fostering of a spirit that will force even man who has ability to go out and work to help develop the best teams for our contests and the best output for our publications—and not to knock. Under this comes the all-year practice of all forms of athletics.

3—Instruction in general physiology and hygiene

4—The constructive advertising of the University by the students.

All of which may be summarized by the students, the University, and the state.

THE TWO WORLDS

"There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hue them how we will—"

said a member of the Dramatic Club on a dark night as he rounded the nintey degree angle at the Sigma Nu hall and started towards the Methodist Church en route to the Post Office. That was truet.

"Damn." he exclaimed six seconds later as he stepped into a mud puddle with a new pair of shoes. That was life.

Some of the students still trust to luck on their quizzes or do not crack a book until the night before exams. Three out of the four churches on the Hill stick to the common communion cup. A merchant still drives an automobile. And the University does not keep a light on the dark corner by the Sigma Nu hall. While on class day the seniors will very probably continue the ancient custom of smoking the pipe of peace.

There are the world of trust and the world of life. The world of trust never changes, while the world of life is never twice the same.

NEXT YEAR

On Saturday night at the meetings of the two societies and next week at the meeting of the Athletic Association there will come up a number of important matters for consideration, and there will be a large number of offices to fill by elections. There are so many of these offices to fill that we all tend to get rather tired before the meetings are over and sometimes rush men through without careful consideration in order that we may get the meeting over with so as to leave and do something else. The results of this haste and thoughtlessness are reaped one and two years later in an Athletic deficit, a Magazine that costs the societies twice as much as it should, an unsatisfactory Yackety Yack, and several bad whatnots.

As a result of bad elections several years ago we this year have been fighting against and handicapped by a deficit in the Athletic Association and one in the accounts of the University Magazine of a previous year. The Athletic Association managerships and the Magazine managership of a very shortly anterior date have been causing those who are here now a great deal of trouble. The cause of this tronble was that some students two or three years ago got tired at a meeting and rushed things through. They got out a little earlier but we poor suckers have caught the mischief as the result of it.

The results of these elections will be felt next year and for several years to come.

"Verbum Sapienti ——"

CLASS DAY

Class Day is usually the most enjoyable day of Commencement Exercises. Then the seniors for the last time meet together around the Davie Poplar, sing their songs, read their last will and testiment, make known to the world the glorious history of themselvesas as a class, listen to the prophets foretell their fates, and then smoke the pipe of peace ere departing the classic shade of this secluded spot for the great untried. We should like to suggest one addition to the accepted ceremonies of that day. That addition is in the nature of a subistution: It is that instead of merely having a pipe of peace, we have a last farewell peace smoker, and thus end our career with one of the happiest institutions that our muchly instituting class has instituted. After the other exercises of the afternoon are over and the last greatest accomplishment of good old '13 has been prophesied, instead of going each to his (and her) supper, why not stay around the base of the poplar and have a few sandwiches and cakes a la picnic? It would be a last and a pleasant innovation with which for the class to bring their progressive career to a close.

REAL MUSIC BY NATIVE ARTISTS

On Monday, May 4, the best musical performance of the year will be given in Gerrard Hall. The artists will be Mr. Henry Meeks (he of the soulful tenor), Mr. Preston Epps, a recently discovered baritone singer of the class of 1916, and Mr. Reginald Mallett, the pianist who needs only to let his hair grow to become famous the world over. These three stars have prepared a program of a high degree of merit and those who have heard them know how well they can carry it out. Music lovers in the community are looking forward eagerly to this opportunity of hearing high class music interpreted by high class artists. The concert is for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. and is under the management of Walter Stokes.

TWO GAMES SPLIT

South Carolina Wins and V. P. I. Loses Last Home Contest

In one of the most exciting games of the season South Carolina won from North Carolinr on the 25th, 3 to 2. The varsity out hit the visitors but stupid base-running broke up the many chances. Both teams started off at a lively clip, South Carolina making two runs on Schulers double, a muffed fly, a passed ball, and McMillans bingle to left. Karl Bailey opened for the Tar Heels with a slashing three-base drive to right and scored on Leak'c single through short. The score was tied in the third by Thompson's infield tap, a wild throw, and Hart's clean hit.

South Carolina came back and won in the sixth. Tommy McMillan, the Carolina League player, singled, stole, and counted when Rudisill hit. Perrit relieved Adams after this inning and held North Carolina safely. Aycock allowed but five hits, but they counted in the scoring. Leak hit hard and fine fielding was done by K Bailey and Edwards of the home team and Watts and McMillan of the vistors.

Aycock and Hart; Adams, Perrit and Von Kolnitz,

The Varsity qefeated the V. P. I. team Monday in the last game of the season on the home grounds by the score of 7 to 3. The game was an attractive exhibition of base ball from the start to finish.

The Virginians onthit Carolina, Powell, Pick and Jones each slamming out a clean triple to the outter garden. Craven replaced Graves on the mound in the seventh inning.

Evans, the V P. I. firing-line gentlemen, allowed only five hits; but by linking together a combination of a few-titanic heaves over the back-stop's head and by handing out a round baker's dozen of free passes to the initial station. he figured rather prominently in the day's disaster. Legge. the bow-limbed third sacker for the visitors, allowed Carolina to chalk up three runs on a couple of loose plays. Edwards, for Carolina, permitted a grounder to crawl between his feet in the second inning which caused V. P. I. to tie the score. H. Bailey the, little Varsity tar-barrel, did the uncanny stunt of dropping a fly ball, which allowed the Virginians to score.

The scoring of the game progressed in the following manner. Carolina scored in the initial frame. Edwards scored on Legge's error at third. V. P. I tied the score in the fourth inning when Jones tripled to right—center and scored on Edwards' slip up. Both teams made many errors. Williams and Leak handled numerous pop flies in a clean manner and Thompson held on to several long drives.

STOKES ADDESSES GRAHAMITES

Manager Walter Stokes of the track team went to Graham Saturday and presented to the track athletes of Friendship School the cup and medals which they won at the state interscholastic meet and the east central district meet, both of which were held in Chapel Hill, April the 9. The occasion of the presentation was a big educational rally in Alamance County incident to the school commencements. According to the state papers Mr. Stokes' rewards were received with great applause.

UNIVERSTY SERMON

Rev. R. C Craven preaches last one of year

At 11 o'clock Sunday morning Rev. R. C. Craven of Durham delivered the last University sermon of the year before the students in Gerrard Hall. Mr. Craven preached one of the most powerful and compelling sermons of the year. His text is found in Gen. 28: 16, "And Jacob awaked out of his sleep and said 'Surely God has been in this place and I knew it not.'" The theme of the sermon was the false distinctions which Jacob had set up about his god and his religion. He had left his father's home through fear of an enraged brother. He had, he thought, left his old life behind him when he left Isaac's threshold.

But in the wilderness he found the God of his fathers, and "he was afraid." Jacob had been accustomed to associate God with his father's home, at certain times, and under special circumstances. Like Jacob, we of the 20th century, very often set up false distinctions. We set up a supernatural world into which we put God, and a natural world in which is nothing good. This is not however, the teaching of Jesus. This philosophy of this life is not one of repression, but one of expression. "All things are yours" on this condition that you are Jesus's and he is God's.

Jesus sounded the note not only of dominion but also of service. Jacob had wished to be the medium of communication between his people and God—not, however, for service but for pride and selfishness. Jesus wished to be first not for the prize but for service. "He that would be greatest among you, let him become the servant of all." He who would save others must give himself for others. The speaker brought this idea out with great force. "To you young men, who for the next quarter of a century are going to serve largely," he put the question, "What is your idea of service? Is your ideal selfishness or altruism? will you strive to be like Jacob or like Christ? Every opportunity you have here, every favor, every lesson is God's. It is God's for service. The Lord God grant that you may be frithful to every trust he has given you"

Here is a garland of roses for the Carolina band and rooters, whose spirited work Wednesday won the admiration of friend and foe. Never in aud observation have we seen such a display of spirit under aduerse conditions. Apparently beaten from the beginning, when their opponents scored five runs, the 200 Carolina rooters gave encouragement to their team, cheered it onward, instilled in it their fighting spirit and did not say quit until the winning run was scored. To do all this on hostile territory, when the team seemed destined to a severe drubbing, reqires college spirit of a high type. Frank P. Grhham led the company of rooters and Wilbur F. Royster directed the band. The music rendered by the Chapel Hill boys was classy. They are coming back for the game with Wake Forest next week. The cadet band too, was there with the music and the two organizations gave the spectators the worth of their money. The spirit at the game was good.

COMMENCEMENT TO OCCUPY JUNE 1-4

Vice-President Marshall Will Deliver the Regular Commencement Address

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT MONDAY

Exercises Begin with Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday. Monday Will Be Class Day and Tuesday Alumni Day. Wednesday Closes.

Among others the President of another College, a Bishop, the Governor, and a Vice-President will assemble on the Hill during the first four days in June to celebrate the fact that seventy-five young men have completed their college courses. The exercises start on Sunday morning in Gerrard Hall when Rev. Mullins delivers the Baccalauraete sermon. In the evening Rev. Sib'ey, a Yale man, will deliver the Y. M. C. A. sermon.

Monday is Senior day. After forming at Memorial Hall, the Seniors march to the Chapel and there, alone as a class, unite in solemn prayer. After this, perminent class officers will be slected, and other final class business attended to. After a short recess they again meet in public gathering and hear the closing address of President Stokes and the Class History. President Venable then takes charge and conducts the Mangum Medal contest. The preliminaries will be held Saturday and four men selected from the following: G. B. Phillips, T. E. Story, H. C. and W. R. Petteway, J. C. Busby, E. R. Rankin, Fred Morrison, D J. Walker, W. G. Harry, Horace Sisk, J. H. Workman, and G. Craig.

At four that afternoon Governor Craig will make an address at the unveiling of the Soldiers Monument placed at the North end of the campus by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Then for the last time the Seniors will assemble around the Davie Poplar, smoke the Pipe of Peace, read their last Will and Testament, and hear the class prophecy. Then the Juniors will be called in and the Campus turned over to them with fitting ceremonies. Some changes and additions may be made to the usual order of Senior Day exercises.

That night D. J. Walker will preside as toast master over the Inter-Society banquet at Commons Hall. E. R. Rankin for the Di and W. R. Petteway for the Phi society will speak. Tam Bowie is the Di Alumni speaker but the Phi speaker is not yet definitely decided upon.

Tuesday will be turned over to the Alumni and it promises to be a full day. Starting with Bishop Strange's address in the morning and lasting until the Reception in thh Lebrary at 10 P. M. the day is full of class reunions, meetings, speeches and luncheons. The Inter-Society debate will be on the following question: "Resolved; That those decisions of the state courts of last resort declaring unconstitutional legislation passed by legislative bodies should be subject to recall by voters of the state in question." The Di Society, represented by Webster and J. E. Holmes, has the affirmative. Whiting and Peel, of the Phi, defend the negative.

On Wednesday the speech of Mr. Marshall Vice-President of the United States, and the regular Commencement day exercises will close the four days program.

COMPULSORY ATHLETIC FEE

Manager McLendon Tells Why It Is Needed

A registration fee of $ 2.50, to be paid in September and January of each year by every student registering is, as I see it, the only solution of the problem we are facing. This is the only plan that will provide a certain income every year. It provides a basis upon which to work and a standard by which the expenditures can be regulated. Each department of athletics, base ball, foot ball, basket ball and track can have a portion of this fund allotted to it and thus make each more or less independant of base ball and foot ball.

Every student in the University aught to sign a petition to the Board of Trustees asking that this method of financing the Athletic Association be put into effect in September.

Look for notices of meetings held for this purpose and lets be there and see that every man in college is there.

L. P. McLendon.

PIEDMONT GRAND OPERA

Baritone and "Soulful" Tenor Captivate Audience

Wednesday evening The Piedmont Grand Opera Company, which is made up of musicians from our midst and organized by a financier from the same place, gave its concert in Gerrard Hall to a small but appreciative audience composed largely of the faculty and their families. Messrs. Epps and Meeks, baritone and "souful" tenor, respectively with Mr. Mallet as officiator at the piano composed the company. Mr. Epps and Mr. Meeks alternated on the program with the exception of a couple of numbers which were duets. They were both liberally applauded and encored. The general opinion of the audiance seemed to be that the concert far excelled any in the way of the star course with which the place has been afflicted for the past several years. The Piedmont Grand Opera Company was a distinct hit.

CAROLINA FIFTH IN TRACK MEET

Carolina took fifth place in the S. A. I. A.A. with only 12 points. Virginia won the meet easily with 45 points. Hopkins, V. P. I., and Georgetown followed respectively. A. & M. followed Carolina with Washington and Lee last.

Strong was at his standard, taking 2nd in the pole vault on 11 ft. Homewood tied for 3rd and 4th in the vault. Patterson and Spence took 2nd and 3rd in the mile.

Cobb took 3rd in the 2 mile and Sears 4th in the 220.

GREAT SUMMER SCHOOL EXPECTED

Preperations Made Fo Accommodating Six Hundred Students

INSTRUCTION IN NINETEEN SUBJECTS

The Largest Enrollment Yet Is Expected By those In Charge. Good Corps of Instructors and Lecturers Booked

The twenty-sixth session of the University Summer School for Teachers will open Wednesday June 11, and continue for a term of six weeks, closing Wednesday 23rd. The school will be in session six days each week, beginning at 8;30 on Tuesday morning June 12. Instruction will be given in nineteen subjects ranging all the way from the languages, through the sciences and mathematics, to nature study and music. Some thirty instructors will teach these subjects in sixty courses.

In addition to the instruction given on the classes, there will be lectures given by prominent men from all over the country for the benefit of those who attend the summer school. A good series of these have been arranged. They will be both instructive and interesting

Prof. Walker, the Director of the Summer School, is making great preparations for a crowd this year. Last summer there were something over four hundred and fifty students enrolled. This year he expects over six hundred.

VARSITY SOUSED UNDER

Immersed 8 to 2 by Water Babies

The Water Babies soused the varsity in Durham Monday afternoon by 8 immersions to Carolina's 2. Smith was in the box for Wake Forest and held the local sluggers to four hits. The features of the game were Phil Utley's home run, for Wake Forest and the fast field work of both teams. Cap. Edwards, for Carolina, smashed out a clean triple at a critical stage in the game. Other sluggers were Billings and Gooch for Wake Forest, each garnering a triple.

Wake Forest started early in the game with the run-getting, procuring 4 runs in the first inning. The game was won then, but the Water Babies added 4 more runs before they were stopped in the fifth inning. Carolina scored 1 run in the second and eighth innings, respectively.

The attendance was "bum", less than 500 spectators sitting on the grandstand and bleachers. Another game between Wake Forest and Carolina will be played today, Thursday, in Raleigh; and if Carolina takes this one, a third one will be played on Saturday.

Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Carolina	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 -	4 -	2
W. F.	4 1 0 2 1 0 0 0 0 8 -	8 -	5

COBURN PLAYERS MONDAY

Will Give "A Comedy of Errors", and "Romeo and Juliet"

The Coburn Players, whose performances are remembered with pleasant appreciation by all who have seen them on the Hill, will be here Monday May 12 and give a couple of Shakespeare's plays under the green-wood tree. In the afternoon they will present upon the especially constructed stage on the campus behind the Alumni Building, "A Comedy of Errors," and in the evening at the same place "Romeo and Juliet." Both will be open air peformances.

The Coburn Players are one of the most important organizations presenting classic drama. This company goes over the country, especially the southern states, giving their entertainments exclusively in the open air beneath the trees. They have made a great reputation by their production of Shakespeare's plays.

The company has its own costuming establishment, and is always strong in this department.

Their return here this year to give two more plays promises a treat to all those who enjoy good dramatics.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Elects Officers To Serve Next Year

At a meeting of the General Athletic Associotion held Tuesday night, the following officers were elected for next year: M. T. Spears, president of the association; B. D. Applewhite, vice-president; J. T. Pritchett, secretary. Carl Taylor was elected manager of the baseball team, with R. E. Little and E. J. Lilley as assistrnts. George Whitaker was elected manager of the track team with Tom Gilman and Dennis Lee as assistants. Lenoir Chambers was elected editor in chief of the Tar Heel and W. P. Fuller got the managing editor's job. The associate editors elected are T. C. Lynn, G. A. Mebane. J. S. Cansler, S. W. Whiting and W. G. Guthrie. The business end of the Tar Heel will be looked after by L. R. Johnston, business manager, and B. L. Field and C. E. Erwin, assistants. Oscar Leach was elected representative-at-large on the Athletic Council.

With the close of this year the Athletic Association finds itself in debt as badly as ever and a little worse than it was at the beginning of the year. Again we are face to face with the problem of how to borrow money ou fath. Something must be done.

Carolina Takes Second

In the Southern Inter-Collegiate Tennis Tournament held at Columbia S. C on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Carolina came out second, losing only to Clemson, the winner of first place in the struggle for Southern supremacy on the tennis court.

PEABODY BUILDING AND CONFERENCE

New Building Dedicated and High School Conference Held on Hill

MANY EDUCATORS PRESENT FOR EXERCISES

Prominent Educators from all over the state and from outside attended the conference and dedication, and take part in them.

The High School Conference and dedication of the Peabody Education Building, which was held in Chapel Hill last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, May 1, 2, and 3, was a most notable event.

Between sixty and seventy-five visitors among them county and city superintendents, high school principals and college professors from all over the State were present for these exercises.

The committee in charge of arrangements, composed of Profs. Walker, Noble, and Chase, has arranged a most excellent program, and this was well carried out. The first session was held in Gerrard Hall Thursday afternoon. Prof. N. W. Walker presided, and the topic for discussion was "The Place and Function of the Secondary School in a system of General Education". This was discussed by Prof. E. C. Brooks of Trinity College; Supt. Zebulon Judd, of the County Schools; Supt. R. J. Tighe, of the Asheville schools, Dr. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute; and Dr. H. H. Horne, of New York University, whose paper, however, on "Modern Tendencies in the High School" was not presented until the evening session.

At the evening session Thursday Dr. H. W. Chase presided, the topic for discussion being "Standards of Efficiency of the Secondary Schools". Papers on this were presented by Sup. Edwin D. Pusey, of the Goldsboro schools; Prof. J. A. Matherson, of the State Normal; and Dr. George W. Lay, president of St Mary's, Raleigh. Sup R. H. Latham, of Winston Salem, and Supt. Martin L. Wright, of Holly Springs, who was scheduled for papers had been unable to come.

On Friday morning and afternoon departmental conferences were held on the teachings of the various high school subjects. Much interest was taken in them both by the school men present and by students of the University.

DEDICATION OF PEABODY BUILDING

The dedication exercises were held in Gerrard Hall Friday evening. President F. P. Venable presided. Invocation was made by Rev. W. T. D. Moss. In a few words President Venable extended a hearty welcome to all present. Responses were given by Dr. J. I. Foust, on behalf of the State Schools and Colleges; by Prof. J. H. Highsmith, on behalf of private aud demominational institutions; by Zebulon Judb, on behalf of the county schools and by Sup. J. J. Blair, of Wilmington, on behalf of the city schools.

LAST TIME AT BAT

As this is the last issue of The Tar Heel for the year we desire to express our pleasure in our work on it during the year, to extend to the new editors and managers our best wishes for greater success with it next year, to summarize some of the chief movements in the college this year, and to review some of the strong points of the University. So let us consider the first two done, and devote ourselves to the latter two.

THE YEAR

After the first rude shock caused by the unfortunate death of young Rand last fall, and the second shock caused by the calamitous termination of the most disastrous football season in the history of the institution had somewhat spent themselves, the University settled down to probably the most constructive year's work in its history. For aside from the success of some of the various student activities —especially the production of a good Dramatic Club, a good Glee Club and Orchestra, and the maintainance of our high records in tarck work and debating—there have been started here this year some half dozen movements that are destined to result in much good to the state and to the Universiuy. They differ in degrees of importance, but they are all major accomplishments.

The formation of the Greater Council was a good thing. The Council has already done much, not the least of which was the putting through of the Inter-Scholastic Track Meet here. And the annual recurrence of this meet will be a great stimulation to track athletics in the high school and the prep schools of the state. The taking over of athletics to a large extent by the alumni and the determining by them that Carolina shall have good athletics will mean much to our teams. The establishment of the High School Debating union, in which ninety schools participated this year, will mean a great deal to debating in the high schools and will mean a great deal to the state. The formation of an Association of County Clubs for the study of all kinds of conditions in the various counties, with the idea of remedying any bad ones, was another big and potent idea put into working shape. While the instituting of class smokers as a method of bringing together the members of the classes and stimulating the social life of the place fills a distinct need.

Another thing that has been instituted this year deserves a paragraph to itself. It is the Extension Committee of the University which has been established It is composed of members of the faculty. The object of it is to extend in the fullest manner possible the benefits of the University to all parts and sections of the state. This year it has helped with the Debating Union and furthered the idea of the Inter-Scholastic Track Meet. It has sent out books to schools and colleges over the entire state. It has sent two bulletins to press. During the Summer School it will hold a rural Life week, the proceedings of which will be published as a third bulletin. This shows something of what the Extension Committee is trying to do. It should be a great thing for the state.

All these things mean much for the future. They mean a greater and better University that can more efficiently serve the state in the future because it can more efficiently serve the people of the state—both these who come here and those who cannot.

These principal innovations are:
(1) Greater Council
(2) Class Smokers
(3) Alumni Responsibility for Athletics
(4) High School Debating Union
(5) Inter-Scholastic Track Meet
(6) Association of County Clubs
(7) Extension Committee of University.

THE UNIVERSITY

In point of actual service the University of North Carolina is the oldest state University in the Union, having been opened to students in 1795. The two literary societies, the Phi and the Di, were established in the same year, and are, with one exception, the two oldest college literary societies in the United States. Both the University and the Societies have long and honorable records of service to the state and to the nation.

Here all sects, creeds, parties, all shades of thought and opinion find room for expansion and self expression. A spirit of tolerance pervades the place. It allows the other man to have his own opinion also. Besides this spirit of tolerance there is a spirit of work here. This spirit is evidenced in the scientific department as well as in any. For example, the University easily leads all Southern institutions in the extent and value of its original research and scientific investigtions.

The University is composed of seven schools. They are - the School of Liberal Arts, of Applied Science, the Graduate School, the School of Law, of Medicine, of Pharmacy, and of Education. These departments are so efficient in their equipment and work that in the report just issued by Dr. K. C. Babcock, Specialist in Higher Education in the United States Bureau of Education, the University of North Carolina is rated with the best universities of the country. Dr. Babcock's list of the colleges is divided into three main groups, the first two groups having two subgroups each, making a total of five divisions. The University of North Carolina is graded in the first division of the first group. This mean that a student taking work here can go to any other institution of higher education in the United States and enter there just where he left off here, getting credit for all the work done here just as though it had been done there He enters there with the same collegiate rank as he leaves here. North Carolina is one of the few southern universities given this rating. The rating is based on the opinion that the great graduate schools of the country have of the work of the colleges and upon a careful personal investigation and comparison made by the expert himself. This investigation is exhaustive. The principal factors that it is based on are - the number of departments and courses of instruction in the college, the entrance requirements, the number, character and training of the faculty, the equipment, the requirements for degrees, and the general atmosphere and spirit of the place. This rating is the highest endorsement that can be given the efficiency of the Unsversity.

Aside from this general standing of the University, it is pre-eminent in one branch of work - the scientific. No other southern institution offers the opportunities for instrnction in the Siencies that North Carolina does. Her supremacy here is well established among southern institutinns.

For the athletic teams next year we will have the best coaches that can be obtained. Besides Dr. Lawson for the gynasium, Nat Cartmell for track and basketball, Trenchard for Varsity football, and Kluttz for class football, the Alumni Athletic Council have authorized Coach Trenchard to secure the services of two of the best football coaches that can be found in the East to help him. The Alumni Council will also see to it that the baseball team has a coach or coaches as good as can be obtained.

OUR SWAN SONG

Safely through another year, O! Uncalendared Muse, hast thou piloted to the sweet Nirvanna o'er storm tossed ways the goodly hull of The Tar Heel and hast brought to rest amongst the spendid company of its glorious predecessors its own gentle, soporific columns, there to ripen through the eons upon the well earned fields of Thothic immortality, and ever to inspire mrotals by its great work and clear thoughts to seek as the highest good a similar life of sweet accomplishment and philosophic living. For all of these things, Most Gracious Muse, are we truly thankfull. And to those also, the mortals, who by their advertisements, their subscriptions, their unselfish and interested work, their support, and their antagonism have made possible its successful publication and have contributed towards the many beautiful sheckles of silver and gold that now adorn the acounts of our great general of men and of finances within the spacious vaults of the Athletic Association, we return thanks and extend felicitations. To us it has been a pleasure alloyed seldom with disagreeable or regrettable contingencies to offer up weekly as chief priest the oxen for sacrifice. To those to whom the sacrifice may have proven unacceptable we extend our condolences. We regret their unacceptableness: but they were always slain with a clean knife and a clear conscience. So our condolences are all we can offer.

To those, the others, to whom our sacrifices were acceptable—our hearty appreciations.

Yet once more, O! Patient Muse, do we return thanks ere guiding our gentle barge" into the sweet Nirvanna where the silence lives."

STUDENTS' HELP NEEDED

Coach Trenchard Makes Constructive Suggestions

We need and solicit the corperation of every student.

Go after former members of teams and persuade them to return next year.

If their return seems doubtful persist until you find the difficulty. The diagnosis of a disease is often more difficult than the remedy

See all the men you can who are going to college, or should go, give me all the avaliable information, and during the Summer write me, answering my letters promptly and dont be afraid of telling me about some man you fear I have heard of before, for I would rather hear about him many times than not at all. Try to get all the men you see or hear about Carolina.

All men who intend trying for their class teams, scrub, and Varsity should stop all kinds of dissipations during the Summer. They should do hard labor without let up or favor until they are thoroughly satisfied that they have the strength and stamina of a well developed man. If it is not possible to do this during the months of July and August, certainaly the whole of August should be utilized. This work is very important for the foundation of football, which will be harder than any Summer work. A man stands a much better opportunity of possing the weeding-out process, and will escape many of the minor injuries peculiar to the preliminary work.

All men who are physically able must come out and try for the teams. If they do not it's due either to lack of sand, or lack of college spirit, and one is as bad as the other.

The student body must see these men and make them come out; encourage the teams by attending practices and cutting out the joshing and unseemly mirth, which discourages the men and angers the opponents: take more interest in your class teams, for they can be made our greatest athletic feeders; in fact make them feel they are your representatives and as such they have your never failing support, but that in turn you demand their best efforts at all times.

The men, who come here without any preliminary athletic training must not be discouraged if they make a poor showing but determine to play on their scrub or class team for one or two years in order to get the coaching and development neccessary for Varsity men. It will be one of their most valuable life lessons-persistent and unceasing effort.

I wish to call the attentiou of men, who are doing outside work to earn money, and do not ueed it, to the fact that they are pursuing a very selfish course and are keeping this work from those who need it badly. I want them to turn it over to some fellow student, who needs it.

We want the patronage of the whole student body to any business that the Athletic Association may undertake for its advantage and that of needy athletes.

The alumni are doing more than its share to help our athletics, but it will have no effect without the hearty cooperation of the student. Let's all get together and whoop it up for U. N. C.

T. G. Trenchard Coach.

TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
SINCE 1834 THIS SCHOOL HAS OCCUPIED A DISTINCT POSITION IN THE MEDICAL EDUCATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the recent reports from the Carnegie Foundation and the national institutions of authority, Tulane has been uniformly classed among the leading medical colleges of the country.

The students are charged fees which are commensurate with those charged at other institutions, which are smaller than the fees charged at any institution with equal facilities of education.

The Charity Hospital and the Touro Infirmary annually elect over twenty resident physicians from among the graduates of Tulane and additionally afford clinics and amphitheatre teaching for the education of Junior and Senior students.

With over a thousand beds at the Charity Hospital and the annual consultation clinic of over thirty thousand, together with the opportunities of the Touro, students are afforded material for the observation of a variety of diseases which is enormous and incalculable in importance.

The equipment of this department of Tulane represents the investment in a number of buildings erected for the purpose of medical education, and these include laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Pharmacy, Pharmacology, Physiology, Anatomy, Histology, Botany, Pathology and Bacteriology, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and, in addition, special laboratories of research, all of which total in value an amount which may be estimated at over a million and a half dollars. The recently established Department of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene offers exceptional opportunities to the Southern student.

Over one hundred teachers contribute to the lectures and other periods of study so that every student who comes to the Tulane Medical Department receives encouragement and interest of those who have his education in charge.

Nearly five thousand graduates from this school have carried its teachings into practice among the people of the South chiefly, but as well to every part of the world.

With each advance in the requirements of medical education, the University of Louisiana has met all conditions, until today Tulane ranks in the first class of medical institutions of learning, with opportunities for clinical instruction which are unsurpassed in the United States and equaled few other places.

For the study of medicine at Tulane the student must come prepared with a preliminary education in the elementary subjects taught in the high school and with one year of added knowledge in the sciences, obtained in a standard college.

DEPARTMENT OF PHARMACY ALSO.—Established 1838. Two graded courses of thirty-two weeks each for degrees of Ph. C. Pure food and Drug courses offered to students properly qualified. Women admitted to Pharmacy courses on the same terms as men.

Following these responses, Dr. J. Y. Joyner delivered a strong address on: "The Need for a Broader and Deeper Professional Training for teachers". He showed plainly the need for this in North Carolina. Dr. H. H. Horne, a distinguished alumnus of the University and now professor in New York Uuiversity spoke next on: "The Eunction of a School of Education in a State University." He reviewed the State's educational statds and showed how the School of Education could best serve the people of the State. Prof. M. C. S. Noble. Dean of the School, was the last of the speakers. Realizing his dream of fifteen years in having a seperate building for his department, he said that it would be his purpose to strive harder than ever for the general education of the people, elementary as well as secondary. At the conclusion of these exercises a reception was held in the Peabody Building.

On Satnrday morning, the reports of the different committees and the outlining of a a definate "constructive plan for high school development brought to a close the Conference.

GREATER COUNCIL MEETS

Plans Smoker And Makes Recommendations

At the last meeting of the Greater Council for the year it was decided to recommend to the various classes that they elect the members of the Greater Council this Spring and that they elect them immediately after the choosing of class Presidents to assure the securinofg good men.

It was planned to hold an informal smoker at 7:30 on the Saturday evening after exams. and to have present the members of the retiring and incoming body. At this gathering Frank Graham will review the work done in the past year and briefly outline the work that ought to be done in the next year.

On Friday morning at Chapel the student body will be asked to r. tify or reject the following proposition: To wit "That the representative on the Student Council heretofore elected by the Council itself from the Senior class need not necessarily come from the Senior class but may come from the Junior class, post-Graduate School, or any of the professional schools provided that he has heretofore served on the Student Council. The object of this proposed change is to assure getting a man on the council who has had experience in the methods and procedure of the body.

Championship Unsettled

O you class championship. The Soph—Junior game last Friday left the contest still unsettled. If the Juniors had won the Freshmen would have had it—but they didnt. The Sophs overtook a five run lead in the last three innings and took the game in the tenth 8 to 6.

Friday as you may remember, was as hot as blazes; so when Lipscomb went in the box his team mates went to sleep and when they woke up the Juniors had six runs. Even the score keeper doesn't know how it all happened exactly. Three of these were gathered in that inning in which every man on the infield made on error or wild throw except Lipscomb. But the lucky seventh came around. Fuller's three bagger and an overthrow counted for two runs. In the eighth "Ab" hid one under the right field fence and was around and had drunk two cups of water before Applewnite got tired of chasing it. In the ninth, Foust, Whitaker, Edgerton and some of those other valient Sophs rapped on "Si" Long for two runs, which, as you may have observed, tied the score.

In the tenth the Sophs made two more and then after letting two Juniors on bases retired the side thereby securing the right to play the Freshmen for the championship. By the way, that game might be worth seeing. Come out.

The two most important committees in the University for next year are the High School and the Inter-Collegiate Debating Union committees. The men on the committees are; for the High School: N. J. Walker, E. R. Wilson, E. R. Rankin, Sec., Cantsler, Dunnigan, Pugh, Kornegy, and J. G. Lee; for the Inter-Collegiate, Pritchett (Chr), H. S. Willis, G. A. Martin, S. W. Whiting, M. S. Peel, and T. C. Boushall.

M. R. Duunagan has been elected a Commencement Marshall by the Juniors in place of R. T. Allen who has left college.

Mrs. Almston and daughter are visiting Mrs. Holmes.

Literateurs Elected

"Vote for Jones for Yackety Yack Editor. Naw, Smith is the best man for the place. He is fine in mechanical drawing." Or "What's the matter with Brown? He is a good track man. Who is a fit man for the Magazine?"

Thus it was the whole of last week. But it is all over now but the work. The Di. and Phi. Societies have held elections. Hopes, plans, politics have simmered down thusly.

Phi Elections. Yackety Yack. S. W. Whiting, Editor-in-chief. K. C. Royall, W. P. Fuller, Tom Boushall, Assistants. Magazine. B. D. Applewhite, Editor-in-chief. W. P. Fuller, J. L. Bryan, C. A. Bosman, Assistants- J. E. Turlington, P. Woolcott, Assistant Business Managers.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1913 NO. 1

ATHLETIC CHANGES SINCE SPRING

Compulsory Athletic Fee.--Co-Operative Store and Agencies.

COACH TRENCHARD MAINLY RESPONSIBLE.

Organized Effort to Arrange High School Football,and to Aid Needy Students to Support Tnemselves.

We face entirely new athletic conditions. The haphazard methods of the past have gone to the srap heap and have been replaced by an aggressive, syst-e matic policy. Coach Trenchard is the man chiefly responsicle. He is a "twelve months" a year coach, not the usual ninety day brand. The new compulsory athletic fee, suggested by "Ratty" Ransom and put through by Trenchard, was the first step. This will bring over $2,000 this fall and wi'l but the Association on its feet financially, and with seven big games in large cities, the Association ought to come out ahead.

Then the University Supply Co. and its allied activities is intended to be developed into an entirely co-operative system. It is owned even now by the Athletic Association. Mr. Neville's store has been purchased, a students' Pressing Club has been established under the management of Wade Kornegay, and clothing agencies established, suits, haberdashery, and shoes will be handled. Also a collar agency has been secured. It is hoped that the profits from the Athletic store will pay for the football equipment. The varions agencies are intended to help support needy athletic students. A picture show will be started in the late fall or early spring.

Every effort is being made to stimulate football in the high schools, To this end, a state wide contest is being arranged by E. R. Rankin and C. E. Ervin, under Trenchard's supervision. The State will be divided into districts and the winners selected by competition as in the High School Debating Union. The final contest will be held on the Hill, the expenses to be paid by the Athletic Association. Coaches will be supplied to these teams whenever possible. Old Carolina men will be called upon to do this. Then a series of games is being arranged for the class teams with high schools and prep schools. These games will be for Freshman and Sophomore Classes. Tom Boushall and C. E. Ervin, under the direction of the Greater Council, are doing active work along this line. Arrangements are being made for twelve games, six here and six off the Hill. The expenses of these games will be partly paid by the General Athletic Association.

Lonnie Folger, '12, manager of the baseball team in '12 is back learning to be a lawyer.

UNIVERSITY OPENS

Perfect Order Prevails---Prospects Best In Years

At the ringing of the seven o'clock bell Thursday morniug, September 11, opened the collegiate year of 1913-14, which bids fair to be the most prosperous session that the University has ever seen. Never before has the number of registrations been so great nor the conduct of the students so orderly. Excellent order prevailed all over the campus both prior to and after the opening of College. This year there has been none of the military saluting which formerly characterized the return of students to the hill, and even the shouting of "Fresh" has been infrequent. Every student seems to realize that on him rests the duty of maintaining the dignity of the University and of acquainting the new men with the customs of the institution in which they at first feel unfamiliar. By this method the new material can be best assimilated. If this course of events continue—and we sincerely believe it will,—the University will have made another step forward, and other of our hopes will have been realized.

The increase of ten per cent over last year's fall registration bears witness to the success of last year's endeavors to attract new students to the hill. Both on the athletic field and in the class room we have new material of excellent quality, men who come to us highly recommended from other institutions as well as men who are at College for the first time. The increased attendance is due to the concerted action of faculty and Alumni, the untiring efforts of Coach Trenchard, and the success of the High School debating and athletic contests held here last spring. Nor is to be doubted that the excellent reprerentatives which we had last year in the Glee Club and Dramatic Club did much to gain favor for us throughout the State. While this increase is highly gratifying, yet we consider it only encouragement to make greater endeaver this year and increase the number of registrations next year to the thousand mark. The total registration up to Wednesday was 830.

Mr. Charles Venable has gone to Boston Tech. for a Masters Degree. He was in the Chemistry department last year.

COLLEGE NIGHT GREAT SUCCESS.

Speeches in Gerrard Hall. Reception in Library Immediately After.

IMPROMPTU TALKS BY THE COACHES.

The Success of the Reception Due Largely to the Work of Frank Graham and Phil Woolcott.

The College year of the University was from the standpoint of the campus, formerly opened Thursday evening the 11th, when the bell began to ring for "College night." Within a few minutes a gratifyingly eager crowd had gathered for this annual ceremony in the Chapel.

H. S. Willis, for the Y. M. C. A., president, introducing the respective speakers in turn. Between courses ex-Captain "Boxey" Tillett led yells in characteristic Boxey style.

First in order and importance was, of course, President Graham, who, equally of course, made an excellent talk. Interesting alike to old men and new, he spoke upon campus life from the campus standpoint. Briefly and clearly he pointed out the parallel and complementary value of elective college activities and the rather less voluntary classroom work. He ended with an exposition of the true "law of the campus" as the unexpressed, never phrased one of demanding always the highest standard and of measuring all things by it.

He was followed by Whiting who introduced the different University publications, explaining the place of each.

Next in order, Dean Taylor spoke on behalf of the Literary Societies, relating their proud past and present importance, and invitiug all new men to join one or the other.

After Shepherd Bryan had made a vigorous appeal for interest in dramatics and the Dramatic Club, Graduate manager McLendon claimed the floor for athletics. He demanded a spirit of cooperation by the students, and voiced a severe arrangnment of knockers

Next J. E. Holmes told of the activity of the Y. M. C. A., the different phases of its work. He ended by urging the need of more members. He was followed by Oscar Leach explaining student government.

This ended the program, but

IN THE OLD COUNTRY

Why Nat Didn't Run Jack Darson---Captain Pat's Good Showing

"Bloody Nat" and "Captain Pat" sailed from England on September 4, and are expected on the Hill this week to receive the big glad-shake. They left here early in June, landing in Scotland. Coach stayed in training at Parto Bello, near Edinburg, for about two months.

Pat went to Stanley Park, Liverpool. From that point he traveled around England and took a trip to Berlin, studying methods of training with the view of becoming himself a Track Trainer. The English fogs seem to have agreed with the Captain, for he got his own running down to 1:58⅜ on the half-mile and 51 on the quarter.

After Coach Cartmell had trained at Porto Bello he looked around for a bloody trophy. The juciest man he could find was Jack Darson, of Australia, who had broken the 300 yds. at 220 yds. (professional) records this summer, Nat made out a challenge for three races—120 yds., 220 yds, and 440 yds —the winner to possess the title of World's Champion Sprinter. Jack refused to accept this challenge. Then Coach offered to run Jack a 440 on a lined track on the condition that there should be only the two entries, each man backing himself with £100. This race was set for September 1. But at the last moment they tried to run a third man in, and Nat, wishing to run Jack Darson alone, withdrew from the race.

DR. POTEAT'S ADDRESS

Discusses Value of Bible Study.

On last Sunday night Dr. William L. Poteat, President of Wake Forest College, made an excellent address in Gerrard Hall. Tom Boushall, who is taking a leading part this year in Y. M. C. A. work, especially Bible study, presided, and introduced the speaker. Dr Poteat spoke interestingly, concisely, and clearly about religion, how it is to often mere form and convention and not an actuality in our daily life; how Y. M. C. A. seeks to avoid this state of affairs by mixing religion into our daily life. He showed how the Y. M. C. A. Bible class developes and rounds us out by keeping constantly before us a model of christian deportment, and how our vision becomes clouded and we wander out of Christian paths if we do not study the Bible. Dr. Poteat's address was greatly appreciated and we shall await with happy anticipation his next osjourn with us.

Mr. Manning Venable, who has been helping coach the football squad, has left for Johns Hopkins He is in the senio medical class there.

FOOT BALL PRACTICE OFF WITH A RUSH

Work Began Sept. 2nd With Twenty Men---Now Ninety

MATERIAL EXTREMELY PROMISING

Head Coach Trenchard Will Coach Ends, Wilson Will Look After The Line and Pendleton After the Backs

With practice starting full ten days ahead of college opening, with a fine bunch of material, and the best coaching staff in the South, Carolina's football prospects are truly good. Some twenty men reported the first day. The squad has grown daily until it has reached the number of ninety, and most of the men have had experience before. The results of spring practice are easily seen. The material is being rapidly whipped into shape. The first light scrimmage was held Saturday.

The entire coaching staff is from Princeton. They are: "Doggie" Trenchard, one of America's best ends, "Tol" Pendleton, a brilliant back field man, and Tom Wilson, a star line man. All three are "All American" players and have had coaching experience. Bluethenthal, also of Princeton, was here for the first week and will return for the close of the season. He is head line coach at Princeton this year. Tillet, last year captain, is here for ten days or two weeks He has the old pep. Kluttz, class coach, is at present working on the 'Varsity field.

Besides these men, Carolina Alumni will be here from time to time to help.

Of last year's first squad there are eleven back, seven being N. C. men; of the line, Jennings and Johnson, guards; Captain Abernathy, tackle; Homewood and Huske, ends, "Little"Abernathy, full and tackle; Tayloe; half. Orr, Monagram Man of 1911, is back. He played the line then but is now out for the back field. This is an excellent neuclus with which to begin building a team. Ervin and Long, two of the best last year scrubs are out this year. They will make somebody work. R. E. Little, a tackle, Foust, a line man, Don Harris, a hard working end, Hatch, a good line man, Dave Bigger, old Davidson man, S. B. Higgins, Ratty Ransom, and Wright are all good material.

Those trying for quarter back are Harry Grimsley, W. H. Oates, and J. L. Orr. Oates was quarter last year for the second and third teams at different times. Good men from last year class teams are W. Lord, S. Liendeau, J. M. Parker, E. S. Reid, Clide Fore, W. P. Fuller, F. H. Higdon and J. F. Love.

Among the new men is a lot of good material. Tandy from Jacksonville, Ill., plays center. Edwards, a Guilford man is big and shows promise. McCall has the weight—230 lbs. Burnett of Asheville, Burnett Brothers of GOOD WISHES.

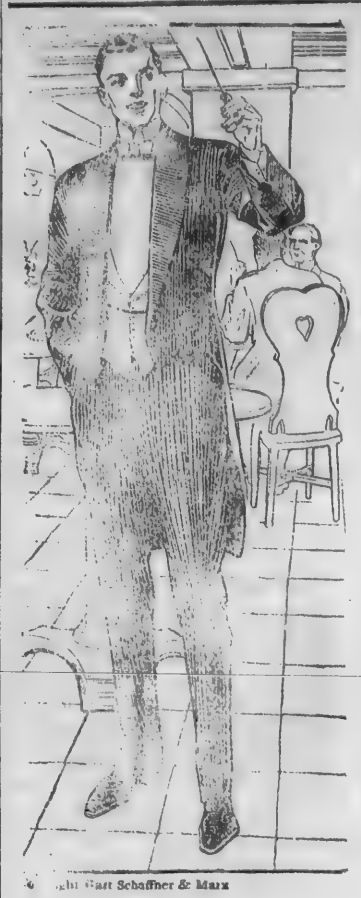
To a servant of the University abroad in search of his health the best wishes of the community go out. The presidency of any College is a wearing position and particularly so during periods of rapid expansion. The thirteen years which have seen Doctor Venable at the head of this institution have seen growth in every direction, healthy and encouraging. To his lot it has fallen to build, in large part, the present physical University, to set high standares for it, and to bring it to a position where it is able to serve the State directly and in an increasingly large way. By what struggles he has accomplished this work only he knows; and that he should feel the strain is no more than one could expect. His search for rest and the restoration of his health is but a preparation for the continuance of what to him is a labor of love. May he find the rest he seeks and return to carry the work forward.

THE ACTING PRESIDENT.

If there has been any person dissatisfied with the choice of Dean Graham as acting president, then he has kept quiet about it, or his solitary protest has been silenced by the chorus of joyful ones who hailed the selection as wisdom from on high. Not only University men, but the people of the State generally, have expressed the greatest enthusiasm and confidence; and it must be a source of infinite encouragement to Dean Graham to know that he has, to a large extent, a united people behind him. That he will be closely watched during the year goes without saying. For a young man such a position is necessarily in the nature of a test, and the result will be of exceptional interest to the educational world and particularly to this student body. Therefore, gentlemen all, a splendid opportunity is extended to us. We have it in our power during this year to annoy or help, to make trouble or to banish trouble, to sit idle or to create an opportunity. We have absolute confidence in Dean Graham and our good wishes are his. But good actions are better than good wishes. We ourselves are put to the finest test of all, the test of friendship. Will we measure up to that test?

A CRITICAL YEAR.

In one sense every year is a critical year in that a new set of men comes to the headship of campus activities and it is always a question as to how well they will handle the work. But in more senses than one this one hundred and nineteenth session of the University is extremely important in the development of the institution. Last year saw the beginning of several movements which are capable of tremendous good to the University and to the State. This year will see whether those movements are put on a firm working basis so that their future is assured or whether they will fizzle away into nothing.



Acting President Graham has already spoken in chapel of the County clubs, an immense amount of raw material which is being moulded into useful tools. The men in the clubs began to realize the possibilities last year, but they have taken only one step on a long journey and unseen opportunities are lying just around the corner. There should be twice as many clubs and there should be twice as much enthusiasm in the old clubs. What was accomplished last year was greater than ever before, but is a drop in the bucket beside what might be accomplished in the future.

Another forward movement handed to us from last year is the Greater Council, that extension of the Student Council which kept its finger on the campus pulse and caught every worthy idea and turned it into something definite. Its possibilities have been barely tapped, and yet its fine record hints of a time when campus life will have been made more satisfying and when no student inspiration will be lost to the common good.

Out of the continual effort to give the University to the State arose the High School Debating Union and the High School Track meet. The track meet is but one phase of the movement to harness high school athletics in North Carolina and to show it the right direction. It is part of the new idea concerning University athletics that is seeking to make system out of chaos, and to make the people of the State realize that this is their University. This same idea finds its greatest expression in the Debating Union which for a one year old infant is about the healthiest on record. It is doubtful if any movement started here in Chapel Hill has met with such general approval throughout the State—and deservedly so. For it shows in a direct manner how useful the University may be to the whole State. It does not wait for the students to come to the University; it takes the University to the students. Its success last year was complete, but numerous extensions are now being planned that the Union may touch more schools than ever before. These opportunities are lying right before us and waiting for us to take hold and lift. The chance is an unusual one and for that reason all the more important. Pray God that we may rise to the occasion like men.

PHARMACISTS ELECT OFFICERS

Y. M. C. A. ENROLLS LARGE NUMBERS.

In last weeks canvass for new Y. M. C. A. members committee visited every room on the Hill and succeeded in enrolling no small number of new students. The secretary has taken in 275 cards of membership. Further canvassing will probably push the number to 400.

BIBLE CLASS ENROLLMENT.

Through the influence of the Bible Class lecture and the energy of the boosters, 185 men have been enrolled in the Bible classes the prospects for more reach nearly to the 300 mark. These 300 men will be divided up into 30 or 35 groups, which will meet every Sunday at 12:30, after church and before dinner.

A RIVAL OF KLUTTZ'S BOOK STORE.

George Eutsler's Y. M. C. A. book exchange has been running day and night with a boom. He together with Mr. Kerr, has handled 850 cooks from as many as 200 men. Out of these 400 books have been sold amounting to $225. There is a continual demand for first and second year books, and they just won't stay on the shelf. This exchange will be run the whole year through from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily. Here's your chance to make off old books and save off of new ones. The Y. M. C. A. gets 5 per cent for its trouble. Eutsler gets nothing.

THE BAND: IT SHOULD ORGANIZE.

Candidates for the University Band were called out last week for the first time. 35 men, some with instruments, more without, reported. The Band has been put upon no satisfactory basis up to this year and unless a complete organization is formed now, our Band will be in a bad way. It stands this way. The men that go out for the band have nothing to work for, and, in manp cases, no instruments; there are no trips and no contests ahead of them. Our teams have trips to work for, other teams to beat, and free outfits to play in; more than this they are backed by the Athletic Association. Our Band never has had any of these stimuli to give it encouragement. Everything it has done has been done in pure loyalty. If the Band can give us such stuff as it did at the A. & M. game, last year under these conditions, then, with some money behind it, some trips in front of it, and the same instructor that kept going all last year, we ought to beat "Alexander's Rag Time Band.

PHARMACENTICAL ELECTIOM.

The James William Simpson Pharmaceutical Society held a preliminary meeting for the election of officers on Tuesday last.

Those elected were: S. B. Higgins, President; J. C. Warren, Vice-President; Jas. Rogers, Secretary.

The Society begins its work on Saturday night at 7:30 in Person Hall. All Pharmacy students are urged to be present.

When You Think of Life Insurance—Think of the Pilot

The Policyholders' Company

The Insurance Company with a capital stock offers the security of the cash paid in and a management by men financially interested in its success.

It offers the disadvantage of the temptation upon the part of stockholders to pay themselves big dividends at the expense of the policyholders.

The mutual insurance company offers the advantage of crediting to the policyholders all the profits, but has not the security of paid in capital and is managed by men with no financial interest in its success.

This Company has the advantages of both
The disadvantages of neither.

Fix that statement in your mind. It's a big thing to say. But it's a fact. Every policyholder has the security of paid in capital, the advantage of management by men financially interested, and the policyholders get the dividends.

Because, under its charter, the stockholders of this Company are forever barred from receiving more than 50c annual dividend on each $1,000 of insurance in force.

LYCEUM COURSE BOOKED

The Management Offers An "All-Star" Schedule.

The numbers in the Lyceum Course that is to come to Chapel Hill this year promise to be an improvement on those which have come for the past few years. There will be music of all kinds, splendid humorists, well known actors, and brilliant readers. In other words, the course which was decided upon this year was chosen with the view of giving entertainment of the highest degree to all, regardless of how-stidious they may be.

he first number is the Euclid Quartet, from Chicago. sing all the latest music in anner that is exceedingly ing. Their repertoire is lete ane varied, consisting classical selections, folk gs, popular ballads, rag-time, humorous numbers. All r men are soloists of no mean lity, and the press has been animous in declaring this mber a great success.

The Dunaway Co. is next on the program. This company has received the highest praise wherever it appeared. Miss Dunaway, particularly, is said to be a high class artist at reading and acting, and the effect of it all is emphasized by a brilliant young accompanist.

Next are the Cambridge Players. These are heralded as one of the very best companies in Lyceum work. With two attractive young ladies, and two capable young men, they are said to render bits from operas and noted plays in a manner that is beyond criticism.

To those who were here last ear, it is unnecessary to say anything about Miss Clifton. She is recognized as one of the best readers on the stage today. She has a new play to offer this year which will pla e every n as much as "Polly of the Circus did last year.

The Beulah Duck Girls Quartet needs no advertisement a University except ... However, they have pleased audiences all over the country with their latest song hits and solos.

Last of all comes Booth Lowry the humorist, with a reputation from coast to coast. It has been said of Mr. Lowry that the only objection his audiences have to him is that they invariably suffer from sore sides and red eyes, caused from the ceaseless laughter that continues through his entire performance.

It can be easily seen that such a course as this is well worth the price. Since we get the attractions in a Lyceum arrangement we will have an opportunity of going to the entire course for what one attraction would cost in a city. Beside the actual value of your money, the buyer of a season ticket does another good thing by helping out the Y. M. C. A. If there is any money made clear, that worthy organization gets it. The tickets are only $1.75 for reserved seats for the season, and $1.25 for balcony seats foa the season.

Wilmington, Ramsey and Cowell, both tackles of Randolph-Macon last year are good. Fitzgerald, a Junior out for the first time, ought to make good eventually. Gooch, from Wake Forest, is extremely fast and heavy. He is a back field man. J. B. Lernodle, line, Rollins, from A. & M. scrub, Pope from Mars Hill College, Phillips of Georgia, are some of the best new material.

College Night Great Success

the spirit of athletics was evidenced by an immediate call for the football coaches. "Doggie" Trenchard came first and spoke upon the situation and the work being done. He was followed by Coaches Wilson and Pendleton, both dwelling upon the vital necessity to athletics of a spirit of loyalty and support upon the campus.

CLASS FOOTBALL TEAMS BEGIN WORK

DeWitt Kluttz, Formerly of Woodberry Forest, Is Coach.

FRANK GRAHAM WILL ASSIST.

Large Squad Answers First Call. Those Canned From The Varsity Squad Will Swell Number.

This year a much better opportunity than usual for development in class athletics is offered since we have as class coach Mr. Kluttz, who has so successful as head coach at Woodberry Forest School. Mr. Kluttz issued a call for men who were trying for the Fresh. and Soph. football teams to report at the class field on Monday, September 22. Thirty freshmen and about a dozen Sophs. took advantage of the opportunity and reported. In the bunch there is some good material for class ball, and unless the other teams get busy the Freshmen ill walk away with the loving cup.

A schedule of the class games which will include some games off the Hill will probably appear in the next issue of this paper.

On Tuesday about twenty men were "canned" off the varsity squad and ordered to report on the class field. This will strengthen the squad already out.

Frank Graham is to have charge of the upper classes. From present indications they will have teams above the average. The ease with which the "also good athletes" got positions as teachers last year may influence some to come out now as they will be assured of competent coaching.

STUDENT COUNCIL FORMS

Boushall and Woolcott from Student Body

The election for councilman at large was held in chapel last Thursday morning. The following is the result of the first vote. T. C. Boushall 153; J. E. Holmes 115; D. H. Carleton 69; B. L. Field 60; Total 397. No candidate received a majority of the votes cast. Consequently, on Monday morning another ballot was cast on Boushall and Holmes, which resulted in the election of Mr. Boushall.

Mr. Philip Woolcott was chosen as the member from the old council by the council itself. This makes the council consist of the following men:

Oscar Leach, President -President of the Senior Class, W. P. Fuller, Secretary--President of the Junior Class, T. C. Linn, President of the Sophomore Class, J. S. Cowles, Representative from the Law School, K. A. Kirby, Representative from the Pharmacy School, W. A. Smith, Representative feom the Medical School, T. C. Boushall, Representative at large, P. Woolcott, chosen by the council.

COUNTY CLUBS ORGANIZE

Much Enthusiasm Manifested in This Activity.

Spurred on by a speech of President Graham the County Clubs have begun to organize as never before. From two to four have met every night this week. Assuming thet all will be organized by Friday, a meeting of the Local Club Presidents will be held on that afternoon. Plans will then be laid for the year's work. Many counties are organizing for the first time

At the meetiag of the Gaston-Lincoln County Club, officers were elected, and plans discussed for the coming year. This is one of the Twin Clubs which is made up of two counties too small to organize singly. J. W. McIntosh was elected President, and on the suffragette ticket Miss Anna Puett was elected Vice-President and Miss Miller, Sec. and Treas. Two corresponding secretaries, one for each county were elected: G. B. Crowell for Lincoln and W. K Reid for Gaston. J. A. Capps was made Historian. His duty is to keep a record of work accomplished during the year and the method used in solving difficulties that arise. This Twin County Club intends to give a High School prize in further evidence of its progresssiveness.

The Wayne County Club organized Tuesday night with the following officers: K. C. Royal, President; P. C Darden, Vice-President; E. W. Norwood, Secretary; M. E. Robinson, Treasurer. The club is planning to have a representative team from Goldsboro to enter the High School football meet to be held here. A big feed is planned for the near future.

TheSurry-Yadkin County Club, another Twin County Organization, held it's first meeting Tuesday night and elected J. I. Dobbins, President; C. B. Waltz, Vice-President; M. R. Dunnigan, Secretary and L. V. Scott, Treasurer. G. A. Morton, W. R. Harding and O. K. Merritt were appointed on a Program committee to look up records of both counties and have them discussed. Yadkin county this year for the first time has had sufficient representation to warrant organization Meetings will be the first Friday in each month.

Fifteen old and six new students from Alamance county met Tuesday night and elected the following officers: J. A. Holmes, President; D. L. Bell, Vice-President; S. F. Scott, Recording Secretary; R. W. Holmes, Corresponding Secretary R. M. Homewood. This Club meets the 1st Monday in each month.

The Granville County Club organized Wednesday. They have eighteen members. Their officers for the year are: A. W. Graham, Jr., President; F. W. Hancock Jr., Vice-President; H. Hester, Secretary; J. P. Stedman Jr., Trensurer. Hester's election was contested on the grounds that he was not a "Jr". A smoker wi'l be held October 8.

ALL CLASSES HOLD MEETINGS

Seniors Decide For Smoker. Juniors--Standard Pin. Sophs Assess.

ALL MEETINGS SHOW GOOD SPIRIT

Boushall gets $100 from the two lower classes for the High School---Class series of Baseball.

The past week has been eventful in that it it has witnessed the meetings of all the academic classes and the law class. The Seniors led off with a meeting Friday afternoon in Gerrard Hall. President Graham made a brief talk at the opening of the meeting, after which the class adjourned to the Y. M. C. A. The class of '14 is following in the footsteps of their elder brothers of '13 by resolving to have a smoker sometime in the immediate future. The matter of senior hats was taken up and a committee appointed to consider the matter. After discussing the senior stunt, the class adjourned.

The Juniors held a brief session on Monday. The discussion of pecuniary matters prevailed, and an assessment was levied on each member. This is to pay their Freshman Yackety Yack bill. The pin problem was taken up. It was the opinion of the class that an effort should be made to establish a permanent pin. A Committee was appointed to choose a design to submit to the three lower classes. The class voted to hold a smoker at some future date. A permanent smoker committee was appointed.

The Sophomores held their first meeting on Saturday afternoon in the Y. M C. A.

Tom Boushall, representing the Athletic Association, was present, and spoke concerning the raising of a fund of one hundred dollars in conjunction with the Freshman class for the support of class football. The class agreed to raise this fund and voted an assessment of seventy five cents to cover this amount and the debt carried over from last year. Mr. Dewitt Kluttz was present and spoke in behalf of class football. After this the class adjourned.

On Tuesday afternoon the Freshman class held their meeting at which Oscar Leach, President of tne senior class, presided. Although the upper classmen did not prevent the Freshmen from holding their election, yet their conduct was not guided by the strictest rules of deportment. The officers elected were Oliver Rand, President; W. R. Allen, Vice-President; William Monroe, Treasurer and C. F. Andrews, Secretary. Tom Boushall was present and made the same proposition in behalf of the Athletic Association which he had made previously to the Sophomores. The class voted to accept the offer of the Athletic Association and levied an assessment of fifty cents a member to cover this amount.

The Law class which met on Saturday elected Ezra Parker, President; L. E. Jones, Secretary

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS

Hundred Men Attend. Decide to Have Constitution.

Over one hundred members were present at the meeting of the University Dramatic Association which was held last Tuesday afternoon at 2:10 in Gerrard Hall. The object of this meeting was to appoint a committee to draft a constitution for the Dramatic Association, which step has for its aim the establishing of a firmer organization of Dramatics here in the future. The meeting was also called to explain to candidates the method to be used in selecting the cast. The constitution committee having been appointed, Prof. McKie then outlined the new method of selection.

The plan he proposed and explained is called the "Harvard Method," being the same as used by the Dramatic Club of that Institution. Each candidate, to show his Dramatic talent, his intelligence in grasping and interpreting a Dramatic scene, and his especial adaptation in one particular line; is required to pick any piece of Dramatic literature that he thinks he can show his Dramatic talent in and to put his work before the committee on selection without having had any coaching from the committee. This method was thought by the coaches to be the shortest and best possible way to really get the best talent in college.

At a meeting next Tuesday at 2:10 all candidates will be given a try out for the cast, and it is expected from the turn out last Tuesday, some "good stuff" will be gotten off.

The specific play has not been decided on yet, though the nature of the play will be somewhat as that of the roaring comedey presented last year,—"What Happened to Jones."

J. S. Bryan, the manager this year, is pushing things aggressively. He is planing a big trip for the Club.

GLEE CLUB HAS TRYOUT

Abundance of Good Material Reported.

Monday night lots of music seed (not roots) were planted, and with lots of good weather ahead of us we ought to have a Glee Club this year in keeping with progressive Carolina. Something like 35 men came out to answer the first call. Among these were some of last year's men who will form the nucleus for a Glee Club that promises to be greater and more gleeful than ever before. Besides the regular orchestra, quartet and chorus the plans this year include a larger mandolin club than last year. We have three soloists with big reputations and bigger calibre from last year and may strike others in the tryout. Mr. Sneath is ready to give any body a tryout, and if you can carry a tune in a molasses jug keep the stopper in till you see him. There are two trips lasting a week each, one before and one after Christmas, for those that make the Club, not to mention the fun and real practice they will have in going out for it.

"PAPER" PROSPECTS OF COMING GAME.

Wake Forest Team Probably Lightest They Have Had. Four Old "W" Men.

TEAMS STARTED PRACTICE SAME DAY.

Indications Point to a Strong Line for Carolina. Heavy and Experienced Material. Backfield More of a Problem. Quarter Back the Hardest Nut. Team Still a Little Slow.

With a rememberance of the closeness of last years game with Wake Forest and a sneaknig feeling that Carolina's victory was due more to luck than good playing the student body is looking forward with unusual interest to the game Saturday. On paper Carolina prospects look pretty good .Seven N. C. men are back. There is a great abundance of new material.

The line undoubtedly promises to be good. With Little "Ab" and Tandy to pick from for center, Captain Abernethy and "Big" Edwards at tackles, Cowell and Ramsey at guards and Huske and Homewood on ends somebody is going to get into trouble. Ervins offensive work at Full has been fine. The half backs will be two of the following three Tayloe, Burnett and Pope. Tayloe is fast. Orr will probably start at quarter although Lord has been showing good form these last few days. He did some clever open field running Wednesday.

With Wake Forest the proposition is different. With only four "W" men back and a majority of their squad new men they have a difficult task before them. Their squad numbers only thirty. The old men are Carter, center and Captain; Moore, tackle; Britton, guard; Cuthree, end. For quarter back their prospects are poorer than those of Carolina.

The News and Observer of Wednesday says in part:

"The team is probably the lightest that has ever repreeented Wake Forest on the gridiron and many of them lack any college experience, but the student body is hoping that it will develope into a team which will make a good showing during the year." Still Carolina don't get too confident. Remember the Spanish Armada.

Notice

Coach Trenchard asks that all men who won sweaters last spring call at the Athletic Store at once and give their numbers so that the sweaters may be ordered.

GENIUS.

Beg pardon for talking shop, but it is refreshing to turn from the too frequent tale of student mismanagement and examine the record of F. L. Euless, business manager of the Tar Heel last year. That astute financier fulfilled every contract he signed, paid every debt the paper incurred, pocketed his alloted commission of the profits, gave his assistant managers their commissions, and turned over to the Athletic Association $200 in cash. Along side of the customary deficit, this is simply tremendous. The red-haired one is a genius, and we may yet read of the doings of F. L. Euless, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

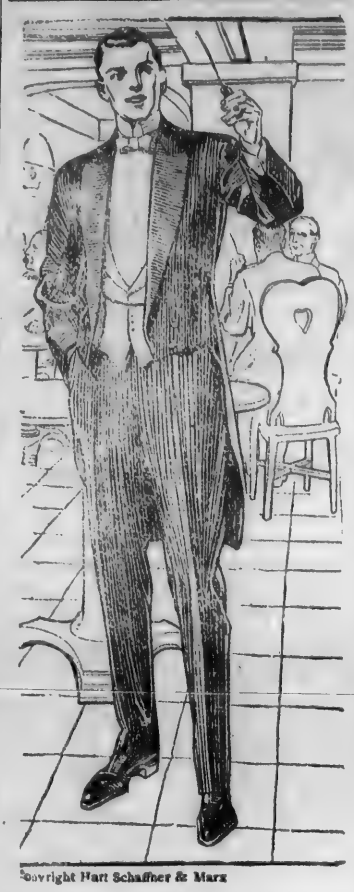
TO MAKE THE VARSITY;

Aside from every other reason—and there are some good ones—did you ever really consider how important class football is as a means of developing the varsity? A definite relation exists between a Freshman football team and the varsity four years afterwards. Glance at the list of N. C. men within a college generation—McLean, Belk, John Tillett, Venable, Crutchfield, Orr, Strange, and two captains, Bob Winston and Will Tillett. Every one of these men played on his class team. And it is safe to say that at least one member of this year's Freshman team will yet wear an N. C. sweater. The strength of the class teams is the strength of future varsities.

Every incentive is now being offered to the classes in order that the contests may be made worth while. Kluttz, the coach, is not only an exceptional player—he was selected for the All South-Atlantic—but he has had two years of experience in coaching and he has turned out championship prep school teams. He knows how to coach. In addition the Athletic Association is offering the Sophomore and Freshman classes a sum of money that will enable them to play six games each with outside teams. The important home games will be played on Saturdays when the varsity is away so that students will be able to attend.

These systematic efforts to raise the athletic standard are built on the presumption that a large number of candidates will go out for the teams. Otherwise no one can hope for success. Freshmen and Sophomores in particular are wanted. It is a fine chance to play the finest game in the world and to play it right—and to make the varsity.

CONTINUITY IN COACHING.



So far as is known in the football world there are only two successful systems of coaching: the complete Alumni system and the system which puts one man at the head of affairs and keeps him there. If there is any other system which brings success year after year, it has not been revealed to eager searchers. Go over the list of leaders. Princeton has the Alumni system. Yale has had it for years, still retains many features, and has only recently presented Howard Jones with a five-year contract Harvard has her Haughton, Carlisle her Glenn Warner, Michigan her Yost, Minnesota her Williams, and Chicago her Stagg. The Army and the Navy both have Alumni coaches, while Pennsylvania has hired Brooke for a long term, and Cornell has entrusted her destiny to Dr. Sharpe.

Or look at the South. There's McGugin at Vanderbilt, Cope at Sewanee, Cunningham at Georgia, Heisman at Tech, Donovan at Auburn. And Virginia has reached her present high position since she adopted Alumni coaching. The list is as long as the list of consistently winning teams.

The point of the matter is that Carolina has been stumbling along in the dark when she might have been using a searchlight. Occasional winning teams there have been, but no sustained period of success; nor has there been any continuous style of coaching. The style itself does not count for so much; its the continuity of it. Teach the same men the same system year after year and they will learn it. Better still, they will be able to come back and teach it to others.

The obtaining of Trenchard for a period of three years was an exceedingly wise move; not because he is a first-class coach, which no one denies, but because he brings with him continuity in coaching, which means success in the future.

Henry Meeks has charge of the Lyceum this year and the work has done deserves support. See him.

DRESSING-ROOM GOSSIP

There was no scrimmage Thursday or Friday. The weather prevented the first day, the faculty athletic committee the second. The boys had to go before this body and get a clean bill of health, as regards eligibility of rules. This ought to have been done at night, as it would not the nhave cost a days practice.

In the scrimmage Saturday, Ervin, Full, failed to make his two and a half yards just one time.

Kluttz has issued the call for Freshman and Sophomore candidates. About sixty answered on the first afternoon. After these teams are in running shape, the other classes will be started. Frank Graham, general secretary for the Y. M. C. A. this year, will assist in the class work. Say, would some of you Math. Bulls kindly try to figure out what would happen if a few more Frank Grahams were sprinkled around here? "Ye are the salt," etc.

Tom Boushall went before the Sophomore class meeting Saturday, and discussed the Class-High School football situation. The athletic association has pledged $200 if the two lower classes will put up half that between them. The Sophs. came across with $50 and all that was necessary to pass the motion in the Fresh meeting was to make it. So the financial side is settled,

And Little "Ab" is still there.

Those two lines Saturday were about equal, and both were above par.

Fitzgerald, J. M. Parker and Lindau are all back. Each had minor injuries.

Orr played quarter on one team for a while and then shifted to center on the other. He is still slow in handling the ball, but he has that old "pep"

Ramsey's leg is about well.

There will be free admission to the class high school games.

Regular gymnasium work started Monday at 4:30. All Freshmen trying for the various teams must secure excuses for non-attendance.

Ramsey was back in the game Monday, and everybody knew it. What do you know of the tackle getting the full in an over-guard play.

The Tuesday scrimmage was the best yet. There was more spirit to it than had been heretofore shown. The scrubs used the old tandem formation to accustom the first team to various forms of attack. For a while the second team made good gains but their opponents soon accustomed themselves to the change.

Ransom hurt his leg in Monday's work. While the bone is not broken it is pretty certain that he will be out for some time.

FLORIDA CLUB ORGANIZED.

At the invitation of the Alpha Tau Omego fraternity, the Florida Club held its organizing meeting in their Hall on Tuesday night. The chief business, the election of officers, was soon finished in favor of a repast. A stag dance followed and this was closed by an original poem to the "Girl We Left Behind" by your newly elected president. The complete list of newly elected officers follows: J. L. Orr, President; Dr. C. H. Herty, President Emeritus; W. P. Fuller, Vice-President; J. M. Parker, Secretary; F. W. Norris, Treasurer; D H. Killefer, Corresponding Secretary. G. F. Drew, Historian; H. B. Drew, Poet; W. W. Kirk, Sergeant-at-Arms; C. B. Boyd, Lord High Custodian of the 'Gator; N. A. Reasoner, Gophacatcher; Mr. Phillips, Official Phillup. There are no "just plain members." Any other Floridians will be welcomed and given a vice-Presidency.

Band Still Out of Tune.

Our Band is still struggling to push itself out of the way of drawbacks and difficulties. Music is scarce and is fast becoming scarcer through failure of the boys to return the music loaned to them. Everything is running pretty loosely and will have to be settled, just like peanuts in a roaster. It will be impossible to have any music at the Wake Forest game, but if every man trying to make the Band will look to himself and then give a turn for the Organization things will come around all right in a jiffy.

CHEMISTS GET TOGETHER

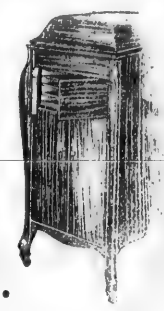
The Chemists held their "get together" meeting for this year on Monday last in the advanced Analytical laboratory. Dr. Herty gave a very interesting description of his trip to Rochester, N. Y., during the past week to attend the meeting of the American Chemical Society. After this everyone joined in a discussion of plans for the year in the department.

So began what seems now to be the most auspicious year yet in the history of this department.

MAGAZINE MEN ELECTED TO FILL VACANCIES.

At the first meeting of the Phi. Society, Saturday September 17, J. L. Orr was elected Editor in Chief of the Magazine to fill the vacancy caused by the non-return of Blake Applewhite. Orr was Editor in Cheif in 1911-12. J. V. Whitfield was elected Assistant Business Manager in place of Jesse Turlington, resigned.

In the Di. Society, Lowry Axley was elected to fill Speight Beam's position. Beam passed the Board this Fall, so will not attend the University this year.



On Saturday, September 20, J. L. Orr resigned his position of Editor-in-Chief and George Strong was elected to take his place. While it is unfortunate that so many changes have been made in the personnel of the staff it is hoped that the present board will get to work harmoniously and turn out a good magazine.

Jim Hardison of Wadesboro was initiated by the Kappa Sigma last week.

No Fall Debate.

Our Debating Union has opened negotiations with Virginia nd Hopkins for the renewal of ..e triangular debates. If Vir- ..nia and Hopkins agree, a de- ..e will be held with each of ..m next spring. The faculty ..mittee on Debating advise .. we schedule only two de- ..tes for the year; therefore the ..nion is not trying to secure a debate for this Fall.

Dr. Chase Talks.

At a well attended meeting Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Chase delivered a vigorous and thoughtful address to the boys on "A College Man's Religion." The address was one that appeals and pertends to new men especially, who are entering into a religion partly unsettled and undetermined, that of a college student body. Mr. Epps added to the entertainment with a solo, and a room made together home-like and pleasing through the energy and thoughtful taste of Francis Clarkson increased the pleasure of the already pleased audience.

To Organize Next Subday.

A heavy rain prevented general organization of the Bible Clubs on last Sunday, but with everything permitted a formal organization is to be held on next Sunday at 12:30 in the meeting rooms.

The High School Cup.

The $75 cup given to the winners in the High School debate last year has been paid for. The money was given by old Carolina varsity debators.

For a New Dining Hall.

Prof. Patterson's old home is being rapidly demolished. This site will be occupied by the new Dining Hall. The original location east of the Alumni building has been given up on account of the expense of the foundation. The contract calls for a completion of the building by May 20, 1914.

Hign School Work Progressing.

Under the able management of N W. Walker, chairman of the committee, the High School Athletic plans are deueloping rapidly. This work is under the direction of the General Athletic Association. Those doing the actual work are N. W. Walker, T. G. Trenchard, E. R. Rankin and C. E Ervin, secretary.

Beginning next week a column of High School notes will be run in this paper relating the doings of the various High Schools throughout the State. If your school is not represented see or write W. P. Fuller.

No Leaking in Your Pocket, Because No Air Around the Point.

An Edison Pen makes writing easier than talking.

The ink flows freely the instant you touch pen to paper — stops when you take your pen up.

Note the two little circular reservoirs in the feed —indicated by the arrow.

These deep little reservoirs hold ink in readiness for writing—take up the ink and hold it when your pen leaves the paper.

Let us demonstrate the great advantage of our patented feed and safety screw cap. Say good-bye to "finger smearing" pens. Get an Edison.

Made in all styles from $1.50 to $20.00.

One of our guarantee policies given with every pen purchased.

DR. W. D. WEATHERFORD IS COMING

He Will Talk in Chapel Monday Night. One of the Best in South

AUTHOR OE SEVERAL VALUABLE BOOKS

A Graduate of Vanderbilt. Mr. Weatherford is One of the Most Practical and Successful Workers Among College Students in the South.

W. D. Weatherford Ph.D. of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association will speak in Gerard Hall Monday night at eight o'clock. No man in the student movement of America is as close to the college men of the South. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt where he stood out as a scholar and leader. Any man who has been to the Blue Ridge Conference will tell you of his personality and power. Clear, straight forward, forceful, he appeals strongly to college men in the South, East and West. Read what the men of the West say of him.

Dr. Weatherford has made a real contribution to the sociological questions of the South in his studies of the negro. His two books are now a valuable part of the little library on this question which has been contributed to by such men as Albert Bushwell Hart and Edgar Gardner Murphy.

Carolina men have an opportunity worth while in the chance to hear a strong man who has given his life to the college men of the South.

ALL MUSIC NOW IN TUNE.

The Glee Club continues in gayety and has a rollicking time three nights every week. About thirty men have been divided up into four parts and are at present learning to sing "Hark the Sound." Next week every new man will be tried out in a quartet composed of himself and three old men. The quality of harmony produced will go to his account either on the debit or credit side. Everybody's tuning up. The Club meets Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday at 7 o'clock sharp.

All we can hear from the Band is music and lots of it. They must be doing things.

The First Year Meds Too.

On Thursday the first year medical class met in the Medical building for the purpose of organizing. Mr. L. S. Royster of the Second Year class called the meeting to order and acted as chairman until the election of a President. He then turned the meeting over to the newly elected President. The following men were elected to their respective offices: President, J. D. Boushall, Jr.; Vice-President, R. M. Cox; Sec-Treas., Ralph Spence and Historian, H. L. Brockman

YET MORE COUNTY CLUBS

Club Presidents Meet. Plan Year's Program.

We hail with great joy the reorganizing of the county clubs, which has taken place during the last two weeks. By this time practically all the clubs have met and elected officers for the coming year. A meeting of County Club presidents was held in the Y. M. C. A. on last Friday. The object of the meeting was to discuss matters which concern the welfare of the clubs as a whole and to make some definate plans for unified club work. I. M. Bailey, who was elected president of the County Club Association last year, presided at this first meeting of 1913-14 Three committees were appointed to look after matters pertaining to the program, membership, and publication. The president of each club is held responsible for the work of his county club. The constitution is the same under which the organization worked last year. Copies of it are to be drawn up in phamplet form and distributed among the county clubs. Under the auspices of the County Clubs Presidents Association, Prof. E. C. Branson of the University of Georgia will make an address in Chapel Thursday night concerning county club work, laying especial stress on the work of the Johnson County club last year.

Since the last issue of The Tar Heel several more county clubs have organized.

Buncombe starts this year with twenty four members. The officers elected at the first meeting were: A. B. Greenwood, President; C. E. English, vice-President; G. A. Shuford, Treasurer; L. C. Barber, Secretary; J. G. Cowan, corresponding secretary.

Duplin organized last week with eighteen members, ten of them being new men. The officers for the coming year are: W. F. Taylor, President; F. E. Wallace, vice-President; and M. McD Williams, Secretary.

The Mecklenburg County held an enthusiastic meeting on last Thursday night. Thirty men out of the forty-four enrolled were present. In the first place the following officers were elected: President, G. M. Long; viee-President, F. O. Clarkson; Secretary, E. Y. Keesler; Treasurer, F. B. McCall.

The club decided to discontinue the usual picture in the Yackety-Yack. Part of the money thus saved was voted to send The Tar Heel to nine high schools in the county. It is thought that in this way the high schools will know something of University affairs, and become interested in the institution itself.

After deciding to hold meetings every three months, the Mecklenburg County Club adjourned.

The Orange County Club held its first meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, September 24, 1913. The officers were elected as follows: President, F. Bradshaw; vice-President, J. Ray; Treasurer, S. Robertson;

DR. C. L. RAPER HONORED

Head of a District in New Government Bureau.

Dr. Charles Lee Raper has accepted an appointment as correspondent and adviser of the United States Rural Organization Service, a new bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. His territory includes the four states, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, and Maryland.

The purpose of the Rural Organization Service is to know rural life and its conditions and to lend its aid to improving these conditions. Dr. Raper's work is to keep the Washington office informed as to the general economic conditions in his territory, particularly as to mortgage and credit condition, tenancy, and farmers organizations for economic and social betterment. He is to advise the Washington office as to the possible improvement of these conditions and as to what legislation is desired.

Dr. Raper has been at the head of the department of economics in the University for thirteen years. During this time he has been actively engaged in general economics and more recently in the field of transportation and taxation. His work for taxation reform in North Carolina, Virginia, and other states has brought good results. He has made a number of speeches on cooperative marketing of farm products and cooperative credit institutions for farmers.

He is generally recognized as one of the leading men in his line in the South.

Still They Resign

George Strong resigned his position af Editor-in-Chief of the Magazine last Saturday night. W. P. Fuller was elected in his place and Tom Boushall was chosen to fill Fuller's former position of Assistant Editor.

A HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST

Final Game to be Played at Chapel Hill.

In order to stimulate among the secondary schools of the State greater interest in athletics, and especially to encourage greater activity in the inter-school athletics, the General Alumni Athletic Association of the University of North Carolina has decided to inaugurate this year a State-wide contest in football among the public high schools, city and rural. The plan evolved by the committee on high school athletics will not interfere in any way with any schedule that has already been made by any team. The rules and regulations governing this contest are as follows:

1. For this year the contest shall be open only to public high schools, city and rural.

2. Any team representing a public high school, city or rural, that has not been defeated by a team of similar rank up to and including November 15 shall be eligible to enter the contest, provided it shall have played at least three games.

3. To be eligible to a place on the team, a player must be a bone fide student of the high school he represents. To be a bone fide seudent, he shall have been in regular attendance for a least one third of the term up to the time of any game in which he participates and made passing grades on his work.

4. Immediately after November 15 the committee on high school athletics will arrange preliminary contests for the purpose of selecting two teams which shall come to Chapel Hill for the final contest for the State high school championship.

The General Athletic Association will bear all expenses, including transportation, of the two teams selected for the final contest; and while on the Hill these teams will be entertained by the Athletic Association.

The committee will be glad to communicate with any school desiring to enter this contest and respectfully asks that all schools meeting the requirements herein set forth will, immediately after November 15, give notice of their desire to enter the contest. The committee is composed of the following members:

N. W. Walker, Chairman,
T. G. Trenchard,
E. R. Rankin,
C. E. Ervin, Secretary.

Any school interested will please communicate with Mr. Ervin, Secretary of the committee.

PROF. WILLIAMS RESIGNS

Prof. Horace Williams, professor of philosophy, here for twenty four years, has resigned his position. He has as yet made public no reason for his action although it is expected that he will issue a statement in a few days. He will continue his class room work for the rest of the school year. He then intends to devote his time to traveling and writing.

CAROLINA MERELY DUCKS BAPTISTS

Wake Forest Puts Up Game Fight. Too Light To Make Headway

ERWIN AND TAYLOE FEATURE

The Contest Was Slow. Weather Partly Responsible But Team Hasn't Enough Fight. Line Not Aggressive. There Were Costly Fumbles.

Line plunges, off- tackle gains, fumbles, hit-and-miss forward passes. Out of this mixture on a warm, sluggish afternoon the Varsity extracted 7 points, while our defense presended the Immersionists with 0.

The scoring came in the second quarter. End runs by Tayloe and line plunges by Erwin had driven the swine-hide to Wake Forest's 6 yard line. The prospects of a touchdown so excited the Varsity that they dropped the precious pig-pelt, which was recovered by Wake Forest on her 1 yard line. The visitors punted. Tayloe returned the punt 15 yards, and after a few preliminary moves he fell across the Baptists' goal line. Tandy kicked goal.

Here Carolina put in the second team line, Orr giving way to Lord at quarter. The two teams were then evenly matched and played to a dead-lock. Each side tried the forward pass with partial success. Daniels of Wake Forest made a touchback by interrupting a forward pass which had it been successful would have give Carolina another touchdown.

In the last quarter the Varsity came back with all its men but failed to score. The chief trouble seems to be that the line does not charge. Tayloe and Burnett made gains every time a suggestion of a hole was made and Ervin just made gains anyhow. Huske did good work on end.

But those who know don't feel discouraged about the score. Just wake up the line a little and allow our quarters to gain a bit more experience and the team will be a hummer. Then remember that it was pretty hot just standing on the side lines. Football isn't exactly a summer pastime.

The crowd that witnessed the game was probable the largest ever on the field. All the students were there; thanks to the Athletic fee. In addition there were some 400 outsiders. Trinity and A & M. were well represented.

The line up:

Carolina		Wake Forest
	Center
R. Abernethy		Carter
Tandy	Right Guard
Cowell, Andrews		Olive
	Left Guard
Johnson, Foust		Britton
	Right Tackle
L. Abernethy		Moore
Edwards, Ramsey		Powell

WAKE FOREST AND AFTER.

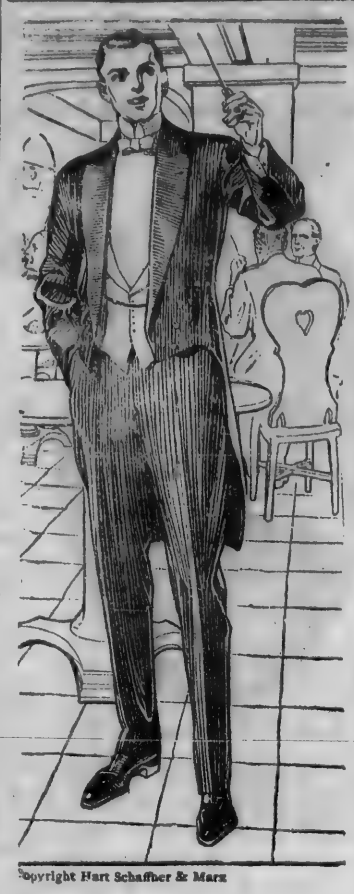
The first stage of a long and difficult journey was safely accomplished last Saturday when Wake Forest once more broke before the Carolina line. While not satisfying in every feature the margin of victory was beyond doubt larger than the score indicates and ther were flashes of brilliant individual play that augur well for the future. It is not a great team yet, but the "makings" are there and plenty of hard games are ahead to furnish the experience for November 15 and November 27. The Virginia Medical College on Saturday is the only other visiting team coming to Chapel Hill and for some it will be the only other game they will see. It promises to be a fight; and a football game is always worth seeing. Let's be on hand to help Captain Abernethy take another step forward.

MAGAZINE REVITALIZED.

After changing editorial hands three times since June the Magazine seems to have found the right man in W. P. Fuller, who, in addition to other qualities, certainly has the determination to stick by the ship. It is extremely unfortunate that these unsettling changes should have come at a critical point in the Magazine's life; they make a critical time more critical. But for all that, the indications are that the low water mark of 1910-11 and 1911-12 will not be touched again. The turn came last year with the complete realization of the depths to which the Magazine had sunk, with the resolution an the part of a few men that the disgrace should not continue, and with the efforts of certain members of the faculty to help as much as they could. While perhaps not of as high a standard as in the past, last year's Magazine was undoubtedly better than the two preceding years; and if Mr. Fuller and his associates do take another step forward, they will have aided materially in bringing the Magazine back to its own.

Not Mr. Fuller and his associates by themselves however, nor the two Litterary Societies by themselves. It is the University of North Carolina Magazine; and the sooner and more completely that realization is driven home, the sooner and more completely will be the revitalizing. The Magazine has slumbered too long on the lap of the Societies. It will never learn to walk until it tries by itself; it will never grow until it is fed by these eight hundred and fifty students.

IMPROVEMENT.



In at least two importatnt fields striking improvements over last year may already be seen. The county club enthusiasts are just beginning to realize how limitless the opportunities are before them. More clubs have been orgarized than ever before; and more important still they are not organizing simply to give away four honorary offices and to have a picture in the Yackety Yack. At least one club has voted not to have any Yackety Yack expense at all, but to use the money where it will be of more service. That is the spirit which pervades the movement and makes it worth while. The club presidents will meet together regularly to discuss plans and to compare notes. They will all be bound in a compact organization working for the University and the state, helping both, and at the same time making men of themselves.

Aud then have you been on the class football field lately? If there has ever been a time when more candidates were at work or more enthusiasm was being showu, it is beyond the memory of the presnt generation. Best of all, system is there, a definite line of work looking to a definite end; and it is bound to accomplish something. If one of those fifty Freshmen candidates does not develop into a star, we miss our guess. If the general average of the class is not raised by the interest of their representatives, we miss our guess again. Let the Greater Council organize and begin work and then we shall be ready for some new idea.

COUNTY CLUBS! ATTENTION.

On behalf of the management of the Tar Heel we are glad to state that if any of the county clubs desire ta have the paper sent to their home schools, a special subscription rate of $1.00 is offered instead of the regular $1.50. Several of the clubs have already taken advantage of this opportunity. The Wake County Club has subscribed for six copies to be sent to the schools in the county; the Mecklenburg County Club has taken ten, and smaller clubs have taken smaller numbers. If it were not for talking about ourselves, we would say that it is an admirable way of connecting the University with the state and the plan might profitably be adopted by every county club.

Henry Meeks has charge of the Lyceum this yeat and the work has done deserves support. See him.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

Question Selected Pamphlet to be Prepared to Help Schools.

The joint committee from the two Literary Societies in charge of the High School Debate met for the first time this year on Tuesday. A circular letter to the High Schools of the State is being prepared, urging as many as possible to enter the contest; and from the success of last year's debate, it is expected that a large number of schools will do so. The query for The Second Annual Debate is, "Resolved that the constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow the initiative and referendum in state-wide legislation."

To aid the schools in working up their debates the University will furnish a pamphlet containing a compilation of facts and arguments bearing on both sides of the question.

YET MORE COUNTY CLUBS

Concluded from first page

Secretary, R. Andrews.

Halifax County Club met and reorganized last week with 15 members. They elected the following officers: President, R. B. House; vice-President, Allen Zollicoffer; Secretary, C. A. Boseman.

Beaufort County Club held its initial meeting, electing the following officers: President, R. Cox; Secretary and Treasurer, J. Bonner. The members numbered 13.

Durham County Club chose the following officers at its first meeting: President, A. H. Carr; vice-President, H. A. Pendergraph; Secretary and Treasurer, I. R. Strayhorn. There were 24 members.

The Wake County Club met last week. They are sending the Tar Heel to six schools in their county. A smoker will be held Saturday night, October 11. Secretary Daniels is expected to be present; also the Raleigh High School football team. The officers of the Club for this year are: S. W. Whiting, President; O. M. Marshburn, vice-President; C. W. Beckwith, Secretary and Treasurer; A. B. Harper, corresponding secretary.

Wilson County men met on Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. and organized a Wilson County Club, twelve men being present at the first meeting. The following officers were elected: E. F. Capps, President; W. A. Marlowe, vice-President; E. J. Perry, Secretary, J. E. Smith, Treasurer; C. C. Daniels, Jr., corresponding secretary. This club is planning big things for the year.

The Florida Club Adds New Officers.

The Florida Club has elected a second and third Vice-President. They are H. V. Clark and O. McNamero. The Club is sadly in need of a fourth Vice-President.

At a meeting Tuesday the Dramatic Club adopted a constitution. F. O. Clarkson was elected Assistant Business Manager. He will have charge of the advertising.

Dr. Phillips, one of our Alumni, a former member of the N. C. Geological Survey, and the present head of the Geological Survey of Texas, was on the Hill last Wednesday visiting his father-in-law, Dr. Battle. While here he gave a very interesting lecture on the great lignite beds of Texas to the class in Industrial Chemistry. The lecture developed a question that was entirely new to most of the class: that is, the manufacture of producer gas from lignite and the utilization of the gas for power.

A. A. Zolliecoffer, '11, drove over from Henderson Sunday.

A. M. Worth was on the Hill for the Wake Forest game.

Dr. Joel Whitaker, George Thomas, Albert Cox, J. A. Manning, Perrin Busbee and Bull Thompson were among the old Carolina stars here Saturday.

Graham Edgerton was initiated into the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity Saturday night.

Allan Adams was among the Wake Forest students here Saturday. Eddie Greene, the A. & M. coach, was on the Hill Saturday to see the game.

Journal Club Meets.

The Journal Club held its first meeting on Monday night in the Chemistry building. The meeting was taken up by a general discussion by the Chemical faculty of the research being carried on in the laboratory at present. The various lines of work were discussed fully and showed conclusively that the reputation of the Department will not be allowed to fall short of its former height a single notch.

DRESSING-ROOM GOSSIP

Sure we beat 'em; and that's at we went out for. That's game behind us; but look 's ahead! There are more harder games ahead; so let's advantage of this first experin preparing for the next What we did do right, and nat we diden't do exactly right let's change for the better.

Bill Jacocks, one of the best, probably the best of Quarters that ever took a Carolina team over the goal line was here and saw the game Saturday.

The Freshmen had four squads running signals the other day. That's fresh as - or at any rate that's going good. They play Goldsboro High School next Saturday.

The Sophomores have two squads in action. If one Sophomore is worth two freshmen there will a hard fight for the class championship.

The Juniors have started off at a fast pace - they've elected Phil Woolcott Captain. Allen Moore is coaching. Practice every afternoon. (except Sunday)

You can always depend on the Seniors. They've got eight men to pick a team from and re coming.

Folson says to keep off the r with spikes on and give the ent a chance.

ey certainly opened up those for Tayloe and he took to o.

e could take the ability ne man has for a position ive it to another that has ability for the same posiwouldn't we put out a team, h? Maybe we will any-

They're cleaning off the tennis courts. They'll be in excellent condition for next April.

And Bloody Nat is with us once again.

At a meeting of the Tennis Association K. C. Royall and W. T. Ragland were elected President and Treasurer, respectively.

There are rumors of class basketball this fall. "And there shall be wars and rumors of wars."

Blake Applewhite, star fullback here '11 and '12 is coaching Trenton. He was editor-in- of the magazine but failed return.

alker, captain of the Richnd Medical College team, is all-American man. He plays tackle. Some say he is a pretty good player.

"Red" Allen made his debut as quarterback yesterday. He did good work.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Durham High School has begun literary society work. They hope to surpass their excellent record of last year. A prize has been established.

Asheville has good football prospects. The students have formed a Tennis Club and are hunting a challenge. They have courses in Business and Domestic science this year.

Charlotte High School has excellent prospects. Cowell, an old Carolina man, is coaching the squad. Nine old men are back. A commercial department has been established.

The literary societies of Salisbury begin their second year of existance. Lack of material and a coach prevents a football team.

Goldsboro plays the Freshman class of U. N. C. Saturday at Goldsboro.

The Tar Heel has correspondents in the following high schools:

Asheville, Burlington, Charlotte, Durham, Elizabeth City, Gastonia, Goldsboro, High Point, Morganton, Mount Pleasant, Pleasant Garden, Oxford, Reedsville, Salisbury, and Wilmington.

Is your High School represented. If not, why not? We want it.

Pharmaceutual Society.

The William Simpson Pharmaceutual Society held its first regular meeting Saturday. Three new members were added to the roll. Prof. J. G. Beard made a talk on the value of the Society to the Pharmacy student. S. B. Higgins read a paper on Coca. Several other interesting talks were made by the members. A smoker will be held Friday night, October 3.

Cheer Leader Elected.

At a big mass meeting and bon fire held the night before the Wake Forest game, Jim Pritchett was elected cheer leader and began his first coaching in cheering. His support was fine even if it didn't stay by him on the field.

W. C. George, Instructor in Zoology, spent a part of the summer in Zoological research at Beaufort Laboratory of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

The Virginia Medical College was defeated 27 to 0 by Washington & Lee University. We play the first named college here Saturday.

You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.
Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatimas of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.
No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.
Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.
Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.

CAROLINA DEFEATS VA. MED. COLLEGE

Carolina's Work Shows Big Improvement Over Last Weeks Game

ERVIN STARS. MAKES BOTH TOUCHDOWNS

Carolina's Line Shows a Marked Improvement. Ramsey, at Tackle Especially Good. The Backfield Faster. Opponents Showed Effects of Insufficient Training.

With Homewood's fast end work, Ervin and Tayloe doing the old reliable in the backfield and the whole team on its improvement mettle, Carolina won from the Virginia Medical College Saturday 15 to 0.

At the start each team showed a distrust in itself by punting at every opportunity. That white-caged head of Homewood's turned this punting duel to favorable account by recovering a Carolina punt near the Meds' goal, then Ervin plunged through the line for a touchdown. Tayloe kicked goal.

The second quarter yielded no score, the big Virginia tackles putting up a strong defense. In the third, Red Allen took Lord's place at quarter and displayed real football spirit in running the team. By successive line plunges and off-tackle gains the Varsity came once more within striking distance of the visitors' line: and Ervin struck. Score 13-0.

The forward pass was much in evidence, although neither team profited very much by its use. In the last few minutes of play Carolina advanced close to a third touchdown but was held on the two foot line. The Meds. attempting to punt, threw the ball behind their line and were downed for a safety. Final score 15-0.

During the game Carolina substituted Higgins for R. Abernethy, McCall for Johnston, J. Andrews for Cowell, Kernodle for L. Abernethy, Edwards for Ramsey, Harris and Tennant for Huske, Cy Long and Love for Homewood, Allen for Lord, Burnett for Pope, Reid for Tayloe and Fuller for Ervin.

Ervin's and Homewood's work are much to be praised. Ramsey and Capt. Abernethy were conspicuous in the line.

The line-up:

Carolina	Va. Med. College.
Center
R. Abernethy	Tyler
Right Guard
Johnston	Breckwell

Cowell	Stafford

DR. WEATHERFORD TALKS

Spoke on Conditions in Far East. Barnett's Field.

On Monday night Dr. W. D. Weatherford, International Student Y. M. C. A. Secretary for the South, spoke in chapel on "Conditions in the far East." Dr. Weatherford said that when he rode fifteen hundred miles through China on a steel pullman drawn by a Baldwin locomotive at forty miles an hour, he realized that the East is not so slow as it is often thought to be.

A factory at Kobe, Japan, cares for its 11,000 employees with the diligence of the National Cash Register Co., and one at Hanyan has competed in the sale of steel rails in New York against the American Steel Co. Examples like these show the possibilities of the county; but the masses of the people are today ekeing out a living on 1½-acre farms or crowding the cities in search of jobs that pay 20cents a day. The people are ground down by the social order which exalts the few and gives to the many a bare subsistence. Their superstition forces them to take up a great part of their much needed land for graves and prevents them from developing an adequate transportation system. They fear that modern scientific industrial methods will disturb the "Dragon" and upset the peace of mind of the people.

Eastern students are capable and keenly interested in modern thought. But they have no character-building religion. The East looks to the West to send her Christianity with its emphasis on the worth of a human being as a child of God. This is the message that is needed to permit the development of the tremendous economic resources of the East, to establish a humane social order, and to endow education with character-building vitality.

Dr. Weatherford then spoke of the work of Eugene C. Barnett, Carolina's representative, who is stationed at Hangchow. Mr. Barnett is at work among eleven thousand students.

INTERESTING CHAPEL TALK

Prof. Williams Discusses Unity of Life.

Prof. Horace Williams commenced a series of Chapel talks Tuesday morning. He discussed the question of the unity of the Universe. As his text he took the first verse in the Bible. He said that this is the most wonderful sentence ever written. It declares the whole universe to be a unity.

"I venture to say that there are not as many as three monotheists in this Hall." He further said that he had met only one during his lifetime. It takes a great man to see a unity in one of the three great fields of life—God, Science and Power. For apparently there is no unity in

PROF. E. C. BRANSON HERE FIVE DAYS

Friday Told Students of County Club Work in Georgia

TUESDAY HE SPOKE ON NEGRO PROBLEM

Discussed with Small Groups Work of Johnson County Club. Have Studied Farm and Wealth Conditions of County. His talk on Negro Problem Showed Vital Relation of Two.

Prof. E. C. Branson, of the University of Georgia, spoke in the Chapel Friday night on the work of the county clubs of that university. His appeal was a strong one, and will be of great effect in vitalizing the work of our county club association. He brought out the fact that entirely too little is known of the counties and of the state in general, and his solution of this problem in Georgia was the subject of his addresses. There there organization of county clubs met weekly to study conditions of tenantry, farm life, taxation, and all such matters that must be known thoroughly before valuable service can be rendered the people "back home". The interest aroused and the results obtained in this work of knowing the people of the State promises great things for the people and for the university. The value of the knowledge obtained was forcibly brought home by the speaker when he declared that on the strength of statistics compiled by these clubs a successful fight was waged in the Georgia leg islature for a more just system of taxation — and, he declared, the conditions were no worse than those now prevailing in this state. Prof. Branson's talk opened to the county clubs a broad field of labor and service.

The succeeding three days Prof. Branson spent in properly launching the club members upon this task. At the libary he was met by all club members and presidents, and he laid before them the details of his plan. The Johnson county club, which has done the most sincere and effective work, and he selected as a model and close study was made of the population and farm wealth of the county. Following this course, the other clubs will start work for their own counties and the general association will be welded into a unit for the pursuit of such information.

On Tuesday night Prof. Branson spoke under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on the negro problem in the South, Briefly summerized, he stated that the negro population is decreasing in ratio throughout the South, but that he was proportionally increasing as a farm owner and worker. The lure of the city has not affected him, and he is quietly buying up farming land on all sides. No arbitrary legislation, he said, could cope with this condition, and the only way to meet it is by educating the negro.

PROGRAM OF EXERCISES

Commemorating the One Hundred and Twentieth Anniversary of the Laying of the Cornerstone of the University of North Carolina

Procession forms at Alumni Hall, 10:45 A. M.

Exercises begin in Memorial Hall, 11:00 A. M.

1. Invocation,.....Dr. W. R. L. Smith
2. University Hymn

Dear University!
Thy sons right loyally
Thy praises sing.
For thee, our Mother dear,
May every coming year
Fresh-crowned with joy appear,
Fresh honors bring.

Heaven blessed the genial ray
Of that October day.
When at thy shrine,
Under the poplar shade,
Their vows our fathers paid,
Thy cornerstone they laid
With rites divine.

Fair may thy hours roll on,
As numbering one by one,
Thy tuneful bell
Now rings for duties done,
Now calls to honors won,
Or, for a comrade gone,
Tolls out a knell.

O! Thou whose promise nerved
Our fathers when they served
For Liberty.
Still be their children's God,
Still with Thy staff and rod
Show us the path they trod,
The path to Thee.

3. Introductory,.....Acting President, Edward K. Graham
4. The University and the State,.....Governor Locke Craig
5. The University and the Nation,.....Dr. Archibald Henderson
6. Address,.....Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy
7. In Memoriam,.....Acting Dean, M. H. Stacy
8. Integer Vitae,.....University Quartette
9. Hail to U. N. C.

Hark, the sound of loyal voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises,
Shouting N. C. U.

REF.—Hail to the brightest star of all,
Clear in its radience shine,
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.

'Neath the oaks thy sons true hearted
Homage pay to thee,
Time-worn walls give back the echo,
Hail to U. N. C.

Tho' the storms of life assail us,
Still our hearts beat true;
Naught can break the friendships formed
At dear old U. N. C.

A CORRECTION.

The report in last week's Tar Heel that Professor Horace Williams had resigned his position in the Faculty was a mistake; and we apologize most sincerely for an unpardonable error. Professor Williams has not resigned and has no intention of doing so. His heart is in the University, and we hope the years of service may stretch out long before him.

A BIRTHDAY APPRECIATION.

On next Saturday, October 11, the University will pause for a moment on her nexer-ending journey to receive the good wishes of thousands of sons who rejoice in the inspiring record of one hundred and twenty years of services. All over the state and nation Alumni everywhere will be thinking of Chapel Hill, of the South building, of the well, of the Society halls, of the Athletic field, of the fraternities, of the class.rooms, of Battle's Park and of Piney Prospect, and always their thoughts will be full of the glory of the past and eager for the promise of the future. The University of North Carolina is a term to denote an idea that no man can limit with words. They little know the University who are acquainted only with Chapel Hill. It is not a beautiful campus and physical equipment, nor is it a loyal Alumni Association, nor is it a Bureau of Extension. It is this and a great deal more, bound together and saturated with the spirit that did not flinch before the crisis of last fall, but met the shock head-on, conquered it, and stands now awaiting the next test, calmer and stronger than before.

Because of these things we print here an appreciation of another great University. Read it slowly and carefully and then go off by yourself and think.

MOTHER OF MEN.

Mother of Men, grown strong in giving
Honor to them thy lights have led—
Rich in the toil of thousands living,
Proud of the deeds of thousands dead;
We who have felt thy power and know thee,
We in whose work thy gifts avail—
High in our hearts enshrined enthrone thee,
Mother of Men, Old Yale.

Mother of Men, alive, enchanging,
Under whose feet the years are cast—
Heir to an agele-s empire, ranging
Over the future and the past—
Thee whom our fathers loved before us,
Thee whom our sons unborn shall hail,
Praise we to-day in sturdy chorus,
Mother of Men—Old Yale.

A NEW EL DORADO.

Professor E. C. Branson of the University of Georgia is, as Acting President Graham said, a fine type of the modern idea of constructive statesmanship- To have heard his two addresses and to have come in contact with him is to realize more strongly than ever the Political truth that the final destiny of this nation lies in the development or what is her own. Here is a man who wants you to know your own section, who would utilize the county clubs to make a study of the counties, their economic, industrial and commercial possibilities and who would combine this county knowledge until he has a scientifically accurate and complete knowledge of the native state. Not unless you have heard Professor Branson tell the really wonderful romance of the Georgia Club can you realize what this study means. Once you have heard him, you are not likely to forget either him or his work. For he is a master in a master line. He puts life into history and makes economics real and interesting. He is himself a maker of history and of economics.

The results of his visit here will be watched with an unusual amount of interest. The Johnston County Club to which de devoted most of his attention that he might form a model has been aforetime interested in county work and is the pioneer of the North Carolina County Club movement. It has a great opportunity now to blaze the way to a newer and a higher El Dorado and to teach an unforgettable lesson to the University and the State.

DISADVANTAGES.

The University football schedule consists of nine games, two of which are played at Chapel Hill and the remaining seven of which are played away from Chapel Hill in various cities ranging over four States. Of course there is a reason and it is a very simple one: games at Chapel Hill mean financial loss, while games in large cities mean financial gain, and as the foot ball season goes a long way toward supporting the entire system of intercollegiate athletics, the necessity of playing away from Chapel Hill can readily be seen. But that fact does not make it any more pleasant for the great majority of students whose knowledge of the team is based on the first two games of the season, neither of which will count for a great deal in the final stand in South Atlantic football. Does such a condition make for loyalty and interest and support? Manifestly it does not. It is a fine way to alienate affection; and we sometimes marvel that this student-body has stood behind its football teams as well as it has. No man can love a thing he does not know. The 1913 football team will be comparative strangers to the University community. The effects in the past of this deplorable condition while largely indefinite, have certainly been harmful, and any sign of light ahead is more than welcome. Financial independence will not come in a day, but the A. & M. game, together with a new system of athletic control looks like a long step forward.

GREATER COUNCIL MEETS

At First Meeting Discusses Many New Plans

The Greater Council met for the first time this year on Monday night. Phil Woolcott was elected Secretary. Several suggestions were made and discussed.

A committee was appointed to look into the question of class athletes and see just who is eligible to play on their class teams. The committee, Ervin, Woolcott and Newson, are to talk the matter over with the various captains and coaches, and report back to the Council.

Another committee was appointed to confer with Dr. Herty and discuss something along the lines suggested by his Chapel talk last week.

The question of a uniform class pin was favorably acted upon. J. A. Holmes, Woolcott and W. A. Smith were appointed to choose and submit designs for a permanent class pin.

The pin will then be submitted to the three lower classes for adoption or rejection.

It was decided to see what could be done toward getting a row of white electric lights along the street from Old East Building west and from Old West Building east: also to fix the walk from the Post Office to Commons and erect a fence to keep wagons from driving across the running track.

The Greater Council will try to arrange for evening Band Concerts.

Leach, Smith and Pate were appointed to ask the Athletic Council to take steps to keep the crowd off the field during football games. This is needed especially for the Class-High School games.

The various classes are asked to contribute a dollar each to the expence of the Greater Council.

The Council is composed of the following men.

Oscar Leach, President.
Phil Woolcott, Secretary.
S. W. Whiting.
J. A. Holmes.
W. P. Fuller.
T. C. Boushall.
C. E. Ervin.
A. R. Newson.
J. S. Cowles.
W. A. Smith.
K. A. Kirby.
J. S. Pate.
I. E. Lytch.
J. S. Cansler.
T. C. Linn.
F. W. Norris.
John Huske.
Oliver Rand.
E. K. Procter.
(Representative from the Graduate school to be elected.)

The Council is eager to receive suggestions from any student or member of the Faculty on anything that will benefit the University. It is the clearing house of ideas for college betterment.

One More County Club.

George Carrington '12, saw the football game. He is teaching in West Durham. He was editor-in-chief of this paper last year.

the Heavens. To the solar system the lunar system is opposed. Again on the earth, the lamb eats the grass, man eats the lamb, and the lion eats the man. Man tears down the works of nature, and nature destroys the products of man. Apparently there is no unity then.

Wednesday.

But this first wonderful sentence declares three unities. If it takes a great man to recognize one unity how can these be harmoized? One of the greatest discoveries of the Nineteenth Century was that the cell is the unit of life in both trees and men.

It is plain, however, that no one of the three divisions should triumph. Science would rule by physical laws and say that animal and man were the same. Theology did once rule and the dark ages resulted.

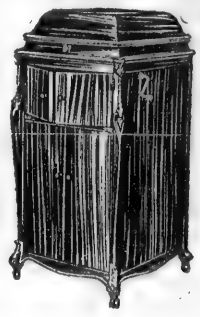
Thursday.

On this morning Prof. Williams discussed the meaning of the word "create" as it appears in the sentence, "In the beginning God created the Heavens and the earth."

Create has three meaning: (1), The work of the imagination; (2), the manufacture of a thing; (3), the relation of the vine to the branch, the father to the son. The third is the meaning intended here. You cannot distinguish the difference between the vine and the branch, yet Christ used this illustration to explain the creation. Therefore God is intimately related to everything. The relation is not dynamic or static but organic. God is in the whole universe. But, you say, there is so much that is mean and vulgar here. Is God intimately connected with all that? Impossible. Yes, so it is from your viewpoint, but God conceived it that way. It is his relation, and is the true one.



Then there must be a new definition of God. He cannot be a far away God, nor can He be an individual. What then? God is a spirit.

As an illustration we have our "University Spirit." It has no physicial limitations or requirements. It cannot be defined, limited, regulated or separated. Yet it goes as far and as deep as any individual in the University.

Multiply this ten thousand times and you have a faint conception of the Spirit of God.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Carolina showed up mighty well last Saturday. The game she put up was a great improvement over the first one. There was lots of pep floating round, too, and it looks as if there is more left where the first came from.

Tennis turned over in the bed Monday afternoon and has been restless ever since. She will rise pretty soon. Four varsity tournaments were played off Monday, the first day of tryout. There is a right healthy bunch out for the team and only two to make it. Still, the more the merrier, so let the game proceed.

Class football is the latest thing about the campus at present. Seniors, Juniors, Sophmores and Freshmen are working as if on commission. The Seniors and Juniors have a scrimmage every now and then.

We know all about the Freshmen. 0 to 0. All we can say is that Goldsboro must have a good football team even if it hasn't any good representatives here. Gotoitfreshmen. Lesseeeverythingyougot. We'll try not to think of what you haven't got.

It's bad about the Sophmores. Most of their players are training for the Soph Smoker, and can't play much football.

That little McCall boy that plays guard got in the game Saturday.

Ramsey played a good game, and we almost got off a foward pass. But how can anybody play football when everybody's chewing chicklets; that certainly will gum the game.

The Sophs play Bingham next Saturday. Carolina played 'em last year; what will Carolina '16 do?

On to Greensboro!

Literary Societies' First Debates.

At the Phi the query was: "Resolved: that the Railroads should be allowed to increase their freight rates 5 per cent." The negative won. W. B. Umstead made the best speech. R. Welch received honorble mention.

The Di Society debated, "Resolved that the North Carolina Legislature should enact a statute providing for the segregation of negroes in incorporate towns and cities." Committee decided that the negative won. Sims made best speech. Smith and Pike deserved honorable mention.

Whitehead McKenzie of Salisbury, was taken into Sigma Nu Saturday.

Jim Carter '12, was on the Hill Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Girls of Gastonia High School have organized a baseball team. They will play King Mountain at the latter place. A great deal of interest is being aroused over the game.

Charlotte's football squad is proving to be exceptionally light but fast. Coach Cowell expects much from his team. The Glee Club is well organized.

Twenty-five men reported for practice the first day at Wilmington High School. The school opened late but hopes to turn out a good team. The "Burnett Brothers", here at the University, are old W. H. S. men. This School won the State Championship last fall and hope to be contestants on the Hill this year.

On October 4, Ashville High was defeated by Asheville School 47 to 0. The A. H. S. boys were outweighed about 25 pounds per man and had only six day practice, so the results were not unexpected.

The High Point High School has begun active work in debate.

The Freshmen football team and the Goldsboro Highs played a scoreless game Saturday on the Goldsboro field. The Fresh team showed lack of practice and team work, but with a little time to develope the class of 1917 should have a well rounded team. Goldsboro played well, and showed a good back field.

The Freshman line-up was as follows:

R. E. Monroe, R. T. Anonson, R. G. Elias, C. Hill and King, L. G. Telfair, L. T. Martin, L. E. Burnett, R. H. B. Colman, L. H. B. Hogman, F. B. Davis and Strange, Q. Alderman and Ranson.

Prof. Branson Here Five Days

Industrial training will make of him a good producer and a good citizen. The rule to be applied in working with the negro must be that of the ten commandments.

Immediately after the address, announcement was made that the Y. M. C. A. would conduct a six week's course in the study of the negro problem. Dr. Raper and Dr. McNider, will lead two of the discussions, and others of the faculty will handle different phases of the question. Over seventy men registered for this study.

Grant, star two-mile runner on Virginia 1914 track team was on the Hill Saturday.

THE BIRTHDAY OF THE UNIVERSITY OBSERVED WITH FITTING CEREMONY

The 120th Anniversary Observed Saturday. Secretary Josephus Daniels, Pres. Graham, Dr. Archibald Henderson and Prof. M. H. Stacy Speak

The forces regnent in this University of ours, with their unchallenged promise and creative fertility, tempts one less to retrospection than to prophecy." These words spoken by Dr. Archbald Henderson last Saturday sounded the keynote of the University's celebration of it's one-hundred-twentieth anniversary. With but a glance at the history of the institution, rich in service and achievement, the spirit of the day emphasized the opportunity of the present and constructive plans for the future The President reported that through its Bureau of Extension the University hopes to make its campus co-extensive with the boundaries of the State. Honorable Josephus Daniels. Secretary of Navy, rendered the occasion memorable by his presence and his message of "North Carolina Spirit."

The celebration here at home was connected with numerous celebrations all over the country, as alumni and friends, though absent in person, yet joined themselves in spirit, sent to their University hearty congratulations on its birthday. From Greensboro came this telegram: "The faculty and students of the State Normal send greetings and all good wishes on this anniversarp occasion." A message from Germany brought Dr. Venerable's best wishes.

The features of the day were the able addresses of Secretary Daniels, the stirring speech of Dr. Henderson and the encouraging "introductory" address of the President.

President Graham, in making his report of the year, announced that the registration has reached 871. This exceeds the total number exer registered in any one fear by 34 and is 100 above the number ever registered at any one time before. Registration in our academic department exceeds that of any other Southern college except the University of Texas, which is co-educational.

Ih addition to those taught directly on the campus, said the President, the faculty has undertaken so to extend its activities as lo put the University in warm, sensitive touch with every problem in N. C. life, making the campus co-extensive with the boundaries of the State.

As to the condition of the students on the campus, President Graham said that their main interest is in their college work, our attendance record comparing favorably with those of other high-grade institutions, football is properly one of the student activities; but it is not an all-absording one. The record of serious attention to required duties is borne out by the three outstanding voluntary activities in the life of the average N. C. student thhat sow his true nature and genius. These are his interest in debating, in religion, and in self-government. The success of the literary societies and the great work of the religious organizations are a part of a fundemental activity—a slowly evolving system of self government—which is the highest achievement of the University student community.

The next speaker was Dr. Archibald Henderson, who on account of the high praise that he has won at home and abroad for his work in literature and Science is eminently fitted to speak on "The University and the Nation." Said Dr. Henderson in part, "Viewed in the light of national perspective, the University of the new era can no longer rest content to educate the individual mind. Its prophetic desting is to educate the popular mind, to raise the standards of politics and government to the highest level of enlightenof public opinion. This University has recently created a Bureau of Extension. In a true sense is this work termed "extension," for it is but an extension of the national service to education already abundantly rendered by this inttitution and its alumni. Dr. Blalock, educational expert, placed this institution in the first and foremost rank of American Universities. From the Southern institutions have recently come sech leaders in national affairs as Wilson, Daniels, Houston, Underwood, Simmons, Craig, Page and Holmes. In this hour of liberty and responsibility the nation once moae turns for guidence to the South, the ancient mother of national leadership.

Hon. Josephus Daniels then delivered his address, speaking in part as follows: "North Carolinians are differentiated from the people of other states by an indefinable spirit, a spirit blossoming in the simple life, simple faith and love of home, a spirit incarnated in Macon, Vance and Aycock. Have we loved the simple life because we have lived far removed from the garnish sights of a more complex civilization? No. Our virtues were not the accident of environment. They were—they are—they will ever be the texture of our lives. I call upon the young men of N. C. to incarnate this N. C. spirit ie their lives and let it be the inspiring light of tne future as it has been the steady glow of the past. The N. C. spirit of simple life and simple faith, of love of one's neighbors, of open hearts and warm hospitality, of rngged integrity and courage, has led us to the heights upon which we stand in this glad hour. Let us now invoke that spirit, thank God, and take courage.

GREATER COUNCIL MEETS

Discusses Idea of Student Memorial to Town.

At a meeting of the Greater Council Tuesday night a number of interesting suggestions were made and discussed. Among other things an idea which Dr. Herty presented some time ago in chapel was considered, namely, that the student body by doing some work or making some gift for the benefit of the town and community, erect for itself a memorial. Dr. Herty was present and explained more fully his idea, and discussed it with the Council. A number of plans were tentatively considered. These embraced an artistic and useful fountain at the site of the well on Main street; an efficient and ornamental system of lights for several blocks on main street, and others. Committees were appointed to investigate the practicapility of suggested plans.

In the discussion of campus life, the matter of the inadequate drinking facilities at the well was brought up. A committee was formed to try to formulate some plan for a more convenient and sanitary arrangement than the present pump and free-for-all dipper. In this as in all other matters the Greater Council, working for the welfare of the campus, would appreciate the suggestions of any member of the community.

Various Alumni Celebrations.

Dr. Mangum addressed the Alumni Association of Mecklenburg County at the University Day Banquet.

Buncombe County Alumni had an enthusiastic meeting. A lettter from Coach "Doggie" relative to the football situation aroused a great deal of interest. Several committees were appointed to help him in his work. Another banquet will be held about January 1 and it is hoped to have increased interest by that time.

The Alumni in New York held a novel and entertaining banquet. The affair was a beefsteak dinner at which the members sat on stools in a circle and ate from the bottoms of bisected barrels. Appropriate costumes were worn. A. Marvin Carr was chairman of the arrangement committee.

R. G. Shoat, ex-'14, was on the Hill for University Day.

CAROLINA FALLS SHORT OF EXPECTATION IN GAME AGAINST DAVIDSON BUNCH

Carolina Failed to Score Until the Last Quarter. Foust's Kicking was Great. Backfield Open to Much Just Criticism

Carolina	Position	Davidson
Homewood, Long	R. E.	Creighton, Brownley
Abernathy L., Edwards	R. T.	Anderson
Foust, Johnson	R. G.	Glower
Abernathy R., Tandy	C.	Peters, Laird, Robinson
Cowell, Andrews	L. G.	Brady
Ramsey, Edwards	L. T.	Howell, McCoy
Huske, Joyner	L. E.	Cosby
Lord, Allen	Q.	Elliott, Keesler
Reed, Burnette	R. H.	Walker
Tayloe	L. H.	McKinnon
Ervin, Fuller	F.	Summerville

One touchdown, and that in the last six minutes Poor work of the backfield and indifferent linework in the game against Davidson at Greensboro Saturday tells the tale of one touchdown.

The first quarter ended with the ball where it started — the center of the field. Neither side could gain consistently, through Carolina's failure to shift in the line to meet Davidson's shift in the backfield resulted in several needless gains by the Presbyteriane. Tayloe's two attempts at drop kicks were highly unsucessfull.

Foust's punting in the second gave Carolina the advantage. Unsuccessful forward passes, illtimed plays, and the failure to block Davidson's end on punts were all overcome by Foust's good left toe.

With fresh men in the lineup, Carolina become more aggresive in the third. The ball was pushed down close to Davidson's line. A forward pass was intercepted by a Davidson man who ran the ball to the middle of the field. A successful pass by the Red and Black put the ball on Carolina's 20 yard line. But Davidson failed to gain another inch. An exchange of punts followed in favor of Carolina. Line plunges left the ball on Davidson's 16 yard line. The quarter ended.

More line plunges, a forward pass to Tayloe, and an overtackle play by Fuller resulted in the only touchdown. Tayloe really made the touchdown, but the referee ruled that he stepped out of the field a yard from the goal. Tandy kicked goal. At this time, the conduct of the Davidson rooters was disgraceful. They crowded the sideline and even came on the field. They yelled and tried to drown Lord's signals. They were finally driven driven by the threat to call the game.

The last few minutes of play resulted in nothing, the game ended with the ball in the middle of the field.

Carolina is potentially much stronger than the score reveals. The line is good, undoubtdly. Ramsey's playing, as usual, deserves praise. He made most of the tackles, going down under the punts. The team was badly managed. The plays were not mixed enough. Passes were poorly made. The backs failed to take the holes made for them, and the interference did little to keep the opponents out of the play.

The game was a hard fought one. Several men being injured on both sides. Peters, Davidson's center, was knocked unconscious. It was feared for several hours that he had concussion of the brain. Ervin and Reed both have badly injured shoulders.

Referee, Simmons, of Cnarlotte: Umpire, Sampson of St. Albans; Head Linesman, Kluttz, of Davidson; Timekeeper, Garrett of U. N. C. Quarters, 12 1.2: Attendance, 600.

ELISHA MITCHELL ELECTS

Decides to Lay More Stress On Undergraduates.

The first meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientiffic Society was held on Tuesday, the 30th of September. The officers for the year 1913-14 were elected as follows:

Prof. Daggett, President.
Dr. Bell, Vice-President.
Dr. F. P. Venable, Permanent Secretary.
W. W. Rankin, Recording Secretary.
Dr. Coker, Dr. Pratt, D. Bell, Editorial Committee.

A motion was made that greater stress be laid upon research work by the students. In pursuance of the spirit of this motion twelve students of the University were elected to membership in the Society, together with three new members of the Faculty. Those elected were: Professors Bullitt, of the Medical Department, James of the Department of Drawing, and Randolph, of the Geological Department, and Messrs. Rudisill, Edwards, Rhodes, Totten, Cox, Fields, Harding, McIver, Conroy, Conrad, Walker, and Johnston of the student body.

John Johnston, '09, who is now practicing law at Hillboro, was here Saturday.

BAD SPIRIT

President Few, of Trinity, and Bishop Kilgo, an ex-President of Trinity, have both made addresses this fall deploring the heightened importance of athletics at institutions in this state as compared with the real things for which those institutions stand. In a general way that is an admirable subject, but in both addresses there was a shaking of the head in regard to the Univsity. In President Few's case it was hinted at; in Bishop Kilgo's it was openly discussed,

This is a difficult matter to treat and one which gives only displeasure. We of Carolina have the best of wishes for Trinity, and there has been a feeling of great satisfaction here at the recent track and tennis contests which, it was hoped. would lead to closer relations all around. But loose talking will break up any friendship; and addresses like these make breaches which years of quiet work cannot bridge. The colleges of North Carolina have never been close together as they should have been, and the state has suffered consequence. Are we never to be rid of petty jealousy? Can't the colleges realize that they are working for the same end, that they have to work together, and that bad feeling blocks the progress of all? Let's have done with hot air!

As for the chances of athletics playing too important a part in the life of students at the Uniersity, the idea is ridiculous. As Acting President Graham pointed out on University Day, students here, far from playing too much, play too little. The chief student activity here never has been athletics and is not now; and no amount of talking from President Few and Bishop Kilgo can make it so. Any one who knows Chapel Hill knows that Carolina students are above all things serious minded. And they do not believe in a state of negative virtue. If a man performs all his duties, he may have a good time afterwards. Being good does not cousist in sitting still and talking.

MISSIONARY WORK.

"No call for guidance in its development should come out of the State which is not met with an immediate answer by its State University or its group of higher educational agencies." Within this sentence is seen the guiding spirit of the Bureau of Extension recently inaugurated by the University and admirably discussed on University Day by Acting President Graham and by Dr. Archibald Henderson. Even now in its infant clothes it stands out as an achieving mark in the history of the University. It offers to the people of the State: 1, General information concerning books, reading, essays, study outlines, and subjects of general interest; 2, Lectures of a popular or technical nature and addresses for commencement or other special occasions; 3, A correspondence course for teachers; 4, Guidance in debate and declamation through the High School Debating Union and other agencies; 5, County economic and social surveys; 6, Municipal and legislative reference aids; 7, A teachers' bureau for securing efficient teachers.

This programme is an admirable offering even for an Extension Bureau well under way. But from a larger view it little matters what the programme offers. The point is that there is a programme, which means that behind it is the spirit that, as Dr. Henderson said, marks an epoch. The nice adjustment of the idea will come later; we rejoice now in the idea itself. It explodes the last bit of exclusiveness which was formerly thought to be attached to an institution of learning. It popularizes education. It refuses to allow the University to retire to a cloistral cell and spend its time in prayer and self-reflection. It organizes a missionary campaign with headquarters in Chapel Hill and missionaries touching every corner of the State to the end that North Carolinians may live more wholesomely. It is a big step forward to that dream-day of us all when the University shall be the thought-center of the State and the home of every progressive and wise movement for light.

WAYS TO HELP.

Some of the county clubs, for one reason or another, are not ready to take up Professor Branson's idea of an economic and social survey. We hope that they may be able to do so soon, but to suggest to them what they might be doing in the meantime, we print here last year's programme of the Johnston County Club, a model of its kind.

The Johnston County Club of the University of North Carolina purposes to accomplish the following things during the session of 1912-1913.

1. To present the University and its unparalleled opportunities for securing a higher education to the people of Johnston County, and to bring them to realize that, as a state university, it is their University.

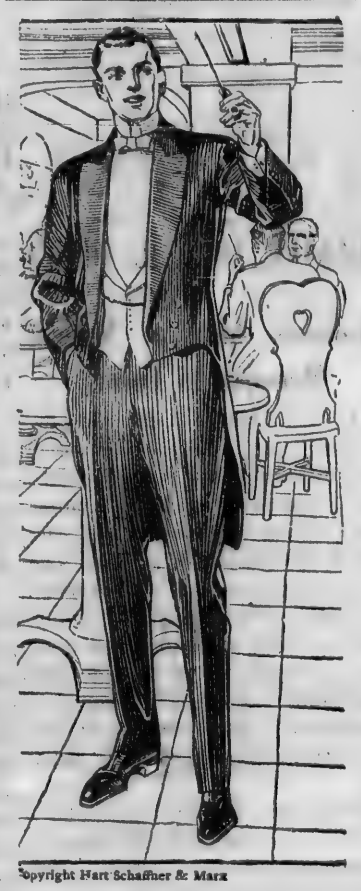
2. To increase the influence of the University in Johnston County through paper correspondence and personal work.

3. To show the people of our county the value of a higher education.

4. To get into personal touch with each male graduate in our county so that we may persuade him to enter the University.

5. To unite the Public, Public High, and Graded schools of our county in one great educational system.

A. By uniting representatives from each school into an effective club, thus uniting interest.



B. By forming a Debating Union of the Public High and Graded schools of our county and giving a medal to the winner of the final debate.

C. By sending a representative of the Club to the County Field Day Exercises, thus uniting the University and the County Schools in one celebration.

6. To hold a banquet at the county seat during the Christmas Holidays, and thus unite the County Club with the University Alumni, in order that we may work together for the upbuilding of our county.

7. To create a feeling of unity and fellowsnip among the boys attending the University from our county.

8. To discuss the problems of our county and to help work out solutioni for them.

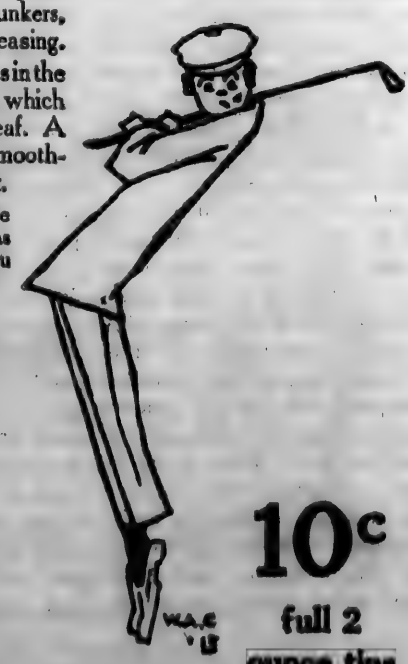
Velvet

THE SMOOTHEST TOBACCO



FOR the man chasing the pill, uphill, down hill, in the sandy bunkers, Velvet is mild and smooth and pleasing. Velvet—selected leaf—two years in the warehouse undergoing a change which eliminates the harshness of the leaf. A mellowness rarely attained—a smoothness you should know all about.

No sir. Impossible to bite or irritate—one smoke as cool and sweet as another—smoke it for 54 holes if you like—always agreeable.

CHAPEL TALKS ON TARIFF

Dr. Raper Points Out the Important Changes.

Dr. Raper began a series of chapel talks on the advantages and disadvantages of the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill Monday morning. This bill, he says, is unique in many particulars:

It is the first real cut in tariff since the civil war, having reduced the tax from 40 per cent ad valorum to between 27 per cent and 29 per cent on an averaage.

The Senate showed itself more radical than the House by amending the House bill 674 times, 450 of these amendments were accepted finally.

It puts wool on the free list and puts free sugar into effect in 1916. Besides wool many other staple articles were given free admittance.

Aside from the other things the provision of a just income tax to cover the deficiency in import revenues on account of the new tariff is very interesting. The present income from tariff will be reduced about 83 million dollars and it is proposed to meet this with a proportional tax on all incomes of $4000 and over for married men and $3000 and over for bachelors. The present tax on incomes applies only to corporations but the new one proposes to tax the incomes of 425,000 people who are able to pay in order to lift the burden of tariff from those less able to stand it.

It is interesting to note that 35,000 of the new taxpayers are located in "downtown" New York. Eleven people in Chapel Hill will necessitate a visit of the revenue officers here every year.

The Alumni Review.

With the appearance of the October number last week, The Alumni Review entered upon its second year of usefulness. As a publication it is a credit to the University, to its Board of Editors, and to the class in English, sixteen whose efforts were very helpful in getting it out. But of more importance is the fact that it is successfully filling a genuine need, that of keeping her Alumni in touch with Carolina. Its editorials and other articles give a rezume and comments upon the month's activity in practically every branch of our life.

In detail and as a whole the October number is good. Its articles are of interest not only to the Alumni but to the college community as well. Several changes have been made since last year. It is now directly in charge of E. R. Rankin, '13, Business manager. Its physicial appearance, too, has been altered somewhat. The cover design has been changed and improved. The Review began the year auspiciously by coming out on time.

Mr. G. M. Sneath answered the call of a telegram last week from New Haven, Conn., which stated that his wife was near death. Her recovery is hoped but not reasonably expected according to a message received by Prof. Dagget on Tuesday.

Sigma Chi to be Revived.

The Alpha Tau Chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraturnity will be revived at the University of North Carolina next week, after a period of inactivity of twelve years. The dates for the installation will be October the twenty-first and twenty-second. A number of Sigma Chis from various points in the State are expected to attend, among whom will be quite a few Alumni of the University.

Reverend W. B. Ricks of Nashville, Tennessee, of the class of 1889, and a charter member of the old Alpha Tau chapter of Sigma Chi, is the installing officer. He will be assisted by Mr. Morris F. Frey, of Washington. D. C.

This will be the second chapter of Sigma Chi in the State, Beta Lambda chapter having been installed at Trinity College in the spring of 1912.

Glee Club and Band in Shape.

The Band was right there on University Day. It showed that the two weeks' practise had not been spent in vain. We all know that if any one appreciates good band music it is a little kid, and of the little kids the blacker their skin the deeper their appreciation They were out in both white and black denominations Saturday and made open demonstration of the appreciation that we felt.

Daily practice of the Band continues in Chapel every afternoon.

Candidates for the Glee Club were tried out in quartettes and as a whole showed up unusually well. The total number out started at some forty and the choice faom this number ought to be of high merit. New music has arrived and practice more consistent and more purposeful has been begun. Every man ought to be present Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the Chapel at 7 sharp-

Dr. A. A. Kluttz was an enthusiastic rooter at the Carolina-Davidson game in Greensboro Saturday.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Just look what we've gone and done now. Somebody's beefing cause we just score 7 points Who likes a hog? We won the game and that's all we went to Greensboro for. Besides, it was a good game, and Davidson fought like the devil. Every point scored takes just so much strength; we're savin' strength and points both, and still we're winning the games. Sure, that's all right.

"Big Ab" wanted to know what all that fuss was that he kept hearing in Greensboro. Sure it was the Fresh-Soph football game that Ratty was refereeing. There was more college spirit at the class game than there ever was liquid spirit in Greensboro. Didn't you see the class game? Well you heard it if you didn't for they make a most 'ell of a fuss; and when Fore took the Clyde Line (think hard till you catch it) to Six Point Comfort everybody boosted the pot with one blue bean and two yells.

They say Foust did some good punting. You can't blame him much for booting in his home town.

The class teams are rounding up in shap. The Freshman have enough to scrimmage among themselves, and the other three classes try it once in a while.

But lets say something else of that Fresh-Sobh. The Sophs beat 'em 6 to 0 and that on a fluke run through the spectators and benches. The Eresh backfield charged good and they ought to work up a good offense. The Sophs worked something like the Chapel Hill Tigers, not with signals but just pointing to a place and charging at it.

We are glad to see Orr back on the field again.

We beat Wake Forest 7 to 0; South Carolina beat 'em 27 to 10 or something like that. We play South Carolina Saturday. Now what are we going to do with 'em? Well wait and see. You won't? Well don't then.

Enthusiastic County Club.

Hoke County Club met Thursday night in the mission room of the Y. M. C. A. An enthusiastic session was held. A programme committee was appointed and a motion passed to send the Tar Heel to the various high schools in the county. It was resolved that the secretary write to the principal of every high school urging them to enter their schools in the debating and athletic contests. The members of the club intend to write to every high school student in the county in an endeavor to increase the Hoke County attendance at the University. The officers elected were: Oscar Leach president, E. H. Currie vice-president, J. G. Dixon secretary and treasurer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Reidsvilie defeated Greensboro in the game of a series last Saturday 6 to 0. Rankin, Stokes and Thompson, of Reidsville starred.

The Wake Forest scrubs beat Warrenton 39 to 0, Saturday while the first teaw was losing in Columbia, S. C. to U. of S. C. The scrubs made most of their gains on clever forward passes. Warreuton was weak in the backfield but strong in the line.

Raleigh put up an exceptionally good brand of ball against Horner. The score was 7 to 6. Failure to kick goal caused the defeat. Saeford, old A. S. M. star played in Horner's beckfield. He had promised not to play it is said. Grey Phillips, '13 is coaching the Raleigh eleven.

Those Durham boys are doing a lot of Debating work. There will be a State wide debate some of these times. In athletics they are arranging for a series of class basketball games.

The attendance at Pleasant Garden, the winning school in the state wide debate last spring, is unusually large this year. They are working up athletics, too.

Journal Club Makes Changes.

The Journal Club meeting Monday night was opened by a new plan for conducting the meetings of the year. Every other meeting is to taken up by reports on the research work going on in the various Universities of the country. The idea presents a great many difficulties, but seems to offer a variety which will be welcomed.

Dr. Herty presented the first paper, on the possibility of using the kelp beds of the Pacific coast for gaining our independence from the German potash syndicates. The potash used for fertilizer in this country at present comes largely from Germany and a great deal of stir has been raised lately in hopes of freeing us from our subservience to this one source.

Mr. Coulter presented an interesting paper on a new method which has recently been discovered for preparing neutral ammonium citrate. This method was claimed by the author to be far superior to one discovered by Dr. Bell of our faculty. However the club failed to see it that way.

The evening was closed by a paper by Mr. Struthers on the blasting of precipitates of calcium, a thing which has long been a "thorn in the flesh" to the commercial analyst.

Prof. M. C. S. Noble is spending a day or two in Greensboro.

SOPHOMORES AND FRESHMAN WIN

Sophomores Stay Home and Defeat Warrenton. 1917 Goes to Greensboro.

BOTH CREWS MAKE FIVE TOUCHDOWNS.

Blake Applewhite, Old N. C. Man, Coaches Warrenton. Ervin Escorts Freshman Bunch. First Year Men Win 34 to 0 while Sophs do 31 to 0.

The Fresh football team defeated the Greensboro High School eleven on their own grounds Saturday by the score of 34 to 0.

The freshmen cleanly outclassed their opponents and scored apparently at will. Hoffman at left half for the freshmen was the individual star, while Monroe and Davis played well also. The freshmen lined up as follows:

L. E. Williamson.
L. T. Martin, Ware.
L. G. Telfair.
C. Elias.
R. G. Bullock.
R. T. Burnett.
R. E. Monroe.
Q. Taylor, Alderman.
R. H. Davis.
L. H. Hoffman.
F. Byrd, Smith.

In a one-sided game played here Saturday the Sophomore football team easily won from Warrenton by the large score of 31 to 0.

The Sophs showed much improvement over their previous performances and apparently scored at will, while Warrenton was woefully weak both on offense and defense. The feature of the game was the playing of Fore at full and Huske at right half for the Sophomores. The line up was as follows:

L. E. Brian, Langhran.
L. T. Norris, Capt.
L. G. Huske, Hogan.
C. Zollicoffer.
R. G. Hart.
R. T. Royall, Jones.
R. E. Long.
Q. McLewis, Fore.
L. H. Hoover.
R. H. Huske.
F. B. Fore, Grimsley.

Touchdowns: Fore 3, Grimsley 1, Huske 1.

Tennis Tournament Narrows Down.

The Varsity Tennis Tournament has now narrowed down to three men. In the first round Walker defeated Royall; Mebane, Hill; Page, Teague; Cone, Combs; Capehart, Strong; and Jernigan, Angel. In the second round Walker had the better of Mebane; Cone of Page; and Jernigan of Capehart. Of these three one is to be eliminated and the other two then each play Oates and Chambers, last year's team, for the 'varsity.

Another Good Chapel Talk.

Dr. Battle gave an interesting talk in Chapel Tuesday morning about the history of the old Gore house, which has been torn down. It was the first residence built in Chapel Hill. The new Dining Hall will be erected on that site.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

Elects Officers. Decides to Aid County Clubs.

Our barely known, yet vitally alive, Historical Society was awakened and brought before the student body Monday morning at Chapel, by Dr. Hamilton's suggestion that more contestants were needed by the history department for the three prizes offered in connection with its work. The prizes are open to all students of the University, but have been in the past mere names to most of us. Dr. Hamilton's plea is that we make them real things. "A man can't pick up a hundred dollars every day that comes." He finished by inviting everyone who cared to come, to be at the meeting of the Society at the Chemistry Building at 7:30 Monday night.

Unfortunately the mail was late and very few cared; but those who did were interested and interest goes a long way.

The work for the year was outlined to cover the histories of the counties; in other words to supplement the works of the county clubs by going into the past instead of the present. Dr. Hamilton says that the plan is to have every meeting as informal as possible and to get the students interested more than they have been thus far.

The officers for the year were elected as follows: Dr. J. C. Hamilton, President; Dr. H. M. Wagstaff, Vice-President; Mr. C. A. Boseman, Secretary. In pursuance of the object of student interest, five members were elected to form an executive committee, whose duty it shall be to arrange programs for the year. One member was elected from the graduate school and one from each of the abademic classes. The committee is composed of Messrs. Pearson, Scott, Fuller, Conrad, Black and Stell.

Much enthusiasm seems to have been aroused, bnt there is still room for more to get together and push. The Society meets every 1st and 3rd Monday night and there is no membership fee. Don't forget to come every time you can, even if you aren't on the program.

Greater Council Brings Results

The path from Main Street past the Athletic Store and Stroud's Garage is being repared. This walk is used a great deal and it's rongh condition has been the sourse of much annoyance. For it's improvement thanks are due primarily to the Greater Council. This is another small evidence of the activity of that body in looking after matters which heretotore have been everybody's yet nobody's business.

A. & M. GAME CANCELED

Tuesday Night the Athletic Residence Committee canceled the A. & M. Football game which was scheduled to be played in Raleigh on November 15.

This Committee is composed of Head Coach T. G. Trenchard, Graduate Manager M. P. McLendon, Dr. Winston, Dr. Howell and George Stevens.

GREATER COUNCIL PROPOSES CHANGE

Would Make Selection of Editors a Question of Merit

SO ARRANGED EDITORS CAN'T PACK BOARD

Have Future Board Selected by Present Editors and Standing Faculty Magazine Committee. Work Published in Magazine Basis of Choice.

The Greater Council has under consideration a change in the method of selecting Magazine editors. The Committee appointed to draw up the stipulations makes the following tentative report:

1. A. The Editors of the University Magazine for each succeeding year shall be chosen by the then acting board of Editors and the Faculty Standing Magazine Committee.

B. Each Editor shall have one vote. Each Faculty Committeeman shall have two votes. The Editor-in-Chief shall vote only in case of a tie.

2. A. The candidates shall be selected on a basis of the quantity and the quality of their work published in the Magazine for that year.

B. Seven regular Editors shall be chosen. Besides these, any number of alternates that the Election Board sees fit may be elected to succeed any failing to return in the fall, or failing to accept the nomination. They shall succeed in the order of election.

C. All Editors must be or must become members of one or the other Literary Societies.

D. They must be chosen within two weeks after the appearance of the last Magazine for each year.

3. A. The Board of Editors shall then meet and elect their own Editor-in-Chief.

4. A. Any man already an Editor may be chosen an Editor for the next year.

B. In case he is nominated, he shall have no vote.

Of course any action taken must be by the two Literary Societies. The publication of this report is for the object of creating discussion and in that manner bring out any defects.

Good Papers At Elisha Mitchell.

The Elisha Mitchel Scientific Society listened to two very interesting papers at its meeting, on the 14th. Dr. Wilson's paper on the Biological Idea of the Individual and the Experimental Fusion of Embryo's was one of the best papers read before the Society in a long time.

Following this Prof. Cobb gave an account of the Intertational Geological Congress, which he visited at Toronto this summer The meeting adjourned before Dr. Herty was able to make his report on the Meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Every one is cordially invited to be present at the monthly meetings of this worthy organization.

DR. BUCK GIVES SERMON.

First University Sermon of Year. Well Received.

On of the best sermons that was ever heard in Gerrand Hall was preached last Sunday by Dr. Buch of Burlington. His text was one of especial interest to college men, his delivery singularly pleasant, and his language forceful and clear. I Corinthians 16, 13 furnished the text—"Quit ye like men." Dr. Buck discussed his text under four main heads: The necessity of an ideal, of unquestionable obedience to that ideal, of courage, and of self sacrifice. Each of these points he strengthened by repeated illustrations which were apt and well depicted. The whole sermon was strong and interesting and held the attention of the audience throughout.

SOPHS. BEAT FRESHMEN

Lone Touchdown was made on a Fluke in Last Quarter

In an exhibition game the Soph. football team scored a doubtful victory over the Freshmen last Saturday by a score of 6 to 0.

For three quarters the Freshmen, on the field and on the side lines, fought desperately to uphold the honor of their beloved class. The bloody Sophs. were not to be swept away, consequently it was an even break until the latter part of the fourth quarter. It was then that Fore of the Sophs. received a punt, dashed into the crowd of spectators who were all over the field, and when he appeared from the crowd again the goal was not far away. The score was not made fairly and had the crowd been where it belonged the game doubtless would have ended a tie.

Zollicoffer at center and Huske at right half did the best work for the Sophomores, while Coleman, right half and Williamson at left end did good work for the Freshmen.

The line-up:

Sophs.		Fresh
Royall, Bryan	r.e.	Monroe, Capt
House	r. t.	Burnett
Hogan	r. g.	Martin, King
Zollicoffer	c.	Hill
Huske, J.	l. g.	Telfair

	Full Back
Fuller, Orr, Fuller		Perry

Immediately after the Columbia game Saturday, Referee Simmons said the Tar Heel team had improved a hundred per cent over last Saturday's showing. He refereed both games, so he ought to know. The score was 13 to 3 in Carolina's favor, and South Carolina expected to win. That comeback against Wake Forest of a week earlier fixed them that way.

South Carolina kicked off. Each side failed to make first downs, so they exchanged punts. This worked alright until Ramsey blocked VonKloitz's kick. Carolina recovered on the opponents' twenty yard line but Fuller fumbled. Lord received the resulting kick and returned it to the ten yard line.

Each backfield man now took a turn at carrying the ball, Pope five, Tayloe two, Fuller three and Lord a touchdown. Tandy missed a difficult try at a goal.

The second quarter was a game of see-saw.

The first few minutes of the third quarter saw the second touchdown. And again a blocked kick by Ramsey started things. The ball was recovered on the Palmetto 45 yard line. Carolina then marched right down the field. Reid took one, Tayloe got six, Fuller took four. Reid lost one, Reid too five, Fuller made fifteen, Fuller took four, Tayloe got eight and Fuller went across. This time Tandy dropped it across.

The next excitement was when Wehman recovered Tayloe's fumble and started for a touchdown with two grey-jersied men running interference for him. No blue jersies were in ten yards of the man. He stumbled and fell and before he could regain his

THE A. & M. GAME.

It is with profound regret that we note the canceling of the A. and M. Football game. The contest was eagerly looked forward to not only by the student bodies of the two institutions, but by thousands of Alumni and by friends of football all over the State. Every step toward the resumption of athletic relations with A. and M. during the past few years has been watched here with great interest and the football game was to come as a superb climax to the long awaited era of good feeling. Track, basketball, and baseball contests last year were, in a sense, all preliminary to the big game scheduled for November 15, easily the athletic event of the year in North Carolina.

Much as we regret the necessity for the deed, however, we have absolute confidence in the doers. The resident athletic committee, Head Coach Trenchard, Graduate Manager McLendon, Professors Winston and Howell, and Mr. George Stephens, of Charlottee, discussed the matter thoroughly and the present action is the result of the mature judgement of these men. It must have been hard for them to render such a decision; for all are true sportsmen and lovers of the game. But render it they did, and we take our hats off to them for looking their duty squarely in the face and never blinking. Until they decide to publish a complete statement with the reasons for their action, we are all more or less in the dark. But for that very reason there is every need to stand behind them. The Athletic Association gave the authority and asked them to decide these matters, and now that they have decided, their decision is our decision.

FUTURE VARSITIES.

The clean-cut victories of the Freshman and Sophomore teams Saturday are but additional testimonials to the sound foundation upon which future Carolina foot-ball is being built. The Sophomore team last year was a joke, but against Warrenton it not only overwhelmed a heavier opponent, but showed some real foot-ball. The way in which the backs fought might serve as an inspiration to the Varsity. They ran low and fiercely, took their openings cleanly, and smashed past more than one tackler. The Freshmen score is proof of that team's worth. The gentlemen of 1917 seem to play as well in Goldsboro and Greensboro as in Chapel Hill and always it is one team and not eleven individuals. And they say the Juniors and Seniors are showing more interest than ever before. There is actually competition for the Senior team and the Juniors claim the best back field this side of the Varsity. Out of all comparison it promises to be the best class season of a college generation. More than that, it is building for the future

EASY MONEY.

For easy money propositions the Colonial Dames' prizes for the best essays on some subject connected with the colonial period of North Carolina history are one of the most remarkable phenomena in the State, or anywhere else for that matter. Here are two prizes, the first of $100, and the second of $50, and last year two papers were submitted in competition. Can you beat it? Is money so plentiful that incidental hundreds and fiftier excite no comment at all? The thing is a puzzler. The are plenty of men here interested in histroy on its own account, and plenty of men here who are not afraid of a little work; and every body here would like to win so liberal a prize. And yet never has a creditable number of papers been turned in. Those that have won have been of a high quality--the prize will not be awarded otherwise—but why this plum is not more eagerly sought is a mystery. Talk to Dr. Hamilton about it.

THE SMOOTHEST TOBACCO

COME, boys, a cheer—All together—V-E-L-V-E-T—smooth.

Velvet cheers you on and cheers you up. It's so smooth. The selected leaf is hung in the warehouse over two years—changing harshness to complete mellowness. Then all "bite" has disappeared—and good taste and the enjoyable smoothness are pre-eminent. This "time process" is not patented—just costs us more—and the result is "Velvet"—smooth and wonderfully pleasing.

Now once more—everybody—V-E-L-V-E-T—smooth! At all dealers.

A JAPANESE PROFFESSOR

Dr. Sosuhi Sato of Tohoheu To Spend Three Weeks.

Under the plan of exchange professorship existing between the United States and Japan, the University will have for three weeks in January or February the services of Dr. Sosuhi Sato of Tohoheu University, Japan. He received a part of his education at Johns Hopkins.

The plan is, that each alternate year a United States representative shall visit Japan and deliver lectures and do similar service for educational institutions, Chambers of Commerce and other bodies with a view of securing a better knowledge of each other. In the intervening years a Japanese shall visit six American Universities to do similar service.

This year, the University of Minnesota, the University of Illinois, Johns Hopkins, Brown University, Columbia University and the University of North Carolina will be visited.

His lectures will deal with the following subjects: From old Feudalism to New Imperialism, Constitutional Government, Finance; its Past and Present, The Progress of Agriculture, Commerce and Industry, Social Reforms and Changes, Educational Systems, and Religious Movements.

feet, Allen and Homewood were sitting on him. After a play or two, VonKlonitz made a placement kick. This gave S. C. her three points. It was the first scoring on Carolina this season.

The game ended soon after with the ball in the middle of the field.

Homewood and Huske at ends did brilliant work breaking up South Caralina's attempted end runs, which had been so effective against Wake Forest. Tandy's work at center was great. Again and again he pulled down South Carolina's runners. Besides breaking up two kicks, Ramsey played a corking good game. Capt. Abernethy and Cowell both played a good aggressive game. In the backfield, Tayloe and Fuller showed up well. South Carolina made 24 substitutions.

Touchdowns Lord, Fuller; goal from field, vonKlonitz; goal after touchdown, Tandy.

Referee, Simmons (Washington and Jefferson); umpire, Holland (Clemson); head linesman, McFadden (Clemson); timekeepers, Stuart (North Carolina) Shuler (South Carolina); quarters, 15.

The Pender and Sampson county boys organized last week into a joint county club and elected the following men as officers:

L. McNeil President.

C. A. Sloan Vice-President.

J. V. Whitfield Corresponding Secy, for Pender.

Shep Bryan Sec-Treas.

J. G. Eldridge Corresponding Secy, for Sampson.

The Club mapped out a consistent hard course of work for the year and set Friday night Oct 17 for the first feast.

PROF. STACY TALKS ON

Negro Problem. Dr. McNider Gives Next One.

The study of the race problem in the South was introduced to an interesting group of over one hundred men Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock by Acting Dean Stacy. Prof. Stacy took the first chapter of Weatherford's book on "Negro Life in The South" as a basis for the discussion. He spoke for twenty minutes and led the questioning and comment for six or seven minutes. The students were impressed with the fact that they really know very little about the negro question. The speaker drove home the thought that the negro was a part of our life and as college men whatever their attitude they ought to know the facts.

Next Thursday night at 7:30 Dr. Wm. de B. McNider will discuss the question of the health and housing of the negro. The basis for this discussion will be chapter three of the text book. The Thursday night prayer meetings have been changed into a six weeks course in the study of the negro. The other leaders will be announced each week.

Dramatic Club Candidates.

The faculty committee of Dramatics, composed of Prof. Geo. McKie and Dr. Booker, have decided that the following men showed sufficient dramatic ability to entitle them to a final try-out for the cast: Bryan, A. O; Beckwith, C. W; Boseman, C. A; Blalock, H. M; Blue, Avon; Capps, J. A; Crawford, B; Cox, J. M; Conrad, H. C; Coggins, C. L; Costelle, A. T; Dale, T. R; Dunnagan, Mike; Fowler, B; Harris, J. E; Holloway, K; Jackson, W. N; Kerr, W. D; Lindau, A. M; Moore, Marsh, E. B; Mathews, M. H; Pruden, W. D; Paty, B. F; Pitts, W. B; Pugh, J. F; Pike, S. C; Renn, H. J; Sharpe, Tyler, A; Tolson, N; Walker, C. E; Whitfield, J. V; Wright, W; Weeks, W. P. M; Zollicoffer, A. C.

Of these men, six are of last year's cast, three of whom were male and three female characters. Among the new men quite a great deal of promising material is showing up—some of which is even better than the material which finally composed last year's cast. Out the whole an excellent cast will be chosen, and the coaches have already expressed the prediction that the season will be a howling success.

Glee Club Progress.

Due to Mr. Sneath's absence the Glee Club practises have been conducted by Harry Meeks for the past week or more. The company has almost succeeded in learning a piece as pretty as, and probably prettier than anything the club had last year.

As a side issue of the Glee Club a Mandolin Club is being formed, which should prove an excellent feature. A violin, violin-cello, guitar and several mandolins will form the Club.

The week's trip before Christmas is something everybody is working for.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Charge once more and we'll all be dead! Gee! but that was something rough we hatched up for Saturday; and nobody knew it but ye editors and ye coaches. It's a good thing we didn't let it out that we had planned to win three games in one day or the whole college would have slept through it all.

Saturday was a day of large dimentions for Carolina, and one of widespread activities for Jim when he was at Columbia. They say Tayloe was on a charge the whole game through; and that when the referee saw Homewood go in for a tackle he just called time for S. C. to put in a new man. Jim must have played a good game too, for they say that if the S. C. students had got hold of him he would have looked about thirty years younger. Chapel Hill is as far south as Jim expects to go any more.

Who would have thought that the Freshmen could score 34 points in one afternoon. They did it, and showed that they have the old requisites, otherwise known as anatomical abdominial portions taken lengthwise.

And still another. Warrenton came Friday and left Saturday, with 31 charged to their account The Sophs played good football and still there was only one yell given on the field and that by the team itself. Even if they didn't play real good football they won the game, and showed 1303 per cent improvement, and this deserves one Ray at the least. Where are the rooters?

13 to 3 — 31 to 0 — 34 to 0
78 to 3.

That's going good. McCall is running in the back field now. What it takes for a full-front Mac has got. Let us hope he's get what's needed for a full-back.

This cold weather ought to bring some more pep.

Winston-Salem, the next stop! In conclusion: Charge once more and we'll all be dead.

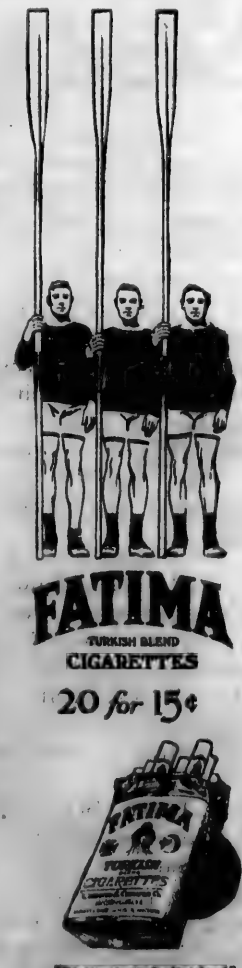
You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.



Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatima of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.

No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.

Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.

Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.

THE TWO SOCIETIES ESTABLISH PRIZE

Give Fifteen Dollars to The Editors to Offer as They Choose

ALL GIVEN TO SHORT STORY CONTEST

The English Faculty Has Agreed to Raise Grade of Every Student in English I and II a Point Who Gets Two Articles in Magazine This Year.

The two Literary Societies have each appropriated seven dollars to be used by the Editorial board of the Magazine as they choose. They have decided to put up the entire amount for a short story contest.

The contest will close on December 11th. All papers must be in by that time. Any student of the University is allowed to compete. There are no restrictions to the length subject, matter, or number submitted. The manuscript must be handed to Editor-in.chief without the author's name. Some nom de plume must be used.

The papers will be judged by a Faculty Committee selected by board. The winning paper will appear in the December Number of the Magazine. The Editors reserve the right to use as many of the stories as they choose.

The English Faculty has agreed to raise the grade of any member of the classes in English I and II who gets two or more articles in Magazine this year. This offer is intended to aid the sketch department of the Magazine.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO CHOOSE PLAY.

The Dramatic Club will listen to the reading of one of the four plays under construction by that body tomorrow night at 7:30 in the chapel. Prof. George McKie will read the play. All candidates must be present.

"The Magistrate" and "Too Much Johnson" are the two favorite plays under consideration. One of these will probably be read. "Too Much Johnson" is along the line of "What Happened to Jones" of last year.

"Hello Bill" and "The Fortune Hunter" are still in the manuscript form. The Club had to deposit $54 to secure the privilege of reading the plays. "Hello Bill" has come, but the coaches do not think much of it.

Journal Club Hears Papers.

The Journal Club met Monday night as usual and listened to an interesting program, also as usual. The papers were:

The Estimation of Quality of Paper, by V. C. Edwards.

The Progressive Bromination of Toluane, by A. J. Flume.

Notes on the Chemistry of Plants, by L. B. Rhodes.

A New Method for Preparing Ammonium Salts of the Organic Acids, by W. N. Pritchard, Jr.

And in addition the club listened to a paper of Dr. Wheeler's on "The Walden Reaction."

F. R. Weaver, '13, was on the Hill Monday and Tuesday visiting friends.

FRESHMEN WIN ANOTHER

Defeat Goldsboro Highs on Home Field 21 to 0

After playing Goldsboro a scoreless game on their own grounds, the Freshman eleven came back strong and won the second contest here Wednesday by the score or 21 to 0.

The Goldsboro boys put up a game fight, but they were outweighed and never threatened the fresh goal line. For a quarter they fought the Freshmen off. The freshmen showed marked improvement over their previous performances. They worked the forward pass successfully and their touchdowns were directly due to this method of play. The whole fresh backfield played well, while Monroe and Williamson at ends did good work. 1917 lined up as follows:

R. E.	Monroe, Capt.
R. G.	Bullock
R. T.	Burnett
C.	Elias
L. G.	Telfair
L. T.	Martin
L. E.	Williamson
Q. B.	Taylor
R. H.	Davis
L. H.	Hoffman

GREATER COUNCIL GROWS

To Decide All Disputes in Class Athletics.

In Chapel Monday by a unanimous vote the student body gave to the Greater Council the power to regulate all class athletic matters. The classes have had several disputes this year as to the eligibility of several men and due to the increased importance of class athletics this has taken on an important aspect. The matter was called to the attention of the Council and they tried to agree upon a set of general rules but it was soon seen that any general rules devised would reflect injustice upon someone. So the Council decided that there should be some court to decide each individual case.

While the Council felt that it had the authority to draw up and recommend a set of general rules it did not think it ought to assume judicial powers. Therefore President Leach put the matter up to the student body who willingly gave them the sought for authority.

The committee has been appointed as follows: J. S. Cowles, Chr; J. A. Holmes, C. E. Ervin. Refer all class disputes to them for settlement.

Glee Club Now Organized.

The Glee Club has struck her gait and with a minimum squad has settled down to a steady jog. The last of the canning has been completed and with 28 men in the squad (5 men and 2 substitutes for each part) a uniform and systematic practice has been begun. With Meeks, Epps and Sneath as soloists, and a full company of 28 voices we may look forward to a Club entirely representative of the institution.

"RALLY DAY" SUCCESS

Prof. Nobles Starts Annual Neighborhood Event.

Some four or five hundred people from the immediate vicinity met in Cnapel Hill Saturday for a get together meeting. Free moving pictures were run at the Piekwick most all day. They were government films showing various up-to-date farm movements. There were stereoptican views a the Peabody building also.

At eleven o'clock the crowd gathered in Memorial Hall. The audience sang several songs after which Prof. M. H. Stacy and Prof. M. C. S. Noble made addresses. J. T. Griffin of Chatham also spoke.

This rally is but another expression of the University's Extension Movement. It is as much the University's duty to aid the people next door as those of Bertie County.

The Officers Deserve Credit.

The following is clipped from the Walker County Messenger of Lafayette, Georgia. Mr. Hall was general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here last year. He is in business now at Lafayette but continues to take interest in the University.

"The success of the fair this year was due to the untiring work of the officers and the chairmen, who were ably assisted by the different committee members. The greatest credit is due E. P. Hall, Jr., who for several weeks has given his entire time to the success of the fair."

Historical Society Program.

The Historical Society meets Monday night at 8 o'clock, in Chemistry Lecture room, November 4th.

Program: "Oldest Baptist Church in N. C," J. F. Pugh.

"Outline for Study of County History," John Cansler.

"The Mecklenburg Declaration," H. V. Johnson.

George Thomas was on the Hill Wednesday. He put on a football uniform and scrimaged with the second team. Coach Tol Pendleton also has been running with the scrubs.

ANOTHER SIDE OF PROBLEM

Dr. MacNider on Health and Hygene of Negro.

Last Thursday Dr. W. de B. Mac Nider led the second discussion of the problems put forth in Weatherford's "Negro Life in the South." Dr. MacNider centered his talk on the health and hygienic conditions of the negro. The strain upon the health sources of the negro has been due to two main causes: adjustment to the American climate and more recently adjustment to town and city life. The specific diseases which contribute to the high death rate of the negro are tuberculosis, malaria, and venereal diseases. Just as the negro gave the hookworm to the virgin soil in the white man so the white man has given tuberculosis to the virgin soil in the negro. The speaker gave practical suggestions for helping the negro against the ravages of these diseases. In every community young men can give illustrated talks on the value of light, fresh air and pure water to health and sound living The speaker pointed out that the negro was a very tractable and appreciative people and that much good could be done for the health and sanitation of the negro by college boys in their own communities.

The third of this series of negro discussions will be lead by Dr. Charles Lee Raper who will have as a topic "The Economic Condition of the Negro."

PROF. WILLIAMS-Y. M. C. A.

Concludes Religion and the College Man Series.

Prof. H. H. Williams spoke to a large crowd Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. building. His address was the conclusion of the series on " Religion and the College Man." In his definition of religion he took the two views that religion is service and that religion is the contemplation of truths and showed ther incompleteness as half truths. He showed that religion is the synthesis of the true coming from relation to God. The tree is rooted in the earth for its organic life and likewise man is rooted in God for his religious life. God is the master lesson of the human soul and its connection with God is religion.

Prof. Williams made a forceful appeal for religion inthe life of college men.

Indicative of the interest stirred by this address a score of men resisting the call of books and the mail discussed for over half an hour in the lobby of the Association building the thought suggested in the meeting.

In the near future a seconds series of addresses devoted to North Carolina problems will be given by members of the laculty who have first hand acquantance with a particular problem.

The query selected for the Soph-Junior Debate is: Resolved, That labor unions are justified in demanding the closed shop. Affirmative, Phi Society: Negative, Di Society. This debate will be held in December.

CAROLINA LOSES BY MANY FUMBLES

Tar Heels Wake Up In Last Quarter. Touchdown On Straight Football

TANDY AND TAYLOE DO STELLAR WORK

Both V. P. I. Touchdowns in Second Quarter. Follow from Fumbled Punt by Allen and a Juggled Pass by Reid. Fuller and Tayloe also Fumble.

Fumbles! V. P. I. 14. Fumble! U. N. C. 7. Fumbles! Winston-Salem Saturday. Two touchdowns within five minutes of each other on fumbles. Carolina was playing real football in the last quarter but started too late.

Carolina kicked, Legge returned the ball on a punt, and Fuller fumbled on the first play. V. P. I. was easily held for downs and Foust punted out of danger. Each side was unable to make first down more than once in succession so the two teams exchanged punts. Foust was kicking against a strong wind but held his own. Tayloe made two pretty runs this quarter, one on an intercepted forward pass. V. P. I. tried two drop kicks but both went low and wide. Abernethy is hurt in this quarter.

The second quarter started with the ball in the middle of the field. Allen lost 20 yards on an end run and Fuller 5 more on off tackle. Carolina kicked to Legge. He returned the punt to Allen who makes fair catch. The teams again exchange punts, but Allen fumbles, and Pick recovers on the 25 yard line. A five yard penalty for offside, 12 yards by Dixon, 8 by Pick, and a rush by Legge carries the ball over. Goal is kicked.

Again the teams exchange a long series of punts, Carolina finally obtaining possession of the ball in the middle of the field. Reid was substituted for Fuller, fumbles a good pass and Legge recovers it with a tree field. By a spectacular run Tandy overtakes him and tackles him on five yard line. But it was only a moment's delay. Legge tore through the line for another touchdown and again he kicks goal.

Carolina had a chance to score

GIVE US THE FACTS.

In all the torrent of words and feelings that has followed the cancelling of the A. & M. game—and there has been enough—Carolina students have shown a fine spirit in backing up the athletic authorities and in receiving passively a good deal of unpleasant abuse. The student body has confidence in the governing resident committee and will have so long as that committee justifies the confidence. But this passiveness will not last forever. Beyond all question the outstanding cry of student body, Alumni, foes and friends alike the State over, is for a statement of the facts.

As the matter now stands the University is undoubtedly in a bad position throughout the State—not because the game was cancelled, but because it was cancelled apparently for no reason, unless it be that the University was afraid of losing. We in Chapel Hill know that is not true. We think the game was cancelled because, if played under existing circumstances, it would totally defeat the very object for which it was arranged, to promote good feeling between the two institutions. And a game played in such bad feeling does more harm than no game at all, championships, rivalries, gate receipts, or anything else to the contrary notwithstanding.

We think that. But we have no definite, official information as a basis and our conclusions are reached from picking up a scrap here, another scrap there, and patching it together as best we may. This much we are able to find out only because we are on the ground. How about the Alumni scattered over the State? They know nothing beyond what was published in the papers and that certainly did not make the University's position any more virtuous. It is a dark mess and we need light—light in the shape of a simple, straight-forward, dignified statement of the whole affair, no more personal reference than is absolutely necessary, no sensationalism, no charges, nothing beyond what is needed to make the situation clear. Why such a statement was not issued in the beginning at the psychological moment is more than we can understand. It should be issued before it is too late. It may provoke a reply; we hope not, for a word war results only in mudslinging. But the right sort of statement can settle the matter forever, place us breast-forward and heads-up to the world, satisfied and glorying in a high and just position.

Gentlemen of the committee, give us the facts.

START NOW.

About the middle of November some one will wake up to the fact that the Virginia game comes one the 27th and that it might be just as well to practice songs and yells. And there will be maybe a mass-meeting or two, with appeals for rooting, and a few practices on the football field. The result may be good cheering in Richmond—though that is doubtful—but certainly the songs and yells will not be remembered long after Thanksgiving. It is just like cramming for an exam, temporarily efficacious, but bad in the long run. It is not the natural way nor the efficient way. Practice ought to be started right now in Chapel. Last year that plan was successfully adopted and the good benefits therefrom need not be totally lost. Surely the Faculty will allow one or two mornings in the week for singing and yelling. One of the University songs ought to be sung once a week in Chapel during the entire year any way, and in the fall more often than that in order that the new men may learn. Let's get busy before it is too late. Very few worthwhile things are accomplished in a day.

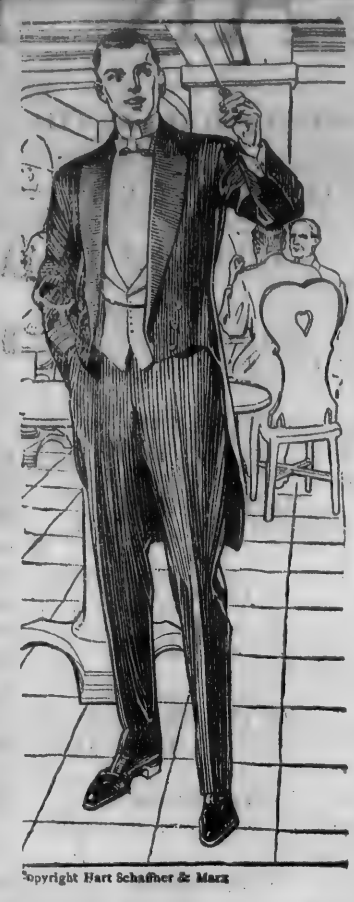
ON TIME.

You may not have any original ideas to suggest to the Yackety Yack editors; you may not be able to contribute any jokes or limericks or near-poetry or cartoons or snap-shots or any thing else. But you can help in a very essential detail. You can be on time when your picture is scheduled to be taken.

GOOD ROADS DAYS PROGRAM.

In response to the Proclamation of Governor Craig that November 5th and 6th be observed throughout North Carolina as Good Road's Days, the University has outlined the following program.

Chapel talks, Nov. 5th. The significance of the Good Roads Days, by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt. Nov. 5th, Road work in North Carolina, by Prof. M. H. Stacy. Nov. 6th, illustrated lecture at 8 p. m. by Government expert on Road Building.



Professors Stacy and Hutchison and five competent men from the higher classes in Road Engineering will take charge of groups of workers in Orange county.

The County Clubs will distribute literature to their counties.

Volunteers of the University community will be available on the afternoons of tht 5th and 6th if a practical plan for their use can be devised.

The value of these two days will come not so much in the actual road constructed, though that will be great; but in bringing home the fundamental idea, that our Government is primarily a co-operative enterprise.

The Sophomore-Horner football game for Saturday has been canceled. The Sophmores were to play there but the Barraks at Horner burned down last Thursday thus making it impossible to play.

Dr. Battle at Chapel.

Dr. Battle has been giving a very interesting series of Chapel talks this week. He has been relating incidents of life here before the war. He started out by telling of the old Gore house recently demolished. He then took up one by one various places of interest in the village. His relating of the little homely details of the life and family history of the people of that time has been extremely refreshing.

He told of the old sun dial that once stood in the Arboretum and how the brass indicator was stolen by the yankees during war times. He recalled the dance he attended when eleven years of age and because a girl called him Limberjack he has not danced since. And then about the garden back of thePresident's house, the marriage of Dr. Caldwell, his old Sunday school days and numberless other pleasing incidents. His account of Pres. Caldwell's burial was the most interesting. Dr. Caldwell was first buried in the village cemetary. A sandstone monument was erected to his memory near the New West. When the latin inscribed plate arrived the latin was so poor that the Latin Professor broke it to pieces with a hatchet. The sandstone began to crumble but his body was moved to the monument. When his wife died she was laid beside him.

A few years later, it was requested that the graves be moved to the marble monument in the middle of the campus. This was done and they are now there with the body of Mrs. Cooper, their daughter, beside them.

A plate, stating this, was ordered placed there by the trustees but as yet it has not been done.

The monument, as many know, was erected as a result of the interest and influence of President Polk.

Another Star Course Coming.

The next number of the Star Course is booked for November. The Alkahest Company has not been in a position to give Chairman Meeks the exact date but it will probably be about the middle of November. Mrs. Chilton is to give this number. She is one of the most popular lyceum entertainers in the circuit. Her "Polly of the Circus" was eminently pleasing last year. Season tickets will continue on sale at the reduced price up to this second number of the course. Down stairs tickets for the remaining five entertainments have been reduced from $1.75 to $1.45 and gallery tickets from $1.25 to $1.00 Allen Mebane has direction of the committee on tickets and those wishing to get tickets at the reduced season ticket price will have the opportunity next week.

The five entertainments booked for the year are Mrs. W. C. Chilton, Cambridge Players, Booth Lowrey, Dunaway Company and The Beulah Buck Quartette.

Accident in Chemistry Laboratory.

Mr. O. A. Pickett is now in the infirmary as a result of an accident in 4th Chemistry laboratory. Mr. Pickett's apparatus blew up and spattered nitric acid in his eyes. His right eye was hardly touched, but his left one was more or less inflamed.

this quarter. Oates made a good return of V. P. I's punt to the 45 yard line. Tayloe made 20 yards on a forward pass. Another attempt at a forward pass is intercepted by V. P. I. on their 5 yard line.

The third quarter was merely a series of punts. Tayloe ran 35 yards through a broken field and was pulled down by the last man between him and the goal line. Carolina's attempted drop kick is blocked and recovered by the Techs.

Fourth quarter starts with the ball in middle of the field. Tar Heels begin to play real football. After a few minutes of kicking Tayloe gets loose for 20 yards, then 2, Burnette loses three, Fuller makes four, Tayloe four, Fuller carries it over, fumbles and Ramsey recovers. Tandy kicked goal.

Carolina starts out for another touchdown. Homewood returns kick-off 15 yards. Tayloe adds 5 Oates makes 2, Burnette goes around left end for 13, Tayloe gets 15 around the other, Tayloe makes three on a forward pass, but V. P. I. intercepts another pass, kicks and the game is over.

Murphy Educational Club Organizes.

The Murphy Educational Club met Monday night and elected the officers: Prof. Noble. Pres.; Meade Hart, Vice-Pres.; Jas. Eldridge, Secretary. Thirty members were present at this meeting. The Club intends to increase its membership to at least one hundred. The date of the next meeting was set foa one week from next Monday night.

News from the Net.

The Varsity Tennis Tournament which has been dragging on for several weeks has narrowed down to the semi-finals. Cone and Capehart came out leading. It was then neccessary for each of them to play each member of last year's team. Chambers defeated Cone in straight set, 6-3; 6-3. Oatesdefeated Cone two out of three, 6-3; 3-6; 6-1.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

And so they beat us! Many's the good man that's got a licking and stood ready for the next if there was any next coming. We may be near sighted but by'r faith we can't see another anywhere around. (Gee! but it's great to be an optimist, not an optician). Our defeat just serves to prove that old theory, The Milliner's Theory, that what's sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose; also "two can play at the same game", "it's a poor rule that won't work both ways", and numerous others of these modern methods of stating newly discovered axioms. Fumbling did it! Foust's kicking and favorable winds almost regained the loss, but there was another fumble. 13 to 3, and all was well, but 14 to 7! now aint that awful. That's just one hand on the tar baby; let's give 'em our other hand and about three feet before we stop. Brer Rabbit done it; why can't we do it.

And did you see that game on the class field while we were playing in Winston? That was one of the hardest fought games that has been played on the University field. The Med students after three weeks of secret practice beat the Law school by kicking a drop from the 40 yard line in the 3rd quarter. It was a peach of a game and both teams showed training almost equal to that of the Varsity. The Lawyers were there with the forward passes, and had not the Meds played an old Harvard half-back would most probably have won the game. Fully five hundred students saw the game beside a few town people; the whole game was spectacular and was featured by long end runs by Milton of the Law team and the broken field running of Cauthen of Harvard, who played with the Med students. If we could use some of these players we would have a team equal to that of any Southern or Western University.

E. S. We find that this game was postponed.

How about some organized yelling? We've got a month yet befor Thanksgiving and its about time we were tuning up.

The Freshman have a game here with Raleigh High School. Lets go out and make a fuss for 'em. You know Raleigh's a good place to get boys from in spite of what we've got here now from that place.

Ah! Just a little verse:
Many's the time we've played the game,
And many's the time we've lost
But count the games we've won, old boy,
Before you figure the cost.
It was 66 to 0 once,
And that was awful sad
But with the team we've got this year
It can't be half that bad.
Warning: The rest of this will appear in next weeks Tar Heel.

Nat says: Do or die, but if you can die, do. Toot your own horn but when you do, be sure its not so large the folks can't see your face behind it. In arguments words are better than fists and a dam sight healthier for people with weak constitutions. Smoke your own pipe and never blow your smoke in other people's faces. Before you cuss a man be sure he deserves it; the smaller the man the more he deserves it. A man's a man, but what's a woman? "Eve" should worry and go blind.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Wilmington and Raleigh are the favorites now in the High School football contest.

On Saturday, October 25 Wilmington defeated Washington High School by a score of 20 to 0. Wagner, Silverman and Thompson starred.

On Saturday Raleigh defeated Greensboro 19 to 0. Forward passes, good end runs and fierce line bucks featured the game Mills, Tyree and McDonald featured. Causey, of Greensboro, was that teams mainstay.

On October 28 Raleigh walked away from Donolson Military School by 49 to 2. D. M. S. was simply outclassed. The teams were about the same weight. Most of the touchdowns were made on long runs. Chamfron went 45, Johnson 40 and Mills 30. Raleigh kicked only one goal out of 8 trials. Bowan did great work.

Reedsville is going out after High School debate. Their Litiary Society is working hard.

Phi Society Debate.

The question for debate in the Philanthropic Society on Saturday night was Resolved: That the United States should interfere in Mexican affairs. The judges decided that the affirmative won and that C. A. Boseman made the best speech and Robert Welch deserved honorable mention.

Alembic Club Has Good Meeting.

The Alembic Club met last Friday night at the home of Dr. Wheeler.

The topic of the discussion was the life of Dalton. Much interest was shown in the life and work of this father of modern chemistry.

After the program, officers were elected for the ensuing year. Dr. Wheeler was elected president and Mr. Jeffries secretary. The meeting was closed with most delicious refreshments. Everyone had a ripping good time.

ALL BUT SOPHS PLAY THIS WEEK

Freshmen Go to Raleigh and Lose Close Game. Juniors Down Seniors

FRESHMEN LOSE IN LAST FEW SECONDS.

Junior-Senior Game Full of Spectacular Stunts. Mebane Runs Punt for Touchdown. Woolcott Drops, Angle Goes over on Blocked Kick.

The Freshmen eleven suffered its first defeat of the season at the hands of the Raleigh High School team Saturday on the A. & M field by the score of 7 to 6.

The boys of 1917 played plucky ball all the time, and Raleigh was unable to make much headway until the last few minutes of play. Then it was that by a fake play and a successful forward pass, a touchdown was made possible, and the ball was taken over the goal line during the last two seconds of play. Raleigh kicked goal which made the score stand 7 to 6 in their favor. The Freshmen scored their touchdown by straight football, and besides this they made a pretty drop kick which counted them nothing, because Raleigh was off side. Had the referee had a whistle, and the time keeper a stop watch, the Freshmen would have in all probability won the game. It was purely and simply a case of tough luck, that's all.

The Freshmen line-up was:

r. e. Monroe, r. t. Burnett, r. g. Bullock, c. Elias, l. g. Telfair, l. t. Martin, l. e. Williamson, q. b. Alderman, Taylor, r. h. Coleman, l. h. Hoffman, f. b. Davis.

The Junior football team won the first game of the class championship series Saturday when it defeated the Senior team by the score of 9 to 7.

The game was exciting and full of the unexpected. In the first quarter the Juniors kept the ball in the territory of their opponents, and the second quarter after several unsuccessful attemps for a touchdown, Woolcott dropped back to try a drop kick. He sent the ball fairly between the goal posts for three points. No more scoring came until the third period when Mebane recovered a Junior punt and ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown. Nance failed to kick goal, making the score 9 to 0 against the Seniors. The unexpected came in the last quarter. The Seniors took a brace, and after a missed signal by the Juniors on the fourth down, they had the ball in their opponent's territory for the first time. The Seniors could not gain, however, and the ball went over. On the next play Lipscombe attempted to punt but the ball was blocked, Angle of the Seniors recovered, and ran over the line for a touchdown. Seniors kicked goal. The score now stood Juniors 9 Seniors 7. With this encouragement the 1914 aggregation threatened to win the game, but after an unsuccessful attempt for a drop

FIRST MAGAZINE APPEARS

Davie Poplar is New Cover. Drawn by L. M. Sahag.

Promptly on the 31st of October, the first issue of The University Magazine, published six times a year by the two literary societies, came out. The Magazine, in consideration of its being the first issue, is highly creditable, and in view of the fact that Fuller is the fourth editor-in-chief and only recently elected, the magazine deserves double praise. The most noticable change in the Magazine is the new cover, a drawing by L. M. Sahag of the Davie poplar. The first article, "A modern Eliezer," by B. F. Auld is excellent as is also "The College Student," by E. B. Marsh. A new spirit seems to permeate the whole Magazine. It seems more alive, more interesting than it ever has been. What the Magazine needs is the interest and the backing of the whole student body. With these, it can preve to be no other than the first issue promises—a splendid success.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE SURE

Vanderbilt Declines Invitation For This Fall.

Virginia and Hopkins have signified their desire to re-enter the triangular debate with Carolina. Under the terms of the agreement, Carolina sends a team to Baltimore to meet Virginia and one to Charlottesville to meet Hopkins, while Virginia and Hopkins debate here in Gerrard Hall

These three debates take place on the same night some time in April. Carolina will need to put forward her best debating strength in order to maintain herself against these worthy opponents.

The debating Union has received replies from Vanderbilt and Hopkins. Vanderbilt expressed regret at not being able to enter into a debate with us this year.

TALKS ABOUT GOOD ROADS

Government Expert And Prof. Stacy And Dr. Pratt.

The actual road work has been accompanied and supplemented by various talks. In chapel Tuesday Prof. Stacy gave some interesting figures. Of the 48,000 odd miles of roads in the State 1728 miles were improved last year. 37 counties were active in the good roads movement.

Wednesday Dr. Pratt discussed the fundementals of good roads. Many localities cannot afford macadam asphalt or brick. In the clay districts the roads are fine and smooth in dry weather and impassible in wet weather. In the sandy regions they are hard pulling in dry weather and smooth and firm in times of wetness. Mix the two, sand and clay, and an excellent, cheap road is obtained, equally good in wet or dry weather.

257 STUDENTS TO WORK ON ROADS

Students and Townspeople Unite to Observe Good Roads Days Right

BUILDING A SECTION OE HIGH CLASS ROAD

Work is Under the Supervision of Engineering Department. Tools and Material Supplied by Town. Students in Four Squods. Pres. Graham Works.

By the proclamation of Gov. Craig, Wednesday and Thursday November 5th and 6th have been set aside as Good Roads Days. Every able bodied citizen is asked to contribute his services on those days toward the building of good roads.

A definite programme has been made out for these two days of work in Chapel Hill. Every student is asked to volunteer. Those who are incompetent to do day labor are requested either to help the civic club, under the direction of Mr. Moss, clean up the town, or to donate as much to the Civic Improvement fund as they believe their services would be worth. Every student is free to estimate the pecuniary equivalent of the amount of work he could do in a day.

The 257 students volunteering will be divided into four squads, each of which will be required to work a half day. And while he is at work on the roads, a student will be excused from classes. Work will begin at the Battle building and extend northeastwardly as far as Professor Cobb's house. Teams and tools have already been promised, as well as enough gravel to cover that length of road six inches deep. The engineering Corps have graded and surveyed the road preparatory to the actual work of building the road. By request of the Greater Council some work was done on the campus. The work is under the direction of the Civil enginoering department and the stuhents may be assured that every particle of work they do will be well directed and count for something. It is hoped that Good Roads Days will mean much in Orange.

Wednesday morning about a hundred students and townspeople began work on the road in front of Battle building. The crowd was strong on enthusiasm and weak on coats. They were there to work and they worked. President Graham was there placing sod on the path. Ratty Ransom had on a football jersey and working as hard as he does on the gridiron. And you ought to have seen Frank Graham with his "Georgia buggy". Did you see that Bandana?

Along toward noon lots of handkerchief pads and blisters appeared but the second squad soon relieved them and the work went merrily on.

The medical class put on their stiff house clothes and "lock stepped" to Venable where they aided in the work They were provided with dinner by the people of the village.

CLASS CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Collier Cobb Jr. is Training New Candidates.

About the middle of December a cross-country run over a three or four mile course will be held for the class championship. Three handsome medals will be awarded to the individual winners. The race is entirely in the hands of the classes for the benefit of men who have not heretofore been on track teams; all monogram men are barred from entering.

In order to allow the new men to begin training right, Collier Cobb, Jr., the old reliable marathoner, takes out a squad every afternoon, leaving the gymnasium at 5 o'clock. Those who are inexperienced in track work thereby have the opportunity of going with a trained runner. The training is light now and will gradually work up to the final contest.

Your class has a chance to win this championship. Whether you are a freshman or a senior, report at the gym at 5 p. m. Learn the wholesomeness and satisfaction of an easy, bracing run through autumn fields. Take a shot at a medal. Do something for your class and for your own development.

GREATER COUNCIL WORKS

Organizes Classs Basketball. Does Other Work.

The Greater Council held its regular meeting Monday night. Reports from Committees were received.

The Standard pin Committee reported that it had had designs made which on the whole had been favorably recieved but objection had been made to several details. The favorable pin in popularity as changed will be in shape of the well. The posts will be in relief. Underneath on a square base will be the N. C. and the class numerals. The other pin is oval. At the top is the well with pine cones on the sides. Under this is a prominent N. C. and below this are the class Numerals. The chief obleetion to the latter is its conventional shape.

It was suggested that steps be taken to raise Coker's tower. No definate action was taken.

The most important discussion of the evening was the question of Class basket ball. It was the opinion of the Council that Class basketball is desirable and feasable. A Committee was therefore appointed to see that each Class starts basketball: J. A. Holmes, for the Seniors; P. Woolcott, for the Juniors; Tom Linn, for the Sophomores and Procter for the Freshmen. Each class is to elect a manager for its team as soon as possible and arrange a schedule. The Athletic association is to be asked to erect baskets on the old tennis courts west of the present ones. The managers then are to decide between themselves when the various classes will have access to

CAROLINA LOSES A HARD GAME

Ga. and McWhorter Are too Much .Straight Football Used by Both Teams

CAROLINA'S TOUCHDOWN COMES IN FOURTH

Georgia Scores Two in Second Quarter. McWhorter Runs Through Entire Team for a Touchdown. Tar Heels Back Good on Offense

This is the way the two teams lined up in the hard fought game at Athens Saturday when Carolina lost 19 to 6:

N. C.	Position	Georgia
	Left End.
Huske		Smith, Owens
	Left Tackle.
Ramsay		Thrash; Purcell
	Left Guard.
Cowell, McCall		McKinnons, Conyers
	Centre.
Tandy		Delapiere
	Right Guard.
Foust		Malone
	Right Tackle.
Boshamer, Edwards		Turner
	Right End.
Homewood		Logan, Conklin
	Left Halfback.
Tayloe		Broyles
	Right Halfback.
R. Burnette		McWhorter
	Quarterback.
Allen, Long		Paddock
	Fullback
Fuller		Powell, Seidberry

Carolina played defensive ball the first half. Georgia gained steadily in the first quarter but frequent penalties for holding kept them near the middle of the field. Although the Georgians did not make any long gains they were held for first down only one time during the entire game. The first quarter ended with the ball on Carolina's thirty yard line.

In the second, twice Georgia made first downs, on the third attempt they netted only two yards on three attempts, McWhorter on a run around right end behind beautiful interference went across the line. They kicked goal. Carolina then kicked to Georgia who walked down the field for another touchdown. They failed at goal. On Tayloe's fumble a Georgia man scored a touchdown but the officials declared Georgia off side so it did not count. Carolina then took the ball to Georgia's twenty yard line on off-tackle plays and line plunges.

At the beginning of the third quarter McWhorter caught Foust's punt in the middle of the field and ran through the entire eleven for a touchdown. Carolina then pushed the ball to the three yard line but a fumble by Burnette spoiled a fine chance to score.

In the fourth the ball was rushed to Georgia's line and over without the sligtest opposition. Tayloe, Fuller and Burnett all made good gains on every play. Allen carried the ball over for the last six inches. The referee declared Tandy failed to kick goal but it was very close. Carolina again attempted to score but

VIVE LA PATRIOTISM.

For constructive patriotism that makes the dirt fly Franklin Street has furnished an example that drives the lesson home. Townspeople, professors, and students have rubbed shoulders in the ditch, have grinned at each other as they wiped the real professional sweat from their eyes, have known the joy of manual labor, have seen the personification of community effort. And every body in Chapel Hill--and in the state too--is the better for it and Franklin Street smiles in her new clothes. What if the shoulders and backs do ache and the hands are blistered? We are all proud of our wounds, and justly so. They stand for a cause, the full significance of which has not yet entered the mind of the state. They form the crown of labor, the laurel wreath of the Olympic champion. May they give us the clear lesson from the two days of pulling together and may that lesson become a part of us all, ours to treasure and multiply by teaching it to others.

Back of all the work in Chapel Hill were, of course, the University authorities, and once more they have answered a call with promptness and enthusiasm and above all, efficiency. The best way to teach a lesson is to do the thing yourself. The authorities recognized this fact and welcomed the opportunity to show the spirit of the University to the State. The physical result here in Chapel Hill speaks for itself; the broad results throughout North Carolina cannot be measured. To President Graham, to Dr. Pratt, to Professors Stacy and Hickerson, credit is due for a worthy piece of work most efficiently managed. And to every one who helped in any degree there is the great joy of accomplishment and the greater joy of striving for an ideal.

THE COME-BACK SPIRIT

It is not always easy to draw concolation out of defeat, but the last two football games have their bright sides. Both were lost by close scores and after hard fights. But when have you seen a Carolina team show such a come-back spirit? V. P. I. and Georgia, with a fairly comfortable lead at the end of the first half, have both broken before a powerful attack in the second half, an attack that grew stronger as the game proggessed. To our shame be it said, that has not been characteristis of the teams of the past few years. Its undeniable presence now is a inspiration to us and a menace always to the enemy. The power is there; the application can be develoPed. If Captain Abernathy men weae to get the jump on the Miles-Miller-Beuhring combination, lookout you.

HELP THE TOOTERS.

The annual question has popped up again: shall the band go to Richmond? Wilbur Royster and his tooting comrades promise to have new music and plenty of it, performed by sixteen artists, but they require assurance that at least part of their expenses be paid. Like most of us, the members of the band cannot wander around the country at their own sweet will. Beyond all argument their presence at Richmond will be inspiring. They ought to be there. The matter is liable to come up Friday at the Athletic Association meeting. That man who has a solution for the problem will be crowned a genius.

IN THE OLD DAYS.

The most interesting article in the October Magazine is the account of the early days of the Tar Heel. Throughout its twenty years of existence, it has led a haphazard, but interesting life, marked each year by the same crises and disturbed each year by the same crying needs of the University. Of course these problems are always fresh to editors and always will be. If you stop to think about it, they are as much a part of University life as first Math; and if they were not here now, the South building would probably crumble away. But to most of us Mr. Fuller's article was a revelation. How many knew of the bitter struggle of the Tar Heel and the White and Blue, forgotten history now, but of mighty importance in the middle nineties? To hear an Alumnus speak of those times cheers one up with the thought that we have progressed a little. Mr. Fuller speaks of the endless cycle; pray God that is one part of the cycle that will never come around again.

INTELLIGENT INTEREST.

On Friday afternoon the Athletic Association will hold its first meeting of the year. Every student of the University who paid the athletic fee at registration is a member of the Association and is expected to be present. The business to be attended to includes the election of a Vice-President of the Association, an assistant manager of the track team, and an associate editor of the Tar Heel, offices of sufficient importance to demand careful thought. This first meeting of the Association is a test of the students' new share in the control of athletics. A large attendance and intelligent interest will meet that test.

TO PLAY WAKE FOREST

In place of the cancelled A. & M. game, a contest has been arranged with Wake Forest. The date for this game is not definitely fixed as yet. It will be on Saturday the 15th or the 17th, probably. The game will be played in Durham.

TWO Y. M. C. A. ADDRESSES

Dr. Charles L. Raper And Rev. Homer Starr.

The third study based on "Negro Life it the South" was led by Dr. Charles Lee Raper of the Department of Economics. Dr. Raper's theme was the Economic conditions of negro life in North Carolina and the South. Many interesting facts and figures developed during the discussion. A large number of men took an interested part in the meeting. For ten minutes Dr. Raper was kept busy answering questions advanced by the students. The general note struck was one of race progress on every hand.

Rev. Homer Starr made a very clear cut and straightforward presentation of the topic "Personal Purity," Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. The talk while not made from a medical standpoint was enforced with hygienic facts and sound reason. The speaker considered the sexual impulse as natural and worthy but with the logic of facts and common sense disproved the theory so subtle to the hearts of young that incontinence is manly necessary. The addres was a very forceful plea for personal purity in the life of a young man.

the two courts.

The Council was asked to do what it could to keep the crowd off the field dnring the Greensboro and Freshmen game here Satudray. They will make efforts to have a rope stretched across the field.

In a letter Dr. Mangum asked the cooperation of the Greater Council in securing better ventilation and sanitation in the Pickwick and in the class rooms. Mr. Smith and Mr. Pate were appointed to take up the matter with him and decide upon some practual plan of bringing about desired results.

Themeeting then decided to request those in charge to put some of the Good roads energy on certain Campus paths.

After deciding to ask the tennis Association to complete the prperation of the four courts east of the Gymnasium on account of the crowded conditions of the present one the meetidg adjourned.

Come On You Game Friends.

The cue-roque table in the Y. M. C. A. game room is now repaired. J. M. Green, an expert, has put on a new covering. Those desiring to play have been unable to do so for some time due to the table being torn up. It might be well to say here that there are several other games there free to all. Chess is occupying a deal of attention just now. Go down and look the place over. Its got Kluttz beat a mile and a quarter.

Dr. Battle continued his intering series of Chapel talks Thursday morning after a violin solo by Mr. Wright. He will take up and discuss the "Seven Marys" of the University.

Carolina Loses a Hard Game.

lost the ball in the middle of the field on a pass as time was called.

The game was a good one. Carolina fought hard. With a light backfield they had no difficulty in gaining through a heavy line. The euds went especially well McCall, put in during last half, put up a good brand of ball. Tayloe made the longest gains for his team. Foust's kicking was below his usual form and the team was slow in getting down under them. Considering the inexperiance of most of Carolina's men, and the number of old men on Georgia's team it wasn't a bad game at all.

Hand Book Finally Out.

No more will it be necessary to wander blindly through the buildings in search of Freshman Jones. No longer must one enquire where so and so rooms when requested to call. If a man owes you money you can now locate him with ease. If you owe too many bills, hide. The Student Directory is finally out. Your whereabouts is disclosed.

The directory this year is a credit to the Y. M. C. A. It has a correct and full list of all students Typographical errors are almost absent, initials are on straight and no more do you read of students rooming in a post office box as several were credited with doing last year. The book is a financial success as there are a large number of advertisers. Austin Carr, H. A. Pendergraph and M. E. Robinson, Jr, deserve credit for their work. J. E. Turlington, J. A. Kent, J. L. Harrison, Jacob Shrago, McDonell Lewis, W. B. Fowler, Sam Yarborough and L. S. Thorpe also have done helpful work on it.

Historical Society Meeting.

Monday evening of this week the Historical Society held its second meeting of the year, Dr. Hamilton presiding.

Mrs. Pugh's paper on the Oldest Baptist Church and it Associations opened the meeting. Following this came an outline fcr the study of County History by John Cansler. The last paper of the evening was on the Mecklenburg Declaration by H. V. Johnson. Much interesting discussion was occasioned by this last paper. The next meeting of the Society will be held on the first Monday of December.

Everyone is invited to attend. There are no dues.

NOTICE.

The Class Athletic Committee appointed by the Greater Council wishes to announce that immediate action will be taken upon all disputes. Notify C. E. Ervin. If an attempt is to be made to rule off a man on an opposing team, it should be done at least three days before a game. This will give time for adjustments with the team if the man is debarred.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Rumbles of thunder! What fumbles of blunder! Way down in Georgia. Our team is just as good as theirs. Why didn't we beat 'em? It's the second chapter of the V. P. I. game. We came mighty close to scoring two or three more times, but a fumble or a weak end run broke up our chance. Gee! It's a pity we had to lose that game when we had such a good show of winning.

There was one thing we forgot to say about the V. P. I. game. Reid says they oughter beat us; they had a Legge on us when we started. That's a fact and we had never thought of it before. Somebody ought to watch out for these things; every help or suggestion will be duly depreciated.

The Juniors and Seniors played an excellent game last Saturday. There was lots of pep present, and a few evidences of tobacco from the general appearance of a few of the players. One little Bit of a thing, a Junior, just grabbed the ball and flew down the field for a touchdown; that was Bit Mebane. And Woolcott kicked a drop between the parallels and over the horizontal. Then the Seniors just forced one touchdown. Lots of forward passes were worked successfully, and lots were intercepted.

But look out Freshmen! The Freshmen really won the game in Raleigh but just threw away 3 points in the hope of getting 6 and thereby lost the game. Still they lost the game in score only, but won it in playing. Therefore:

The Freshmen went to Raleigh,
And then came back again.
They tell that they lost the game,
And why, because, and when.
They certainly made the seven points,
That's easy enough to see;
But what we can't quite understand
Is, where's the other three?
We believe they really made them,
But what did they throw 'em away for?
It's little things like this, you know,
That everybody has to pay for.

Everybody is getting ready for Richmond, and Richmond won't quite hold us when we get there. But there are two more games before the big one, and lets take a good look at both of those.

We are glad to see Big Ab back in the game, and missed him in Athens. We are sorry, on the other hand, that some of the others will be out of the game on account of class work.

Virginia beat Georgia 13 to 6; Georgia beat us, with Ab out of the game, 19 to 6. So look out Virginia, you are going to have the game of your life in Richmond. The Virginia-Vanderbilt game was an inversion of previous results; will ours be?

When you read this column, remember:
Nothing is serious,
Nothing is sensible,
Don't get mad,
We're indefensible.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Rock Hill (S. C.) High School defeated Charlotte High School Monday week 33 to 6. Pharr did the best work for Charlotte, scoring the only touchdown. Rock Hill had a heavy team averaging 150 pounds. With a two years championship record behind them this High School is standing in for another this year.

The Asheville High School team has played only one game this season. Cold weather has delayed the tennis tournament.

Durham High is to have a five mile relay race, each team to consist of ten men. Each class has a team.

The following has been received: If Reidsville wants a debate she can get it by writing the President of Lincoln Literary Society, High Point In spite of the fact that the educational authorities do not allow football a team is being gotten up independently by the school and town boys.

Magazine and Tar Heel Unite.

A change has been made in the arrangement of the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The Tar Heel and Magazine will occupy the north east room on the second floor and will have this as a private office under lock and key. The room formerly occupied by the Tar Heel will now be always open to any meeting or organization. This change is to allow the Magazine to establish and preserve a complete set of exchanges and to enable both publications to use the place undisturbed as an office.

ALUMNI BUILDING IN GREAT DANGER

Fire Started in Physics Lecture Room Early Saturday Night

$1000 DAMAGE IS COVERED BY INSURANCE

Prompt Aid of Fire Department and Student Body Prevented Spread of Flames. Short Circuit in Electric Apparatus Probable Cause.

The Alumni Building valued at $100,000, and one of the most imposing buildings on the campus of the University caught afire Saturday night at about 8 o'clock, but it was extinguished in short order by the Chapel Hill fire department and the students. The loss was estimated at $1,000.

The fire originated in the Physic's lecture room, probably from the x-ray machine. This machine was connected with many electrical wires and a short circuie probably did the work.

Smoke was detected pouring from the windows of the building by some men going to the meeting to the meeting of the Phi Society. They immediately gave the alarm and in a short time six hundred students were on the spot with buckets of water. These together with prompt aid from the town fire department prevented a great loss to the University.

The entire loss to the X-Ray machine and the building is covered by insurance.

TWO BOOKS BY FACULTY

Dr. Henderson and Dr. Booker Are The Authors.

Two members of the Faculty have recently had published books of their writing. Dr. Henderson's book is a series of essays on European dramatists. A Middle English Bibliography is the title of Dr. Booker's work.

Dr. Archibald Henderson's book is entitled "European Dramatists," published by Stewart & Kidd Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio. The essays, seven in number, are on the following men: Strindberg, Ibsen, Maeterlinck, Wilde, Shaw, and Barker.

"A Middle English Bibliography," contains the dates, dialects and sources of the 12th, 13th, and 14th century monuments and manuscriptsof England The book is published by Carl Winter, Heidelberg, Gemany, price 45 cents. This book is a reprinting in separate book form of a part of Mr. Booker's work published in volume 9 of the University of North Carolina Studies in Philology.

SPECIAL TRAIN.

The special train to Durham to carry the students to the Wake Forest game will leave here at 1:00 P. M. The train leaves Durham on the return trip at 9:30 for Chapel Hill. The round trip ticket costs 75 cents.

THE SCORE WAS 51 TO 0

Freshies Romp on Greensboro Lads on the Hill

The Freshman eleven had no trouble defeating Greensboro here Saturday by the large score of 51 to 0.

Geensboro wasn't in it, that's all. The freshmen just ran all over 'em and played as if they were taking vengeance for their defeat in Raleigh. If they go at it as hard when they strike Raleigh the last of the week, the lads from the Capital will go back from whence they came Sadder Budweiser. For the freshmen Hoffman at half and Williamson and Monroe at end did the best work.

A SENSIBLE REGULATION

Athletic Council Says How to Elect Captanis.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Council a resolution was passed regulating the election of all varsity captains. Heretofore this has been done in a slipshod manner, generally when and as each preceding captain wished. The Council has decided now that the election shall take place immediately after the last game of the season and those eligible to vote shall be the men recommended by the coach and captain for N. C.'s. Necessarily this recommendation will have to be prepared beforehand as much as possible.

MEBANE LONG IS CAPTAIN

Basket Ball Leader Chosen Prospects Good

Mebane Long has been elected captain of the Varsity basket ball team. The election, which should have been held last year, was decided last week by the team and substitutes of last year. Long has only played one year on the team, but his work then was most promising and justifies his election. He played forward. Chambers is the only other Varsity man in College, but the material is doped out to be the best in years and the otluook is first-rate. The first game will come about the middle of December.

Mrs. Chilton Next Week.

Mrs. Wm. C. Chilton, the charming reader and impersonator, who made the hit of the Star Course season last year, is booked by the Alkahest Company of Atlanta to be in Chapel Hill, Friday, November 21st, at eight o'clock. It had been feared that a pressure of engagements would prevent Mrs. Chilton from making Chapel Hill at this time but a letter to Henry Weeks, Chairman of the Lyceum Course, announced that Mrs. Chilton would jump all the way from Tallulah, La., in order to get to Chapel Hill Friday night.—The night before the day of no quizzes.

Season tickets may yet be purchased. For the five attractions, downstair seats $1.45; upstairs $1.00. Allen Mebane is the ticket man.

CLASS BASLETBALL TO START AT ONCE

Greater Council Started Move. All the Classes Have Taken Action

PRACTICE IS TO BE BEGUN AT ONCE

Ratty Ranson to Manage the Seniors, Shag Thompson the Juniors, G. C Royall, Jr., the Sophs and C. M. Fleming the Freshmen.

If you don't look out they will have some real class basketball in a few minutes. The Greater Council suggested the thing at its last meeting and the fans of the game at once started things going. The inconvenience of a place to play has been the cause of delayed action.

The Seniors appointed Ratty Ranson to manage their class basketball team. Monday the Juniors met. Besides electing Shep Bryan manager of class Tennis and George Eutsler manager of class track, they selected Shag Thomson to manage their part of class basketball. Tuesday the Freshmen and Sophomores met to elect managers for their teams. G. C. Royall Jr. was chosen by the Sophs and C. M. Fleming by the Freshmen.

The managers of the class basket ball teams met Wednesday and decided that the interclass championship basket ball series should consist of six games, each team playing the other one game. In case of a tie the two teams having the highest percentage are to play a game for the chamsionship on a date arranged by the managers of the two contesting teams. The schedule is as follows:

Nov. 19 Freshmen-Sophomores.
Nov. 21 Seniors-Juniors.
Nov. 25 Freshmen-Seniors.
Dec. 2 Sophomores-Juniors.
Dec. 9 Sophomores-Seniors.
Dec. 12 Freshmen-Juniors.

Work on picking the teams will be begun in earnest at once by the various team managers. The baskets will be put up in the Gymnasium immediately, and the teams will take alternate nights in the use of the Gym to practice, this to be announced in chapel. For the managers to make a success of the teams there should be a cooperation of all class men who know what a basket ball is.

Dr. Raper on the Job.

Dr. Raper is spending several days this week in making, for the United States Rural Organization Service (of the U. S. Department of Agriculture), an investigation into the forms of loans made to farmers, the time of these loans, the rate of interest, the kind of security. He will visit bankers in a number of the representative farm centres from Chapel Hill to Charlotte and from Charlotte to Wilmington. Prof. W. R. Camp, of the N. C. College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, is spending the week in the north-eastern part of the State doing the same kind of work, under the direction of Dr. Raper.

This work is in connection with his new appointment from the United States Government.

GOOD ROADS LECTURE

Mr. Boykin, Govt. Expert, Tells How And Why

The first "Good Roads" day was brought to a very successful close by an illustrated lecture last night by Mr. L. B. Boykin, a government road expert, on the general subject of "Good Roads."

Mr. Boykin's talk began with the statement that North Carolina was one of the five most backward States in the movement for better highways. All the States save five have state "Highway Commissions." Then he went on to show why a commission of this sort is needed in every State; how bad roads were a direct tax to the users in the time consumed in hauling, in repair bills for vehicles, and in lack of efficiency of schools and how the commission could better these circumstances.

The time for hauling staple products, such as cotton, for instance, was reduced to less than one tenth over a certain stretch of road in a county in Tennessee by improved highways. This was done by increasing the load from one bale at a time to ten and by decreasing the time necessary to haul one load.

The wear and tear on vehicles was greatly reduced at the same time, thus making the bills for repair a minimum.

The school system in this same county was able to reach 100 per cent more children as a direct result of the improved facilities for reaching them.

The next point Mr. Boykin took up was the way to secure the best roads at the least expense. He brought his discussion under three heads, i. e., draining, grading, and surfacing.

The first step in proper drainage of roads is making the center higher than either side and having a gradual slope between the two (say one inch to the foot). This is called the road crown.

The next step consists in supplying suitable culverts, and drains at each side. He showed by very apt illustrations the fallacy of wooden culverts and bridges, which, though cheap to install, are not at all permanent, concrete, and clay pipe, buried sufficiently deep being very much to be preferred. Next he showed various types of mud holes and the way they should be treated. He finished the discussion of drainage by showing a picture of a model of the various types of underground drains. As an example of the cost of properly draining a road, he showed a road in Kansas which had cost $54.00 per mile to drain properly.

Next to proper drainage, he said, comes proper grading. The whole object of grading is to make the road as nearly level as possible by fills and cuts, and to keep the slope within reasonable limits always. The idea which he seemed to want to impress was "Do it by machinery." He showed many illustrations of road machines which saved time and money by supplanting manuel labor.

The surfaces of roads are many

CAROLINA SINKS BEFORE W. & L.

Carolina Scored on During Second Quarter Twice

PARKER DOES BEST WORK AT FULLBACK

In Field of Mud, Carolina Holds W. & L's. Heavy Team except in One Quarter. Carolina Used Only Eleven Men in Entire Contest, W. & L. Substituted Often.

On and in a pond of red mud and water, Carolina lost to Washington and Lee, 14 to 0. This happened at Lynchburg, Va., "Fair" Grounds. When the game was called with eleven minutes to play in the last quarter, Carolina had the ball on W. & L, 10 yard line. and first down. Carolina used eleven men only, not a substitution being made during the entire contest. As usual, Carolina's opponents did all their scoring in the second quarter. Gn an off-side penalty, the ball was put on the Carolina 1 yard line. On a beautiful tackle, Huske threw the W. & L. runner for a three yard loss. The next two plays, a line buck, and an end run, netted nothing. On the fourth, Young went over for a touchdown, in spite of a hard tackle by Huske. A few minutes later, Young, attempting to kick on fourth down and 25 yards to go, fumbled, recovered and went straight down the sideline for a touchdown. Mile's interference was the chief cause.

Carolina had the old comeback in the third, but a costly fumble by Parker on the four fathoms mark cut off a touchdown in the third.

W. & L. kicked off to Parker who returned well. Foust kicked, and Carolina then played defensive for the rest of the half. W. & L. ran line plays down to the line but were held repeatedly. Twice with goals to go, the W. & L. boys failed to swim through On the second attempt, they tried to sail through on a pass but Tayloe received the pass and dived back for five yards. Foust kicked to safety, and the quarter ended with W. & L. stranded in the center of the field.

After five minutes of play in the second, Foust kicked out of bounds, right by the W. & L. floats In the confusion of arguing where the ball went out, W. & L. substituted two men but left one squattin on the tne shore by the other players. A pass to him netted 20 yards, an end run netted more. A five yard penalty put the ball on Carolina's 36 inch line. It took four plays to put it over. Miller kicked cleanly. During this quarter, Carolina ran four plays, Fuller twice, Tayloe twice. Both gained about 8 yards once, and were downed on the line the other times.

On the third leg of the race, the Tar Heels pulled themselves out of the mud and played ball in spite of the restarting downpour.

Parker again and again plunged through the line for from half to two fathoms. Never did he fail to gain. Twice he fumbled,

THE TEAM.

Gentlemen of the University, it is time we were coming down to facts. We are all so accustomed to seeing football defeats that we don't even blink at a shining light when it is thrust in our faces. Because Captain Abernathy's men have been successively defeated by V. P. I., Georgia, and Washington and Lee, don't you think for one minute that they are traveling along in the same old rut. If there ever was a coming team in this world, it's that bunch of ours that has absorbed more football since September than they ever dreamed was in existence. Working under the discouraging handicap of inexperience and facing a heavy schedule with long trips nearly every week, they have had a rough road to travel. But they have smashed right through it and they are beginning to see the smooth pavement ahead, and they don't care a snap of their fingers for all the newspaper dope from Washington to Atlanta. Its a scrapping, fighting team with always one more punch up its sleeve. Betting odds, comparative scores, prestige of other years, every thing, fall before a bunch that never knows when it is beaten and is likely to come-back at any moment and rise to any occasion. We've got a team and we might as well realize it right now. Whatever the results of the next two games may be, we've got a team and one to be proud of. And by the gods, those games are going to upset the dope.

On Saturday we have a last look at the fighters. Wake Forest and a special train ought to attract Cheer Leader Pritchett's "Thundering Thousand." It's a short trip and it does not cost much and there is a big reward in seeing a good game and there is a splendid opportunity to help. Above all things, don't you forget that we've got a team.

HO FOR SPOTLESS TOWN!

As reports come in from all over the State of the results of the two Good Roads Days last week, the fact becomes clear that here is the community that leads all the rest. Certainly if one takes population into account, and probably if one entirely disregards population, Chapel Hill accomplished more than any other community. And the spectacle of Chapel Hill, which means the University, thus setting the example in road-building and cleaning-up is a joy and a delight and a promise of fairer things to come. Who now can peer through the mists of the future and see Chapal Hill, the Biltmore and Spotless Town of North Carolina? Wilder dreams are coming true every day.

CLASS BASKETBALL.

Class basketball jumps into being with the opportunity to amount to a great deal. With the exception of in a few cities, the game is little known in North Carolina; and more's the pity. For it fills in the winter months as nothing else can, and it is a cracking good game, too; all the excitement and fight you want and as much exercise as you can take care of, with plenty of fun and no grind and no danger of being broken up. Best of all it does not take up much time. Varsity practice, including undressing and bathing and dressing again, rarely consumes as much as two hours, and generally it is less.

The class managers will issue calls shortly and the authorities are expecting candidates galore. Let's help Captain Long and his men and let's build for future Varsities.

WASTED OPPORTUNITIES.

Early in October some twenty odd county clubs met, elected officers, transacted a little business, and adjourned. A majority of them have not met since. A County club is not supposed to be an organization that keeps its members everlastingly on the jump, but it was certainly not created to do nothing. The Christmas holidays present an admirable opportunity for effective work and they are not so far off that it is too soon to be making preparations for them. The Johnson County Club holds annually a banquet during the holidays, thus connecting the county and the University, interesting the high school boys, and reviving the Alumni. It's a plan that could be adopted profitably in a score of other counties. And that is just one suggestion; plenty of better suggestions might easily be converted into action. Anyway you look at the matter, it would be a good thing to get together and talk it over.

THE ELECTION OF CAPTAINS.

The resolution of the Athletic Council regulating the election of Varsity captains—printed elsewhere in this issue—seeks to remedy obvious defects in past methods. The new ruling demands that the election shall take place immediately after the last game of the season and shall be participated in by the men recommended for the N. C. by the coach and captain. The first provision seeks to obliviate the possibility of politics entering the race. The second settles an always disputed point, and incidentally makes it necessary for the coach and captain to prepare their recommendations as much as possible before the final game.

Sigma Upsilon Visits Trinity.

On last Friday night the Odd Number chapter of the Sigma Upsilon (literary) fraternity installed a chapter at Trinity college, Durham. The ceremony was followed by a very enjoyable informal banquet in honor of the occasion.

"Little Ab" has been sent home with a bad case of Typhoid fever. He had been feeling bad all weak but had continued to come out and practice. At Greensboro, while on the way to Lynchburg, he fainted at the breakfast table. He soon recovered but a physician declared he had Typhoid fever. Friends looked after him until he was sent home Sunday.

The football team reports an unusually pleasant trip from Lynchburg to Greensboro

Velvet

THE SMOOTHEST TOBACCO

OVER the hills with dog and Velvet is companionship indeed!

Velvet, the finest leaf from old Kentucky—aged by time—the only make-sure process. The leaf hangs in the old warehouse for over 2 years—gradually changing from green to mellow—then you get the smooth, full flavored, good tasting smoke that the southern planters themselves like. Never a bite in such tobacco. Velvet! Don't forget!

Carolina Sinks Before W. & L.

Fuller recovering once, W. & L. once. On the first play, W. & L. fumbled, Fuller recovering. On a series of plays, Parker and Fuller carried the ball for three first downs. Tayloe was unable to gain consistently, Shultz, left tackle, broke through the line time after time, and nailed him. Carolino was held for downs and the ball was punted into their territory as the quarter ended.

The last quarter was mostly Parker. One plunge through center netted 20 yards and only ended when he butted the Umpire into the mud, and fell on top of him. At this juncture, Miller (250 lbs.), was put out for using profane language, and during the delay, the W. & L. coach ran on the field and demanded that the game be stopped on account of darkness. So the game was called, the players paddled ashore, "and quiet reigned over the troubled waters". It was during this quarter that something sat on "Red" Allen's head in a puddle of water, and Red rose to remark, "Wait a minute, I can't see. Ab blow some of this mud out of my eyes."

Carolina's whole backfield deserves credit, but most is due to Parker, especially since this is his first Varsity game. On defense, he did good work, but let several long end runs by him. Tayloe showed well on tackling. Tandy played a good game as did Ramsey. The chief criticism on Carolina's work was their slowness in going down after punts, and their inability to bring Virginia's kicks back up the field.

Good Roads Lecture.

and varied. The cheapest and one of the best surfaces is the ordinary sand-clay road, which is becoming so common in the South. Then come the gravel, macadam, concrete, and brick road coverings. The gravel road is found chiefly in the northern States. The two kinds of macadam roads, waterbound and oilbound, were thoroughly discussed. Then the brick and concrete surfaces were spoken of, together with their uses and abuses.

He finished his lecture by some pictures of American natural wonders which were made accessible by good roads and of those which could be. He gave as his final, but by no means his least, reason for good roads, the tourist.

Mr. Boykin's lecture was thoroughly illustrated by very good stereoptican views throughout and the only objection which could possibly be raised was the small, unsually small it seemed, number of people who heard it.

DR. CHASE--PROF. COBB

Give Interesting Talks at Y M. C. A.

The fourth discussion of "Negro Life in the South" was led by Prof. H. W. Chase Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. His subject was the Educational condition of the negro. The discussion centered in the thought that the salvation of the negro was through industrial education. Interesting figures were brought to the attention of the students. One third of the school population is negro. One sixteenth of the school fund goes to negro schools. The negro does not pay in direct taxes his proportionate part but on the basis of fines, penalties, and taxes the negro practically pays his proportionate share. The speaker based his argument upon the report of the State superintendant and urged the men to study this report on the negro's relation to education in North Carolina.

The series of addresses on North Caroliny problems was opened by Prof. Cobb Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. with an illustrated lecture on "Humanity in the Forest of Sunburst." Prof. Cobb by words and pictures showed the fine stock of the mountain people and drove home the thought that with equal opportunity they would go beyond the rest of us in the state. Though there were three other meetinge at the same time, a good sized crowd was out to get the glimpse of human conditions in the mountain forests of Swain County. The second address will be by Dr. Chas. S. Mangum who will have for his subject "The Problem Health in North Carolina.

Chemical Club Reads Papers.

The Chemical Journal Club met Monday night and listened to four papers of more or less interest.

Mr. Rudisill led off with a description of a method of determining the latent heat of vaporization of certain liquids. Mr. Killefer followed with a paper on a new improvement of the Tungston filament of light. Mr. Dobbins' paper on the double compounds of cobalt chloride and pyridine aroused some life in the discussion which was otherwise very weak.

Dr. Bell's paper on the determination of certain electrical standards was decidedly the most interesting of the evening. Much amusement was aroused over the awaking of one member about the middle of the paper.

Very little interest, however, was shown by anyone The tobacco of the club was very low which probably accounts for some of the lack of interest.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Ugh! Ugh! Ugh!

It would take something harder than a diamond to scratch such luck as that. When we had the ball on their ten yard line, at the end of the half, time was up. Then when we were there again, they called the game on account of darkness. Time waits for no man, but where in the devil does darkness come in? There's the rub: it came in on time and ruined us. It's certain we can't beat a team as good as W. & L. and the elements too. But we won't have to fight 'em both all the time. After considering the last two games we've played, and the way our team has shown up, we can look at them and say, "Here's a team". And after the Virginia game, after everything is over, and trainng is broken, we can think of them and think, "Here's a team."

Here's the Sophomore team, scheduled to play three games on the Hill, and three off. If that was the schedule and today is the 13th of Novemqer, guess how many games have been played.

Class championship games are coming off soon, and when they do come off, there won't be so much left as there was before they came off.

Sich er game as them Freshman fallers pulled off Saturday (for Greensboro) I aint never seen beat yet. All the players on both sides were so excited that they were running all up and down most of the good sized trees on the campus. And then just before the fighting commenced the weather decided to drizzle and then there was stampedu fer ther trees fer fair. When they did get a chanct to play, the Greensboro fallers had to be argued into it for hours and hours, they were so afraid it was going to rain the next morning. Course everybody knows about the rest of the gaune. The Freshies ran over the G. H. C. lads like a horse and buggy running away.

NOTE:—This was contributed, so don't blame the editor.

And baseball on the come,
And gym, and track, and basketball,

Mushrooms and Concrete.

The 208th meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society listened to two very interesting papers on Tuesday night. Major Cain's paper was on the "Stresses in Wedge-shaped Concrete Beams" Dr. Coker gave a very interesting paper on "Poisonous and Edible Musbroms of Chapel Hill." This was very well illustrated and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Its a far jump from Tullalah, La, but Mrs. Chilton is coming.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Over fifty high schools have entered the High School Debating Union. Holly Springs High School has held its preliminary debate to select the four boys who will uphold this school in the triangle.

On November 7, Charlotte High School defeated Baird's Prep. School in a fast and snappy game by a score of 12 to 6. There was a great improvement in the team. Pharr again starred. He ran thirty yards for a touchdown. Polk made the other on a recovered fumble.

C. H. S. attracted much attention in the great Educational Parade Friday. The School had several floats.

Wilmington, although outweighed, entirely outplayed the Donaldson team of Fayetteville Saturday. Wilmington, with its goal line never in danger, won 41 to 0. This puts Wilmington in the final contest here at Chapel Hill. Guy Philips with his Raliegh boys will probably be the other contestants.

What The Town Thinks.

The Mayor and the members of the Board of Aldermen of Chapel Hill desire to thank every one who has made a contibution, whether in the form of money or of labor service, to the "good roads" work of November 5 and 6. They appreciate the large value of such a contribution, particularly that of the labor service which several hundred of the University students so joyfully and effectually gave to their community. They realize that such a service is worth many hundred dollars when measured in terms of improvement to the streets of Chapel Hill, and many more hundred dollars when measured in terms of good citizenship in Chapel Hill and in the Commonwealth. They thank the students, and all others, for the work which they have done, and especially for the fine spirit that prompted them to do it.

You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.
Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatimas of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.
No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.
Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.
Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.

CLASS CONTESTS GROWING WARMER

Sophs Nose Out Victory Over Seniors. Juniors Haze Freshmen

BOTH GAMES WERE THE REAL STUFF

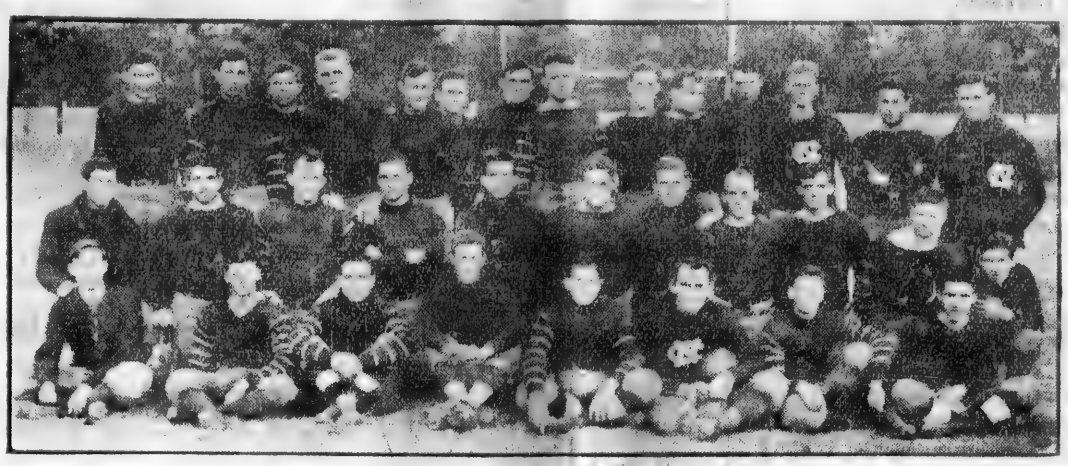
Seniors Followed Example of Varsity and Lost on Fumbles. Lewis Uncovers a Pretty Drop for the Sophs. "Shag" Plays a Good Field

The Sophomore football team took advantage of fumbles and defeated the husky Seniors on the class field by the score of 10 to 6.

Although the Seniors were able to make more first downs than their opponents, they fumbled frequently and thereby lost the game. The scoring started in the first quarter when a Senior back fumbled and Long of the Sophs recovered and ran for a touchdown. Goal was kicked, and the score stood Sophs. 7, Seniors 0.

The Seniors came back in the second quarter and on a series of line plunges took the ball over the Soph goal line for a touchdown. Seniors failed to kick goal. Seniors 6, Sophs. 7. There was no more scoring except in the fourth quarter when Mc. Lewis of the Sophomores made a pretty drop kick from the thirty-five yard line. The score ended Sophs. 10, Seniors 6.

The whole Senior line played well, but the frequent fumbles by the backs offset their strength. For the Sophomores Zolliecoffer at center and Huske at half did good work.



The line-up was as follows:

Sophs.	Position	Seniors
Long	r. e.	Oates
Jones	r. t.	Hatcher
Huske	r. g.	Gentry
Zolliecoffer	c.	Dardin, Love

In one of the best class games witnessed here in many years, the Junior eleven clearly outplayed the Freshmen, and won their second game of the class championship series by the score of 10 to 0.

The Freshmen kicked off to the Juniors, who forthwith made rapid progress towards their goal but after making several first downs, their center passed the ball over the backfield's head. In the scramble the Freshmen recovered. The Freshmen punted after being held for three downs. The Juniors proceeded to bring the ball up the field again, and the first quarter ended with the ball in the middle of the field in

ALUMNI REVILW APPEARS

Has Articles of Interest to Student Body

The Alumni Review for November showed up on schedule time. Besides the usual Alumni Notes, it has several other articles of interest, the most important from the standpoint of the campus being an explanation by the resident committee in regard to the cancellation of the A. & M. football game. This is the first official statement to be made. It is not a defence. It is a calm and fair exposition of the whole matter from the resumption of athletic relations with A. & M. last spring to the much-discussed cancellation of the game this fall, with the committee's reason for their action.

The principal other features of the Review are an outline of University Day and the addresses of President Graham, Dr. Henderson, and Secretary Daniels; a survey of the football season through the Washington and Lee game; and several interesting clippings from the press of the State in appreation of the University.

Preliminaries to the Soph-Junior debate will be held Monday and Tuesday nights, November 24 and 25.

Over 100 high schools have entered the High School Debating Union. As soon as the list is complete it will be published.

MR. R. T. WYCHE YARNS

President of Story Tellers League Delightful.

A treat was afforded the University last night by Mr. Richard T. Wyche, who lectured in Gerrard Hall on story-telling. Mr. White, who is now president of Story Tellers League of America, is an alumnus of the University. After his graduation some twenty years ago, he began teaching in Beaufort County. Abandoning the cut and dried methods of instruction, he taught his pupils by telling them stories. From this time on he has steadily risen until he is now ranked as one of the greatest story tellers in America.

After an appropriate introduction by Dr. Henderson, Mr. Wyche took up the subject of folk lore in the South as depicted by Joel Chandler Harris. To illustrate his lecture he used the story of the tar baby and that of Brer Rabbit and the skeeters, in addition to two which he got from original sources. Mr. Wyche admirably described Harris as he saw him on two visits—a red haired, medium sized man of unconventional ways. Mr. Wyche gave an estimation of Harris, and showed that the Uncle Remus' stories will live because they are the expression of the accumulated emotion and imagination of two races, not inventions of one man's mind.

This is the first of a series of lectures, the remainder of which will be given in the spring.

WAYS TO RICHMOND.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway Company will run an excursion to Richmond from Durham to the Thanksgiving game. The train leaves Durham station at 11:05 Wednesday morning. The Varsity goes on this train. Returning the train leaves at midnight. Upper berths are $1.60 lowers $2.00.

The game will be called at 2:30 P. M., New Broad Street Park.

The scrub team and Band come on the Southern excursion leaving here at 11:00 P. M. Nov. 26.

Star Course tickets now—none after tomorrow.

2ND UNIVERSITY SERMON

Delivered by Rev. B. F. Huske of New Bern.

The second University sermon was delivered on Sunday by Rev. B. F. Huske '03 of Christ Church, New Bern. He chose his text from the fourteenth verse of the sixteenth chapter of St. John, where he read as follows: "He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and show it unto you." This, he said, was the essence of true greatness, was the operation of the Holy Ghost.

He conceived the Holy Spirit as rather an interpretative power acting between the Diety and humanity; and great men as men who most nearly conformed to the action of this power. He showed how this receiving inspiration from God, and distributing it to men, was the chief characteristic of the life of St. Paul and that this was the first principle of his greatness.

He compared great men and ordinary men to a reservoir and a stagnant pool. The great man received his inspiration from God and gave of it to his fellow men. He was the reservoir. The ordinary man, however, although he received the same inspiration did not give it out again. He was the stagnant pool.

This principle of greatness he applied to many vocations and in all it was applicable; the engineers the preacher, the professional man, and the laborer alike must live a life of take and give to be their best in their chosen calling.

His final plea was that we pray not for easy lives or easy tasks, but for strength to overcome any and all obstacles which it may be our fate to meet. The true beauty and joy of life consists in applying strength from God to whatever vocation we may choose to follow.

The contract for the triangular debate between Hopkins, Virginia, and Carolina calls for the submission of a query by November 30th. Each school submits one query and the three queries are then voted on. In case of a tie, the selection will be made by some disinterested party, probably Professor Trueblood of Wisconsin University.

CAROLINA DROWNS BAPTIST THIS TIME

Using Many Substitutes Tar Heels Easily Make the Score 29 to 0

ERVIN IS BACK IN THE GAME AGAIN

Taylor's End Runs, Ervin's Line Plunging, Burnett's Pass, Grimsley's Speed Features of the Game. Wake Forest Always on Defense.

For the second time this year Carolina has defeated Wake Forest, but what a difference!

The first game was played at Chapel Hill and was the initial game of the season. Carolina barely nosed out by one lone touchdown. Durham was the seat of the game Saturday, and the touchdowns were four. The scrubs were used almost half the game, altogether ten men were used in the backfield alone.

In contrast to the sluggish and loose play of the first game the team had plenty of pep, there was only one fumble, and the game was fast and aggressive. Ervin's fierce line plunging and Taylor's beautiful end runs were the features of the game. "Scipio" Burnett's received pass from Homewood for a touchdown from the 30 yard line was worth mention. Grimsley showed great speed in getting down under one of Foust's long punts and tackling the runner behind his own goal line. This produced two points in the form of a safety.

Carolina was on the aggressive the entire game with the exception of the last few minutes when some regular players had to be resubstituted to save the goal line as the Wake Forest bunch were sweeping down the field. In the first half Wake Forest did not run a single play. In the third quarter they ran four. Yet there was little difference in the weight of the two teams. On the other hand the Tar Heels were held for downs on several occasions and had to kick. Four attempted forward passes had a twenty-five per cent of efficiency.

Wake Forest received the ball but kicked at once. Carolina rushed the ball to the 5 yard line but lost it on downs. Wake Forest kicked but soon found the ball on their 3 yard line. It took three plays before Tayloe carried it over a pass and a center rush having failed. Tandy did the proper stunt with his boot. That was all for the first quarter

In the second Etvin and Tayloe carried the ball over in about ten plays aided by a good run by Pope. Attempt at goal failed this time. They brought the ball back within striking distance and then the only successful pass of the game occurred, Burnett caught it in an open field and crossed. Tandy kicked after a kickout by Foust.

THE FINAL CHARGE.

Out of a schedule of nine games Carolina has come through eight and stands now the pinnacle of the season. Wake Forest, Virginia Medical College, Davidson, South Carolina, and Wake Forest again have been incidents. V. P. I., Georgia, and Washington and Lee have jumped into victory in the first half with enough momentum to withstand the fierce come-back of an awakened team that has been laughed at odds and slashed savagely at a seemingly secure lead. Discouragingly raw at the first of the season and regarded as an uncertain proposition, Captain Abernathy's men have gradually come together through a string of victories and defeats, always learning, until they have acquired more football than they themselves think. Six more days and they make their final charge. Virginia, Richmond, Thanksgiving Day—words to conjure with in Tar Heel land.

Out on the field and in that class-room in the Peabody Building a swarm of coaches are putting on the final touches. Trenchard, Pendleton, Wilson, Bluethenthal, Reynolds, Cox, Garret, Wiggins, Seagle, Howell, Mangum, giants all in old days, form a cordon of critics that takes in every detail from a clean tackle to a broken shoe-string. The wisdom of twenty years of football is being shot into receptive minds and bodies. The perfecting touches are smoothing out the wrinkles. The men are being groomed for the fight.

Its football time in Carolina. The air rustles with excitement and nerves are stretched to the breaking point. Over in the Old East, Henry, the janitor, stops you with his "Boss, I jes' got to get to that game. Cain't you hep me a little?" Out across the campus rings the ever hopeful "On to Richmond". Down at the postoffice the murmur is of "the Minnesota shift", "old coaches", "Jefferson Hotel", and "Broad Street Park". Everywhere the talk is of Richmond and Virginia. Virginia games have come and gone and will come and go, but always there is only one—the game at hand. Here's the opportunity to comeback; here's the chance to 'upset everything. A fighting chance? What more do you want? Give the team a fighting chance and they will do the rest.

Out of it all comes the setting for a superb contest. The event of events is almost at hand. All Carolina is rising to meet it. Everything else is cast aside for the supreme occasion of the year. Virginia stands a challenge. Carolina, always responding, prepares for one final fling.

THE STATEMENT.

The recent number of the Alumni Review (November) contains an authoritative statement of the facts concerning the cancelling of the A. and M. game. The statement is simple, straightforward, honest, and convincing. It covers the whole situation, raises no personal issue, and leaves little to be desired. It is exactly the sort of statement that should have been issued when the game was cancelled. At that time it would have shown clearly the position of the University to an interested and critical state; and its dignity would have set a high tone to the rather childish outburst that followed—quite naturally, it must be confessed. Its appearance now in the Review is better than no statement at all. The Alumni are due an explanation. But it cannot possibly be as effective as when the iron was hot. The weeks that have followed have allowed the first impressions, gained from misleading newspaper reports, to sink so deep in the minds of friends and enemies that it will be difficult to remove them. The psychological moment was thrown away.

At the same time the statement will be satisfying to the few who will see it. It shows that the athletic authorities of the University acted in an upright and sensible manner. Placed in their position few people would have conceded so much. They sacrificed a good deal to get the game because, like the majority of Carolina men, they wanted it. But there is a limit to everything. Neither in wisdom nor in honor nor in self-respect could they have allowed it to be played. Once and for all we say that the members of the committee were right in cancelling the game. We regret that they did not see fit to issue the statement three weeks ago.

RED-TAPE.

Uncle Sam moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform. Last year the community was slapped on the back with the news that a tremendous sum of money had been appropriated for a new post-office to replace the totally inadequate building of the present. Everybody breathed a sigh of relief, and property owners in the town dreamed dreams. Some little time has passed and very little progress has been made. Postmaster McRae is working mightly to stir up Washington. But fighting red-tape is a discouraging proposition. The jam at the post-office continues to threaten the weaker vessels. The combination of a rainy day and a late train, and the consequent crush reminds one of Iroquois disaster. It is not that your University student is a natural rowdy; he simply wants his mail, and under present conditions he has to fight for it. The money was appropriated last year; the building will be built—when "Charlie comes to college."

NEXT WEEK.

The next issue of the Tar Heel will appear on Wednesday, November 26, the day before the Thanksgiving game.

Dramatics.

The cast for the Dramatic Club play is about selected. The sixteen parts to be filled have been selected from fifty candidates. W. P. M. Weeks, last year's star, has made the title role. H. C. Conrad, last year's leading lady makes a lead female part. The other parts are almost all filled.

Velvet
THE SMOOTHEST TOBACCO

IN a debate, there is no evading the issue. Does your smoking tobacco bite or doesn't it?

Velvet is aged 2 years—which eliminates the leaf harshness and mellows and tones the richness. Produces a fine flavor and a smoothness that smokers appreciate above all else.

Gentlemen—there is only one side to this smoke question—that's the smooth side—"Velvet." Ask for Velvet at your dealers.

HISTORIANS DISCUSS PAST

Make Plans for Present and the Future.

It takes nerve to come to a meeting at eight o'clock when the mail don't come until seven-thirty, but the "faithful few" of the Historical society have what's required. The meeting Monday night was very sparsely attended, but it was lively anyway. Dr. Hamilton expressed the purpose of the meeting as helping the program committee in getting up future programs. His purpose is to have the students present concise, short, local, historical papers on some subject of interest to every one. He answered the argument of many members by saying: "If you haven't a subject come to me and I'll do my best to get you one."

The subjects presented by some members were varied and interesting, including a paper on the Ku Klux in Alamance. It will be well worth your while to come to a meeting once in a while.

Carolina Drowns Baptist.

Carolina started the second half with the original lineup. Wake Forest tried to gain but had to kick. Carolina returned the ball well but in spite of a 30 yard run by Tayloe had to kick because penalties kept them away from first down. On the kick Grimsley tackled and threw the receivor for a safety. The ball was again brought to the Wake Forest line but off-side penalties against Grimsley and Fuller prevented a touchdown.

Ervin made the last touchdown in the first few minutes of the last quarter. Soon after this he and a Wake Forest man had a serious argument and the referee ruled that they would have to leave the field. As the Wake Forest man was the aggressor Carolina got a substantial penalty but made nothing of it as the substitutes had all they could do holding their own. Wake Forest had the ball at the end of the game.

The line-up was as follows:

Carolina	Position	Wake Forest
	Left End.
Huske, Joyner		Bell
	Left Tackle.
Ramsey, Boshamer		Blackburn
	Left Guard.
Edwards, Cowell		Oliver
	Center.

MANGUM & MOSS Y. M. C. A.

Health of Carolina and the Negro Religion.

The second address in the series on North Carolina problems was given in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night by Dr. Charles S. Mangum of the medical school. His subject was the problem of health and his main thought was that the greatest need in the solution of this problem is education. The Communities of the state must be educated in their social responsibilitiy for uncleanliness and disease. Three great diseases of the state are tuberculosis, hookworm and typhoid fever. The speaker urged the students to lineup with all the forces that are fighting the ravages of these diseases. Red Cross seals was a simple way proposed for helping to stamp out tuberculosis. The efficiency of the hookworm commission and typhoid vaccine are successful agencies in the health campaign. The speaker emphasized the importenc of the physicians and the health officers in this work. He made the practical suggestion that every community should have a full time health officer who is unafraid of the special interests which fight all social movements.

Thursday night Rev. W. A. Moss led the discussion of the fifth chapter in "Negro Life in the South." The speaker presented the religious characteristics of the negro in Africa and showed their outcroppings in this country. The talk was interesting and optimistic.

Class Contests Warmer

possession of the Juniors.

First score came in the second period. The Juniors worked the ball to the Freshmen's thirty-five yard line, and on fourth down Gilman shot a long and accurate pass to "Shag" Thompson who raced across the line for a touchdown. Nance kicked an easy goal. Juniors 7, Fresh. 0. A little later in the third quarter the Juniors put the ball on the Freshmen's twenty-five yard line, where Woolcott by a pretty drop kick sent the ball between the posts for three more.

The game was a first class affair, but the Juniors easily had the best of it from start to finish. The features for '15 aside from the beautiful forward pass, was the line plunging of Paty and the defensive work of Nance at full. Woolcott and Gilman also made consistant gains. The individual star of the game was Williamson, end for the Freshmen. Elias at center also put up a good game.

Uck! Awk! Uck! Awk! Uck! Awk!

Seven More Days.

In just about one week the biggest game Carolina has played for some time will be pulled off, or snatched off, as time will show. Look out Virginia! We don't say we are going to beat. It'll take seven days to prove anything about that, and we can wait. Besides, we don,t like to make statements that we may have to ——, well I guess we'll see you in Richmond.

The team has started secret practice; little Mack says he can't play football with everybody looking at him.

Wake Forest certainly had a hard time of it Saturday. If we had used a regular team on them the whole game, perhaps it would have been harder. We are going to use "the" team the whole game throughout.

Even the class teams are playing football; at any rate they get out on the field and then they come in and say, "Juniors beat," and tack some figures on the back of it. Sure they're playing football, and are having some spectacular games. And such spirit! The Juniors are hot after those class sweaters and have beat both the Seniors and Freshmen, and are having secret meetings against the Sophomores. The Sophs. however, have beat the Seniors (the Seniors are catching hell) and are trying to rule off all the Junior players, so they won't have a game to play.

Well, fellars, we've through all that serious talkin' that don't amount to much and now we'll frolic some. There just aint no use talking, fallers, we got to win this here game. We're been loafing on the job, now, for about ten years and its high time we done somethin. But that ain't what we re talkin' of, it's music we're discussin, and the less we have of it the better. So all of you boys get you a bird dog and go out some evening. For its certain that Bryan will win next time. It's true that he Ran—some time ago (beggin' Mac's pardon), but at all times its best to let your wife speak first and last. And considering all these things the most of it looks good. The rest that we get after three minutes work generally lasts a whole afternoon; and the three minutes is generally three minutes of hard loafin'. But what's that got to do with oratory. Nothin', and that's what we intended for it to have. For what's oratory? That's all right what it is; we'll learn later, but we haven't time to deal with it in this important treatise on science As you all know science has caused many people to go crazy. Insanity is caused by a diseased brain. For this reason only, some of us having no brains to become diseased, are considered sane. But that's neither here nor there; and if it's neither here hor there, where is it? This brings us to the conclusion that we started out with, that it will never do to get beat in Richmond.

Carl Taylor, assistant gym instructor, went to Wake Forest on the 14th to demonstrate Dr. Lawson's method in physical training. The Baptists have been thinking of adopting a system of awarding the varsity letter for gym work and wanted to know the system here. Taylor's exhibition was so satisfactory that Wake Forest not only will adopt the Carolina system completely, but also wants Taylor as instructor.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The State Wide football contest has narrowed down to Raleigh and Wilmington. There was a sharp dispute between Wilmington and Washington as to the right of the former to play Raleigh. Wilmington has played five games, winning all. She played the A. C. L. team of Wilmington, Washington, Doneldson, New Bern and Marion S. C. The Athletic Committee ruled out the Doneldson game. Washington claimed that Wilmington canceled a second scheduled game with them giving as a reason that if they lost they would be ineligible to play Raleigh. Washington has lost only the Wilmington game (22 to 0) apparently Wilmington should have played that game from the viewpoint of clean sportmanship. Since she did not, but has fully complied with the conditions she is eligible to play Raleigh here.

Greensboro defeated Charlotte Saturday, 20 to 0. Both teams were greatly improved. Four times the Charlotte team held the Greensboro boys on their two yard line. Pharr, of Charlotte, featured.

Winston-Salem High School played and won its first game of its very first season from High Point last Friday by a score of 14 to 0. They did this in the enemies county too. Horace Sisk '12, Coaches High Point, C. B. Hoke, also of '12 Coached Winston-Salem. It is a noticable fact that when two Carolina men oppose each other one or the other wins almost every time.

Dean and Spier made the touchdowns and Jewiett kicked both goals. Taylor broke through the line for a thirty yard run. Weatherman's work at end was good For High Point Clark and Sharp, half-backs, played the best ball.

The New Filteration Plant.

For several weeks contractor Lawrence has been having material hauled back of the print shop. It is for the new filteration plant. The excavation has been made for the new reservoir which will have a capacity eight or nine times greater than the old one. Both will be used, however. The walls and bottom of the new reservoir are to be of reinforced concrete. A force of twelve men and a concrete mixer are working on this job now.

Part of the old print shop has been torn down and on its old site will be erected the settling basin and filteration machinery. After the water is purified it will be pumped into the stand pipe.

If You Are Ever Hungry.

The Civic Department of the Community Club will have a chicken salad supper on Saturday, November 22nd from 3:30 to 10 o'clock for the benefit of its Rest Room over Stroud and Tilley's store.

This is one of the most sensible works undertaken in Chapel Hill in some time. Country people coming to town for the day have no place to go except the stores. Those interested in the movement to do something for the town should attend the supper.

THE VERY LATEST DOPE

Virginia Fears Going Stale. N. C. in Great Shape.

The whole attitude at both the football camps has changed during the last few days. Last week Virginia thought in terms of four and five and six touchdowns to nothing. Now it's are we going to keep them away from our goal line. The query of how well are we going to hold them has turned here to, do you think honestly that we can beat them?

Georgetown nozed out on Virginia. She weighed only 165 pounds on the average. Carolina went up against the heavy W. & L. team, outweighed nine pounds, and held them close—much closer than the score indicates. Here's how the weight proposition stands: Carolina averages 170 pounds, Virginia from 177 to 181, according to which two of four men start the game. Georgetown, weighing twelve pounds lighter than Virginia, defeated her.

Carolina showed her phenominal improvement in the game against Wake Forest. She scored 29 points November 15 and could have made it 40 as easily. Earlier in the season one lone touchdown was all.

The Virginia squad faces the possibility of going stale. Several members of the squad have been kept oft the field entirely for days at a time to get them freshened up. They are overtrained and face the possibility of going to pieces.

On the otner hand the Tar Heels are in excellent shape. Not a man is injured. Coach Pendleton says that he has never seen a squad in such excellent shape. The team has been trained up to this one game. Everybody is in the pink of condition. All last week the squad scrimmaged hard. Each day showed a wonderful improvement. Bluthenthal's presence has put new life and ginger into every man. A whole series of new plays have becn added. Albert Cox says this is superior to any that has gone up againts Virginia in the last four or five years. Head Coach Trenchard declares this team knows more football and has a better fighting syirit than any Carolina team in many a day.

The lineup in the back field is not fully decided upon yet. The biggest problem is whether to start Ervin or Parker at Full. Ervin is easily the best line plunger on the squad and Parker is equally excellent on defensive work. Parker weighs 157 pounds 5.10 1-2 in height, 20 years old. This is his first year.

Other likely substitutes are:

	Lbs.	Height	Age
Boshamer T.	164	6.1 3-4	17
Lord O.	144	5.9 1-2	21
R. Burnett R. H.	148.	5.9	20

Ask those who heard Mrs. Chilton.

On to Richmond!! "Everybody's doing it."

Chemists Loaf Officially.

The Chemistry department has been held almost to an absolute standstill since Wednesday night by the fact that the gas machine went broke. At some time Wednesday night the bolt which holds the controlling weight of the machine stripped its threads. The machine was again put into commission on Monday afternoon, much to the sorrow of the chemists.

"Si" Parker was initiated into Sigma Chi Saturday. "Si" is out of college this year, but was a member to the local which was gaanted a charter in Sigma Chi.

Mr. Rand, father of Oliver Rand, was on the Hill Sunday.

RECEIVED WITH APPLAUSE

Mrs. W. C. Chilton at Chapel Last Friday Night.

The second number of the Star Course series given in the chapel Friday night by Mrs. C. Chilton was a attended, and, jupging by the applause, greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Chilton's rendition of "Polly of the Circus" here last year is still pleasanfly remembered and to this was partly due the large attendance. Mrs. Chilton in beginning expressed her pleasure at having a second engagement in Chapel Hill and then began her rendition of Uncle Remus stories. The fact that Mrs. Chilton followed so closely on Mr. Wyche, who dealt with the same subject matter, added more interest to the entertainment. Mrs. Chilton's imitation of negro dialect was unusually good, and the Brer Rabbit stories which she told kept the audience continually laughing. She briefly traced the life of Joel Chandler Harris from boyhood to old age, telling of his struggles to get an education, his subsequent connection with the small magazine called "The Countryman", and the success which later attended him. The whole intertainment was thoroughly enjoyed.

TWO BASKET BALL GAMES

Freshmen and Juniors Have Easy Pickings.

Class basket ball has opened up with victories for the Juniors and the Freshmen. The Seniors were defeated by the Juniors Friday night by the score of 26 to 0. On Wednesday night the Sophomores scored only two points against the Freshmen's 38. Contrary to what the score would indicate, both games were hard fought and held the interest of the large crowd of spectators. There was a marked absence of rough playing; each game was won by superior team work.

A CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

Remarkable Tar Heel Record In 1892 Season

Every member of the University of North Carolina football team, champion of the South in 1892, is not only alive but is prosperous 21 years later. By many critics in North Carolina this is considered the most remarkable team ever turned out in the South.

Of that number two have been judges, one has been speaker of the State general assembly, others have developed into physicians and ministers, others into businces men and one into one of the foremost chemists in the United States.

The Carolina team of 1892 played three of its hardest games in one week—starting out Wednesday of Thanksgiving week and ending on Saturday of the same week. Fifteen men, including the manager, went on the trip, and not a single substitute got in any of the three games. No player was injured or otherwise incapitated. Taking into consideration that it won the championship of the South in four days in the same week, that only eleven men played in the three big games, and that all the men are alive and prosperous, the Carolina team of 1892 challenges comparison with any team in the country.

The players are: A. S. Barnard of Asheville, W. A. Devin, J. C. Biggs of Raleigh; W. M. Gibbs of New Bern; J. T. Pugh of Boston; G. R. Little of Pasquotank county; E. M. Snipes, James Kirkpatrick of Greensboro; Walter Murphy of Salisbury; Charles Baskerfield of New York City.

The three games are: Defeated Aubnrn at Atlanta on Wednesday 68 to 0. Defeated Vanderbilt at Nashville Thursday 24 to 0. Defeated Virginia at Atlanta Saturday 26 to 0.—Greensboro Daily News.

Wilson County Club Smoker.

On Thursday night, November 20th, at 10 o'clock, the Wilson County club met in the mission room of the Y. M. C. A. for an hour of good fellowship and feasting. There were fourteen men present together with Prof. M. C. S. Noble, who gave a short interesting talk on the value that friendly association while in college would be to each man after leaving the University. After a brief summary by the president, of the work of the Club, everyone helped himself to the nice spread of good things to eat on the table. For over an hour feasting and pleasant conversation were carried on, everyone present having a most enjoyable time.

The query for debate in the Di Society Saturday night was: Resolved that the National government should own and operate the telephone and telegraph systems. The negative won; E. D. Warrick made the best speech, and W. R. Watson and W. C. Wright deserved honorable mention.

GODSPEED.

To those twenty odd men who this week face the crisis of the year we cry Godspeed. You are going over the border into a land of heroes to stand breast to breast to a team that in victory or defeat is superb. Carolina players everywhere will tell you that whatever Virginia may do on other fields, in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day she will fight like a wounded tigress. Entrenched behind a long list of victories and confident in the knowledge that she is represented now by one of the very best teams that ever wore those happily-hated Orange and Blue jerseys, she awaits your onslaught. And you, you men of Carolina, you men of us, we send you forth gladly because we know your worth. You have been tested in the fires of eight conflicts and have come forth, not spotless, but stronger and wiser and fiercer for the scars that have been burnt into your shields. We like your come-back spirit that does not know what it is to blench before odds or to break when all else seems to be slipping. We love you because you are North Carolina, in weakness or in strength, in defeat or in victory, always North Carolina, always us. May the great God of the Game give you the power to fight better than you know.

"One more time a team from Carolina goes forth to meet a team from Virginia. One more time a team from the Old North State, filled with love and loyalty for its college, driven on by the spirit and enthusiasm of young lives, goes forth to do battle with an ancient rival and a worthy foe.—Virginia, we have lost to you before and lost like sportsmen. Please the gods we may win this time and win like gentlemen."

THE ALUMNI COACHES.

The return of the Alumni during the last week of practice was a source of inspiration to the team and satisfaction to the athletic authorities here at the University. We wish more of the old players could have come, but those here did a world of good. Talking of pep! Billy Reynolds and Icky Garret made that scrub line rise above itself in the effort to throw back the shift. As far as actual playing ability right now is concerned, Jim Wiggins looked like he could give any of them pointers on tackling. And our own Vernon Howell simply had to jump into the line once in a while, citizen clothes and all, to show the rising generation that quickness and clean tackling are not new things. All of them know the Cardinal point of football-fight. All of them have the spirit. All of them have an undying interest in this team and every other Carolina team. We thank them all and invite them back any time they can come.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE.

Two contests with Virginia will take place in Richmond. Out on the field Captain Abernathy will lead his warriors against the cream of the Old Dominion. Up in the stands cheer leader Pritchett and his assistants will lead the Thundering Thousands in their assortment of "Split Carolinas", "Boomerays", and "Fight for Carolinas" How about winning both contest? You, irrespective of who you are, can do your part by bunching together with all the other Carolina men, by following the directions of the leaders, and by lifting up your voice to high heaven You are going to yell anyway—Who ever sat through a football game without splitting his throat—and you might as well do it in a scientific fashion. The guy who first declared that "United we stand, divided we fall," must have been thinking of cheering; nowhere is the saying better illustrated. If everybody follows the leaders, we'll raise the roof off the sky. If not—but there's no such possibility.

Community Clean-up Days.

The Health Committee of the Community Club takes this opportunity to thank the students of the University for their generous help in connection with the Clean-up Days of the Community Club, November 5th and 6th. While not a great deal was accomplished in connection with the streets of the town, yet a very good beginning was made in cleaning up Battle's Park, or woods adjoining the southern part of the campus. They began to clear away the debris which has been accumulating for generations. This debris has been a menace to health and has marred the beauty of the woods for those who enjoy a walk in these delightful suburbs. The Club is also deeply indebted to Mr. Moss and Mr. Starr for their active interest in helping with this work.

We understand that the University will continue this work from time to time.

The Club also bespeaks the cooperation of the students in helping to keep the streets of the town clear of papers, especially around the Post Office. If each student will remember to throw his papers in the cans, this can be done. Boys, help us to make and keep Chapel Hill the Town Beautiful, a model for the balance of the State. We can do it with your help.

H. M. Berry, Chairman,
Health Committee of the Community Club.

Dressing Room Gossip.

Said the brook to the tree,
"I'll be damned if you do."

When playing football, never try to break a man's neck; arms are smaller and easier to twist. Never stand up and close a door way; some one may open you Never imbibe acids in drinks at the fountain; take them in the usual way. Remember that your ways are not everybody's ways, nor everybody's things your things. When a man's asleep, he dosen't need your shouting to encourage him to keep on; and in the morning, wake up for yourself and let everybody else do the same. Remember: Richmond is not a war-path; it's a great big highway, and will hold probably 12 more people after we get there. But;

What a wonderful bird is the pelican;
His beak can hold more than his belican;
He can put in his beak
Enough food for a week,
And I don't see how the helican.

We all know what a big rush there was to the fire the other night when Dr. Henderson's stable caught. This furnishes an excellent illustration of the change from the slow, deliberate manner of doing things a few years ago, to the modern machine-like haste and rush of today in everything To illustrate the deliberatness of a few years back:

Two farmers lived about a mile from each other. One morning one of the boys, William, comes into his neighbor's yard and finds Joshua splitting wood.

"Good mornin', Joshua," says William. "Your folks all well, Joshua?"

"Well, fair and middlin', just."

"Say, Joshua, I suppose you hearn Joe Billins is dead?"

"Naw; what complaint?"

"Oh, nothin' at all; everybody satisfied."

"Wont you come in, William?"

"No, I recon I haint time; my ma sent me over here to see if you youldn't lend us your ladder; our house is on fire."

Away down in the old North
State
A miracle was wrought of late.
At Chapel Hill there is a college,
Where boys are taught the higher knowledge.
The place has always been quite clean;
In places where the dirt was seen;
But where the dirt would never show,
The people there, I'd have you know,
Would let the dirt and filth remain
'Till it was washed off by the rain.
But now a wonder 's come to pass:
One man from out the thriftless
mass,
A man of might, as I've been told,
Proposed an undertaking bold.
Indulging in a study brown,
Proposed to make a Spotless Town
The University agreed
To join the townsmen in their speed.
So working thus, together they
Right speedily did clear away
The rubbish which for many years
Had subjected the town to sneers.
With shovels, hoes and picks and such
They really have accomplished much.
Sapolio and soaps and paints
Have made the people feel like saints;
For nothing is so close to sin
As filth and dirt that folks live in.
So by the work of this small throng,
Of whom I sing in this my song,
Is Chapel Hill, both up and down,
Converted into Spotless Town.

O. HENRY MEMORIAL TOUR

Norman Hackett's Generous Offer to Fund

Beginning on November 18th and lasting untill December 3d, the able American actor, Norman Hacket, star of "Classmates" "Beau Brummel" and "Satan Sanderson," will produce in North Carolina cities "A Double Deceiver," based on O. Henry's well-known story, "A Doubled-Dyed Deceiver." The story has been admirably dramatized by Professor Donald Stuart of Princeton University. This play will be produced in Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Burlington, Oxford, Raleigh, Washington, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Wilmington, Goldsboro, Fayettville, Charlotte, Shelby, and Asheville. It is now winning, in a beautiful production, marked sucess wherever it is being played.

Inspired by his admiration for the late Sidney Porter(O. Henry) Mr. Hackett now offers, in collaboration with the people of North Carolina, to make a liberal contribution to the fund for a memorial to O. Henry. His offer is to give a liberal proportion, specified, of the gross receipts from every performance of A Double Deceiver in North Carolina.

If the citizens of North Carolina will only avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity, the result will be an audience for A Double Deceiver which will reflect credit upon the patriotism of the citizens and assist materially in the erection of a worthy memorial to O. Henry.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

"Weve fought and bled," the Sophomores said,
And wobbled kerwunk genobbin;
Said the lawyers apace "We've lost our case,"
But kohunkel bethinkle porobbin.
"You runkled kersplitz, and hoven gohitz,"
The Juniors kept ragging the Sophs;
"And binkle your bunk, you harlem gosunk,"
Mid the buzz of the Sophs and mops.
And the Juniors berstump, but muckled vorhunp,
And merooped gehonkel demonk
The bah frolimp, kan stoot genimpt?
But forlooten! Spe dunken medonk.

The Sophs defeated the Juniors 2 to 0 in one of the most hotly contested games of the century. The left, upper stroke was the most popular during the fight, but after time was called, not much choice was used. The scrimmaging was mostly punting and in most cases the man that received the punt was able to play within five minutes after he was tackled. In the scrimmaging, the toe hold was in common use, together with the half-Nelson, but after the ball was on the ground the only hold of advantage was the body-scissors. Dynamite and cannons were purposely kept from the reach of the fighters, for the Junior class is small as it is, and the Sophomores are decreasing and can look for no help from the Law Class.

Between the halfs all bodies were removed from the field of battle, the blood-pools filled with sawdust, and bones and unidentified limbs removed to the Med building. All the gladiators were groomed, hanging limbs lopped off, and broken bones removed. Then they were turned into the pit again and the process of vivisection recommenced. The hubbub in the second half was even greater than that in the first. Frequent shouts of deploration, exhortation, and condemnation in the inter-national language were heard by the spectators. The fight was for life and $7.50 sweaters, which the Juniors will wear about as much as the Sophs, unless, by chance, the sweators are really given.

The spectators were both numerous and plentiful, while their exhuberance was only subordinate to their numbers; that is there were a great many out there, and all of them in high spirits. Each exhorted his champion and called destruction down on the enemy in words suitable to either occasion.

Only one successful forward pass was worked during the game. Long and Hoover, backs, averaged from 3 to 5 inches in gains for the Sophs, while the Juniors averaged but little less. Parker played a good game at center, while the plunging of Fore on the defense was a feature.

So endeth the fight, and we ceaseth to write.

Some one has been playing rough with our athletic field. There must have been more persons than one, too; for they have simply cracked our football fence all up. These knots in the fence are the cause for Johnny's left eye being so much weaker than his right.

The coaches are very anxious to keep everything a total secret. And above all things they don't want it to get out that we are going to beat Virginia. Since everything is so secret it is hard to talk about football.

Below are found a few extracts from Methuselah's diary. Methusslah, when a little fellow, seemed to be unusually bright. As early as his 432 birthday he unfortunately wrote verses, some of which are preserved. These below must have been his, or possibly his grandfather's:

Said the shoe to the stocking,
"I'll wear a hole in you;"
Said the stocking to the shoe,
"I'll be darned if you do."

This little joke, (pun as it is called in the catalogue) made the tree and the brook a little envious. So they got together and designed this one:

Said the tree to the brook,
"I'll fall across you;"

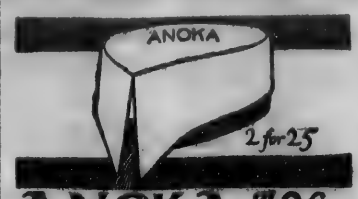
HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Charlotte University School football team has won the championship among the high schools of Charlotte, defeating the Charlotte High School 34 to 0 October 27, the Baird School 30 to 0 November 19, and the Charlotte High School in the second game on November 21 by a score of 6 to 0. In this second, Prof. Cowell, a Carolina man and the coach of the C. H. S. team, played quarter. This game was the only one of the three that put the full strength of the C. U. S. team to its full strength, but in this case, as in the others, they were able to keep their opponents always playing defensive ball.



Mr. Charles Lambeth also a Carolina man and the coach of the University School squad, will take his men to Greensboro for a Thanksgiving Day contest with the Greensboro High School eleven.

Saturday Raleigh rescalped Greensboro 39 to 0. Raleigh's goal was never threatened by their opponents. Earl Johnson's forward passing and end runs were the features of the game, only three times did Raleigh have to kick. while on the other hand their opponents made first down only thrice.

Champion who ran the team while Johnson was out on injuries, proved a good general. McDonald and Smith did good work for Raleigh. Wyrech, Greensboro center, played h good game.

Wilmington and Washington High Schools have gotten into an unfortunate squabble over the footpall contest. In this column a statement of the whole matter will be made next week.

Holly Springs will enter the High School Debating Contest and the Trinity Declamation Contest.

TAYLOE CHOSEN CAPTAIN

Election of Star Half Back Almost Unanimous.

Dave Tayloe, Lelt Half back, was elected Captain of the 1914 football team at the close of the football banquet Thanksgiving night. The vote for Dave was practically unanimous. He is a fitting successor of "Big Ab', and will be a good leader for the team. He has been acting as captain of the backfield this season and as team captain in the absence of "Capt" from the game. His choice is fortunate and a pleasure to all concerned.

Las' year he was a good steady player being awarded his monogram at the end of the season. This year he has played in every game and has been Carolina's chief ground gainer. He will be a Junior next year as this is his second year in college. He may study medicine.

At the banquet the coaches made speeches, "Capt" said his farewell word, the twenty-one men entitled to a vote (those getting in the Va. game) elected a new Captain and out of the the ashes of the old began struggle of the new.

THE CAMBRIDGE PLAYERS

An Attraction of Class Saturday Night.

The Cambridge Players, who will appear here next Saturday night, come with highest recommendation of the Alkahest Company. Literary and musical talent as well as humor and dramatic art will be presented in the program. The Company consists of a man and three attractive young ladies. The singing of Miss Harrison, the reading of Miss Miller and Miss Stuart, and the impersonations of Mr. Coffer have delighted audiences in almost avery state. These are some of the press comments: "He did an impersonating stunt that was a little the best we have ever seen"; "The Cambridge Players made good from the start"; and "The Company pleased the large audience every minute of the time."

The entertainment will begin at 8:15 in Geraad Hall. Prices are fifty and thirty-five cents. Reserved seats may be secured at Patterson's Drug store.

Prof. M. C. S. Noble President

At the State Convention at Raleigh Friday, Prof. M. C. S. Noble, head of the educational department at the University was elected President for the coming year of the Teachers Assembly. Miss Mary Owen Graham, of Charlotte, was elected vice-president.

At the close of the concert given that night to the Assembly, President Graham, present- to the State for the Assembly, a bust of C. H. Wiley, founder of the public school system of the state. Secretary of State Grimes accepted for the state.

CAROLINA LOSES IN A STUBBORN CONTEST AGAINST VIRGINIA

Score of 26 to 7 Fails Entirely to Tell the Story.--Fuller Scores Touchdown on 70 Yard Run.—First in Eight Years.

CAROLINA GAINS MORE GROUND ON LINE PLAYS THAN DOES THE VIRGINIA TEAM

Tar Heels Carry the Ball Inside of Five Yard Line Twice, But Are Unable to Go Over. Team Does Great Fighting.

For the first time in eight years Carolina crossed Virginia's goal line at Richmond, Thanksgiving day. Virginia crossed four times, twice on passes, twice on line plays. Carolina lost, but a look at the statistics doesn't show the same game as the cold score does. Carolina made fourteen first downs, Virginia made thirteen. Carolina kept the ball in Virginia's territory over half the time. Carolina made a total of two hundred and fifty-two yards after subtracting penalties. Virginia made two hundred and fifty-one after subtracting penalties. Yet Virginia made four touchdowns, Carolina one. The breaks just didn't come Carolina-ward. Virginia earned the first touchdown. It came after three minutes of play and was made on straight football. The second was made on a peculiar accident. Gooch threw a pass. Tayloe slapped it down, Ray, of Virginia then hit it and knocked it into the arms of Randolph, who crossed. The second two came in the last few minutes of darkness and drizzle when Carolina was using almost a whole scrub team.

Carolina's lone touchdown did not come when Carolina had put the ball on Virginia's one yard line with first down, or when it attempted a forward pass from the five yard line, or another from the twelve, or even yet when Parker fell on a Virginia fumble behind the Virginia line. It came not as a result of the steady and consistent game that was rushing Virginia off her feet, it was a spectacular run with an intercepted forward pass. Fuller caught the ball intended for Gooch and started down the line for Virginia's goal. Then the long and patient coaching of a year showed itself. Immediately the White and Blue players sprang fiercely to meet the opportunity. Interference as impossible as a stone fortress gathered around the runner. Virginia man after man was cut down by the Carolina players and after seventy yards of ground had passed, the joyous feet of the Tar Heels sped over the coveted goal and planted the ball squarely behind the bars. Tandy, true of toe, sent the ball squarely over.

It is needless to say the playing was fierce and clean. Every man was playing at the top of his ability. All deserve praise, some more than others. Captain Abernathy played the game that a man would like to remember as his last. Not only was he strong on defense but the big leader time after time led the way for big gains. Tayloe, Captain for the next season, played his usual brilliant offensive game until a twisted knee necessitated his withdrawal. Fuller and Parker played a good defense game, usually guessing the point of attack of their opponents. Homewood played a great game at end. Many times he caught Gooch from behind on his dreaded end runs. Huske also delivered the goods although an injury crippled his efficiency on defense. And Tandy, at center, was really the center. Nothing happened that he didn't do his part and then a little. Foust outkicked Virginia eight yards on each exchange.

The game play by play will tell better than anything else the real closeness of the game.

Kernodle kicked off, Mayer returned ten. Line play no gain. Gooch kicked. Ball rolled for a touchback. Scrimmage twenty yard line. Tayloe five off tackle. Parker three. Fuller no gain. Foust kicked to Gooch. Huske tackled him in his tracks.

Landes seven, then three. Gooch nine through line. Landes two. Forward pass failed. Gooch eighteen, Landes good gain. Carolina off side, ball on three yard line. Gooch two, Gooch touchdown. Corter kicked Virginia 7. Carolina 0.

Mayer kicked off, Abernathy fumbled, Va. recovered. Ray no gain, Landes five. Ray first down. Parker recovers Va. fumble. Tayloe no gain. Parker five yards, Fuller seven. Tayloe nine, Allen one. Parker two, Fuller seven. Virginia off side. Tayloe lost two, forward pass failed. Parker five, Foust kicked Huske nailed receiver. Gooch returned punt to Allen. Parker failed. Fuller five. Tayloe no gain. Tayloe tries drop kick, went wide.

Virginia punts to Allen. Tayloe eighteen. Landes recovers fumble but referee had stopped play. Carolina ball. After three no gain plays and 15 yard penalty Foust kicked. Gooch returned punt to Allen. Foust loses two. Parker no gain. Tayloe no gain. Foust booted. Tandy downed receiver. Va. one yard. Gooch kicked. Pass Foust to Tayloe ten yards. Parker no gain. Tayloe no gain. Va off side. Tayloe six. Allen four First quarter.

Ball on Va. 15 yard line. Ervin for Parker. Ervin fumbles, Va. recovers. Gooch kicked. Ervin three. Tayloe loses. Tayloe six on forward pass. Ball to Va. on incomplete pass. Ray kicked. Ervin six. Tayloe no gain. Foust kicked. Gooch thirty-three yards. Gooch four, Randolph six. Homewood threw Randolph for five. Randolph fifteen on a pass. Another pass to Ray. Tayloe struck it, Ray hit it and Randolph recovered. Touchdown. Carter kicked. 14 to 0.

Yirginia received kick. Pass to Landes twenty-two yards.

Gooch twelve, Randolph one. Line buck and pass both fail. Another pass failed. Ball goes over. Tayloe five on two tries. Foust kicks. Va. off side. Carolina first down. Tayloe makes twenty on pass from Foust. Landes intercepts pass. Randolph loses seven. Ray boots. two passes fail. Foust punts. Landes three and four. Gooch one. Ray kicks. Tayloe six. Burnett for Tayloe. Ervin two, N. C. off side. Ervin twelve, Burnett two, Fuller no gain. Fuller twenty on pass. Ervin six and seven. Fuller six. Va. penalized two yards. Ervin two and twelve and five. Va. off side. Ball on Va. one yard line. Allen no gain, loses three. Ervin gains three, no gain, Va. ball and punts. Va. intercepts forward pass. Second quarter.

Virginia loses twenty-five yards reporting late. Ervin no gain. Burnette eight yards. Ervin no gain, then ten. Fuller fifteen. Burnette eight, two and seven. Parker fumbles and recovers. Ervin two. Burnette three. Virginia off side. Ball on Virginia's five yard line. Ervin fails, then makes three. Forward pass to Cowell fails. No gain. Ball goes over.

Gooch no gain. Ray kicked. Gooch intercepted pass thirty yards. Landes failed. Virginia penalized fifteen. Fuller intercepted forward pass, seventy yards for touchdown. Tandy kicked. Phillips for Fuller. Va. kicked. Phillips two. Ervin no gain. Foust kicked. Ray no gain. Gillette tenon forward pass. Ray two. Gooch six. Ray four. Woolfolk one. Forward pass failed. Va. fumbled. Ervin recovered, seven on two tries Foust kicked. Gooch twelve and none, Forward pass failed. Third quarter: Va. 14; Carolina 7.

Parker for Ervin. Gooch kicked. Phillips four. Burnette failed. Foust kicked. Gooch fumbled. Homewood recovered. Pass failed. Phillips lost five. Lord for Allen. Gooch intercepted

THE GAME.

7 to 26--and every one smiling and planning already to storm Richmond next Thankgiving Day. Not for the first time, but never more truly can it be said that the score does not tell the tale. Virginia has the better team and should have won the game; there's no getting around that. But after you have said all you please, you will draw only a smile from any man who saw those marches down the field and recognized behind them a powerful team, welded out of home products, the beginnings of the long-awaited era of victory. Not since 1905 has any team, and not since long before that has a real Carolina team, shown such knowledge, such spirit, such fight. The game itself was a joy to behold and to be remembered; it ranks among Carolina's moral victories. And the touchdown--sufficient to say that Fuller's name will go ringing down the hall of fame for many a long year.

DURING THE DANCES.

The Thanksgiving dances on Cecember 4 and 5 will bring alumni and visitors to Chapel Hill. The impression they get of the University will be largely determined by what they see of the students. Any single man here has the power to make the University appear to be what it is not. It's a big responsibility and one we sometimes forget. The University teaches nothing so much as how to be a gentleman. The result of the lessons will be seen this week.

TWO CAPTAINS.

With this season passes a figure that will long be held in honor in Tar Heel land. The name of Abernathy has given prestige to Carolina football aforetime; the record of the 1913 captain places it a notch higher. To "Big Ab" it was given—no, not given, his brawn demanded—to play four full years on the Varsity, a record that has not often been equaled here. His great strength and earnestness have made him a feared player. His reputation is common property throughout the South Atlantic section; here in Chapel Hill he is the best known and best loved figure that walks on the campus. As he hands over the reins to the rising generation we bow in acknowledgement of debt to him, and salute him, a Tar Heel hero.

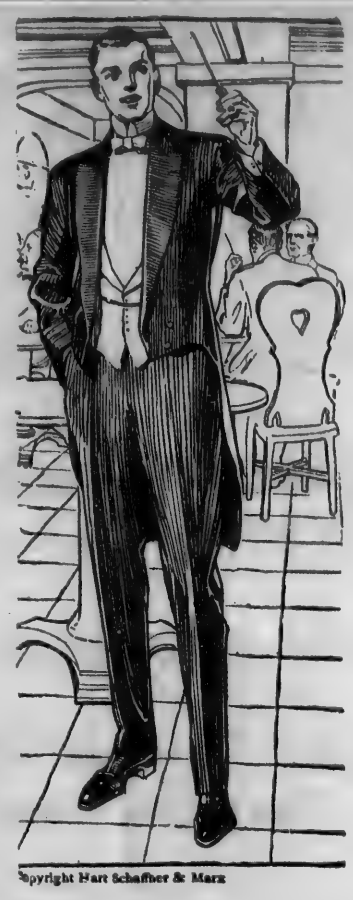
And to the new captain go out the congratulations and good wishes of all Carolina. His is a most glorious opportunity with prospects of nearly all of the team being back next year and with a definite coaching system in smooth working order, we look to Captain Tayloe to blaze the way to the promised land. No man is more fit to do it.

INTERESTING HISTORY.

As a matter of interesting history and as an example of how much two states are interested in one athletic contest, we print the following from the Charlotte Daily Observer.

"Remarking that many persons who do not follow sports closely are inclined to regard the University of North Carolina as a consistent loser against the University of Virginia. The Danville Register sets the facts straight. 'In the 10 years from 1898 to 1907, inclusive,' it points out, 'the two elevens played seven games, of which each won three and the seventh was a tie. One of Virginia's three victories was won by one point. In the seven games North Carolina scored a total of 72 points, while Virginia scored but 58, a margin of 14 points in favor of the Down-Homers Since that time five games have been played, and Virginia has won them all by decisive scores, the closest being that of 1910, which Virginia won by seven points margin. But in the contemplation of the last five victories one must not forget the games of the preceding years, in which Carolina has the better of the argument." It only remains to add that the recent record of defeats was due to causes which the Carolina men think they understand quite well and which they confidently believe have now been removed."

"Little Ab" Dangerously Ill.



"An announcement that will be received with regret by his many friends here and elsewhere is that of the critical illness of Mr. R. B. Abernathy of the Hopewell section. He has typhoid fever and there is very little hope for his recovery. Mr. Abernathy was a member of the State University foot ball team this fall until he became ill several weeks ago. He is at his home."—Charlotte Observer.

"Little Abby" became ill at breakfast in the McAdoo Hotel in Greensboro while the team was on the way to Lynchburg. He remained there in the care of friends until Sunday afternoon at which time he was sent home. He has been delirious ever since. He was really sick for a week before he gave up but kept on playing uncomplainingly.

SECOND MAGAZINE OUT

New Cover. Interesting and Balanced Contents.

The second issue of the University Magazine, which appeared Saturday night, fulfilled expectations which were aroused for it by the improvement of the first issue over those of last year. The new spirit of progress which was noticable in the first issue has been more highly developed in this issue. The material is well written, aptly chosen, and cleverly arranged. The alteration in the Magazine to be most readily remarked is the new cover. It is excellent in that it embodies something of the newsiness of a national periodicul with a large degree of sobriety and good form, which should characterize a college publication. The table of contents can hardly fail to interest the student body and outsiders who are interested in current events at the University. The articles deal interestingly with local matters which have heretofore received no attention in print and about which the majority of the students have been more or less uninformed. The poems are excellent, and are well distributed throughout the other material. The sketches succeed in giving an impression of local colar in Chapel Hill, and the department entitled "Around the well" achieves its purpose of fostering discussion of matters pertinent of college life. No reader will fail to notice the change in the method of conducting the Exchange Department. This part of the Magazine is no longer filled with estimates of other college publications, but is now being utilized to give the subscribers some samples of the best humor of other college publication. The Magazine is certainly a success, and all that it needs now to keep going is support of the student body, both by contributing material for it, and by subscribing to it.

The material for the December number should be in by December 5th. The short story contest closes December 11th but by special arrangement the winning story will appear in the December number.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Well, we are all back from Richmond, just like we have been being back for the last half-century. Sure, some of us missed some classes, but we just thought the professor would make some allowance and maybe he did. But suppose he didn't? Well, I'm not to blame, and he's not, says the man with the sleepy eye, and that's all right for most of us.

The Freshman quotes "The old order changeth" just ss the Senior of '95 probably did. But we know that poetry is written for beauty's sake and not truth's. Still, the thing might change within the next ten years, and we'll beat Virginia. We thought we were going to do it this time. One poor fellow thought fifty dollars worth of that stuff; his middle name was "Loyalty".

A declaration of thanks is being agitated about the campus for the Southern Railway. It is a good thing the Southern isn't all put up one fellow; his show of seeing the next Virginia game would be about the size of the chance of a reduction in prices at Kluttz's. That excursion trip was a healthy one. Some of the boys say that they waited almost an hour and a half on that box car that was off the track, and about six more hours on the railrwao officials to get it off. A "Boomeray" for the Southern!

The twittering of the sad-birds has been noticed on and about the campus. The sad-bird is a species that generally is in large cities where big times grow, and bright lights burn all night. The life of a sad bird extends from twenty-four to forty-eight hours; the early part is taken up with gayety, fun and frolic, generally under the guidance of some old mother bird who has been sad before; when the effects begin to show then the form becomes what is known as the sad-bird.

The campus is beginning to be bedecked with the bright-feathered species that appears generally right after Thanksgiving and about the last of each May. This is the feminine form and is known not only by its gay-colored plumage but by its clear twittering and shrill laughter. These in turn, about twenty- four hours after the dances will turn into sad-birds but fortunotely will be absent from the campus, and we will have only the male species with us, who will very probably be sadder than ever.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Well, Raleigh and Wilmington will play here for the championship of the state Saturday. If Wilmington wins she is undisputed champion, if Raleigh wins Washington has the right to challenge her. So the Athletic Committee decided in Goldsboro Tuesday night. In answer to a flood of telegrams the committee met representatives from Welmington, Wrshington, Raleigh and Goldsboro and thrashed out the rather knotty problem.

On Thanksgiving day Washington defeated Raleigh on her own grounds 13 to 12. Both teams made two touchdowns, but only one goal was kicked, this lone point deciding the game. The Raleigh boys were crippled somewhat in not having several of their best players in the game.

As to that Wilmington, Washington controversy, the situation was this. The two schools had two games scheduled. One was played at Wilmington, Wilmington winning by twenty points or more. On Thursdav of the week of the second game Wilmington learned that the Donaldson game would not count in the state contest. She, thinking she had to play another game with a different school, called off the gamewith Washington as the original date for closing the contest was drawingnear. She offered and apparently was anxions to play the returngame at some future date after the championship preliminaries were settled. Washington thought Wilmington was afraid to play them and out of anger at calling off the game at such a late hour "severed athletic relations" with Wilmington.

The Higher Warfare

William Jones once said that the great need of the world was the moral equivelant of war. The Red Cross Society has found this equivelant in the campaign which is being waged the world around against tuberculosis. By buying a quarter's worth of Red Cross seals you enlist yourself in this crusade. Ten thousand seals have come into Chapel Hill to join the forces at war with the Great White Plague. It is for the people of Chapel Hill and the students of the University to see to it that not one of these seals is sent back to the headquarters at Charlotte unenlisted in the actual warfare. Run up the red flag of conflict on every letter and package, being at once a Christmas message of good cheer and a fighting note for a healthier world.

DANCES A SUCCESS MANY OF THEM NEW

The Girls Have Gone But No "Sad Birds" Seen As Yet On Campus

A NUMBER OF YOUNG ALUMNI ATTEND

Frank Drew With Mrs. P. H. Winston Led Gimghoul Dance. Gorgon's Head Friday Afternoon. George Strong And Miss Julia Manning Led German.

"The old order changeth yielding place to new".

So doth the dance. The square dance and Virginia reel gave way to the waltz and two-step. These skipped and dipped ahead into the Boston. Now we do these with "Hesitation." The Boston, sad to relate, has fallen into the "Kitchen Sink." And you may not believe it, but at every dance we can see a "Lame Duck" or a "Horse Trot." Did you ever see a "Castle Walk" by a "Great Big Blue-Eyed Baby?" The dances were new and strange to Chapel Hill society, but we are glad we made their acquaintance. There was plenty of pep, too, but some thought there was a little "Too Much Mustard."

But take it all in all, frivolity thrown aside, the dances were "Some Smoke." "That Old Girl of Mine" said, "I am 'San Francisco Bound,' but 'Take Me Back, Back, Back to Carolina'". Alas, alas the girls have gone, and left us only "The Curse of An Aching Heart"! The guilty ones are Misses Mary Dortch, Julia Borden, Eunice Borden of Goldsboro; Claudia Lewis and Elise Lloyd of Durham; Julia Manning, Elizabeth Johnson, Betsy John Haywood, and Katherine Crews of Raleigh; Serena Dalton, Margaret Fletcher, Elizabeth Hill, and Mary Horton of Winston-Salem; Cornelia Dowd, Miriam Parker, Evelyn Blake and Anne Dewey Chambers of Charlotte; Alice Noble, Guelda Elliot, Mary Patterson, Christine McIntosh, and Josephine Daniels of Chapel Hill; Laura McGill Cannon of Concord; Kate Northrop of Wilmington; Helen Patterson of Wilson; Anne Henegar of Knoxville, Tenn. Sadie Williams of Augusta, Ga. Helen Julian of Thomasville; Annie Frey of Greensboro; and Josephine Stewart of Savannah, Ga.

The Thursday night dance, given by the Order of Gimghouls, was led by Frank Drew with Mrs. P. H. Winston. The assistant leaders were Lenoir Chambers with Miss Anne Dewey Chambers; and E. J. Lilly with Miss Margaret Fletcher.

The Order of Gorgon's Head gave an informal dance to the faculty and students at their lodge Friday afternoon from four until six.

The final ball given by the German Club on Friday night was led by George Strong with Miss Julia Manning. The assistants were W. C. Lord with Miss Miriam Parker and Avon Blue

LITTLE ABBY DEAD.

Succumbs to Attack of Typhoid at His Home in Charlotte

R. B. Abernathy '15, better known as "Little Ab" in college, a brother of L. L Abernathy, the captain of this year's football team, died of typhoid fever in Charlotte Tuesday.

Last season Abernathy was fullback on the Varsity, and had been on the squad the year before. This year he played as sub-center. He was a member of his class baseball team.

Wednesday morning in Chapel, after Dr. A. H. Patterson had read the sad telegram telling of "Little Ab's" death, the University Quartetsang "Integer Vitae" with the entire student body standing.

Today at noon the college bell was tolled at the time of the funeral. W. P. Fuller, representing the Junior class and the Varsity football team, went to Charlotte to attend the funeral, which took place Wednesday at noon.

STARRY CONSTELLATION

Initial Performance of Glee Club Well Received.

Last Friday night the Glee Club set forth its wares to the public. Upon the worth of their performance would depend their before-Christmas trip. It must be said that, judging from the concert Friday night, their planned trip should be a striking success.

The work of tht club as a whole deserves high praise, but the individual stars go farthest in assuring the success of the organization.

Messrs. Sneath and Meeks made their fame last year and seem to have added to it this year. Of Mr. Epps' rendition of "A Perfect Day" much must be said in commendation. He sang well last year, but this fall sees a great improvement in his voice, his enunciation and tone. He bids fair to be the "song hit" of of the State.

Mr. Wright at the violin is the headliner of the club. It should be said that considering age and experience he certainly is a wonderful violin player.

With all this lavish praise it cannot help but be seen that the Glee Club will, this year more than ever, send the name of U. N. C. throughout the State.

The Trip.

The Glee Club leaves Thursday morning for a three-day trip. The cities lucky enough to book our musical organization on this first tour are: Goldsboro, Thursday; Wilson, Friday; and Raleigh, Saturday.

Kenneth Royall has returned from Boston where he attended the annual convention of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

AUTHORITIES CONSIDER NEW RULES

Rules to be Made Identical with Virginia's In Main Points

INTERPRETATION TO BE THE SAME ALSO

Five Months Residence Rule Changed to One Year. October 12th Registration Abolished Entirely. Professional Coaching and Training Table Unmolested.

Actuated by a desire to elevate our system of athletics to an even higher position than they occupy at present, the athletic authorities at the University are considering a new system of rules or regulations governing athletics here at the University. The proposed regulations are, in all important respects, the same as those of the University of Virginia. In fact, the only difference between Virginia's regulations and those proposed for Carolina is on the subject of professional coaches and the training table. Virginia forbids both; Carolina will continue both.

It should be noted that the above are the only differences which can be seen when one reads the two systems. But, in order that there shall be no difference in the interpretation of the rules it is proposed that Carolina's interpretation of each rule be the same as that in use at Virginia.

In contrasting our present system with the proposed one, only a few differences can be found. The academic requirement, that each man shall keep up with his work, remains the same. At present we have the five months residence rule and, until a short time ago, the twelfth of October rule. That means that as we have it now each man, in order to play on a team representing the Uniuersity, must have attended lectures for five months previous to the game in which he takes a part.

The proposed plan does away with both the five months residence rule and the twelfth of October rule. Instead, the new system proposes a one year's residence rule. That means that every man coming from a college must attend lectures, here at the University, for one year before he can play on a "Varsity" team. It is the same rule as the one year's residence rule now used by Virginia. Virginia would allow a Georgia player of this year to play in the fall of 1914 if he should register at Virginia after Christmas of this year. So will Carolina. It does not mean, however, that a freshman coming from a "Prep" school is not elegible to play on a "Varsity" team, as he is at Princeton, Yale Harvard, and other institutions. Thus it can readily be seen that the proposed rules do not differ to any great extent from those now in use here.

The principal object of the advocates of the proposed rules is to prevent any possible friction

R. M. ROSS WINS DI FINAL

Freshman Final in Phi Contest Next Saturday Night

The Freshman debate in the Di society Saturday night resulted in a well rounded contest between M. M. Williams, J. J. Kirksey, D. V. Carter, and H. D. Sharpe for the affirmative; and R. M. Ross, M. B. Fowler, S. C. Hodgins and C. B. Hyatt for the negative. The negative won. R. M. Ross made the best speech, and was awarded the Society debating pin. The subject debated was, Resolved, "That an amendment to the constitution of North Carolina providing for the initiative and referendum should be adopted." The final contest in the Phi society will come off next Saturday night. The question for debate will be, Resolved, "That the constitution of North Carolina should be amended so as to prohibit compulsory poll tax." The affirmative will be represented by B. J. Lawrence and V. F. Williams, while the negative will be upheld by J. W. Maxwell and Leo Carr.

BASKET BALL BEGINS

Tentative Schedule Issued By Manager Long

With the close of the football season of 1913 all eyes are now turned to basketball. It is a sport that is practically new with the University, having been in vogue here for only a few years, but one that is fast gaining ground.

With the first game coming Saturday night of this week Coach Cartmell and the men under him are working daily in an attempt to perfect themselves and the team work before the team from Elon hits the Hill. Never in the history of basketball at the University has there been such an array of talent as there is this year. There are enough men here to make two whole teams that could clean up the State, and the best part of this is that the majority of these men are either N. C. men or men who have made reputations for themselves at some colleges, Y. M. C. A's or prep. schools before coming here. Coach Cartmell believes that the team the University will turn out this year will clean up everybody it happens to run up against.

Elon, with whom the first game is to be played Saturday night, has a strong team. They do not play football and have been practicing basketball all this fall. Last year through some slip or other they beat us. They are coming this year with a stronger team and claim they will make things interesting.

The schedule so far arranged by Manager Cy Long but not yet finally approved, is as follows:

Dec. 13 Elon College at Chapel Hill.

Dec. 16 Durham Y. M. C. A. at Chapel Hill.

RALEIGH WINS FROM WILMINGTON HIGH

In Semi-Final For The State Championship Capital City Boys Triumph

GREAT TEAM WORK AND WEIGHT TELL

Raleigh Backfield Stars. Thompson Made Wilmington's Score on Recovered Fumble. Raleigh and Washington play for Championship of State here next Saturday.

"They came; they saw; they conquered." That's Raleigh.

"They came; they saw;" but you can leave off the conquered part. That's Wilmington.

Wilmington and Raleigh High Schoo's met here Saturday to decide among themselves just who was owner of the State High School Championship, and at the end of sixty minutes of good football the Raleigh lads had added up 20 good hard earned points while their opponents could force the pig skin over the goal line but once, and this for six points only. It was four touchdowns and a drop kick to one, but more than anything else it was a victory.

The game, while one sided according to the score, was one of the prettiest seen here this year. Both teams were composed of eleven scrappy men, and the championship of the State was at stake. That was enough. It was sixty minutes of good hard fought, scrappy football with neither side stopping until the game had ceased to be a game.

The one big outstanding feature of the game was the team work put up by the Raleigh crowd. They outweighed their opponents and did not hesitate to take advantage of their weight. They were always on the go. They ripped off twenty here, ten there and uncovered some of the prettiest fake plays that could be imagined. There was football from beginning to end. Wilmington perhaps didn't have the chance to show the work Raleigh put up. They were kept on the defensive at most times and seemed to be troubled with nervousness. Not until the last part of the game did they seem to get to going, and not until the last quarter did their playing equal that of Raleigh.

The first touchdown came after three minutes of play in the first quarter. Raleigh kicked off and Wilmington was held for downs. Bowen was then called on for Raleigh and when he had finished he had zig zagged through the entire Wilmington team and had placed the oval between the up rights for a touchdown. Wilmington again elected to receive, and having gained first down once they kicked. The kick was a bad one though, and Raleigh got the ball on the line of scrimmage. A series of end runs and line bucks carried the ball to Wilmington's ten yard line where Champion carried it over for the second touchdown. Bowen kick-

Green, A. T. Hatcher, F. C. Johnson, D. G. Kelley, G. A. Mebane, Y. C. McKee, O. C. Nance, A. R. Newsom, W. B. Rouse, P. Woolcott and A. H. Carr.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL.

There is one way to develop successful athletics. The movement that resulted in Raleigh High School playing Wilmington High School on the University Athletic Field Saturday is the right way and the only way. We shall have consistently winning teams only when we have an organized system of developing material from the High Schools. Coach Trenchard has started this system this fall, and in spite of many obstacles the result has been highly satisfactory. E. R. Rankin and C. E. Ervin are also due praise for their work in managing this State wide contest.

The sentiment that our efforts should be devoted to lowering our standards of athletic requirements so as to allow the utilization of outside football material is wrong. By this method occasional winning teams can be built up, but consistent winners cannot be thus secured. This side of the question is somewhat aside from the main issue, however.

A team has been put out that is a true Carolina production. The material was not promising at the start of the season. As a whole the candidates were inexperienced. The student body, by its latter season support, has put its seal of approval upon this class of a team. We are finding out how much we want this kind of a team.

The development of High School material is the logical and simple solution of our athletic future.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL—AGAIN.

Coincident with efforts of the Bureau of Extension to bring the University and the State closer closer together has come the extension of the University's interest in high school athletics.

Coach Cartmell's sending well-trained track men to conduct a local meet at Hillsboro recently, the suggestion of sending students to any part of the State upon request to coach all kinds of athleties, and the University keen interest in the present high school football championship contest are striking instances of this interest.

The excellent showing made by the Raleigh and Wilmington teams Saturday is a direct result of the awakened interest in football throughout the State, emanating from the University in the form of good coaching by graduates and renewed enthusiasm in the game itself. The athletic appeal to a large part of the youth of the State is more powerful to bring results than the intellectual appeal, and any movement to broaden the avenue of appeal should be heartily encourage. In no way can the University more effectively draw the high school students and athletes to herselt and thus do service to the state than by way of athletics.

PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM.

In Kansas City from Dec. 31 to Jan. 4, some five thousand college students from every part of America will meet to discuss college problems and mission work. The convention is under the auspices of the Student Volunteer Movement Association. Once a college generation these conventions are held. Each meeting has shown a tremendous interest in attendance and in usefulness. Among others, Robert E. Speer and John R. Moot will address the convention. It is an opportunity which should not be missed. It is not only a question of good to the individual however. The good benefits of the Y. M. C. A. convention at Black Mountain, for instance, can be traced directly in all branches of college activities on our campus here today. The University will be doing itself a distinct service to help send delegates to the convention. The only expenses are railroad fare and a few incidental expenses, as entertainment is provided by the citizens of Kansas City.

At this time six men have decided to go. Some of these need helping on their expenses. Here is a chance for some practical patriotism on the part of someone. See Frank Graham

Freshmen Defeat Sophomores.

A crowd that would have looked good at a Varsity game saw the Freshmen ease a 3 to 0 victory over the Sopomores Wednesday in the best class game played here this fall. The dropkick which won the game was made by Alderman in the second quarter. The Freshmen were good in plunging the line, while the Sophomores made most of their gains around the ends.

As ye the class championship is suspended in the air. If the Sophs had won this game, they would have been champs; but this they failed to do. If the Freshmen win from the Juniors, they will get the sweaters, otherwise the standing of the three lower classes will be the same as when the new series started, the Seniors failing to make high enough percentage to stay in the league.

The standing of the teams now is:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
Seniors	0	3	.000
Juniors	2	2	.500
Sophs	3	2	.600
Freshmen	3	1	.750

Raleigh Wins from Wilmington

ed goal making it 13 to 0. Wilmington again received and after advancing the ball to the middle of the field they again lost it on downs. Raleigh advanced the ball to Wilmington's thirty yard line where Bowen placed a drop kick between the uprights. The first quarter ended 16 to 0 in Raleigh's favor.

Wilmington came back strong in the second quarter and held the Capital city team without a score.

The third quarter saw Raleigh add thirteen more points to their score. Raleigh received and after a return of punts carried the ball down the field for a touchdown, Johnson making the touchdown on the prettiest fake play of the game. Wilmington then received, and after the ball had changed hands twice the Capital city boys again carried it over. Bowen is credited with the last touchdown for Raleigh, while he also added another point by kicking goal.

Wilmington's only score came in the last quarter. Wilmington kicked while on their ten yard line. Johnson of Raleigh touched it when Thompson came by like a shot and before anyone knew what had happened he had gone the entire lengh of the field for the Sailor's only touchdown. It was a great run.

Wilmington also came near making another touchdown earlier in the game. It happened in the same way but Bowen managed to pull Silverman dowu after the latter had run fifty yards and had gained within ten yards of the coveted goal line.

The work of the entire Raleigh team was the outstanding feature at at all times. The playing of Bowen, Mills, Johnson, and Champion was great. The defense of the Raleigh line was good. The best players on the Sailor Crew were Thompson and the two Silvermans.

"Guy" Phillips, former University student, has had complete charge of the Raleigh team the past season while H. S. Shaw has been coaching Wilmington. It was Wilmington's first defeat of the season.

The lineup of the two teams follows.

Raleigh	Position	Wilmington
Tyree		Rhodes
	Center

Championship Game Saturday.

By defeating Wilmington here the Raleigh High School team won the right to play Washington for the State Championship of High Schools at Chapel Hill next Saturday. Wilmington defeated Washington, while on Thanksgiving Washington defeated Raleigh 13 to 12. The final game here Saturday will be one of the hottest imaginable. Both teams are equally matched, as can be seen by their previous score.

NOTICE.

All students are requested to hand to C. E. Ervin the names of any high school or prep school athletes that they know of, together with their addresses. Please see to this at once as it is important for us to know about these men at once.

Authorities Consider Rules.

between us and our ancient rival, the University of Virginia. The advocates of the proposed system take the view that Virginia is our chief rival—the one to be defeated as often as possible. Granting that the rules governing athletics at the two Universities should be as nearly alike as possible, the ideal standard governing athletics is that the institutions most similar should have as near as possible the same athletic regulations. It has been a noticeable fact that we in formulating athletic rules have considered, to a certain extent, the rules governing athletics not at Virginia, our chief rival, but at smaller institutions throughout our own State.

It is also noticeable that the proposed rules will serve to allay any bad feeling that might arise from any of the smaller institutions of the state, which might, at the same time, lose some member of its athletic teams by reason of one of its players having come to Carolina. Thus we can see that in that respect the proposed rules will not only do justice to ourselves but will also prevent any possible criticism from any source whatsoever.

Baseball Coach.

In a few days the coach for our 1914 baseball team will be chosen. Graduate Manager McLendon says it will in all probability be either Earl Mack of Raleigh or Jim Kelly of Durham. Both are well known professionals of the Carolina league.

CAMBRIDGE PLAYERS

Performance Justifies the Name "Star Course"

To say that the third Star Course of the season, given by the Cambridge Players, was well received by a full house Saturday night in Gerrard Hall would be to state a commonplace. It was, in fact, by far the best attraction that has appeared here this season. The program was full and varied; the songs ranged from the lightest ditties to the most serious interpretations, and the readings and impersonations covered everything from the most frivolous incidents to the most tragic scenes in Macbeth.

This entertainment was different from the usual even before the curtains were drawn. The stage arrangement promised something new: there were entrances and exits all around the stage, which was something strange for Gerrard Hall. And there was a large bluish lamp which added to the effect.

The first thing on the program a solo by Miss Harrison, was recalled. Then Mr. Coffen gave a number of impersonations which kept the audience laughing every minute. It was the best thing of its kind ever seen here. A reading by Miss Miller next caught the attention of every one in the hall. She was called back and gave a second selection as light and funny as the first was serious. Miss Stuart then gave a number of monologues which every one enjoyed.

At this point the program broke away from the beaten path of all Star Courses.

Two of the best scenes from Macbeth were given. The playing of Miss Miller and Mr. Coffen was exceptionally good. With the lights off and the stage lighted by one bluish lamp the effect was surprising. Following this, Miss Harrison sang a solo the theme of which was life. There were five parts, an introduction asking what life is and and interpretation of each of the five seasons.

The best thing of the whole evening in the opinion of many was a little comedy, "The Milliners Bill", played by Miss Miller and Mr. Coffen. It was full of life and fun, and kept the house in a continuous roar. The last number was a melody, by the three ladies.

All who saw the Star Course were thoroughly delighted. From beginning to end there was not a yawn heard, nor a tired face seen, nor was anyone seen to leave before the players had finished the last number. For one we must agree that the players lived up to the reports which preceded them. Every song or reading or impersonation brought forth the heartiest applause, and and time and again the players were called back.

Doctor L. B. McBrayer of Asheville spoke at Gerrard Hall Thursday night on "Preventive Medicine". Doctor McBrayer is a leader in the State Campaign against uncleanliness. His recent work in cleaning up Asheville has set a model in sanitation that is being followed by many towns in North Carolina.

Doctor McBrayer's coming starts a series of lectures on health problems arranged for by the Greater Council.

Four Carolina Players Are Given Places

The various sporting editors have been doping out their choices for all this and all that on the football teams during the last few days. Carolina has got her share too.

The News Leader makes up a premier team with Capt. Abernethy at tackle and Homewood on left end on the all South Atlantic. The Washington Post picks Tandy for the center position. It describes him as an aggressive and heady player and further says that not a man in this division is anywhere near his class. It puts Abernethy and Homewood on second choice.

Several papers mention Huske for a place on the second choice, notably, the Times-Dispatch.

Rabbi Egelson Addresses Students.

Rabbi L. I. Egelson of Greensboro delivered an address in the Y. M. C. A., Sunday night on Israel's Ideal. Mr. Egelson came here at the invitation of the local chapter of the Monora Society, the Jewish organization of the University.

His lecture was in part as follows:

"Israel's ideal is to hold up before the other nations of the world the righteousness, justice, and omnipotence of Almighty God. The Greeks and Romans had their ideals, but they were too material to perpetuate their nations; while the Jew's ideal has preserved his religion and his religion has preserved his nation. Through many trials and untold persecutions Israel has come still preserving her original ideal and living up to her old cry, 'I can't die, I must live.'"

GLEE CLUB TICKLED WITH TRIP

Visited Goldsboro, Wilson and Raleigh. Left Here Thursday Morning

PEFORMED BEFORE THREE FULL HOUSES

The Glee Club Members Were Royally Treated in Each City Visited. Those in Charge Highly Pleased with Trip, Which Ended Sunday Morning

On Saturday night the University Glee Club closed a very successful tripled-barreled tour by performing before a full and appreciative audience in the huge auditorium at Raleigh. Previous to the show in Raleign the aggregation visited both Goldsboro and Wilson, and in all three places was received with much cordiality and hospitality.

Goldsboro, in spite of the freignt trains that pulled up and down its main highway and the heaterless theater, turned out at night with arms full of applause. Tom Norwood and Guy Dortch found homes for all where entertainment was perfect. After the concert an open bazaar just teeming with the ladies received almost the entire club, and turned them out again bedecked in boudoir caps, aprons, opera bags and other such suffragette acoutrements. From thence, with boomerays, rah-rahs, and split-Carolinas, the troupe proceeded "en masse" to a serenading of the waitresses in the second story above the sidewalk. Here pennies from the unseen audience rattled on the sidewalk like teeth chattering on an icy morning.

From the city of Joy to the city of Bliss was but the trip of an hour and we entered Wilson with flags flying high and spirits higher. The papers had appeared announcing the coming of "M. Henri Meeks, the college Caruso with orange-blossoms in his voice and of $200-per-week fame";Epps and Sneath, the baritones before whose voices the roaring of Niagara would seem as an echo in the distance; Harris, the man who literally bursts the backs off the piano with his marvelous chords; "Wright, the Freshman violinist", who had caused women to scream and tear their hair at the tones from his violin; "the Varsity Mandolin Club" and the group of 25 voices "picked from 900 students". Sure, Blake Applewhite had all that stuff in the papers, and some of the people in Wilson had declared a legal holiday holiday to get ready to go to hear all of it. The performance was held at the Atlantic Christian College before many of the girl students and many people of Wilson.

Through discourtesy of the News and Observer the only medium of advertisement in Raleigh was through posters and hand bills. In spite of this fact, some two hundred people were present at the show. Unfortunately, St. Mary's girls were kept at home at an entertainment of their own,

JUNIOR RESOLUTIONS

Express Feelings Regarding Abernathy's Death.

Moved by a sense of personal bereavment and individual loss, the members of the Junior class of the University of North Carolina, both individually and collectively, wish to extend to the relatives of Richard B. Abernathy Jr. their heartfelt sympathy. We do not extend this sympathy to his relatives alone, for, in his death the junior class, the whole student body of the University, and a host of friends throughout the state have suffered almost an equal loss. Richard or "Little Ab", as he was known to us, was deservedly popular among the members of his class as well as the whole student body. His face with its welcoming smile greeted all alike, always cheerful, alway optimistic. He was a comrade to be desired, anb, above all things, a friend. We of the Junior class especially miss him. His cheerful manner his ability as a leader, we miss them all. Strong, energetic, cheerful as he always was he and his wonderful possibilities have left such an impression upon us that we can scracely realize that he has gone. He has gone, but the memory which recalls all things to us will ever remind us of the great loss caused by his death. While we mourn the loss of a comrade, a classmate, and a friend, we must submit to the will of Him who does all things for the best.

CANCEL SWEATER ORDER

Whitaker Falls on Ball. Series Again Tied.

Another order for sweaters was cancelled last Friday and the class series was again tied up when the Juniors came back strong and defeated the cherubs by a lone touchdown. That makes twice the series has ended in a tie, and it looks like the class teams will play all the spring trying to get these sweaters.

The Freshmen after defeating the Sophs thought they would walk away with the sweaters when they met the Juniors in that last game. You can easily notice now how sullen they are looking since losing to the Juniors. They lost their pep somehow, some say they were overtrained, and they couldn't score. Those Juniors do fight too—but what it takes to get their goat the Freshmen didn't have it. The Freshmen were bleeding, their kick was blocked—their hopes blasted—and quick like a minute, all so sudden. Whitaker recovered the ball behind the goal and thereby sent the class series into spring for completion—a genuine spring practise we'll

COACHES SELECT ALL-CLASS TEAM

Kluttz And Frank Graham Decide On Best Men On Class Field.

SENIORS GET TWO MEN IN LINE UP.

Freshmen Get Three Men, Sophomores Win Two Places And Juniors Lead With Four Players, Two Being Backfield Men. Many Close Choices

End	Williamson	Freshman
Tackle	Leak	Junior
Guard	Bullock	Freshman
Center	Zollicoffer	Sophomore
Guard	Gentry	Senior
Tackle	Hatcher	Senior
End	Thompson	Junior
Quarter	Woollcott	Junior
Half	Hoffman	Freshman
Half	Huske	Sophomore
Full	Nance	Junior

The following All-Class Team was chosen for the TAR HEEL by DeWitt Kluttz and Frank Graham, aided by a number of the class team players and football men in the University.

Center—Zollicoffer gets the position without question. His passing was equal to any other center's and on defense he covered much more ground, ranging from end to end and attending to his own position with satisfaction.

Guards—Bullock gets one of the guards for his aggressiveness on both offense and defense. For the other guard there is little difference between Gentry and Lipscombe, but the Senior wins out for his better showing in all the games. Telfair and Pike deserve mention.

Tackles—Leak is the best tackle on the class field, showing experience in opening holes and in stopping plays on his side of the line, and in addition, getting down the field with his ends every time. Hatcher, a strong defensive player, is given the other tackle in preference to Fitzgerald

Ends—Williamson stands head and shoulders above all other ends. He is a fierce tackler in scrimmage or down the field under punts. His running mate is picked with difficulty from Bryan and Thompson. Superiority in handling forward passes gives the position to Thompson. Monroe has the makings of a good end.

Quarter—Here the position is a toss-up between Woollcott and Lewis. In running a team there is not much choice. In bringing back punts Lewis excels, while Woollcott gains better from scrimmage. The team needs a forward passer and Woollcott's superiority in this respect gives him the position. Both are good drop-kickers.

Halves—The half-backs are easy to pick. Hoffman would be the best ground gainer for the team, and with Huske at the other half an end running game would make ground. In addition Huske is probably the best defensive back on the class field.

Full—Full-back offers even more difficulties than quarter. A man to hit the line for short gains and one to back up the line is what is needed. Nance fills the requirements best, though Fore follows close behind.

CALIFORNIA CHALLENGES

Law School Wishes Debate With Carolina.

The most spectacular project that has ever come under the consideration of the Debating Union has appeared in the offer of the University of Southern California Law School to enter into a series of two debates with California. The Southern California Law School has between three and four hundred students, while the enrollment of the whole University runs into the thousands. Having won all the forensic laurels on the Pacific coast, the Law School turned eastward for new spoils; they scheduled debates with Columbia and George Washington, and published in the Law Review a general challenge to first class institutions. Our Debating Union wrote for particulars. Then came the offer of two debates; the first to be held in Los Angeles this coming spring, the second to be held in North Carolina in 1915. In Los Angeles is a North Carolina Club which could be depended on to boost the debate.

The prospect of a trip past the Rockies to contest with the nation-known California debaters caused considerable excitement among our disciples of Demosthenes. But since debates with Virginia and Hopkins have already been undertaken for the spring, the Debating Union decided not to enter this third contest. The formidable expense account will check future agreements; but it is sincerely hoped by many of our students that Carolina and Southern California, debating enthusiasts that have become introduced to each other, will soon try each other's strength in healthful competion.

3RD UNIVERSITY SERMON.

Dr. Neal H. Anderson Speaks in Chapel.

Last Sunday morning Dr. Neal H. Anderson delivered the third University sermon in the Chapel. The attendance was large, many having previously heard Dr Anderson and knowing that an excellent sermon was in store for them. The text was: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten son which is in the bosom of the Father he hath declared him. Dr. Anderson showed how the first clause of the text is one with the premise of modern skepticism, but the latter clause asserts an eternal nay to the conclusion of skepticism. He spoke primarily of how Christ is the interpretation of God; a christian does not accept any creed primarily but Christ himself. None of the University sermons have been more instructive and enjoyable than this.

RALEIGH CHAMPION OF ALL THE STATE

Although Outweighed They Outplayed Washington Score 29 to 0.

RALEIGH HAS A WONDERFUL TEAM WORK

The Game Almost Exact Repetition of Previous Saturday's Game. Tayloe, Brother to "Capt." Dave," was Washington's Star, also "Capt".

Once again two of the State High School football teams came to Chapel Hill to play for the State championship. By defeating Wilmington here on Saturday the 6th., Raleigh gained the right to meet Washington here last Saturday in the decisive game of the championship series. Raleigh came back even stronger than in the Wilmington game and piled up a score of 29 to 0 against the Washington boys who were about evenly matched in weight with the Capital city boys, but were woefully lacking in teamwork and pep, which two acquirements Raleigh seemed to be the absolute possessor of. The Raleigh team by their aggressiveness and fighting spirit showed themselves to be not only the State High School champions, but also a team of such good account that any high school or prep school in the State would be proud to own it.

The outstanding feature of the game was again the matchless clock-like work of the Raleigh high school lads who executed their plays so quickly and cunningly that the Washington boys were driven off their feet more than a dozen times during the whole contest. Raleigh's backs, well guided by Johnson, their quarterback, gained ground almost at will, and Champion and Johnson made many wide end runs for substantial gains. For Washington, Moore at left end was the star, he being the only one on the defeated team who could get through the almost perfect interference run by the lads from Raleigh on attempting end runs. Tayloe did very good work at plunging the line, but seemed unaided in his attempt. The forward pass played an important part in the game. Many of the passes were successful, Raleigh getting her first touchdown in the first quarter directly through a pass to Crinkley, who went fifteen yards for the first score of the game.

Although the score of the game was one-sided, the Washington boys did not give up the game as lost. They came back fresh, especially in the second half and showed Raleigh how to fight even to the last ditch. Raleigh had the benefit of first class college coaching, but it was evident that Washington labored under the lack of good coaching. A few times Washington made good advances with the pigskin but they came only once within fair strik-

BEHIND THE SMOKE.

The Tar Heel goes to press to the tune of popping torpedoes and exultant yells. Across the campus and up and down Franklin Street from the Pickwick to Oley Gooch's rings out the Christmas spirit, most marvelously expressed, but overpoweringly present and irresistably contagious. Noise it is, anything to burst an ear-drum, but behind the smoke, none the less genuine for being disguised, is the spirit of Christmas, the picture of a hearth and a crackling fire, bright faces and a warm welcome, good things for little boys to eat, Home—can you say more?

THE CLASS FOOTBALL SEASON.

After the teams have played for nearly two months the class football situation, so far as a champion is concerned, is just about where it was in October. The Seniors are the only ones about whom any thing can be said definitely. They have fought a good fight; but managing the University takes up too much time and injuries have handicapped several of their best men. They did not win a game, but they had the satisfaction of crossing a goal-line, and they are still ahead of the class of 1913.

The other three teams are hopelessly tied. Each has won three games and lost two. Two more games might settle the fight after a fashion, but the fair way would be to start the series over again with these three contestants and let each team play the other two. That plan would, of course, involve several weeks of play and the first available time is in February. There you have the insuperable objection. Too much of anything will choke. As interested as the University has shown itself to be and as enthusiastic as the the players themselves are, it would be the worst of policies to presume too much on this interest and enthusiasm. Enough of a good thing is enough and too much is worse than too little. The teams have had their fill, and the Tar Heel humbly advises that the championship remain a subject for discussion during the winter.

The championship is not the most important feature, however, and alongside of what has been accomplished this season, it does not amount to a row of pins. Any one who has kept up with class athletics for the past few years can hardly fail to be encouraged. Out of all comparison the playing this year has been on a higher plane than the University has seen in a long time. The players have been more interested and the teams have been better coached. The Freshmen, with rather ordinary material, are the smartest coached team that the present generation has seen. They go about their work with a confidence and a smoothness that speaks well for their teacher. The have come a long way since they first played together and some of them are going a good bit further. On September 25 the Tar Heel remarked that "one member of this year's Freshman team will yet wear an N. C. sweater". We wish to repeat and amend that statement. More than one member of this year's Freshman team will yet wear an N. C. sweater. The result of the class season will be felt next year and the year after and the year after that. Class athletics look to the future.

RINGSIDE COURTESY

This matter of courtesy to visiting teams comes up every year just as regularly as basketball games come, Saturday night there was audible hissing when the Elon coach, entirely within his rights, protested a decision of the referee; and the Elon gentlemen-good athletes they were and men we need -- have gone home with the idea in their heads that this student body acts collectively as no gentleman would think of acting singly. The psychology of crowds is nowhere better illustrated. Every man who hissed Saturday night would have been in his own home the beau ideal of courtesy and politeness. Put him in a group, hosts of a common home, and all the canons of hospitality are gone in an instant. And what irritates most of all is the fact that a few men have it in their power to disgrace the University of North Carolina, that five men can and do totally misrepresent the feeling of nine hundred. If such discourtesy occurs again, the offenders ought to be kicked out of the Gym and never allowed to attend another game. A man may sometimes forget himself in the heat of a contest, but no excuse ever justifies hissing a visiting team.

GENIUS UNCHECKED

The great attraction of writing for the Yackety Yack lies in the absolute freedom with which one is allowed to proceed. Reporters on the TAR HEEL are bound, to an elastic extent, by the facts Contributors to the Magazine find it difficult to get away from the soul-killing obsession of dignity. Writers of themes are so busy chasing down commas and dangling modifiers that they accomplish little else. But when one has the Yackety Yack in mind, truth, dignity, punctuation, and every restraint in the world may go hang—and the fire of dignity blazes forth unchecked. The whole world of self-expression lies outstretched; any field may be worked in any manner one pleases. Two of the best things in last year's volume were Speight Beam's ode to "Thou ringer of the bell" and the same author's "Let's to the Love-Making." Look at the range. Anything under the sun that has not already been worn shiny will receive attention from the editors who never reject an outburst simply because they do not understand it. It may be genius, you know, and the Yackety Yack is the breeding ground of genius. Here is the one great opportunity for that originality which is said to be inherent in North Carolinians. A bas le conventionality! Vive le genius!

In obedience to the Triangular Contest, Carolina submitted to Virginia and Hopkins the following query: Resolved, "That decision of state courts of last resort declaring unconstitutional police power legislation, passed by the state legislative body, should be subject to recall by the voters of the state in question."

Velvet
THE SMOOTHEST TOBACCO

PUSH it along—shoot it over! Velvet—so-called because exceedingly smooth—smooth because aged over two years, in which time all harshness disappears from the leaf leaving the goodness that we all crave for our pipe. Velvet is a tobacco mellowness hitherto unknown—too smooth to harbor a "bite." It's just the sort of a tobacco you would make for yourself. Millions of men cheer for it. We never knew of a man who didn't like Velvet! Hurrah! Don't let it pass you. At all dealers.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Several Important Offices are Filled.

After two unsuccessful attemps President Spears finally got the Athletic Association into form last Friday night to do some voting.

In view of the difficulty in securing a quorum, a motion was passed that the President appoint a committee to look into the advisability of amending the constitution so as to hold all elections by ballot at a public polling place. This amendment if passed will make the Athletic Association elections very similar to city or county elections, the list of nominees being pasted and the votes being cast at appointed voting places.

The next business was the election of Vice-President. Mr. M. R. Dunnagan was elected by a unanimous vote.

The vacancies on the Tar Heel board occasioned by the resignation of G. A. Mebane and the failure of Guthrie to return to college this year, were then considered. Messrs. Eutsler, Lewis, Killeffer, Maxwell, and Nance were nominated. Of these Messrs. Killeter and Lewis were easily the victors.

Zack Whitaker was elected assistant Manager of the track team to fill the vacancy occasioned by the failure of Dennis Lee to return to college this year.

For football manager for next year Tom Boushall defeated Paty by a very small majority. F. W. Norris and John Huske were elected to assist Boushall in the arduous duty of making a football season a financial success. They won out over H. B. Black, R. B. House, D. L. Bell and Dysart.

CAROLINA LOSES TO ELON

Defeated in First Game by Score of 21 to 15.

When the referee's whistle blew Saturday night for the Carolina-Elon game to start, the spectators in the gallery strained over the balcony to see the first toss up of the season. Tandy and Atkinson were at center, each trying to get the ball to his territory. The ball once flipped, it went from one end of the floor to the other, Elon pulling off some excellent passes, while Carolina seemed unable to work together. As the game progressed it became apparent that Carolina's team had not practised sufficiently. This is explicable in that the Carolina five was composed of new men who had practised together less than two weeks. Carolina's forwards were so well guarded as to be unable to get away. The team showed inability to work together while Elon's five pulled oft some skillful passing. Toward the end of the second half, Pau was substituted for Long, Goodson for Fleming, and Audrews for Chambers. With good hard practise Carolina ought to be able to develope a good team; the material is here; all it needs is to be developed.

ing distance of Raleigh's goal line; then Moore failed at a drop-kick. Practically the whole game was fought in Washington's territory, and Bowen of Raleigh attempted five drop kicks while in the former's territory, only one being successful.

At the start of the game it seemed as if Washington would score by straight line plunges but they soon last the ball in Raleigh's territory. After two unsuccessful line plunges by Raleigh, Johnson started the crowd by skirting left end for fifty-five yards being tackled from behind in the most sensational play of the game. Immediately a forward pass to Smith gave Raleigh ten more yards, the ball being on Washington's six yard line. Here Raleigh was held for downs by Washington's line, Moore tackling Champion for a neat loss. Washington kicked out to the thirty yard line and Raleigh quickly scored by two line plunges and a forward pass to Crinkley Bowen then kicked goal.

In the second Champion intercepted a forward pass from Washington and ran for eight yards; then he went around left end for sixteen more. Amidst the fierce fighting now going on almost under the goal posts Champion went through the line for four yards and the second touchdown. Bowen again kicked goal, making the total 14-0. Four times in this quarter Washington was forced to kick out of danger.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. Capt. Mills went nine yards around left end with referee Trenchard leading his interference, both men fell into the crowd of spectators on the edge of the field. Washington blocked Raleigh's punt and recovered ball but was forced to kick.

At the first of the fourth quarter Raleigh failed to gain over the line but on their fourth down Bowen drop kicked the ball between the uprights for three points, totalling for the Raleigh lads seventeen points.

After exchanging punts and returning the ball to Washington's thirty yard line, Raleigh's line blazed a path for the Capital city backs and in four successive trials, each back taking the ball once, another touchdown was gained. Bowen failed to kick goal, total 23-0. After Tayloe had gained eleven yards through the line Raleigh secured the ball on a fumble. A forward pass to Smith was worked, Smith running forty yards for the last touchdown. Bowen failed to kick goal, total 29-0. On the next kick off J. Weston returned the ball forty yards for Washington. A minute later moore tried for a drop kick. The play was broken up; Crinkley recovered the ball and raced with Moore for fifty-five yards, Moore again overtaking and stopping him by a pretty tackle.

On the side lines were a hundred loyal Raleigh High School students who followed their team to victory. About thirty enthusiastic young ladies charmed the occasion with their singing and joyful chatter. Frank Graham was overseer of this peach orchard and led them and others in giving yells. The attendance was as large as at any varsity game and the interest was intense. After the game a special train left with the victorious Raleigh crowd and the Washington team also.

The line up was;

but Peace and Meredith were well represented, together with the residents of Raleigh. Here, too, the audience was very liberal with its applause, and the soloist were often called upon for two encores. The quartette selections received their full share of applause here as at the other two places. Jones, mandolist, was easily the outstanding star in Raleigh being forced to rise at one time in the midst of a medley to make acknowledgement. After the concert a dance furnished excellent entertainment.

The whole trip was a grand success both in finance and in the way of good times. The people of all three places visited, alumni and non-alumni, were unusually kind in their willingness to entertain the boys and we owe them much gratitude. In Raleigh both the Country Club and Capital Club kept open doors for the boys from Carolina. This trip is the precedent to the trip of seven days which comes off in the spring.

Yes, Raleigh won the State High School championship and deserved it, though eleven "Tons" came near "Washing" her. Raleigh is a Capital city, without doubt.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Gee! we have only two more days to get through with all this stuff, and we'll have to hurry. If we got behind we'll never catch up. Ain't it a pity that watches and clocks and calendars were ever invented? If it wasn't for them we could do every thing just whenever we wanted to, and never have to worry about when we'd get through. Still, what's that got to do with street cars in Venice?

Here's that football business all balled up again. People would think that Alphonso and Gaston had been born, raised and let down here from the way these classes give away the championship. The Sophomores, the poor wise fools, have had the go time after time, and every time they get it they say, "Here, Freshmen, here's something for you." Then the Freshmen turn it over to the Juniors just like they would turn over a soup plate on mother's new table cloth. Then the whole is spilled, and we have to do it all over again. It might disgrace the University but I am almost in favor of giving the championship to the Seniors. All right, now, everybody get in this split-Carolina for the Seniors.

Still, this football is right healthy and makes flesh (especially around the eyes) and if there is no objection the motion is passed that we continue playing for the class championship until June, or perhaps Yu-ly.

Don't start grumbling about Elon. You saw the game Saturday and saw that we got beat, but don't begin to lose confidence. Elon doesn't play football and started to practicing basketball when school opened. We play football and started basketball practice ten days ago. Yet they beat us only six points. Wait until Carolina gets into some condition before you start to critize.

Somebody has dreamed that the University Inn would burn down during Christmas holidays. Now there's an unlooked for blessing. When you're down in the mouth don't think about the fact that Jonah came out all right, but just consider all the good things that are going to happen to you when you get your fingers from under the window and can rub some feeling into them.

That Glee Club bunch seems to have had a time of large dimensions. They talk like they have been to all the big cities in the country. They did go to Goldsboro and Wilson both, but just think—they haven't even been to Greensboro. How do they ever expect to get a State-wide reputation if they don't go there?

When you think about going home early remember that one day on the Hill before Christmas will come a great deal easier than one month after Christmas.

Well, if Christmas is as good to us as we all think it will be—well, its pretty hard to finish, but you know. Ain't it funny how some boys are? If they had their way they would divide time into years one month long and in every year they would have a birthday, Easter, George Washington day, Labor day, Good-Roads day, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and about two weeks for summer vacation.

This has been passed by the National Boord of Sense-of-Shame.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On account of the pressure of news the last week or two much High School news has been left out. Part of it tells how:

Greensboro defeated Charlotte in a one sided game of football at Greensboro. The score was 20 to 2, the 2 being due to a safety.

Kinston High School defeated Newbern High School 27 to 6. Hines, for Kinston, was easily the star of the game.

Durham High School is busily engaged in various activities including preliminary debates and a tennis tournament.

Reidsville is holding inter-society debates as preliminary practice in the spring triangular in which they will face Winston-Salem and High Point.

Huntersville, better known as "Ratty's" home, had a good game of football with Bessemer City High School. The score was 0 to 0 in favor of Huntersville. Mr. James, an old Davidson player, was the chief show for Bessemer. Ranson and Rogers held up Huntersville's end.

In the wake of the final game deciding the High School Football Championship of North Carolina, there naturally arises the question of an all-state High School team. Out of the large number of high schools in the state it is, of course, impossible to consider all; therefore only men from the three teams that arrived at the semi-finals are given places on the All-State Team. This may possibly keep off some man who deserves a place, but on the whole it seems the only practical plan. On these teams under consideration there were other men who were close contestants for some of the places. But taking everything into consideration, the committee picked the following as the strongest aggregation that could be selected and it is in fact an exceptionally good high school team.

have too.

The Juniors showed remarkable energy, cayene pep, and were aggressive at all times. Leak and Whitaker were down under all punts and played the game well. Lindau made good gains over tackle with Fitzgerald and Leak making wagon room holes in the Freshman line. The Juniors conspired and made it a rule to smother Williamson on every play over the line and just about did it. There was lots of good punting by Coleman and Lindau. The Freshmen played together but they lacked the pep, consequently they lost a good chance or those much talked of sweaters The Juniors were better than they and the ghost of a chance that the Juniors had for winning scared away the Freshmen hopes Twice it has happened, the Sophs defeated the Juniors, the Juniors beat the Freshmen and the Freshmen beat the Sophs. How much longer? Aren't you dizzy? What colar will those sweaaers be anyway? The Seniors are out of it,

"Keeping in Front"
You fellows know what that means! We've been very successful in this regard with Fatima Cigarettes. By the way, these cigarettes were first sold in the college towns—and you agreed with us that they were good.
Then we put out for the big race, to make Fatimas of nation-wide reputation, and today more are sold than any other cigarette in this country.
No purer, or more carefully chosen tobacco grows than that in Fatimas. We purposely put them in a plain inexpensive wrapper—in this way we can afford quality tobacco, and twenty of the smokes for 15 cents.
Now your college crew is of utmost importance to you—so is a good cigarette, and it's your aim in life to keep Fatimas in the lead—right up to their good quality—right up to where you first found them, and will always find them.
Success fellows! You started this cigarette on its successful career—and you pull a strong oar all over this country.

BRAIN SHAPES OF SAMUEL LYLE JR

FOURTH BOOK OF POEMS TO COME FROM THIS AUTHOR OF '08

SEVERAL POEMS WERE IN MAGAZINE.

Lyle Was a Member of Odd Number Club, and Assistant Editor-in-Chief of the Magazine. Now Runs Newspaper and a Mercantile Business. Book Has Twenty-three Poems.

Students and alumni of the University will be especially interested in "Brain-Shapes" which is just off the press of the Randall Printing Co., of Macon, Ga. The author is Mr. Samuel H. Lyle, Jr., of the Class of 1908, whose home is at Franklin, N. C. This is the fourth book of verse produced by Mr. Lyle, the other three being "Leaver of Life," "Ways of Men," and "By-Ways."

Mr. Lyle began his work as a writer while a student in the University, during which time he was a frequent contributor to the University Magazine. He was a member of the Odd Number Club and was assistant editor-in-chief of the Magazine during 1907-08, being elected to that position by the Dialectic Society. Some of his best verse was written while in college and printed in the Magazine.

Since leaving college Mr. Lyle has been running a newspaper in Franklin, N. C. In addition to his work as an author and an editor, he is actively engaged in business, being a member of a mercantile firm at Franklin.

"Brain-Shapes" consists of twenty-three poems, all of which are pleasing in their lyrical qualities. Their easy and simple rhythm stamp them as the natural expression of the author's feeling and experiences. One may easily imagine that Mr. Lyle is still a student in the University as he reads the following selection from "Mist of Dreams:"

"What joys untold the years may hold,
Or what of bitter rue,
The world tonight seems only bright
Dreaming, dear heart of you!"

Perhaps the predominant characteristic of these poems is their depth of feeling and admiration for that which is good, whether it be found in man's inner consciousness or represented by the following poem which the author calls "Success,"

"Men came and looked upon his work,
And marveled much and cried
'How mightily your hands have wrought!'
He smiled, but naught replied.

For when the night was dark and still,
With other men apart,
He faced his own accusing soul,
And Failure clutched his heart!"

or in a personality, as expressed in "Woman Mine:"

DURING HOLIDAYS TOO

Carolina Defeats Charlotte Y. M. C. A. Two Games.

Carolina has added two more victories to its basketball record for 1913-14, and these victories over a team that has high hopes for state championship. During the holidays N. C. played the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. team on their home floor (which indeed is the home floor of three Carolina players) two games, and won both of them in decisive games.

The first game, played Monday night, December 29th, was a very fast and close-running contest, and from start to finish the victory was in doubt. Charlotte puts out a good team every year, and the team this year, 'though light, is one of its fastest. Carolina was kept on the go all of the first half, and a greater of the last half, but in the end came out with an eleven point lead. Dowd and Long were working together well in forwards while Tenent easily held his man down, and with Cy Long working good at the other guard kept the balls coming into the forward's hands. Charlotte was very much handicapped by the absence of Crowell an old Trinity star, both in passing and in scoring. The game ended with the score 43 to 32 for Carolina.

Line-up:

Carolina	Charlotte
Dowd	Stewart
Long, G. M.	Davenport
Edwards	Averett
Tenent	Ross
Long, H. C.	Corbett,
Andrews	McClintock

Referee: Ritch; scorer: Faul.

The second game was a little easier for Carolina and ended 53 to 29. After the first half there was almost no doubt as to whose the victory was. Both teams were working about the same as the night before. Edwards pull-

Philological Association, Society for Advancement of Science, Historical Association, Pharmacological Assobiation, Biological Association. Add "American" to Each Title.

The members of the student body are plainly not the only travelers during the holidays. There seem to have been representatives of the University from Boston to Florida and from Charleston to Kansas City.

The meeting of the American Philological Association at Boston seems to have attracted more of the faculty than any of the other meetings. Professors Bain, Howe, Toy, Brown and Parker were there. Among other things Dr. Bain was elected President of a newly formed Southern section of the Association.

The American Society for the Advancement of Science meeting in Atlanta was attended by Professors Cobb, Coker and Smith. Prof. Cobb delivered a lecture on the Physiographic reasons for Atlanta's greatness.

Professors Henderson, Hamilton and Wagstaff visited Charleston where they attended a meeting of the American Historical Association. Dr. Henderson delivered a paper on "creative Forces in the Western Expansion" and Dr. Hamilton presided over the conference on teaching.

Dr. MacNider delivered an address before the American Pharmacological Association in Philadelphia. He was elected Treasurer of the Association.

Dr. H. V. Wilson attended the American Biological Association in Philadelphia,

EARLE MACK TO BE COACH

Manager McLendon Resigns. Woollen Elected.

It may be but a few days since the Varsity football season closed all over the country; the State High School championship may be just decided; the class rag may still be anybody's prize—except the Seniors; and basketball may be just beginning; but with all this the athletic authorities are not too much engrossed to remember that baseball, though hibernating, is still on the athlete's map; and that it will present its visiting card in not so many weeks, even before perennial youth hangs out her green announcements from the branches at the Davie Poplar. In preparation for this appearance our athletic officials have for sometime had several men under consideration for baseball coach for the 1914 season. They finally decided on Earle Mack; and at their request he came down Saturday from Philadelphia for a conference with Albert Cox, for the alumni, Head Coach Trenchard, and Graduate Manager McLendon. The conference was satisfactory and, except in the extremely improbable event of objection by the authorities of the Carolina League, Earle Mack will coach Carolina this spring, reporting about February 1.

Mr. Mack scarcely needs an introduction to the merest novice of a baseball fan. He is well remembered as the pleasant and efficient manager of the Raleigh Baseball Club last season. And if any more were needed, it is enough merely to add that he is the son of Connie Mack.

Another item of interest to Carolina and her alumni is the resignation some time ago of Mr. L. P. McLendon, for the last year the popular and efficient Graduate

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION

Greatest Religious Meeting Since the Time of Christ.

CAROLINA SENDS FIVE DELEGATES

Meeting Began on Last Day of 1913 and Closed Sunday Night Over 5000 Delegates in Attendance, over 750 Institutions Represented. 1500 Volunteer.

A convention to which a man traveled six thousand miles to speak twenty minutes, a woman eight thousand simply to listen; a convention in which 5031 people represented 755 educational institutions in the United States and Canada, thats the kind of convention the Student Volunteers Movement held in Kansas City beginning at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon of December 31, 1913 and closing at 10 p. m. Sunday, January 4, 1914.

One man declared the convention to be the "greatest religious meeting since the time of Christ" and the facts give it justiffcation. Each college generation or once every four years for the last twenty-eight years this organization holds its conventions. Each has been a wonderful improvement upon the other. The object of the convention is to present the need of Christ to the world. The convention fulfilled its mission. Out of 3984 students and professors 1500 in round numbers volunteered for future service on the Foreign field. The figures of the meetings are: students and Professors and others from colleges 3983; missionaries, Board members, etc 279; Editors and press representatives 53; Special delegates and Representatives 365; Laymen (from the Laymens movement, the great Correlary to the Students Volunteer Movement) 350; total 5031. 755 institutions were represented. 27 Foreign countries had delegates in attendance, including several score Chinese, twenty or more Japanese, Indians, Africans Germans and English.

There were three meetings daily. The first began at 9:15 and lasted until 11:45. The second was a series of group conferences on various subjects. Beginning at 8 and closing at 10 were the main addresses of the day. Every meeting of the convention began and closed promptly on time. John R. Mott, of that great trinity of christian workers among college men of whom the other two are Robert E. Speer and Sherwood Eddy, was chairman of all meetings morning and night. At the morning meetings the various needs, the various fields, the various methods were discussed in twenty minute talks. Men had been preparing for months to make these. Several crossed a sea to deliver the same. All were leaders in their lines.

The afternoon meeting were relatively small, the larger

GREETINGS.

For the Tar Heel too it is the New Year, and a New Year means a New Opportunity. The editors think they have learned through the experience of the fall, and they hope and believe, every one of them, that they can present a better paper than they have done before. To a very kind and indulgent public they send the greetings of the season, and promise faithfully to try during the New Year to make this paper all that it should be.

MORE GAMES AT CHAPEL HILL.

While the football schedule is yet in the making the Tar Heel desires most earnestly to take up the cudgels once more in behalf of those who cry for more games and better games at Chapel Hill. The question is not a new one and the arguments have been gone over before. But when everything is said and done, you have got to face the fact--and facts are stubborn things--that the football team comes out of this student body, and that these eight hundred students have the right to see their representatives in action. Of course the cry is for money, and rightly so. If every game on the schedule were played at Chapel Hill, or if half the games on the schedule were played at Chapel Hill, the Athletic Association would give up the ghost in less time than it takes to tell. But how any one can expect interest and support when the team plays two games out of nine on its home field is pretty hard to see. And the ridiculous part of it is that the games in other towns in the state which are yearly expected to fill the Association treasury show, almost invariably, deficits which are not altogether different from those after Chapel Hill contests.

Nor has the matter been given a really fair test. No one can expect swarms of visitors to see Wake Forest or the Virginia Medical College, particularly at the very beginning of the season when teams are in the experimental stage and the really important contests are too far ahead to arouse general interest in the sport. Enthusiasm for football is not nearly so great in September and October as it is in November. What we need is a game with V. M. I., V. P. I., Washington and Lee, or a team in that class, to be played at Chapel Hill toward the latter part of the season. It might result in a financial loss, though the past would seem to prophesy as big a loss in any of the towns of the state. But loss or no loss in money, there would be a tremendous gain in spirit and, the chances are, a bigger crowd in Richmond.

Over and above that, the proper game at the proper time, properly advertised in Durham, Raleigh, Goldsboro, Greensboro, and intervening points, will not necessarily mean a loss. With Chapel Hill becoming more accessible every day through the increasing use of automobile and with greater interest in University athletics and the University itself, there's a deal to be said. In all the rejuvenation of athletic let's not forget the privates in the ranks.

TWO STATEMENTS.

Though this is the time of the year when all the world studies, the Tar Heel for once has no advice to offer. The realization that a man who has not already determined to work would hardly be influenced by anything in thess columns is sufficient to insure silence. Nevertheless, at this particular season we take pleasure in submitting for consideration, with the belief that they are true, the following statements: first, the man who studies regularly is, in the great majority of cases, the happiest man; second, the man who studies regularly is, in the great majority of cases, the man who accomplishes most in extra-curriculum activities.

MANAGER MAC.

With the departure of Graduate McLendon for Durham University athletics and the town of Chapel Hill are big losers. During the past year his general oversight of managerial affairs has covered all branches of athletics and has been at all times careful, thorough, and systematic. An experienced manager before he came here he has been of untold value to Carolina authorities. He has seen the change from the old-fashioned system of student control to what the colleges the country over are beginning to realize as the final solution of the managerial problem—graduate control.

In all the unsteadiness of the he changes has been continually on the job, and his good sense helped keep the ship steady. That the salary he has received was not intended to pay for all the duties of the position is patent to everyone; but it would have taken an impossibly large salary to offset all that he has done. The great majority of the work has been a labor of love. He did it because he loved the University. We can only assure him that Carolina men will not soon forget him. And as for the town itself—from Squire Barbee to Red Abernethy the wail goes up. What Chapel Hill loses, Durham gains.

During the holidays Coach Trenchard spoke at meetings of University Alumni at Greensboro and Goldsboro on the general subjects of Carolina athletics with reference to eligibility rules. He also held informal conferences with Alumni in Charlotte, EVER HEAR OF PINERO?

Those Who Know Him Say He Is Some Bull.

It will be of interest to Carolina students to know about "The Magistrate," the play which the University Dramatic Company proposes to put on the bill-board this season, and about its author—the world renowned playwright of the twentieth century.

"The Magistrate" is, perhaps, the most popular of Mr. Pinero's plays, and is particularly interesting as being the first of his works in which his own individuality found absolutely independent expression, and emphatically and triumphantly asserted itself.

"The Magistrate" was first played in London and its success was immediate. The court theatre—the biggest theatre in the metropolis—was crowded night after night for more than a year, the play being presented over three hundred times.

The success was not confined to London, for three companies were soon carrying the play triumphantly over the English provinces. In 1885 Mr. Pinero brought his success to New York, and in this country James Lewis and John Drew crowned themselves with honor in a phenomenal run in New York and Boston. "The Magistrate" has been played throughout the United States.

Besides being a stock piece in Australia, India, and South Africa, it has been translated in more than one foreign tongue, and is constantly played today all over Germany and Austria, while in the Slavonic language it is a favorite play at the National Theatre, Prague.

As for Arthur W. Pinero, he stands for himself—the most successful English playwright of the age. Such wonderful successes as "The Magistrate," "Dandy Dick," "The Cabinet Minister," and others stand as a monument of success to his efforts and extraordinary ability.

As for the performance here, to say the least, it'll be some class. The best actors in last year's all star cast will be on the job in this year's production. And as for fun? "What happened to Jones" can't hold it a light.

Historians Again at Work.

Speaking of ancient history, here's some. Way back yonder in medieval times about December 17 a basket ball game occurred in Bynum gymnasium between Durham Y. M. C. A. and Carolina. To learn details at this advanced date is somewhat difficult, but the most reliable archaroligists repute the score 37 to 21 in favor of Carolina. All data available at this time points to a decided improvement in the latter team since a game with a certain Elon college at even an earlier date than this. The team work and passing seem to have been done with much greater skill and precision; from all of which we of the modern ages can learn a lesson: it takes practice to make a winning team. The stars, as nearly as can be ascertained were Long, Tandy and Dowd but the whole team did excellent work.

Rice is high in Louisville, Ky. If you don't believe it ask Spence. The Carolina delegation from Kansas City returned via Louisville. They enjoyed an interesting stop at Knoxville. Again ask Spence.

CHEMISTS HEAR FOUR TALK

Rock, Politics, Constitution, Tin and Sulphur

The Chemists held their last meeting before the holidays on the fifteenth of December. A representative group listened to four very interesting papers on very widely diverse subjects. Mr. Shealey began the meeting by a discussion of the present method of detecting tin and antimony qualitatively. After showing the shortcomings of the tests now in use, he discussed a new way proposed by an English chemist which seems decidedly better.

Mr Pickett presented two papers on the waste of the sulfite of a paper plant and on a peculiar petroleum bearing limestone found in Svria, which will burn of itself. Mr. Ervin followed with a review of a paper on Biochemistry by the new head of the Chemistry Bureau at Washington.

Dr. Wheeler ended the programme with a discussion of some new light on the constitution of benzene.

Your eyes, adew with stormy tears,
Are blue as pools where lilies blow;

The sunlight lies within your hair,
Worn wild in riot of molten gold,
And though your mouth is sweet and fair,
Passion it hides in warmth untold;

Your form,—the mystery of the sphuer
Where God has used His strong-power;
Your voice,—the melody we hear
Breathing the fragrance of a flower---

College Reopens.

Whoopee girls! Here we are back in Chapel Hill, the holidays are gone and with them all frivilous thoughts of skyrockets and firecrackers, eggnog and petty-coats. To Stygran depths with you, vain joys, the muffled and omnious tread of examinations is heard in the distane. Fair goddess of intelligence deign to make a transient stay on this thy unfrequented hill; at least bless thy worshippers with the vision of thy countenance.

In hacks, automobiles, freight cars, on foot, by whatever means most available they came, for the most part on Friday and Saturday, on Monday and Tuesday those whom soft cheeks and bright eyes detained at home over Sunday. The best order characterized the reopening of college. Despiie the bad weather and the prospect of work everybody seems glad to be back on the hill again.

churches usually being able to hold the crowds. One afternoon the various denominations met and reviewed their own work in Foreign missions. Another afternoon various departments of the work were discussed.—Medical missionaries, Industrial training, Educational work, etc.

At night came the main addresses. These were usually three in number. The big addresses were by Eddy, Mott, Speer, William J. Bryan, Dr. Horton of London and Dr. Zwamer. At these meetings the Hall with a capacity of 8000 was jammed. One night an overflow meeting of fifteen hundred was held. On the "Bryan night," 7000 were turned away.

On Sunday night the meetings closed and the thousands returned to their colleges to spread the great knowledge and vision of a world need they had caught. They left a meeting the like of which has never been. There was no worked up enthusiasm, no emotionalism but a great life giving earnestness in response to the need of a waiting world. Nhe motto of the meeting, "The world for Christ in this Generation," was its moving inspiration.

Carolina was represented by Ratty Ransom, Ralph Spence, Stuart Willis, C. E. Ervin and W. P. Fuller.

Earle Mack to Be Coach.

Manager of athletics here. Mr. McLendon has given excellent service and it is with genuine regret that the athletic authorities and the campus in general witness his departure. He will practice law in Durham in the future. Following Mr. McLendon's resignation the Athletic Council elected Mr. Charles T. Woolen, Proctor of the University, to the position of Graduate Manager. In view of his experience and business ability the election of Mr. Woolen is considered a particularly happy one. So far, however, he has not accepted the position, probably because at the considerable amount of work that it would add to his already very extensive duties. But if the two combined should prove too heavy, it seems as if the University might well, even in view of some extra expense, appoint an assistant to the Proctor in order that Mr. Woolen, if he would consent to do so, might serve as Graduate Manager. In this position his value to Carolina athletics in its present trying and rather critical stage of reorganization would be almost inestimable.

"Ratty" Wins Class Cross-country.

A walk-away for "Ratty" but a victory for the Sophs were the results of the class cross country held on December 17. Eight men started on the three mile run over the Durham road; but a rash pace on the outward trip forced two men to drop out and several of the others to walk part of the return distance. The only promising new material unearthed by the run was Rogers, of the Freshman class. Scores were as follows: Ransom (Senior) first place; Rogers (Fresh), second; Harrison (Soph), third; Clark (Soph), fourth; Sloan (Junior), fifth; Kirkpatrick (Med entered for Fresh.), sixth. Time, 18:4.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Isn't the Hill just lovely onour returning advent to our dear old school? Sweet slushing of lemon juices, wont we have a big time this term! And such things to look forward to!

Sure we had a big Christmas, and are glad to see you back again, (misery likes company), and hope you flunk on all your exams. Somebody said he had a big Christmas, about twenty-four hours. There is a reward out for that man or anybody that knows anybody that's seen him.

Gee, but suppose Thanksgiving came once a week! What a large nation this people would be if turkey would only last long enough; for turkey is really fattening.

Just to come to think about it, isn't this a nice place up here at Chapel Hill, and ain't the people kind to us. Now there's Doc Kluttz, and Mr. Lloyd's one-for-a penny-I-count-'em store, and all these new $16.50 boarding houses. Sure we know they would try to over-charge for anything. You know it's hard as everything for such people as these to live, and if they charge twenty-five or thirty cents for ten cents worth we ought not to kick, for they are so kind. That's all we came up here for: to start circulation of father's money in a different city. So we'll just have to go ahead and pay whatever they want for whatever they've got and say nothing but thank you. What would you do if you went in a store here, picked up two apples, handed the man a nickle, and he said, "No, that's all right; you boys get all you want"? Sure I know you would bring your trunk down to the store, but I mean what would you think? Well, its a cinch you wont have a chance to think, so that'll be all right.

Phillie Ritch, the father of basketball here, refereed the first game in Charlotte, and with this we'll close with a short prayer that—

Reduce High Cost of Loving.

If soneone were to offer you a Yackety Yack free would you take it?

The Yackety Yack managers have placed at my disposal five copies of this year's Yackety Yack to be used as I see fit to secure material for the Annual.

Starting Monday there will be a contest for these Yackety Yacks. One will be given for the best single example of humor—joke, pun, drag or sketch. It need not be long. Now don't write a rhapsody on the Beauty of "Her" eyes and all that stuff. Write something that would make Stuart Willis laugh at a Y. M. C. A. meeting and you get the Yackety Yack. The contributions will be taken up at the chapel doors each morning at the close of service or give it to to me any old time.

The other four will be given for amateur kodak work. See me and talk it over. I have a series of pictnres I want taken and you may think of some more. Any size of kodak is usable, the larger the better, howevrr, as it improves the picture to have it reduced. All other college activities have suspended for this week. A little work will save you the price of a Yackety Yack and give you a pleasant recreation too.

I reserve the right to use any material submitted.

Walter P. Fuller,

THE JANUARY MAGAZINE

Again It Appoars on Time. Contents Good.

The January number of the Nagazine, appearing Monday promptly at the first of the month, welcomed the arriving students with a characteristic issue full serious, wholesome articles on various subjects of peculiar interest to Carolina men. More than ever before the Magazine is attracting the attention of the students and friends of the institution, and the comment on it is universally favorable for the radical improvements made. It is highly commendable and commended.

The chief object of interest in the Magazine is the short story, "Good Knight", by T. W. Polk, which won the $15 prize offered in the recent short story contest. The plot of the story is woven about collegiate scenes and characters that are particularly attractive to the college men. the style is light and breezy, and, on the whole, it is well conceived and well handled. The story is a truly charming entertainer—one of the best that has appeared in the Magazine for some time.

"The Religious Views of College Nen", by Lenoir Chambers, an article whose content is founded upon thirty-six themes of a Third English class, gives general and individual ideas of religion that exist in the minds of students here. To fail to read it is to fail to learn what is the average undergraduate idea of religion.

Douglas Rights, '13, erstwhile editor-in-chief of the Magazine writes on "A study of the Chapel Hill Indian". The title is admittedly misleading, as it appears that the article is to take a fling at the savages that infect Chapel Hill now, but in reality, "Doug" refers to the aborigines who originally inhabited this section of the state. The article is a work of authority on Indian relics to be found about Chapel Hill, and is of real interest and profit to the man who wishes to know all aspects of Carolina and the country hereabouts.

The magazine eulogizes itself autobiographically in a historical article called, "The Evolution of the Magazine", by H. S. Willis. Nine cuts appear showing the external appearance of the Magazine during the various stages of its career. Moreover, this highly eventful career is chronicled with many humorous touches, by the Magazine in the University life for over sixty years.

W. P. Fuller, editor-in-chief, deals with the "Attitude of the Faculty toward Athletics and Athletes". The article is timely and forceful, and any who fail to read it deliberately curtail their knowledge of current campus discussions. It presents a point of view that a man must appreciate before he can consciously judge any act of the faculty concerning athletics. About the other editorials it is "nuf sed" that they are typically Fulleresque.

The Exchange department in its new form now seems to have found itself, for it is a distinct improvement over anything recently printed in that department Since it is a review of the best and brightest things in other magazines, it is only natural that it is deservedly popular.

"The Light of Hope", by Lowry Axley, is probably the best of the poems. It is a real gem of thought and form. W. D. Kerr, D. H. Killeffer and Moses Rountree are authors of shorter verses which are creditable to them and to the Magazine.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1914 NO. 16

BLOODY NAT'S MEN ON THE WAR PATH

Lose a Slow Game to Durham, Then Clean Up Elon and Guilford

GUILFORD'S FIRST LOSS ON OWN FLOOR

Carolina Now Has Won Five and Lost Two. Much Improvement Shown During Last Two Games. Meb Long Lands the Guilford Game. Tandy and Dowd Great Pair.

In a slow-fuse game of basketboll on the Durham floor, just before examinations Durham Y. M. C. A. defeated Carolina by five points. This was the second of three games arranged between the two teams, and the third, to be played in Raleigh two weeks hence, will be the rubber. Durham was working well at home, while Carolina, at some disadvantage because of the small floor, played sluggishly and under seeming difficulties. Dowd and Long at forwards, Tandy, center and Tennent and Andrews at guards composed Carolina's lineup. The game ended 42 to 37 for Durham.

The University quintet completed a two days trip in a creditable and unusual manner by defeating Guilford on Friday, 23 to 22, and Elon on Saturday night, 29 to 16. This makes seven games played, five of which have been won, Elon beat us our first game on our own floor, and Durham beat us on their floor.

The game at Guilford was a fast game, and was won with difficulty. Guilford for the first time in its history was defeated on its own floor, and that by one point. Tennent and Johnson worked like fiends against two forwards of undisputed merit, and succeeded in checking their usually high scores. Dowd and Long though closely guarded, scored three field goals each, while Edwards played against his former teammates, as if playing on his home floor. Tandy relieved him in the 2nd half.

At the end of the game Carolina's scorer had it 23 to 22 for N. C.; Guilford's man had 22 to 22. Aftea some short disturbance, at the referee's decision, an extra five minutes of stiff fighting ended in favor of Carolina. When a double foul was called by the Referee, Benbow for Guilford failed in his throw; Long threw successfully. In a few seconds the game ended with the final undisputed score 23 to 22, Carolina.

The first half of the Elon game was just as great an exhibition of good ball as the Guilford game. Both teams were fairly evenly matched and for several minutes no scoring ensued. Tandy broke from the rut and landed a field goal. He soon followed this with another, and by the end of the first half Carolina had scored about 13 points, leading Elon by about 7 points. Morette, the man who was mainly responsible for Carolina's defeat on the Hill some time ago, was playing a

THE MAGISTRATES REPORT

Don't Fail to Get in On The Opening Night.

A little first-hand information from the New York press concerning the play which the University Dramatic Club proposes to put on the boards tomorrow night is at present appropiate to better give an idea to the people of the University community how the big ringers in the theatrical world regard this masterful production of Sir Arthur W. Pinero.

The New York Times of Oct. 8, 1885 comments upon the first performance in this country as follows:

"The Magistrate, by Arthur W. Pinero is a play with a laugh in every line, we do not recall now, after sitting for three hours under the influence of this exceedingly comic piece, a single scene or incident in it that is not genuinely amusing. Its characters are excellently drawn, its ineidents, though some of them are scarcely probable are so ingeniously devised as to appear perfectly natural for the time being and its dialogue is crisp and droll."

"The fun of the magistrate is of the sort frequently described as 'fast and furious', the piece is farce, pure and simple and it pretends to be nothing else; but it is a good farce in the composition of which perfect knowledge of stagecraft and literary qualifications of no mean order have been employed in an intelligent and painstaking manner. There is very little sentiment in it, not a trace of pathos. Its main purpose is to cause laughter, and in accomplishing this purpose the author has provided congenial work for good comedians; that is to say he has written a good acting play in which characters are not mere puppets, as is frequently the case in pieces of the same order, but really flesh and blood people."

The New York World of the same date says:

"Mr. Daly's Theater opened last night with trumpets. The audience was a large and brilliant one, the play was The Magistrate, and the result a success."

'This witty, ingenious and rattling farce comedy has achieved a notable triumph in London, and promises to be equally admired here. It is wrought so dexteriously and so sparkling in its dialogue that the material is much like new stuff."

And so it is. If we had the space we could entertain you with comments from The New York Tribune, The New York Herald, The New York Sun and others. And the beauty of it all is that they are favorable. This unanimity of the New York press on this one play means something. The play which stands the test of such a thorough critical medium as the press of New York withot a black mark is the play that will be staged in Gerrard Hall tomorrow night with the best scenery ever seen here and acted by the best talent the University of North Carolina has ever produced.

A Strong Team.

It will be of interest to University men that Dr. W. D. Weatherford and Mr. E. C. Mercer will be here to deliver addresses Tuesday night February 24th. Dr. Weaterford is well known here as one of the strongest and most vigorous speakers in the student movement. He is a Southern college man who knows the life and problems of the Southern student. At Vanderbilt University he was an expert in the gym, president of the Y. M. C. A., and a leader in general college life. Dr. Weatherford is now a member of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. and traveling secretary for the Southern States.

Mr. E. C. Mercer is an alumnus of the University of Virginia who out of a life that went into the gutter is telling the story of the saving power found in the teachings and personality of Chsist. Weatherford and Mercer make a strong team for talks to college men.

What Walter Camp Says.

"I wonder if many in the North know that "Doggie" Trenchard, the old Princeton end and Captain, is head coach down there in North Carolina. Speaking of reminiscences, suggests that star, Hunter Carpenter, the North Carolina halfback, who, through that section of the country, cut such a wide swath along about 1903-04-05. Surely there have been some great players down there."—New York Heralk.

Little, Chief Marshall.

The Junior class has elected the following Marshalls for commencement: R. E. Little won the position of chief over P. Woolcott and Billy Huske. The six assistants in the order of their election are B. L. Field, J. S. Bryan, P. Woolcott, C. E, Ervin, O. C. Nance and R. G. Fitzgerald.

Smack Oates Ball Manager.

The Senior class elected the following Commencement Ball Managers: Smack Oates, Chief Ball Manager, Lenoir Chambers, G. V. Strong, John Cansler, W. C. Lord. From the Junior class the two Assistants are Zack Whitaker and W. P. Fuller.

Rhodes Scholarship Awarded.

The Rhodes Scholarship for North Carolina has been awarded to Paul A. Hubbel, a Wake Forest graduate, now teaching at Mars Hill. The awarding committe was composed of State Superintendentof Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner, Chief Justice Walter Clark, and President Graham. K. C. Royall, '14, passed his examinations, but lost out in the final award.

Tommy Hughes, '13 is spending a few days this week on the Hill giving an extensive exhibit of samples for men's clothing. Incidentally he has again visited the gymnasium where he made such an enviable record as an acrobat. Tommy is a wearer of the N. C.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION IS OVER SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS IN DEBT

Increase of About $1200 Over Last Years Deficit. Made Money on Games.

The athletic council has taken a decided step with regard to the managers of the 'Varsity teams. The managers are to receive monogrammed sweaters similar to those given the members of their respective teams, save that the managers' sweaters will have a small "m" on the left side near the monogram.

This is in accord with the custom at various other institutions and seems to give something for which a manager can work. It designates a man who has been manager and gives him a certain prestige, which it is only fair that he should have.

The meetings of the council have been frequent and stormy over the football subject. They seem righteously wrought up over the extravagances of the past season. Nothing definite has been done about the matter as yet.

KEEP INFORMED.

The report of the financial condition of the Athletic Association published in this paper, is about as interesting a document as you can find in a long day's journey. It is a report which should be read and studied by every student in the University. It is a peculiar fact that people take so little interest in what becomes of their money. Practically every one of these nine hundred men has given $5.00 to the support of the Association. How many care seriously what is done with it? This report gives some idea. It shows the difficulties which the Association officials face in financing a football team. Out of nine games, seven show losses. If the Virginia game had been cancelled, the whole bottom would have dropped out of University athletics. The report shows further the cost of an efficient coaching staff. No one will deny that it was efficient, but it is doubtful if any other institution south of Washington paid so dearly. (The greater part of the coaching expense is, of course, borne by the Alumni.) And finally, the report shows a local expenditure of funds out of all proportion to what has been spent in previous years. Attention is especially called to two items: the equipment for the men, and the training table. The equipment amounted to $1200.00; the training table, after every man had paid what he was accustomed to at his own boarding-house, shows a loss of over $500.00. Another heavy burden was the High School championship contests, the burden being heavy because of the additional game which had to be played.

In the face of the debt under which the Association was already laboring these expenditures to say the least, are extravagant. Notes are out now which should have been paid long ago; and it is only by means of these notes, endorsed gratuitously by members of the faculty, that the Association manages to exist at all. In all our athletic rejuvenation we need to remember that we are, above all things, poor folks. The pressure to produce a winner at any cost is something tremendous and there is danger of bending under the strain. Alumni are very positive that unless the next Carolina football team is a winner, all Carolina athletics will fade away into nothing. All our squabbles about eligibility rules are a branch of the same big problem. Thorough rejuvenation without excesses of some sort is almost impossible, but this student-body can help keep the ship steady by interesting itself in its own problems. This report is only one detail; there are many others. We are all stockholders in this corporation and we ought to know what our directors are doing.

THE VIRGINIA CANCELLATION

The Tar Heel holds that the University of Virginia athletic authorities took the only honorable course of action when they broke relations with Georgetown The professional and unsportesman-like methods of the Catholic institution have been common knowledge throughout the South Atlantic section; and no one has suffered from them more than Virginia. That the relations were not severed long ago is due to the fact that Virginia wanted the game because it had become an annual affair, because it meant a big financial profit, and because the two teams were often contestants for the South Atlantic championship. For these reasons, and possibly others, she bore a great deal. But there is a limit to everything, and the break had to come. We hail the Virginia action as a big step toward cleaner atheletics in this part of the country.

The class enthusiasts of the University met this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. with a view to organizing a chess club. The number present was too small to make any definite arrangements, so it was decided to meet on Tuesday night at 7:30, in the Y. M. C. A. to organize.

WATCH BASKETBALL.

A basketball victory over Guilford on her own floor is a real achievment. The Quakers may be a quiet and gentle people, but in the gymnasium they are endowed by their Creator with an unnatural ability. For the past several years they have run wild over nearly every team in North Carolina and they have never before suffered defeat on their home grounds. This year they have four of the men who helped wallop the University so soundly in the past. That such an experienced team, playing on its own grounds, fell before Captain Long's five is a spectacular sign of the times; a sign that is, however, at least approached in significance by a comparison of the two Elon games. In the first game of the season Carolina was beaten on her own floor; a month later she administers a decisive defeat on the Elon floor. There can be no question as to the relative strength of the two teams. With Wake Forest here Friday night and with Virginia in Raleigh next Monday night, we shall see two grand little scraps. And incidentally a lot of this championship talk will be settled. It begins to look as though Carolina basketball, the offspring of the united efforts of Philly Ritch, Nat Cartmell, and Ratty Ranson is at last coming into its own.

Stuart Willis was one of the two hundred ushers at the convention auditorium in Kansas City. The Hall seats eight thousand. A few minutes before the meeting opened a lady rushed up to S. W., and said. "Can you tell me where Mr. Gordon is?" Stuart said he couldn't. Bless the dear ladies!

Fourteen Killed in Football.

Football's total in 1913:
Killed, 14.
Injured, 175.
Fractured legs, arms and ankles, 17.
Fractured ribs, shoulders and collar bones, 14.
Fractured skulls and concussions of the brain, 7.
Other injuries, 131,

One more man lost his life in football last fall than in 1912. It is a significant fact, however, that but two of the 14 killed were university players. The others were members of high school and independent teams where insufficient cautions are taken by the players. Vernon Belyea or Norwich University and Edward Morrisey of St. Ambrose College are the two college men killed.

Reports from most of the big universities show that there were few cases of serious injury on the college football squads, either in practice or in games, the expert supervision and the condition of the men acting as a preventative. —Tulane Weekly.

ANOTHER STAR COURSE

Mr. Booth Lowry Entertains.

Last Saturday night Mr. Booth Lowry lectured in Chapel to "the benches on the first floor and a select company of millionairs in the gallery", to use his own happy phraseology. As might have been inferred from the billboards Mr. Lowry is by vocation a humorist, with an accommodating propensity for prompting the audience to laugh by first snickering himself. While Mr. Lowry's lecture, "Simon says Wag", showed no great originality in composition it was quite enjoyable in some places. The attendance Saturday night was unusually small on account of the absence of a great number of students from the Hill.

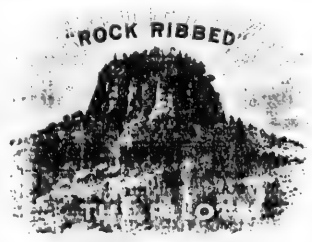
good game as usual; Dowd, however, was working better, and scored four field goals against him. Carolina's defense was against largely responsible for victory, and "Dummy" Newman and his mate were unable to shoot at will. Tandy was mechanical in foul shooting, landfive out of six. Elon was strong in the second half and worked the floor in unusual style. The game resulted 29 to 16 for Carolina.



The Query for the Triangular Debate.

The query selected for the Triangular Debate is: Resolved, That the political interestsof the United States demand the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. Carolina will defend both sides of this question; on February 1st it will be decided which side she will have against Virginia and which against Hopkins. The debate is scheduled for April 18. Those who intend to enter the preliminaries should begin preparation at once, as the preliminaries must be held about the first of March.

The members of the chemistry department left the Hill on the 17th of January almost enmass to attend the meeting of the North Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society at Raleigh. The program was given in the Department of Agriculture building and consisted almost entirely of reports of research work now going on in the state. After the program the meeting adjourned to Giersch's There the Raleigh chemists gave an excellent banquet to the thirty odd chemists present.

E. B. Marsh has the other assistant manager of the Dramatic Club. He will be, in effect, the stage manager. This position was not filled at the regular elections because it was the decision of the club that this man should be elected from the cast thus reducing the number on the trip.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

We've been born into this world again and have a new start. Cheer up! Maybe we haven't heard from all our marks Surely they must have made some mistakes in that office, copying more than a thousand figures down. Of course that always happens. Who knows but that five may yet be a six?

The examinations seem to be a pre-morte to our baseball team as well as the basketball team. Before any grades were posted we had heard that everybody on our baseball team had been put out by the 8 hour law, and both centers were leaving college daily on all trains. What rumors What roomers we have in this place!

Now you know there's a lot to this 8 hour business. Here we've gone and with long contemplation come off here to college. We decided that the University was the only school in the State, and we have come here for our education. Now just because we fail on a little of our studies here, they want to ruin our education by making us stop playing ball. Now that's no way for a faculty to do a student that has come seeking an education. Do you think so? I didn't think you thought they oughtn't.

After three weeks of rest, rest from knocking, cussing and slamming, the Tar Heel sticks its head out again from the port hole of oblivian. And here's two to one it gets a crack right off the bat. That show's that it is a good paper.

What an inspiration the Durham game was! As some one thousand have said before: Let us compare this game to a flea on the dog. Well its compared now what is it? It's this way: The flea is not of very mucy value but sometimes it makes the dog scratch. Carolina scratched and found two. Elon ran it over on us on our floor, and we played them the same way on theirs. Guilford put up a strong fight and it took some team to beat them.

Next week in this column we shall attempt to write some adventures under the title "What happened to Percival". Now Percival's last name is not Jones; it is nearer to Jonah, but that is still off. Percival is a bright young man, 1915 model, (not a Junior, however), with unusual intelligence and as many characters as we use in spelling his name. In other words, his character is legion. Watch out for Percival. You will see him before next week.

STANDARD PIN ADOPTED.

By a unanimous vote the three lower classes Tuesday ratified the Standard Class Pin reported to them by the committee of the Greater council. The meeting also voted to appoint a committee from each class to circulate a petition to the Trustees asking them to authorize this pin as the accepted standard pin.

The pin is in the shape of the Well. The posts are asbars with no background, On these bars is the N. C. monogram slightly different from that used by "wearers of the N. C." The Class numerals are on the base.

D. H. Killeffer spent the holidays with Shep Bryan at Scotts Hill, N. C Both had a great time. Killeffer got acquainted with the entire town—he has now thirty or forty new friends but no pens, pennants, or postage are left however.

THE LOGIC OF PROGRESS

Prof. H. H. Williams Speaks Before Large Crowd.

"Progress is the proper relating of Nature, Man and God", said Prof. H. H. Williams, in Chapel Sunday night at the biggest Y. M. C. A., meeting of the year.

Prof. Williams subject was, "The Logic of Progress." He said that every community, every state, every nation has its master work. America's master word is "Progress." This word cannot be easily deferred however.

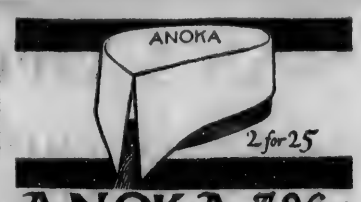
The East discovered God, the Greek Nature, the Hebrew Man. We are trying to reconcile all three. Progress is the proper relating of all three. Nature is the Type, Man is the Fact, God is the Principle.

Prof. Williams took the Book of Isaiah as the basis for the further development of his theme. He said Isaiah is one of the six greatest men that have lived. "I believe that if Isaiah had not been in Judea at that time we in this chapel tonight would be Mohammedans." This man met the crisis of Judea and prevented the last two tribes from following the other ten tribes of Israel into oblivion. Thus Christianity was saved upon the earth. Isaiah did not let circumstances divert his adherence to principle. He recognized that principle never changes. It goes along in a straight line. A character is an uncorrupted principle. Principle is God. That's why the pure in heart see God. God is pure.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

Earle Mack Here. Large Squad Out.

Capt. "Rabbit" Bailey called out the battery candidates monday and the active baseball season was under way. Earle Mack, son of Connie Mack, arrived Wednesday noon and the whole squad turned out. About fifty reported and many more will probably answer today as the notice had been posted only an hour or two yesterday.



Assuming that the "eight hour" law will not bar too many promising Athletes the prospects are good. Of last years team five men are out, Capt. Bailey, second base; Hubert Bailey, center; Phoebe Johnson, right; Ben Aycock and Tom Craven, pitchers; Julian Hart, catcher. Of last years scrubs Knowles, Norris, Lewis, Zollicoffer and Williams

The hurlers are, besides the old heads, Tandy; Watkins, of Red Springs fame, Johnston, of Lynchburg, Va. and Foust. The receivers of most promise are Woodall, Knowles, and Big Jones. There are several contestants for first base which the non-return after Christmas of Leak left open. Patterson, Big Edwards, Bob Burnett and Zollicoffer will all scrap for the place. For the other infield positions nothing definite can be said. There is a lot of promising material around, however. The outfield brings up a string of fast men anp heavy hitters—Gooch, Litchfield, H. Bailey, Johnston.

Coach Mack will be assisted by "General" Lee, who pitched for Winston-Salem last year and was Captain here in 1912. "Shag" Thompson and Dewitt Kluttz will also assist in the work. They will give special attention to the outfield.

Well, well, well. The new columns have come at last.

CAROLINA AFTER THE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Tandy Scores 19 Points Out of 28 Against Wake Forest

CAROLINA WINS IN LAST HALF.

Score 13 to 13 At End of First Half. Wake Forest Often Took the Lead, But Steady Work of Tennent, and Johnson, and Excellent Forward Work Always Overcame It.

In one of the hardest fought games of the season Carolina won from Wake Forest by a score of 28-24. No harder fought game has been seen on the Hill this season. The game, which was scheduled to start at seven thirty was delayed three quarters of an by the late arrival of the Wake Forest team. For the first five minutes after the initial toss-up the ball was kept in Carolina's territory, the home team scoring seven points. Wake Forest then secured the ball and made eleven points hand running. Carolina got posession of the ball again scoring five points. Again Wake Forest became aggressive and tied the score 13-13 at the end of first half.

Wake Forest led off the second with a goal. Carolina then secured the pigskin and scored two more points. From this time on the score see-sawed back and forth, fortune favoring now Wake Forest, now Carolina. The game was unusually fast, and both sides fouled repeatedly. Captain Long and Tandy did excellent work for Carolina.

Orange County Townships to Vote on Railroad Bonds.

J. W. Fry, president of the Greensboro Loan & Trust Co., Robert C. Hood, manager and secretary of the North Carolina Trust Company of Greensboro and T. O. Troy, a railroad man of Amherst, Va., constituted a committee that conferred with Mayor W. S. Roberson and Chapel Hill business men Monday relative to a proposed new railroad from Danville, Va., to the coast. The proposed routing of the railroad is from the coal fields of Virginia by way of Greensboro, Burlington, Chapel Hill, and Durham, connecting with the Seaboard.

The project, for the most part is to be financed by the townships, towns, and counties through which the road operates, hence the business of the conference here this afternoon was to ascertain the wishes of Chapel Hill and Bingham Township in subscribing for $50,000 bond issue as their share toward the project. Mayor Roberson and delegation from the two townships favor the proposition, and the Board of County Commissioners will be asked to call an election to vote on the proposition of issuing the bonds.

Danville and Greensboro are particularly active in securing the railway as a direct route from the Virginia city to the coast.

AN APPEALING CHALLENGE

Mr. Heckelman Tells Great Need of Japan.

Mr. Heckelmon, Secretary of Dr. Sato, spoke in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening to a large and interested gathering of students on "The Young Man of Japan." Mr. Heckelman is a native of Germany, a citizen of America, and is now a missionary to Japan. With characteristic directness he showed how Shintoism, Buddhism, and the old religious ideals are breaking down with nothing to take their place. Forty millions of Japenese have not heard of God and one hundred thousand young men in the colleges of Japan are appealing for the spirituul power and the strength of character that comes through Christ. These facts present the college men of America with the greatest call of modern times. The war that Japan wants America to fight is the war of the mind and the war of the heart. The speaker spoke with great vigor and deep conviction and impressed the body of young men with the challenge of the urgent need in Asia.

A Letter Worth Reading.

EDITOR OF TAR HEEL,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Dear Sir,

I noticed in the Tar Heel a few weeks ago an excuse given for Elon defeating Carolina in basketball. The excuse given was that Carolina played football and Elon did not, and as a result Elon practiced all the year. I would like to ask a few questions. Do all the students at Carolina play football? Are only football men eligible to play basketball? Out of eight hundred students it seems to me that there could be several different athletic teams. There are enough students that some could begin to practice basketball the first of September.

In the academic department a great many students specialize, thereby being superior in their branch to those who generalize. It seems that specializing in athletics would be a good thing. The excuse made, as I see it, is of no value.

A loyal Alumnus.

The Glee Club Revives.

With the storm of examinations behind us, the wrecks they have caused still before us, and the prospects of the biggest tour of the best state in the country before us we again answer the call for songsters and report to the Glee Club managers for a second term of coaching. The first practice since Christmas was held the first part of the week of both Mandolin Club and Glee Club. The 8-hour law has got some of us, and there are a few vacant places. These, however, will be well filled up in time for the week's tour a la pulman throughout western N. C. which comes off the latter part of this month.

THE MAGISTRATE WINS HIS CASE

Weeks, Kerr, Coggin and Pitts Declared Innocent of Any Defect

PLAY IS BETTER THAN LAST YEAR'S

The Dramatic Club Presented "The Magistrate" in Gerrard Hall Under Great Difficulties Before a Packed House. General Tone of Criticism Very Favorable. Few Signs of Amateurism.

Feminine quavers and manly agitatious were poured forth as the University Dramatic Club presented itself Friday night by means of "The Magistrate". The selection of the play was a fortunate one, several of the favorite stars being allowed to appear at their best. The large audience, condoning the meagre stage equipment, gave itself up to the "mater", who certainly brings home the carnations, and to the Broadway performers, Weeks, Coggins, and Pitts, able assisted by an all-star cast.

The play centers around the action of the decorous Magistrate whose sporty step-son, "Cis," opens up to him a new side of life, involving the dignity of the court in dire circumstances, and bringing severe trials on the "mater". But they all come out alive, and the man-martyr-magistrate regains happiness in consigning his step-son to the bonds of matrimony.

Of course it had to be good with Professor McKie and Dr. Booker directing it. Fresh from here the Club hit the Normal. Happy actors!

The cast is as follows:

Beatie Tomlinson	C. A. Boseman
Cis Farrington,	W. B. Pitts
Wyke,	J. A. Capps
Popham,	J. F. Pugh
Mrs. Posket,	W. Doub Kerr
MR. POSKET,	W. M. P. Weeks
Mr. Bullamy,	J. M. Cox
Charlotte Verrinder,	H.C. Conrad
Isidore,	J. E. Hoover
Blonde,	E. B. Marsh
Col. Lukyn,	C. L. Coggins
Horace Vale,	Harry J. Renn
Messiter,	H. M. Blalock
Lugg,	M. R. Dunnagan
Wormington,	Mr. Blalock

The Dramatic club played before 950 people at the State Normal in Greensboro Saturday night. Their carefully prepared scenery was running somewhere around the country on a flat car. First it got left at Carboro and second the 7:10 train was two hours late. But, if anything, the play was better than the pesentation given in Gerrard Hall. The play went off smoother, and with fewer hitches. Weeks again starred and all the others too, only if one starts to calling names the whole cast would have to be given as there isn't a weak point in it.

The play this year is a step in advance of last year. "The Magistrate" is a more difficult play to present than to tell "What happened to Jones". The costuming was better and the actors more throughly drilled.

Financially the Club is getting along well. About $175 was taken in Friday and $163 Saturday. About $100 remains above all expenses. Hereafter the expenses will be lighter as all properties are paid for.

VA. SWAMPS CAROLINA

Without a Center the Team Was Helpless.

Those that saw the Virginia-Carolina game in Raleigh Monday night need not to be told the story. Carolina was altogether broken up through the loss of both centers. This left a hole hardly patchable, and at any rate one that could not be satisfactorily remedied in a game; for Johnson went into center for Carolina monday night the first time ever, whether in practise or in a game. Virginia's victory was one not doubted from the very beginning of the game, even though Carolina kept a close tally the first five minutes of play. Strickland, Virginia's center, had it over Johnson for Carolina by at least three inches. This gave Virginia the tip-off every time, and with quick passing she piled up the score rapidly. The two, tall Virginia players working directly under the goal and over the heads of their opponents had but little difficulty in scoring at will. In addition to this two fast guards were of great assistance in keeping the ball out of Carolina's territory. By the end of the first half Virginia had more than doubled the score and in the second half kept far ahead of Carolina. Carolina's men showed that they missed their center. Team work was absent, and practically all field goals thrown were from straight passes to forwards. Johnson, center, led with five goals. The advent of Homewood into the game five minutes before the referee's whistle gave a sudden inspiration to Carolina and for a few minutes the game was fast and furious. In the last half Virginia made several substitutes The final score was 67 to 27 for Virginia.

The line-up:

Carolina	Position	Virginia
	Right Forward,
Dowd		Nichols
	Left Forward.
Long (Capt.)		Stickley
	Center.
Johnson		Struckling
	Right Guard.
Chambers		Campbell (Capt.)

DR. SHOSUKE SATO BEGINS LECTURES

Dr. Sato is President of An Agricultural College in Japan

DECLARES JAPAN GREETS AMERICA.

Dr. Shosuke Sato, the second of the Japenese lecturers under the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, opened his series of lectures Monday night with "From Old Feudalism to New Imperialism." He said that he brought a message of peace and good will from Japan to the United States.

President Graham introduced Dr. Sato. He recalled the vital part Carolina men had played in the opening of "Japan to the western world and the world to Japan."

Dr. Sato said that sixty years ago Japan was a Hermet Nation. Marco Polo, in the 7th century had created the world's opinion of Japan. In 1853 Commodore Pearry had opened up Japan to the world. The religions of Japan were imported from China and India, as Japan has given forth no great religion.

Feudalism began in in Japan in the twelfth century—a century after William the Conqueror—and ended in the middle of the nineteenth century in an age of militarism. From 1853 to 1860 was a period of transition. Japan came out of this with a Mikado established, as the supreme, but worshipped head of the nation. This is the result of an unbroken line of royalty for two thousand and five hundred years. This has unified the country into a wider nationalism which will be the cause of a wonderful development along commercial and intellectual lines.

This new nationalism trusts the western world, nor does it expect to take a hand in any complications in the western world.

The second of the exchange professorship lectures was delivered by Dr. Sato in Chapel Tuesday night on the social changes that have come about in Japan since Commodore Peary's memorable trip in 1868.

In substance his lecture follows:

Although forty or fifty years seems insignificant in comparison with the twenty-five centuries of Japenese history, yet during this short time there has been more progress in Japan than in all the time preceding. The history of Japan until the late emperor had been made up largely of blank pages. His reign made more history than all his ancestors, and all because Commodore Peary visited his country in 1868.

This event was more important to Japan than the French Revolution even was to France, or the American revolution to America, as Dr. Sato believes. Before this Japan was an aristocracy of the first water; since, it has been democratic in the highest degree. Under the aris-

DR. SATO, APOSTLE OF PEACE.

Dr. Sato comes to the University with this single and tremendous purpose: he wishes to make us better acquainted with conditions in Japan so that we may, in part at least, understand the Oriental mind, and understanding have less course for disagreement—to the ultimate end that world peace be promoted. He comes as a friend from Japan to the United States that the two nations, the old and the new, may join hands and work side by side for the progress of civilization. He comes as an apostle of peace; and as such he will receive a hearty welcome in the state of North Carolina. He will find here a simple American community, provincial if you will, but still guarding as precious jewels those traits of freedom and democracy which have given America a place among the nations of the world. He will find here eager listeners to his message and a sympathetic appreciation of his efforts. He will find here friends and admirers of Japan and of himself. He will find here firm believers in the cause of peace for which he stands. And he will find, above all things, a joyous, whole-souled welcome and a stay-with-us-as-long-as-you-can at the University of North Carolina.

A SCHEDULE WITH A PURPOSE.

A close study of the 1914 football schedule, published in last week's issue of the Tar Heel, will show that behind it there is a definitely outlined purpose. The first three games, Richmond College, Virginia Medical College, and South Carolina will be played at Chapel Hill and all three should result in comparatively easy victories. They will give the team an opportunity to develop slowly, and being on the home grounds they will furnish a thorough try-out for the entire squad. The first big game is with Georgia in Atlanta, and as it is the first important game in Atlanta next fall, it should draw a paying crowd. Then comes the Vanderbilt game at Nashville, another hard game. The financial arrangements call for a guarantee or a division of the gate receipts; there should be no loss here.

Following Vanderbilt come three games in the state. Wake Forest at Raleigh should mean a profit, and in addition Carolina will be nearing her top form and therefore able to crush the Baptists more decisively than at the beginning of the season. The same argument holds true for the Davidson game at Winston-Salem two weeks later. Carolina has never played Davidson late in the season; next year should see that big score we have wanted for years. The game at Winston-Salem should certainly break even financially and it ought to bring in a profit. Between the Wake Forest and Davidson is games the new V. M. I. contest, staged under the auspices of the Charlotte Intercollegiate Athletic Association and therefore furnishing a sure guarantee of expenses. The Virginia game, as usual, comes at Richmond.

Three games connect Carolina with S. I. I. A. teams, four with Virginia teams, and two with North Carolina teams. The Virginia, the Georgia, and the Wake Forest games should be profitable and nothing should be lost on the Vanderbilt, Davidson, and V. M. I. games. The first three will lose money, but they have their purpose. The only regrettable features of the schedule are the lack of a game at Chapel Hill late in the season and the inability to meet our old friend V. P I., who has always furnished a hard clean game.

HAD YOU THOUGHT OF THIS?

This vexatious problem of bringing athletics and the college curriculum into perfect harmony is not solely characteristic of the University of North Carolina. Only last week Charles E. Courtney, the rowing coach at Cornell, complained thus: "There is something wrong either with our athletics or with our athletes. There must be something wrong when so many of our athletes are on probation. At the beginning of the football season last fall seventeen of the men who were counted on for the squad were on probation. Today six of the best track men in the University are on probation. Three of the most promising crew candidates are on probation and one of the best men on the wrestling team also. Now what can be the matter? Are our boys willfully neglecting their University work or are the coaches demanding and taking more of the boys' time than they can afford to give and at the same time do their University work?"

Mr. Courtney injects into the discussion one possible cause of the trouble: "Are the coaches demanding and taking more of the boys' time than they can afford to give and at the same time do their University work?"

BRING ALFRED NOYES.

The news that Mr. Alfred Noyes may come to Chapel Hill should be of the deepest interest to college men. Mr. Noyes may rank with Shelley and Tennyson, as one critic has said; and he may be "the first of our living poets", as another critic has said. But there can be no doubt that his stirring musical verse has an especial appeal for young men. He himself is a young man, not yet thirty-five, and he carries with him that love of athletics which helped at Oxford helped him to make his college crew. Two volumes of his poems are in the University Library, "Poems" and "Drake: an English Epic"; and of the numerous magazine articles that have been written about his work, two are in current issues now at the library, the January Sewanee Review and January Yale Review. All in all it would be difficult to find any other literary man so attractive to college students. The Tar Heel hopes that Dr. Henderson's efforts to bring Mr. Noyes to Chapel Hill will be successful.

tocracy the common people were compelled to kneel and bow to the ground before the nobility; now all such distinctions are done away with. Formerly everyone wore a sword; now swords are considered only as works of art for decoration. Railroads, telegraph and telephone lines traverse the whole coun'ry. Thatched houses are being replaced by neat frame structure. Indeed, the whole face of the country has changed.

The towns and hamlets of fifty years ago have become cities, the seats of courts and army divisions. The old cities show the influence of the decline of the old feudalism; the new, the rise of a new imperialism. The old are decidedly conservative; the new, very conservative.

The unit of Japanese society has always been the family. Before the Reformation the eldest son inherited the title and property of the father. The other sons were entirely without title or inheritance. The whole system was very complicated. The sons and the sons wives, and the sons sons and wives all lived together. This arrangement often caused wars within the families. So family peace was assured at times by giving the younger sons shares of the property and allowing them them to establish "sub families" which are subordinate to the original one. In order to form such a "sub family," the father simply omitted the son's name from the family roll at the various courts.

This son then lost any rank he might have had, but it was possible for him to start a new peerage by special permission of the emperor. The second or third son could however marry the heir apparent of another family and thus become as if born into the family of his wife. This was impossible if the son possessed even "a handful of rice."

Since 1868 the sons leave home as soon as they have received educations. There is nothing attached to the priority of birth and no family is overburdened with "grown-ups." Woman has risen even to the depth of suffrage. Women are now given higher education and are gradually attaining equality.

Men and women do not mix in Japan save at public amusements and worship. Women seek the society of women, and men, of men. However, neither sex is satisfied.

The great festivals of the year are the fetes given by the emperor, one in the spring during the cherry blossom time and the other in the autumn on the emperor's birth day. The whole year is taken up with similar festivals on a smaller scale, several of which are for the children.

The three religions of Japan are Shintoism, Buddhism and Christianity. The older religions, Shintoism, and Buddhism, are the makers of Japanese customs and art. But these are now on the decline. Christianity is gaining ground rapidly, but it is not yet ascendant. However, it is destined to be, soon, as is evidenced by the spreading use of the greeting, "Merry Christmas," and the rapid decline of Buddhism.

To quote: "The two religions, Buddhism, and Christanity are thoroughly antagonistic. The one, pessimistic; the other optimistic. The one, negative; the other, positive. The one, veiled mystery; the other, revealed truth. Buddhism, the religion of the dead; Christianity, of the living."

The third lecture by Dr. Sato occurred last night. After an appropriate introduction by Mr. Stacy, the speaker discussed "Local Autonomy and Constitutional Government." Dr. Sato showed briefly and interestingly the three stages of development in Japan; the agitation period, the preparation period, and the constitutional period. He said that the constitution of Japan is now in good working order and that the end for which the Japanese have been striving for twenty-four years is nearly in sight. In conclusion he paid a very high tribute to the late emperor. After the lecture, Mr. Heckelman explained a series of stereopticon views of Japan, which were thrown on the screen. The lecture was one of the most enjoyable of those so far given by this distinguished visitor.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Our team seemed to be moving down stream in the middle of a strong current, when zip! it struck a rock and lost two men. That rock, the faculty regulation, knocked the whole bottom out or a hole in the bottom or something like that. When we beat Elon and Guilford we had a hog's chance for state championship, and no bad showing in the South Atlantic district. But now is our team the chamPicnship five of Chapel Hill? Can it beat the Scrubs? Well that's something we will have to look into right away. Tandy and Edwards take away about four hundred pounds of force, and thats a pretty big loss. We might have spared a guard or a forward at a little loss, but the center from five players is a big loss which it will be hard to find. With Tandy or Edwards, Johnson and Tennent, Long and Dowd in the game we had a good team and were showing up good. But, what's the use? Now we'll have to go and build up another team. Sure, there are lots of good scrub men, and we may see that hole filled in yet. There'll have to be somebody to play against big Ed when he comes up here with Guillord on the 19th. Who'll it be? There you are now.

Wasn't that a funny come off in Raleigh Monday night. Those Virginians seemed very playful, Those two long, tall boys just kept on putting the ball in the basket. They must have done it because it was so much less trouble to them than to others; they didn't have to reach near as far as anybody else. Our men just didn't get to touch the ball. From center 6 feet 3, to forward 6 feet 3, to basket, 2 points. It does look like some of these six footers around here had ambition enough to go out and try for a team. The two Virginia men made the team almost altogether on account of their height. There are some here just as tall, Where are they?

Our dear friend Percival must have been incapacitated on the return trip from Raleigh. He has been lost at any rate and does not make his appearance.

The Spring Debate.

At a meeting of those who intend to try for the inter collegiate debates, several interesting points were discussed. The Secretary of the Debating Union announced that against Hopkins we will have the affirmative side of the query: Resolved, "That the political interests of the United States demand the abondonment of the Monroe Doctrine;" and against Virginia we will have the negative of the same query. The contestants decided to hold the preliminaries on the 16th and 17th of March; the final debate will be on April 18th. According to a ruling made last spring by the Debating Union, the selection of judges for the preliminaries is taken out of the hands of the contestants. The faculty committee on debating, Prof. Graham, Prof. Williams, Dr. Raper, and Prof. Bernand, will themselves select Carolina's representatives. Such a method accords with the principle that the coach is the best judge of the members of the team; it also has great practical value in that it does away with exhaustive wrangling that invariably has accompanied the choosing of the judges by the contestants.

SOPH CLASS MEETING

Arrange a Banquet and Levy Assessment.

The Sophs met in the Chapel yesterday and decided to have a banquet sometime within a month Much enthusiasm over the banquet was shown by the second year men. A committee of arrangements was appointed, consisting of Vaughn, Auld, and Coggin. A committee of eight was elected for the purpose of naming Freshme and furnishing other amusement. On this committee are: Coggins, Lewis, Deaton, Royal, Capps, Umstead, Yarborough, and Hylock.

Ratty Ransom presented to the body the proposition of making Junior week a week of pleasure for the whole student body, and not of enjoyment for a few as heretofore. A committee headed by class president, Lynn, with Black and Cooper as members will find out what the Sophs want to do about it.

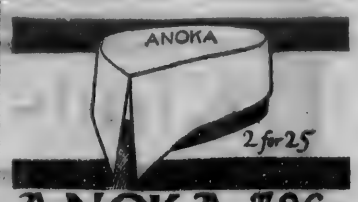
John Huske was elected class baseball manager and James Harrison was made class track manager.

A committee to confer with like committees from the other classes was appointed to help in the attempt at standardizing the University pin which was endorsed by the Juniors, Sohs, and Freshmen last week.

A motion was passed to the effect that no member of the class should vote for class officers hereafter till his class assessment has been paid.

That Spring Feeling.

Bloody Nat can be seen restlessly moving around the Smith building these days. That's a sign that track work is due to start in dead earnest. The track has been recently recindered and put in excellent shape. A few of the old heads are out but much new material is needed to fill up the gaps. A broad jumper is above par just now and other departments are weak also.



Fresh-Soph Debate.

The query for the Fresh-Soph intersociety debate is: "Resolved, That the true solution of the Trust Problem lies in the regulation of combination rather in the breaking up of combination and the restoring of competition," Affirmative, Phi Society; Negative, Di Society. The preliminaries to this debate will be held early next month, one Freshman and one Sophomore being selected by each Society to represnt it against the other Society.

And The Weather Takes a Hand.

There has been but little progress in the baseball situation since last week. Rain prevented any practice Friday and Saturday and on Monday the grounds were still too muddy for work. Tuesday however, twenty or more men spent the afternoon in a drizzling rain doing light infield work. Wednesday was clear and something like real work was done. By the first of next week things ought to begin to shape up and some definite dope be possible.

W. R. Petteway, '13, who is a law student at Columbia, has made the triangular debate between Columbia, Pennsylvania, and Cornell. Some thirty-five men were in the tryout. H. C. Petteway is also attending school there.

DR. SATO CLOSES LECTURE SERIES

Monday Speaks on Enonomics. Subject Wednesday is Religion

SERIES HAS BEEN VERY INSTRUCTIVE

Japan is Essentially Agricultural. Cultivation Very Intense. Rice Chief Product. Japan has Originated No Religion. In Desperate Need of a Strong God.

Dr. Sato's fourth lecture was delivered in Chapel Monday night to another large and appreciative audience. He gave a comprehensive view of the Agricultural credit and Rural Sociology of Japan in her various stages of civilization. Starting his lecture by saying that Japan had been essentially agricultural since prehistoric times, he went over the course of her development through the several periods of ideas. At the time of the Restoration in 1868 the actual tillers of the land became the real owners of the farms. Man power is for the most part used in the cultivation of rice and other products of the soil. In late times, Japan has struck the modern problem of keeping the young people on the farms because the younger folks are attracted by the city and the good wages of the factories. About two-thirds of Japan's population is rural. Investigations of modern ideas in banking, agriculture and many other industries led to the establishment of agricultural and industrial banks. These banks, with large capital, have been of untold benefit to the farmes and manufacturers, of which banks the farmers are the chief economic supporters. Farming associations are found to be great economic advantages. Postal Savings banks are in good condition. The Imperial Rescript of 1908 is considered a moral code in the business world as well as in urban and rural districts.

Japan's rural sociology is based on Mr. Ninominya's system of Rural Renovation. Such an influence this man has had on Japan's progress, that he is looked upon by many as divine, and is called "the economic physician of rural domains". Rural Benevolence Associations were formed by this great rural philosopher. Frugality and simplicity are being required of citizens. Japan has realized that to get along the best way possible she must have her citizens educated. At a result there is today only a 2 per cent illerate population. Dr. Sato concluded by saying that in Japan "the signs of the time are decidedly in favor of an enlightened rural reconstruction in which agricultural credit and rural sociology must go hand in hand in the march of the twentieth century civilization."

After the lecture Dr. Heckelman showed lantern slides of interesting personages and scenes in Japan which he explained. Among the illustrations was that

NEW FOOTBALL RULES

Coach Trenchard Wants You To Read This.

While the two football rules committees, sitting in joint session at New York last Friday and Saturday, made twelve changes in the rules, none of these will work a distinct change in the game. Indeed, the most effective work of the committees will be found in the propositions which were defeated.

The more important changes include a new rule curtailing sideline coaching. While the coach is not mentioned in the rule, its adoption is obviously to prevent him having too much to do with the playing of the game. The rule reads "No person shall be allowed to walk up and down the sidelines. All persons within the playing enclosure must be seated." While therefore a coach may remain seated in the enclosure sideline coaching should be greatly diminished by this new rule.

The practice of the players in crossing over by way of the neutral zone was legislated against in a new rule that no player shall encroach on the neutral zone after either side has lined up. This rule was deemed necessary to prevent confusion, and roughing on the part of the players, just before the ball is put in play. Carolina was penalized for trying to prevent Georgia from doing this last fall.

A new rule imposes a ten-yard penalty from the point where the ball is put in play, for intentionally passing the ball forward to the ground. It will be remembered that during the past season this play was sometimes used to prevent loss of ground when a player about to make a forward pass was tackled back of his line or was otherwise prevented from getting the pass off. By passing the ball forward to the ground, the side having the ball merely lost a down, and the defensive did not receive the reward of having forced the ball back. A ten-yard penalty, instead of merely the loss of a down, seems a reasonable reward for such good defensive work.

The position of field judge was restored, but whether the field judge is to act is left to the option of the contending teams.

One change in the rules resulted from a play in the Yale-Harvard game of last autumn. It will be remembered that O'Brien of Harvard made an unintentional safety by carrying the ball back of his goal-line after it had struck the goal-posts in a kick off and bounded back into the field of play. To prevent such an unearned score, the rule was amended so that on a kick-off if the ball strikes the goal-post and rebounds to the field of play it shall be declared a touchback.

The kick-out after a touchback or safety was also abolished. For several years it has been optional whether in this case the ball should be put in play by a kick or by a scrimmage. As it has be-

BAPTISTS EVEN UP ON OWN FLOOR

Carolina Inflicts Decisive Defeat on the Durham Y. M. C. A. Quint

BOTH GAMES WERE GOOD EXHIBITIONS

Dowd Plays Good Game Against Old Alma Mater. Captain Long Does Good Work on Foul Shooting, Caging 10 out of 13 in the Wake Forest Contest. Homewood Shows Improvement

Saturday night Wake Forest did credit to herself in winning from Carolina in basket ball. The game was fast, like the first game with Wake Forest played here two weeks ago. Carolina got possession of the ball after the initial toss up, and scored two fouls before the score keeper had occasion to mark up anything on Wake Forest side. Then as that senseless saying goes "First comes out worst", Carolina lost the ball. During the first half, which ended with the score 22-15 in favor of Wake Forest, some excellent passing was done by Wake Forest. The second half was not nearly so well played nor so interesting as the first, as each team spent a good deal of time in opposing Mr. umps decisions. For Wake Forest, Hall did best work, while Long did most to pile up Carolina's score, shooting ten goals out of a total of thirteen. The attendance was exceptionally large. The final score was 39 to 30.

In a slow, sluggish game of a seemingly unending 40 minutes Carolina won the third game of the series with Durham Y. M. C. A., by the score 44 to 28. Both teams were slow and unaggressive, and Carolina had very little trouble in scoring by accurate shooting. The first half was a complete walk over and ended 27 to 8 in Carolina's favor. In this half Homewood got away with several long dribbles for goals; these features brought down the entire house of 97 people, including Carolina's 15 supporters. The second half, instead of being an excuse for Carolina to run up a large score, was played with almost equal success by both teams. Ih this half Carolina scored 17 points, while Durham's score was 20. Durham landed several pretty shots from midfloor, and Carrington's unsuccessful attempt to put one in for Carolina was by no means ungracefully executed. Tennent's defense was at all times good. Dowd led the scoring with 8 field goals.

This gives Carolina two out of three of the Durham series.

Coach Trenchard is off the Hill for a few days. He intends to visit the alumni and see as many of them personally as possible and strengthen their interest in athletics.

A flash light picture was made of the Di Society in action Saturday night. The picture is to be used in the Yackety Yack.

NEW FACULTY MEMBER

Eugene C. Branson, of Ga. Normal College.

That Prof. Eugene C. Branson, editor of Home and Farmstead and professor of rural economics and sociology of the State Normal College, Athens, Ga., was elected professor of applied science and rural sociology at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina and has accepted the professorship is an announcement of extraordinary interest.

Courses in applied economics and rural sociology constitute a new chair in the University, the trustees in their Raleigh meeting voting for its establishment. Professor Branson was determined on to fill the chair and his acceptance has been forwarded to acting President E. K. Graham. Intensive studies of the resources, causes, conditions, tendencies in North Carolina's economic history, as studied county by county will come within the scope of the courses in rural economics. Social institutions, such as in rural schools, churches, libraries, boys and girls clubs and social centers, will be conditions for study by the new University chair with the view of improving rural life.

Professor Branson, whose professorship in applied economics and rural sociology dates with the beginning of the next college year, has made a National reputation in the field of economics as applied to present Southern conditions. His bulletin on "Know Your Own State Clubs" has been wide y distributed and as published by the United States Bureau of Education has had a wide recognition. He has served on committees appointed by the Governor ofGeorgia to investigate rural credits in the State and report to the Federal commission at Washington and was a member of the Committee on State Tax Reform in Georgia. He organized the Georgia club for home State study and home county study in 1910, and it now editor of The Home and Farmstead, an agricultural foucnal of Georgia.

Professor Bransom is a native of North Carolina, having been born in Morehead City. He received his collegiate training at Trinity College, Durham, and at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn After receiving his A. M. degree at Peabody College he began his profession of teaching in Raleigh being at one time principal of the Raleigh High School. He was later superintendent of the public schools of Wilson.

On removing to Athens, Ga., he organized the public schools of Athens in 1896. At various times during his stay in Georgia he has occupied the chair of pedagogy psychology and rural economics. From 1900 to 1912 he was president of the State Normol College of Georgia. He is author of several textbooks, Branson's "Common Speller" being widely rebognized in the public schools.

DR. KARL RATHGEN EXCHANGE PROF.

From Colonial Institute, Hamburg. Political Economist

TOLD REAL REASON FOR WORLD PEACE

Regular Periods of Depression and Prosperity in Business. Consistantly Profitable Commerce Pepend Upon International Cooperation.

One of the most enjoyable, interesting, and instructive lectures of the year was that delivered in Chapel Tuesday night by Dr. Karl Rathgen, of the Colonial Institute, Hamburg, and Kaiser Von Wilhelm Exchange Professor of Political Economy at Columbia University. His lecture dealt with economic problems and development in Germany for the past quarter-century, and their relation to the rest of the world.

Dr. Rathgen began by citing the gloomy predictions of the despondent school of German Economy who followed the industrial depression of 1873-1897. These theorists had two principal fears, overpopulation in Germany, and the ruin of her foreign trade by the industrial development in newer countries. Quoting statistics and figures with the utmost facility, Dr. Rathgen explained the grounds for these fears and showed how, far from their being realized, Germany had for the last twenty years enjoyed a period of unprecedented progress.

Population grew tremendously for a country already old and crowded, and this increase had to be provided for. Since the agricultural population was incapable of expansion, the increase turned eagerly into the industries Then larger food imports had to be made to keep out the insufficient domestic farm products. In turn manufactures had to be increased and improved for exportation in exchange for these necessaries. This is the situation that Germany successfully met, in spite of the industrial growth of other countries. In the tremendous progress of the last twenty years all over the world, the Fatherland is still slightly ahead; and two-thirds of her exports go to those countries which it was feared would be her commercial ruin.

The application of this lesson, Dr. Rathgen said, is that the great manufacturing countries are mutually their own best customers. Their interests are not conflicting, but the prosperity of each depends upon the others. All age interlinked; their wealth and progress go hand in hand.

$205 has been sent in on the Barnett Fund for this year. The University students annnally have pledged $500 to the support of Eugene Barnett in the China Mission work. R. B. House has charge of collecting this fund this year.

A NEW KIND OF PROFESSOR.

Those men who see in the University of North Carolina a state university in the deepest significance of the term have cause for rejoicing in the news of Professor E. C. Branson's coming to Chapel Hill. To the men here who did not know of Professor Branson before his visit last fall, his work was a revelation; to the men who did know of the work, the man himself was a revelation and an inspiration. He is a personalty that grips even on short acquaintance, and he is bound to be a progressive force on this campus. But his work overshadows and dominates the man. Professor of Applied Economics and Rural Sociology they will call him; we see him as Professor of the People of North Carolina.

HELP JUNIOR WEEK.

Committees from the various classes are now at work preparing the programme for the so-called Junior Week, endeavoring to make that period of spring gladness a joyous affair for every one of these nine hundred students. Junior Week has a very real reason for existence; anything has that seeks to celebrate the coming of spring. But in all the preparation there is need to remember this:everyone should have a share in the fun. Junior Week will never be a complete success until the Junior Week spirit pervades the entire student-body; and that, of course, will depend on whether the various functions and exercises carry a universal appeal. In other words, Junior Week should be for nine hundred men and not for 899 or any less number. The programme committee wants to arrange three days which will have some attractive features for everyone. There will be dances, of course, and athletic contests oratory and the senior stunt and possibly dramatic and musical concerts. These are the regular features. But they are not necessarily everything. The field is almost limitless; any sort of joy-making institution will receive serious attention from the authorities who know that they can not do it all by themselves. Especially will they be glad to receive your suggestions as to any move that will improve social conditions at that time. One man has suggested that all the fraternities hold open house on some stated occasion to the entire University. That's one possibly, and there are countless others. You see what is wanted? Spring time is joy time. Every healthy man feels the call of spring. And Junior Week seeks to organize that spring feeling, to arrange it according to some definite plan, to present it in the most atrractive manner, to make everyone feel it more than he ever did before.

TO MR. GOOCH AND THE GREATER COUNCIL.

The editors of this paper do not hold, as a great many people do, that these editorial columns are solely for the purpose of voicing complaints against every inconvenience that pops up in University life. We think we have a higher conception of editorial writing. But having said that, we turn around and complain-and through us the whole student body complains-that handling long distance telephone calls is not where local authorities star. It takes a man in Raleigh anywhere from five hours to a week to catch a student on the phone; the man is in haste, and he would write if he thought he would not get his student any sooner. As a matter of fact he could frequently come to Chapel Hill himself and find his student before the phone would find him. A quicker method of finding students ought to be devised--how aqout it, Greater Council?

NO EXCUSE.

The Tar Heel wishes to add its approbation to all that Dr. Mangum has said in chapel in regard to the prevention of sickness, and especially of typhoid fever. Medicine reaches its highest point when it becomes a preventive rather than a curative. Typhoid fever can be prevented by vaccination, and there is no reason why every man in the University should not be vaccinated. The treatment is not painful, the effects are but slightly inconvenient, and it does not cost a red cent. Everything may be said for it, nothing against it. And yet there are plenty of hold-outs. If University men, supposedly in advance of the remainder of the state, will not take this forward step, how can anyone hope for progress in public health? There is absolutely no excuse for typhoid fever.

Spring Glee Club Trip.

The combined Glee and Mandolin Clubs, voices dragged our, filed and oiled, strings tightened and guitars tuned are impatiently waiting until Monday to set out for their annual spring conquest of the Western part of the state. Twenty-five strong, the musicians will embark in their special car Monday morning. For a week at least the recent trials of Exams, the more recent sorrows of courses flunked and even the joys of times passed will be lost in the greater joys of smashing fair hearts by the sweetness of their music and the glory of their dress-suited adornment in the glare of the footlights. The itrinerary:

Feb. 23.—Greensboro.
" 24.—Statesville.
" 25.—Hickory.
" 26.—Lenoir.
" 27.—Gastonia.
" 28.—Charlotte.
Mar. 1.—Chapel Hill.

February (24th?)

The University student body knows Dr. W. D. Weatherford, a dynamic force in the student movement of the United States. He is a vigorous physical man, a straight thinker, and a speaker with a sense of message for college men. He will be here next week to address the students and faculty of the University.

Mr. E. C. Mercer is coming with Dr. Weatherford. Mr. Mercer is head of a department of work which is called, "The work of E. C. Mercer in the Colleges." Associated with him on the committee are such men as Robert E. Speer of Princeton, Robert E. Treaman of Cornell, and Francis B. Sayre of Williams. Mr. Mercer is also a great worker in the New York missions. He was caught in the undercurrents of New York life and came to himsels again through the influence of the Jerry McAuley Mission.

Dr. Weatherford and Mr. Mercer had hoped to reach here on the twenty-fourth but a recent letter expressed doubt as to making the proper connection from New Orleans.

Velvet
THE SMOOTHES' TOBACCO

SKATING in the keen air—the companionship of a pipe—the pleasure of a tobacco such as Velvet!

Velvet is the best leaf—aged over two years in the warehouse—a slow, silent transformation from harsh leaf to a mellow smoking tobacco. Time gradually evicts the bite—matures the good qualities of the leaf—a flavor unusual—good—wonderfully good!

Such a tobacco takes time to produce—extreme care withal, but this is the smoke we all want—so why not?

Dr. Sato Closes Lectur Series

of Gen. Nogi the hero of the Russo-Japanese war and the greatest Japanese portrait of modern years,

Dr. Sato delivered the last of his lectures last night in Gerrard Hall on the subject: The Educational System of Japan. He appeared in the picturesque costume of his native land.

The Japanese system is based upon the principle of equal education for everyone and is in all respects similar to its western models. The object of the whole is that no family, no member of any family, shall be ignorant and illiterate. Both sexes are given equal advantages of education.

In concluding Dr. Sato expressed the warmest and deepest appreciation for his reception at Chapel Hill. Dr. Heckelman ended the evening with some pictures from Japan which were very interesting and instructive.

New Football Rules.

come customary almost invariably to put the ball in play by scrimmage, the rule was changed to limit the resumption of play to that method.

For the sake of clearness a change was made to the effect that if the winner of the toss selects the goal, the loser must receive the kick off. The rule formerly read, "the loser must take the kick off," which sometimes lead to confusion.

In the rule against roughing the fullback, a change was made so that a penalty shall not be imposed unless in the opinion of the official such roughing is intentional.

Other changes were as follows:

Rule IX, section 1.—The rule requiring a backfield man coming upon the line of scrimmage to conform to Rule 19, section 1, relative to the position of hands and feet, shall apply to all backs coming upon the line, regardless of the position in the line which they take.

Rule XIV, section 1.—The penalty for a player being out of bounds at the time the ball is put in play, except the kicker and holder of the ball in a place kick, shall be five yards.

Rule XIX.—Add a new section as follows: There shall be no roughing the player who has thrown a pass forward.

High School Debate Arranged.

150 high schools have entered the state wide Triangular Debate and more are expected. These have been arranged definitely into triangles, literature sent to them, in many cases teams selected. All this work has been under the supervision of E. R. Rankin.

The preliminary debates will be held on March 20th. On that day much oratory will be spilled and many battles of words. After the smoke has cleared away all who find that they won both sides of the query will prepare to come to Chapel Hill for the finals on April 3rd. The track meet will be held on the same afternoon on which the debate is billed.

The Magistrate Pleases St. Mary's.

Judging from the constant titters of amusement and intermittent outbursts of laughter which ran through the happy audience of St. Mary's girls at the University Dramatic Club's performance Saturday, it is safe to say that the company of actors had achieved a great success. Each actor played his part excellently, and there were no long pauses between the acts as there were at the Chapel Hill performance. The girls evinced great appreciation of all the acting, and showed little partiality in their applause. The Sunday Raleigh News & Observer says among other favorable things: "They played to a good business and to pretty and appreciative women, and The Magistrate cast can skake hands with itself this morning.

The Dramatic Club is making a week's tour of eastern points. They played Tuesday in Wilson. The remainder of the itinerary is: Greenville, Wednesday night; New Bern, Thursday night; Wilmington, Friday night; Clinton, Saturday night.

President Graham in Raleigh.

President Graham spent the latter part of last week in Raleigh attending the Social Service conference, in which he took an active part.

The conference consisted of prominent educators, editors, and Farmer's Union officials and was for the purpose of discussing the rural problems of North Carolina and seeking ways for betterment. Clarence Poe was the leading spirit in the movement.

President Graham addressed the meeting upon "A State-wide Civic Service week; its possibilities."

Hurrey of Michigan Coming.

There are two executive secretaries of the North American Student Movement. One is John R. Mott. The other is Charles D. Hurrey. Mr. Hurrey is one of the really big men in student work. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, was a travelling secretary in South America, and on account of the need for a man of his strength in America he was called back to be with John R. Mott at the very centre of the directing forces in the student movement. The student body will have a chance to hear this splendid man and stirring speaker.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Carolina has landed one after all, and that after we lost both our centers. Here everybody was sure they would have to break up the team and cancel all the games, and some other things like that. Carolina has still got a team that if not better is as good as last year's or that of the year before. There's nothing to cry about.

That is certainly a funny bunch down there at Wake Forest. There they were with their ladies at their sides ready to fight when the referee called "Carolina outside". Nor did they mind talking to Carolina players, or the referee either for that matter, in language that may have sounded strange to the ladies' ears. At one time they must have been a little crowded in their seats, for they suddenly came out all over the floor, and seemed to be rather hot for the weather on the outside to be such as it was.

But Raleigh is a Carolina town A hundred people came out to see the game with Durham. A dozen or so rooted for Carolina. The others. A. & M. students and citizens of our dear old Capital, were all the way for Durham. There were some very loyal Alumni present, however, and these rooted with proper spirit. Durham is a lovely place though and no doubt its charms have won the hearts of Raleighs citizens and Raleigh's students.

Now we come to the psychology involved when our "Lengthy" but Durham's "Shorty" almost shot a basket for Carolina. How did his mind come into such a state that it forced him to throw once at our basket? George Carrington used to write for this paper, in fact was editor-in-chief. Aside from this evidence of a weak mind, he has been so used to playing for Carolina that he shot one from his finger tips before the telegram from his brain could reach that distance. It almost showed George up.

That's what we would call Percivalitis.

Capt. L. L. Abernethy Leaves College.

While "Big Abby" had talked of leaving college before, it was quite a sorrow to his friends, who include the whole University, to hear Monday that he had decided definitely to withdraw from college as it will be impossible for him to graduate.

"Capt." left Tuesday for his home near Charlotte. The football season and his brother's sickness and death after that took so much of his time that he was unable to keep up with his work, which requires an extra amount of Laboratory work. He was taking Electrical Engineering.

Mrs. O. P. Rhyne Dead.

The entire college was saddened Monday morning by the announcement in Chapel of the death of Mrs. O. P. Rhyne, wife of Prof. Rhyne, of the German Department. Mrs. Rhyne died suddenly Monday morning at 7:30. Her body was taken to Gastonia, her home, where she was buried Tuesday. Prof. Rhyne's class sent flowers. Prof. Rhyne's classes will not meet until further notice.

The Faculty Committee on Lectures announces that arrangements have been completed for the securing of Alfred Noyes, the young English yoet. He will be here on March 25th.

JAPAN---AN OPPORTUNITY

Dr. Heckelman Tells of Its Pressing Needs.

Dr. Heckelman, assistant to Dr. Sato, gave an address Sunday at 7:30 P M., in Gerrard Hall at a Union Service of the churches. The speaker was deeply charged with the subject of Japan. In an hour and a quarter he gave an outline story of modern Japan.

In the course of his lecture he indicated a background of interesting history, pictured her life in beautiful mountain scenery, suggested a remarkable race vitality, race mind, and race genius, and through it all he drove home the great need for the Christian moral dynamic and Japan's claims upon America.

Many interesting facts and thoughts were given in the address. The empire is about the size of Germany and contains sixty-eight million people. The chain of islands reach two thousand miles from the Phillipines on the south to fifty degrees north latitude including climate that is nearly tropical at one end and almost frigid at the other on account of its mountainous nature.

The Japenese know little of the personality of God and have no keen sense of sin. The word for sin means being caught in a violation of the law. No material civilization can give a sense of God and a keen sense of sin. Money can buy experts to build battleships and the government can build up a splendid school system but neither can give the consciousness of God and a personal responsibility for sin. The mission movement cannot impart in any wholesome fashion a sense of God. The missionary can give his life, his experience, and impart his character. The need is life, sympathy, and the moral dynamic of Jesus Christ. Modern culture itself needs the fire of the heart. When life loses that something in the heart the church is in danger. When the church ceases to send ont missionairies and becomes theological over things of no great importance the world passes through the Dark Ages.

Japan wants our life and our friendship and any talk of war with Japan should make us blush with shame. Japan sees clearly the folly of war with America with her consequent isolation from Western life and the danger of Russian advance made possible through war with another country. What can Japan think of America when politicians talk of war and paint Japan as our future enemy, Japan exhausted and tax-ridden? Japan needs America and wants no war.

In 1853 Commodore Peary came and opened Japan to the world. The fifty years following have no parallel. In 1859 the Christian missionary came and his integrity and his service broke through the suspicions of the people. The missionary has stood in the midst of periods of misunderstanding interpreting the world to Japan and Japan to the world. In 1872 there were twelve Christians and now there are one hundred thousand.

Recognizing the barrenness of the religions a Japanese Count, a non-Christian himself, was moved to say: "I don't understand your Christianity, but I do understand your Christ, his love, his service, and his brotherhood."

CAROLINA IS OUT OF THE RUNNING

Wake Forest Wins Deciding Game of Series By 3 Point Lead

EACH TEAM MADE ELEVEN FIELD GOALS

Before 800 people Carolina lost to Wake Forest by three points in Raleigh Auditorium Tuesday night and is apparently out of the championship contest. Carolina played its best game in the last half, when she came within three points of overcoming a seven point lead. There was an unusually large number of fouls called and two men should have been disqualified for having too many personal fouls chalked up against them. There were 27 fouls in all. The closest Homewood ever got to the game was cot 3, infirmary, Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Roy's cheeks are trying to imitate a person having mumps.

From beginning to end the score was close. Wake Forest sprang into the lead a little at first because of a favorably placed basket. In the second half Carolina pulled up to within two points of their opponents but before more could be done, first a foul goal by the Baptists and then the referees whistle closed the contest.

The work on both sides was characterized be good team work. Holding, the Wake Forest star, did not shine as brightly as usual the cause being the guarding of Chambers who put up a fine class of work. He, however had a shade on Long on foul tossing. Capt. Long and Dowd, as usual, were there with the cage work. Some of their passing was splendid. Johnson is developing into a first rater at center and gives any man a lot of trouble. Tennent marred his usual fine work by numerous fouls and it was foul goals that lost the game.

Although the game was announced as the championship decider that is by no means correct as Trinity with dfficulty defeated Wake Forest Monday night. The latter two teams must play off their tie and even after that Elon will have a claim as she has won at least one game from every Carolina team she has played this season. Guilford is entirely out of the contest and of course A. & M. has never been in—except the papers.

Captain Long and his team left Wednesday afternoon on the Virginia trip. The first game scheduled is in Lynchburg.

The line-up:

Carolina	Position	Wake Forest
	Right Forward.
Long		Holding
	Left Forward.
Dowd		Hall
	Center.
Johnson		Tyler
	Right Guard.
Tennent		Davis

MR. MERCER PUTS OVER THE GOODS

Tonight "Down and Out and Up Again." His Own Life Story

WEATHERFORD AND HURREY TO BE HERE.

The largest gathering of students that has been in Gerrard Hall this year gave added power to the stirring message of E. C. Mercer last night. His subject was: "The Fight of Every Red Blooded College Man—Purity" Before the bell had finished ringing there was little standing room down stairs and in a few moments the gallery was almost full. Mr. Mercer caught the attention of the men as he jumped right into the midst of his message and held their rapt interest to an impressive end. Plain facts collected in the laboratory of college life all over America and the personal appeal of his own life found response in the mind and heart of his audience.

Throughout the address his heart went out to college men of vigor and energy as they fight the hardest fight of their lives. He based his appeal for clean manhood on practical grounds of business efficiency and on the higher grounds of the glory of victorious Christian character. Experiences with college men in Sing Sing, in the New York missions, in the Bowery breadline, letters and personal interviews rennumerated, fact upon fact, enforced his development of the evolution of sin in the lives of college men everywhere.

With this background of facts and experience he gave as ways to victory over social and secret impurity practical suggestions which included the physiology of cold water and vigorous exercise and the psychology of turning to an interesting chapter in a book, the picture of a fine girl, and the substitution of the brain for thought. Finally he appealed to the students to get the power of God in their lives and follow Christ. Some of the sentences picked at random follow:

"I wish I were as iron that I might burn one text into your hearts. 'Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he someday reap.'"

"A pretty face has sent many a man to hell."

"Whats the use of learning truth unless you follow it?"

"Sin has an evolution."

"Selfishness is the biggest sin against God but the most far reaching are drink and sexual impurity."

"Drink precedes ninety-five per cent of all crimes which land men behind prison bars.

"More men go to hell through ignorance than through wilfulness."

"Drink is a moral anesthetic."

"It is better to be green than to be rotten."

"Prayer has helped more men than anything I know."

After his talk Mr. Mercer met a large number of the men per-

CAROLINA PLAYS A THRILLING GAME

Guilford No Match For Rejuvenated Team. Score Almost Tripled.

JOHNSON PLAYS RINGS AROUND "BIG ED"

From a spectators view point the game with Guilford on last Thursday night was one of the best of the season, fast and interesting from start to finish. For four minutes after the game opened neither side scored. Then Guilford shot two field goals. Here the enthusiasm of the expostulating crowd in the balcony seemed to descend upon the players, for the game picked up remarkably in pep. When Carolina finally started to score, her goals kept getting more and more frequent, until at the end of the first half the score stood 17-7.

In the second half Guilford seemed to feel considerable hesitancy in throwing her first goal. Carolina's score, however, continued to mount up. Guilford fought hard, but none of her players could throw goals. When the final whistle blew Carolina was ahead 38-13. Among the opposing team was recognized the face of our own former player, "Big Ed", looming up at center. Long's and Dowd's goal shooting distinguished the game, while the tenacity of Tennent and Homewood always kept things lively. Johnson, as usual, played an excellent game.

The lineup follows:

Carolina	Position	Guilford
	r. f.
Long		Benbow
	l. f.
Dowd		Moorfield
	c.
Johnson		Edwards
	r. g.
Tennent		Stuart
	l. g.
Homewood		McBaine

NEW SOHRAB AND RUSTUM

Earle Mack and Connie to Meet in Duel.

According to a recent and authentic report, the Washington and Lee game of April 15th has been called off on account of conflicting eligibility rules, and Carolina will play a substitute game with the Philadelphia Athletics in Durham on April 1. The present schedule calls for games with Amherst on both March 31 and April 1. By playing Amherst a double header on March 31, Carolina will thus have April 1 open to play the Athletics. This will not be an additional but a substitute game, and the number of Carolina's games will consequently not be increased.

On March 17--19th State Association of Road Engineers and County Superintendents will hold its meeting in Peabody Building.

CORRECT STATEMENT OF OUR FINANCES

The following statement from Treasurer Woollen gives the exact condition of the Athletic Association up to date, excluding basketball. It is an improvement over the statement recently published in the Tar Heel in that it concerns only matters handled by the Student Athletic Association, not by the Alumni Committee. Several items in the first statement, notably part of the salaries and expenses of the football coaches and of the high school contests, belonged rightly to the Alumni. Further, a mistake was found in Cartmell's salary the Athletic Association paying only $750. This present statement shows that the condition of the Association is much better than first reported, the fatal deficit being less than $4,000. In justice to the Tar Heel it is only fair to say that the former statement came directly from ex-Graduate Manager McLendon.

OUR FUTURE PHI BETTA KAPPA MEN

The record of the eleven best grade standings of the Freshman Class for the fall term follows:

E. S. Booth, East Durham H. S.	1.2
E. L. Mackie, Yadkinville H. S.	1.4
W. T. Polk, Warrenton H. S.	1.6
W. J. Adams, Buie's Crreek Academy	1.6
C. C. Miller, Christ School	1.6
J. H. Hardison, Donaldson M. S.	1.7
R. S. Toxey, Elizabeth City H. S.	1.7
A. M. Lindau, Greenboro H. S.	1.8
H. G. Baity, Harmony H. S.	1.9
N Reasoner, Manatee H. S., Fla.	2.0
E. L. Travis, Jr. Halifax H. S.	2.0

The highest average for this year is a little better than the best of last year, R. B. House, of Warrenton H. S., leading with 1.4. However, the present Freshman Class has only eleven men in the premier class. 1916 furnished sixteen.

1914 TRACK SCHEDULE

March 28—Class track meet at Chapel Hill.
April 4—Meet with Wake Forest College, at Chapel Hill.
April 11—Track meet with V. P. I. at Blacksburg.
April 18—Meet with University of South Carolina, at Columbia.
April 25—Track meet (pending).
May 2 and 3—S. I. A. A. meet, at Baltimore.

Phi Betta Kappa Address.

Acting President Graham has accepted the invitation to make the Phi Beta Kappa address at the University of Virginia on June 17. He will also deliver the Founders Day address at the State Normal College.

Prof. McKie will attend the National Council of English Teachers in Richmond Friday. Prof. McKie will return Saturday noon.

Daily Gym Drill for Freshmen.

In Chapel last Friday morning Prof. Stacy explained to the Freshmen the new gymnasium system requiring all Freshmen to participate in the gym drills three times a week, excepting only those who take regular exercise on the several athletic squads. For excuses from the drills the first year men must see the authorities at the gym.

THE TRUTH.

If the Tar Heel undertook to deny every false statement sent out from Chapel Hill, it would long since have expanded beyond a weekly paper. But at the same time, things can go too far. When the Raleigh News and Observer sends out in its issue of February 17, with the supposition of truth, such a false and misleading article as appeared under the name of S. R. Winters, then it is little wonder that the people of the state misunderstand the University. The article is false, both as to tone and as to detailed instances.

It begins with the statement that the control of athletic finances at the University will in all probability be wrested from the hands of the undergraduate. At the present time the undergraduate alone has almost no financial power, but what he has, will so far as indications point, remain his for some time to come.

It states that "undergraduate excess in athletic finances will be curtailed at several angles", and in the next sentence discusses the revision of coaching expenses, thus implying that undergraduates were responsible for the "most expensive coaching staff in the south". As a matter of fact the "most expensive coaching staff in the South" came with the new Alumni control, and the undergraduate had no appreciable share in securing it.

It states that the expenditure of "several hundred dollars during the football season for the expenses of scouts" is "another ingenuity of the undergraduate control to swell the athletic budget". As a matter of fact, the expenses of scouts (which the Tar Heel believes a good investment) should be laid at the feet of Coach Trenchard, and not the undergraduate. Organized scouting never existed here when the undergraduate had complete control. It came with the Alumni control.

It states that "the new athletic regime just now entering into control assures a reduction of this item next season." The "new athletic regime" was in control when this money was spent. Graduate managers have been changed, but the graduate manager is not responsible for this expenditure.

It states that in the making of schedules "the tendency is toward more northern trips" and that "the undergraduate manager wrestles with the faculty committee day and night to admit of as many trips north as possible". The Tar Heel denies both of these statements. Manager Carl Taylor, of the basrball team, has said that Virginia would not play the two games in North Carolina without the promise of a return game at Charlottesville, and further that it is cheaper to take a northern trip, such as the 1914 schedule contains, than it is to play one game in Charlottesville.

It states that the undergraduate manager and the professional coach consider the eight hour rule unjust to the athlete and "would abolish all such rules, were it in their power". The Tar Heel denies emphatically both of these statements. Anyone who knows anything about this student body knows that such is not the sentiment here. More kicking against the eight hour rule has come from Alumni than from undergraduates.

It states—but why not go on to multiply instances? From beginning to end the article is misleading. It is absolutely wrong in attributing the expenses of the present year to the undergraduates. The Tar Heel would be the last to assert that undergraduate control of athletic finances in the past has been perfect; waste has been present and everybody knows it. But the cited instances of this so-called waste are wrong; they are instances of Alumni control, which at Chape Hill means Coach Trenchard. The undergraduate has had enough heaped upon his shoulders without placing there what does not properly belong to him. Everybody connected with athletics at the University knows that this article is a ghastly joke. But to those out in the state the article with its prominent head in so well known a paper must have carried the idea of truth, and there's the rub. The harm is already done, and the University has to suffer for this injustice. Why was it written? To an outsider it looks as though it was written either (1) in sheer ignorance, or (2) in maliciousness, or (3) at the instigation of some one not friendly to the best athletic interest of the University, or (4) as yellow journalism—for the money in it.

A MARTYR TO ATHLETICS?

Big Ab, the best known and best loved man in the University, has left college because he failed on an examination and therefore could not graduate with his class in June. For four years he has given the greater part of each fall to football, time that meant a sacrifice to one in his circumstances. This past fall the burden of playing and captaining the team was too much for him. That he will be missed, that this campus is a different place because of the absence of that great-hearted man, goes without saying. Chapel Hill is not Chapel Hill without Big Ab.

Behind this simple fact stands a threatening shadow. Once more the Tar Heel ask that searching question of Charles E. Courtney, the world famous rowing coach at Cornell; "Are the coaches demanding and taking more of the boys' time than they can afford to give and at the same time do their university work."

Lester Williams spoke to the Iredell County Teachers Association in Statesville Friday 13.

JUNIORS TO GIVE PROM

Date Not Yet Decided. All Committees Formed.

Under the impression that there was a faculty rule limiting the Easter night dances to the Junior Class Saturday voted to give an afternoon dance to be called the Junior Prom. Seniors are invited. Sophomores bringing a partner may come upon buying a ticket. It was later learned that no such faculty regulation existed and the date will probably be changed to the last night of the holidays.

Avon Blue by a large majority was elected leader of this dance. His two assistants are Phil Woolcott and W. O. Huske. R. G. Fitzgerald, having resigned as a Commencement Marshall, Henry Foust was elected in his place. For Junior baseball manager Fred McCall was selected.

The committee to arrange for the Juniors fifteen minutes of the College Stunt hour is composed of the following: Shep Bryan, Tom Boushall, L. B. Gunter, A. R. Newsom, and O. M. Marshburn.

FIRST HALF WORTH $50

Two Test Cases on Delay Thanksgiving.

A test case of unusual significance has been instituted against the Southern Railway in which students of the University of North Carolina are seeking damages for a six-hour delay of the Southern train en route to Richmond Thanksgiving for the Carolina-Virginia football game. L. P. McLendon, former graduate manager of athletics, announced last Friday that two suits asking for $50 each, the maximum allowed, had been instituted in Orange and Durham county courts. The outcome of these suits will determine the future action of the other 253 students on the belated train.

The excursion carrying 255 students to the football game was delayed at Jeffres Junction for six hours, arriving in Richmond after the first half of the game was over. A wreck tied up traffic atthis Virginia junction. Traveling Passenger Agent J. O. Jones of Raleigh has been subpoenaed as a witness in the civil suits, the railroad man being aboard the train. One of the suits is to be tested in the Durham Superior Court and the other in Orange county, the latter case to be called March 4.

Notice of summons has already been filed with the Chapel Hill local agent of the Southern.

Cox, Coal and Celluloid.

It seems that the mere burning of a piece of charcoal is a lowly subject to puzzle the minds of Chemists, but, according to Mr. Carter's report at the Journal club meeting Monday night, some English Chemists are finding out great things about it.

Mr. Cox presented a paper on some work done on the acids of rosin by some Wisconsin investigators.

Mr. Hall spoke briefly of the recipient of the Perkins Medal for tnis year, Mr. Hyatt, inventor of celluloid and about a thousand other things.

Dr. Herty wound up the meeting by a discussion of some recent works on the valency of the carbon hydrates done by some German investigators.

BRYAN'S PROTEGE BACK

Eastern Trip Satisfactory in Every Way.

The dramatic club is back. It had a successful trip, financially and artistically.

Starting out Tuesday morning our "varsity" actors and actrsses met with some disappointment at Wilson owing to a rather meagre audience, but the towns following more than repaid for this apparent set back.

They were met at Greenville in autos and wheeled up to one of the best hotels in North Carolina where they were entertained by the local alumni until their departure. At the Eastern Carolina Teachers Training school they were greeted enthusiastically by a capacity house. With the depleted treasure filled up, the bunch gratefully took its leave from the hospitable town of Greenville on Wednesday morning.

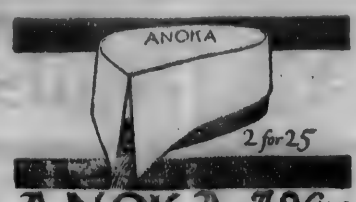
Coming to New Bern they were entertained loyally and by the previous diligence of the ladies of the City Beautiful League, the club came out on top financially.

At Wilmington the marked success of the entire program was high water mark—made so by the untiring efforts and influence of a most worthy organization—the ministering circle of King's Daughters.

Leaving Wilmington on Saturday morning the troupe, having lost every possible mark of amateurism, struck Clinton perfected. And they deserved it. The gross receipts of this last place was $167.70 and the net, $152.70. This amount surpassed any single town on the eastern trip in its financial support. A more loyal set of Alumni cannot be found in the State than the ones at Clinton. When you get "Fur" Johnson, Theodore Patrick and Mr. Petty behind you, success is secure.

The Dramatic Club is ahead. They're going West after Easter.

Rally Advocates Peace.



The preliminaries for the Peace contest will be held in Gerrard Hall Saturday night at 7:30 and everyone is invited. There are a husky bunch of candidates out, a Post-Grad, three Seniors, and a Sophomore. They are I. M. Bailey L. H. Ranson, J. F. Pugh, R. L. Lasley, W. B. Umstead. As this is the largest number of candidates out for some time it is expected that a large crowd will attend.

Who will win? Odds on Ranson? A Fresheman won out at Elon this year. Pick your winner and cheer him on.

The winner of this contest will be eligible for the State meet. There are two prizes for winners in this, and the first place man then goes to the sectional contest composed of some seven or eight states. These sectional winners are then gathered together for the final.

Dr. J. H. Pratt of the department of Civil Highway Engineering has gone to Knoxville to deliver two lectures before the Institute of Road Engineers. On March 17-19 a similar institute will be held in the Peabody Building under the direction of the Geological Survey of North Carolina.

Acting Dean M. H. Stacy will represent the University at the inauguration of Mr. S. B. Turrentine as President of the Greensboro Female Institute March 18.

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1914 NO. 20

CAROLINA QUINT PLAYS TWO CLOSE

Wins From Woodberry Forest In Last Seconds. Loses to Lynchburg.

TIES SCORE THREE TIMES. LONG STARS.

Saturday night Carolina won from Woodberry Forest at Orange Va., from a tie in the three last minutes of play. The score ended 25 to 21, the last four points being due to two field goals thrown during the closing moments of p'ay.

The first half ended 15 to 12 in favor of the opponents after a nip and tuck race all the way. Neither side often made two goals in succession. The second half Carolina came back as she has a habit of closing and tucked the game away.

Capt. "Meb" was the particular star, of this contest.

The line up follows:

Carolina	Position	Woodberry
	r f
Dowd, Flemming		Kennedy
	l f
Long		Brown
	c
Johnson, Goodson		Fitzsimmons
	r g
Tennent		Jones
	l g
Davis		McCall

On Tuesday Carolina lost a wonderful game to Lynchburg Y. M. C. A. Three times the score was tied. In fact the first half ended in a tie 21 to 21. The final score was 42 to 34.

Johnson played a fine game against his old team mates and clearly outplayed his man. Long and Dowd did brilliant work as forwards, Dowd especially landing some spectacular goals. The guards were outplayed.

Line up.

Carolina	Position	Lynchburg
	r f
Dowd		Jamerson
	l f
Long		Campbell
	c
Johnson		James
	r g
Tennent		Adams
	l g
Davis		Offterdinger

Summary: Goals, Jamerson 3, Campbell 6, James 4, Offterdinger 7, Dowd 6, Long 6, Johnson 2. Fouls, Campbell 2, Long 6. Fouls committed Y. M. C. A. 6, Carolina 5.

Greater Council Smoker.

The Greater Council indulged in the dissipation of a smoker Monday night in connection with its regular business session. Mr. Trenchard was present and explained his athletic policy in regard to make-up examinations, to football training table, and to scouting system. Reports about the high school track contest were made. About twenty schools are expected to take part in the contest. The cigars waxing scarce, the Council did not prolong its session further.

THE MAN OF X-RAY VISION

He Also Demonstrates Other Physics 1 Phenomina.

The benefactor of ladies, the distributer of elegant chocolates, the man of X-ray vision, has absconded. His going was furtive and rapid, to be more accurate, as rapid as Chapel Hill vehicles impeded by fathomable mud and the "Limited" could bear him toward peaceable territory.

Because his ray shone with unusual intensity, Mr. Frey, phrenologist, looked around last week for a nook where he could profitable bestow enlightenment, and came to Chapel Hill. Here he contracted with Mr. Brockwell to demonstrate his irresistable vision at the Pickwick Tuesday night, and on the same afternoon to make such displayal of his power on the street as might arouse public curiosity and thereby achieve the advancement of science and an increase of Pickwick attendance. This afternoon performance as the circulars stated, was to begin in front of Kluttz's at 2:30 and to consist of the phrenologist's walking down the street finding keys, delivering mail, giving chocolates to ladies, and other philanthropic actions. In recognition of Mr. Frey's unusual attainments, the students contented themselves with small dinners, and behold! half an hour before the stated time of commencement the grand ensemble of the student body wedged around Kluttz's store. Then the phrenologist inside looking out upon the turbulent throng of his prospective spectators bethought himself of a course of action other than that stated on the circulars, and started to leave the store. His audience, either misunderstanding his motive or believing this to be the beginning of the performance received him with clamors, the volume of which rendered them unintelligible. Then some one purloined an onion from one of Apple Jack's display buckets, as becomes a loyal son of this high-dealed university, and struck Mr. Frey on the head, as becomes an outspoken youth. This evidently caused the prenologist's ray to flicker. At any rate he began displacing the air in the direction in which the force acted and did not stop until he reached the People's Bank. There he awaited the restoration of his ray to its normal degree of intensity, which process was no doubt delayed by the volley of keen and biting remarks from the crowd outside. His recovery was unfortunately not complete at the Bank's time of closing, but close the Bank did, and the phrenologist was conducted to the back door in view of the congested traffic at the front. Then did Mr. Frey start to run and proceed homeward with regularly accelerated motion. There restraining his energy long enough to pack up his hailaments, secure a cab, and no doubl reimburse his landlady, he started toward Carrville and safety.

MERCER--HURREY MEETINGS OVER

One Hundred and Twenty-Seven Men Agree to Take An Advanced Stand.

GREATEST IN THIS COLLEGE GENERATION.

"This is the most remarkable series of meetings in this college generation," is the opinion regarding the Mercer-Hurrey combination which closed Saturday night.

"This is a thinking crowd of fellows and the English criticism that the college man of America does not think seriously about God and religion, is not true of the University of North Carolina" is the opinion of Mr. Hurrey of Michigan.

One hundred and twenty-seven men signed the cards, thereby pledging themselves to take an advanced ground in their moral and spiritual life and to lead an aggressive Christian life. Pictures that formerly occupied space on many a wall have come down; for as one puts it "the space is so much better". The motor cycle contest has received a set-back. Many men have realized with Mr. Mercer the short sightedness of "inhaling tons of nicotine and exhaling manhood." And then the dopes. Not as regularly does the soda jerker reach for the coca-cola glasses when two approach the fountain. The regular Bible study groups had many voluntary visitors Sunday. The joke that is not a joke is told with less gusto. The above are but indicators to the wonderful change that has quietly, and to many not closely associated, unknowingly come about as the result of the work of those two men. It wasn't merely public speaking that the men did. They worked. Here is a part of Mr. Hurrey's program:

Friday afternoon he and Mercer addressed a meeting of the Fraternity men in the Sigma Nu Hall and there quietly, but sincerely they (both Fraternity men) pointed out the dangers and virtues of the secret organization. Both urged high aims in the chapter and a feeling of personal responsibility of the older men for the younger.

Friday night he was up late meeting with his Fraternity chapter. Saturday morning from 9 to 12 he interviewed man after man, fifteen minutes to each. Together they talked over the personal problems of life as they are found. 12:30 to 1:30 he met with the Jewish Society at their own request.

Mr. Hurrey said this meeting was something entirely new in his experience and a very pleasant one too. From 1:30 to 3:00 he rested. From 3 to 3.30 he met with the Sunday-school workers and told of the great need in the county home for the stimulating of the better things. The next

BALL WEATHER AT LAST

Coach Mack Begins to Shape Team. The Line Up

No longer will the weather man fear for his life. The sun shines, the horse hide cracks against bat, the crowds eat peanuts and discuss. The athletic field is spotted with red, black, grey, pellow, and purple suits. In fact the work of selecting a team is under way. No longer will "Rhody" write, "For God's sake give us less Y. M. C. A. and more baseball." But you will have to admit that the last few weeks have been as good Y. M. C. A., weather as it was bad baseball weather.

Wednesday Coach Mack lined up two teams. The first team started with Woodall catching. Shields on the slab, Patterson on the initial, "Rabbit" Bailey on second, Jackson at short, "Mac" Lewis third and ended with Red Litchfield, little Bailey, and Johnson in the field. Opposed to them were Hart and Coleman battery; on the bases Norris, Royster, Harper; Polk at short, and Nance, Alderman, and Love in the outer garden.

After about five innings of this changes were made until every man out had had a chance to show his colors. Everybody was wild, some scared, and some full of pep.

Now there you are Rhody.

P. S. Rhody its rainin' again.

High School Athletics.

Twelve high schools have so far signified their intention of entering the High School Track Meet which will be held here on April 3--the same date as the Debate. It is expected that many other schools will soon enter.

The list so far follows:

Oak Ridge, Raleigh, High Point, Goldsboro, Burlington, Gastonia, Gatesville, Edenton, Graham, Asheville, an independent high school team from Greensboro, and Washington.

Plans for High School Track.

The executive committee of the High School Track meet has decided that they need $100 to finance the Meet on April 3. They propose to raise this not by contributions of any amount but by asking each student to buy aticket for 25 cents and each member of the faculty to buy ot least two tickets for 50 cents. Then every body will get their moneys worth and yet all will help.

The County Clubs are to be asked to look after men from their homes while here. Medals have been ordered. a smoker and other forms of entertainment planned.

Dr. J. M. Booker left Friday for Savannah where he is to deliver several lectures this week.

"Big Abby" has decided to go to work in Charlotte in a few days. He will probably take up electrical work as that was his specialty while in college.

150 HIGH SCHOOLS ARE IN DEBATES

Twelve Teams Entered For Track Meet. Many More Are Expected.

BOTH FINALS HELD HERE ON APRIL THIRD.

Final arrangements have been made regarding the High School Debates. The preliminary will be on March 20th, the final here April 3.

The schools enrolled in the Union and triangles arranged are:

Durham, Goldsboro, Wilmington; Raleigh, Greensboro, Charlotte; High Point, Reidsville, Winston-Salem; Concord, Salisbury, Statesville; Asheville, Marion, Hendersonville; Carthage, Pittsboro, Pleasant Garden; Mt. Airy, N. Wilkesboro Pilot Mountain; Washington, New Bern, Elizabeth City; Abbottsburg, Bladenboro, Clarkton; Tarboro, Rocky Mount, Franklinton; Weldon, Oxford, Louisburg; Mt. Ullin, Stony Point, Taylorsville; Oak Ridge, Warrenton, Whitsett Lenoir, Morganton, Hickory; Sunbury, Cutesville, Reynoldsson Graham, Burlington, Jamestown; Atkinson, White Oak, Garland; Troutmans, Scotts, Harmony; Andrews, Bryson City, Almond; Cooleemee, Courtney, Yadkin College; Pikesville, Falling Creek Seven springs; Kenly, Clayton, Selma; Wilson, Kinston, Greenville; Wakelon, Holly Springs, Cary; Hookerton, Snow Hill, Ayden Seminary; Sparta, Glade Valley, Turkey Knob; Madison, Stoneville, Walnut Cove; Battleboro, Whitakers, Spring Hope; Wentworth, Leaksville, Bethany; Lumberton, Laurinburg, Sanford Stem, Bethesda, Knap of Roads; Dallas, Bessemer City, Cherryville; Belmont, Stanley, Huntersville; Unionville, Marshville, Wesley Chapel; Elkin, Bethania, Jonesville.

It has been impossible to arrange full triangles for all the schools, so a group of two schools has in some cases been substitutod for a full triangle. The two schools have two debates wih one another, in accordance with the regulations of the Union, each sending a team on the negative to the other on March 20th. If either schools wins both debates then it sends both teams to Chapel Hill for the final contest. The schools which debate under these conditions are: Elon, Liberty; Clinton, Teucheys; Boonville, Yadkinville; Columbus, Christ School; Apex, Bay Leaf; Manteo, Poplar Branch; Haw Fields, Sylvan; Edenton, Belhaven; Roberdel, Mason's Cross; Enfield, Lucana; Churchland, Mt. Pleasant: Rowland, Orrum; King, Pinnacle; Shelby, Gastonia; Piney Creek, Helton; Cullowhee, Appal Training School; Rich Square, Ahoskie; Mooresboro, Fallston; Clen Alpine, Nebo; Bain Academy, Rocky River.

It has been impossible to arrange any groups for the schools of Atlantic, Bethel Hill, Polkton and Rock Hill. In each of these schools a public debate will be held on March 20th.

WHAT ABOUT MERCER?

What about Mercer? Not since Dr. Henry Van Dyke spoke here four years ago has any man so caught this student body. Two night addresses, two chapel talks, one meeting with the fraternity-men, numberless private interviews—and for a week Mercer was the center of discussion at every group on the street, in every boarding-house, and in the great majority of rooms. The Vice-President of the United States, the Secretary of the Navy, the President of Yale, all sorts of distinguished men, professors, poets, and experts in every line (many speaking under unfavorable circumstances, it is true), have come and have gone and have been forgotten; none has made the impression Mercer made.

Why? What is the reason? Why the triumph? Two reasons, mainly; the message and the man. Mercer talked about the matter that is of greatest interest to every man, one's self. He knows more, perhaps, about one side of college life than any other man in America. He qualifies as an expert in the biggest subject you can find. But that is not the explanation of the stir of the past week. To reach the heart of the matter, go straight to the man himself. Other men, well qualified too, have talked on this subject, but they are forgotten. Mercer is Mercer, and there you have the real explanation. He might have presented his case in a thousand other ways, and have done well; he did present it in his own way, and he succeeded as no other has succeeded. The story of his life, the experiences of scores of college men, the combination of delicacy and fire in him, the perfect gentleman, the man himself—no, Mercer will not be forgotten.

SPEAKING OF EXTENSION.

Speaking of extension work, how about the record of the past few weeks? What with the Dramatic Club charging through the eastern part of the state, the Glee Club singing to the west, the basketball team chasing over to Raleigh or Greensboro or Wake Forest or Elon every other day and then scooting through Virginia for a whole week of it, the wonder is that there is any University at all left at Chapel Hill.

NORTH CAROLINA AND ELSEWHERE.

Hats off to Editor S. H Farabee of the Raleigh Times, the bravest man in all this state. He has had the audacity to dream a dream; he is making a serious effort to reform athletic conditions in North Carolina. The informal conference among representatives from Trinity, Wake Forest, A. and M., Elon, Guilford, and the University, held recently in Raleigh, and the resolutions passed by them and recommended to the several colleges, might possibly seem significant to a citizen of California; to any one who has come in contact with state conditions they are interesting only as examples of what is not now and what will not be for many a long year. It is one thing to meet and recommend; it is another thing—and the whole wide world lies between—to change recommendation into action. The plain truth of the matter is that the recommendations will not become rules. Adopt a one year rule? Why, man, don't you know your own state? This is North Carolina in the year 1914. What can you expect?

Not yet, Mr. Farabee, not yet, but thanks all the same. You can hardly expect one college to take the step unless all do, and there is no danger of that.

Why is it, Mr. Farabee; why it, Trinity, Wake Forest, A. and M., Elon, Guilford; why is it, gentlemen of the University, that athletic conditions in North Carolina are behind those in the S. I. I. A., in the big eastern universities, in the Western Conference, all over the country—why is it?

BASKETBALL AND BASEBALL.

The king is dead. Long live the king. The basketball season is a thing of the past; the base ball season is rising to its crest. On the very day when Captain Long's men were winding up with the last Virginia game, Captain Bailey's men were having their first real practice game. Basketball has not been a crowning success this year, though there is nothing disgraceful about the showing. Indeed, when one considers the disadvantages under which the game is played here in the University, the showing is every bit that could be expected. The difficulties of practicing at night and the interruptions of the Christmas holidays and examinations are well-nigh fatal to a game in which success depends so much on team work. And when you add to the ordinary difficulties the especial difficulties which have arisen this season, why, Captain Long and Coach Cartmell are to be congratulated. Edwards and Tandy were disqualified in the middle of the season, and Homewood was incapacitated through sickness two days before the deciding Wake Forest game. Excuses are never justifiable, but the 1914 team will go down in history as the champion hard luck team.

Here's wishing better luck to "Rabbit" and his crew and that keen son of a keen father, Earl Mack. Tomorrow week the umpire will cry "Play ball" for the game of the season. A late start necessitates harder work and more encouragement from the fans. Prophecies, like excuses, are never justifiable, but from every angle it looks like a stronger team than last year's. Any way you look at it, baseball means spring, lazy weather, long afternoons, the crack of the bat, the snap of the ball, the desperate slide, and "All the time, big boy".

Tom Jones, of Asheville, was taken into D. K. E., Tuesday night.

Colleges of State Get Together.

Recommendations not only looking to more stringent eligibility rules for North Carolina colleges, but looking to the curtailment of the number of intercollegiate contests were unanimously agreed to by representatives of six institutions in the office of the Raleigh Times. The most important recommendation s that no student shall be allowed to represent his college on athletic teams until after he has been a resident student for at least one collegiate year. A high school requirement was also recommended.

The recommendations agreed to will be submitted to the various faculty committees for approval, with the recommendation that the rules in no case be lower than the standard outlined. The matter of arranging gamesamong the several colleges was left open until a later date.

The represetatives of the University, A. & M. College, Trinity College, Wake Forest College, Guilford College, and Elon College were present. The recommendations are:

"I. That no student shall be allowed to play in an intercollegiate contest until he has been a student in residence at least one year, and that no student can play more than four years after one year's residence.

"II. That a genuine amateur standard shall be insisted upon, a professional for the present being defined as one who has played on a league under national protection.

"III, That an athlete shall pass at least eighty per cent of the work required for his class the previous year, and make a passing grade on the full work of his class during the current year.

"IV. That not more than eighteen baseball games shall be played in any one season nor more than twelve basketball games

"V. That all other matters shall be regulated by the individual colleges."

Even Being a Freshman Hath Its Charms.

The Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity offers a prize of $2.50 to the best Freshman sketch submitted to the Magazine by the 12th of March. Class exercises or any other original material may be used. The object of the prize merely is to stimulate work in this Department for this month for it is the aim of the Fraternity to develope literary talent in the University. It was believed by them that interesting the first year men was the most logical way to build up a literary atmosphere among the students.

Material must be given to W. P. Fuller or T. C. Linn. The Sigma Upsilon will judge the papers.

Beginning of the End.

Yackety Yack editors and auxiliaries are beginning to see daylight through the mass of rolls, squibs, and pictures destined for the print shop and engraving bureau, and are already matching for Pickwicks in anticipation of the happy day when the center of inertia will be transferred from here to the Observer Printing Co's plant in Charlotte. Walter Fuller, Chairman of the Humor Committee, has compiled the usual portion of college wit; Dr. Mangum says that Walter's depression is not serious, that he will be able to smile again by Easter if treated considerately.

The editors have tried to get away from the cartoon as introductory to a class or a department and to use in its place the photograph, believing that life as it is more interesting (whether seriousness or ridiculousness be demanded) than life as the pen can make it appear. For illustrating which the photograph cannot do, the book is fortunate in having obtained the aid of several excellent artists, including the staff of the Minneapolis Bureau of Engraving, who contributed so largely to last year's Yackety Yack.

The plan of the book is considerably different from that of last year's. Some minor sections have been left out in order to clear the way for a broader basis and a more effective presentation of essentials. Among the contributors to the literary strength are Governor Craig and Editor Clarence Poe, along with certain members of the faculty whose names and contributions are locked in the safe deposit vault of the Humor Department.

The managers will have the books ready to deliver the first of May.

851 Natives of State.

Accurate figures, as gathered from the report of Dr. T. J. Wilson, Jr., registrar of the University, show that of the approximately 900 students here allexcept 49 are from North Carolina. The other states and countries having representation are: South Carolina 15, Florida 10, Tennessee 6, Virginia 4, Alabama 1, District of Columbia 1, Indiana 1, Maryland 1, New York 1, Persia 1, Connecticutt 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 1, Massachusetts 1, Pennsylvania 2, Texas 1, and China 1

The Alembic Club met in the library of the Chemistry Department on Friday night with Mr. Jeffries as host. The program dealt with the life of Victor Meyer. The evening and the refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Sophomores, don't forget the banquet on March 20th. Buy tickets before your check gives out.

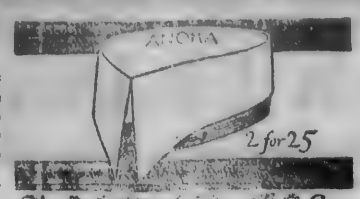
MARCH MAGAZINE OUT

Smallest Issue That Has Been Published.

The March number of the Magazine was three days late. The editors evidently forgot that February had only twenty eight days. The Magazine is by twenty pages the smallest of the year, having only forty-gve pages. Its size is due to the fact, however, that the editors had run over the contract limit on all three issues and it was felt that if a cut had to be made it would be better to make it just after the fall examinations when the literary spirit is rather low.

The contents this month are well balanced. There are three serious articles, two short stories, several poems and good departments, especially the sketches and exchanges.

The serious articles deal with the history of the Library, the Yackety Yack and Literary Culture at the University. Of the two stories, the one by Meb Long is humorous of course, and the other deals with friendship and sacrifice. The sketch department is the best yet. Especial notice should be given "The Debut of Casey's son", by L. F. Valley. Coming at the beginning of the baseball season it is especially appropriate. Read it if you have to borrow your neighbors copy.



Mercer-Hurrey Meetings Over.

Concluded from first page

half hour was occupied by a conference with the negro workers—both in the night school and the Sunday shool. "It is a great thing for best Southern men to go so earnestly at the heart of their biggest problem," he said. When he finished this, forty Bible Study leaders and group secretaries met him and occupied the time from 4 to 4:40. Then he went to his room but was followed for a further interview while he prepared for supper. Saturday night 400 men came through the driving rain to hear his last address. His subject was "The Challange of Modern Religion to Students in all Lands" Two hundred men answered this challange by staying to an after meeting and promising to lead an aggressive life in the fight for character. Some dozen students voluntarily made short talks. After a farewell meeting with the Cabinet he was hurried off in an auto through the snow and rain to try to catch the midnight train through Raleigh so that he could go home for a few hours rest before beginning one of the greatest College student meeting ever planned. And he made this last speech to fill the date that Weatherford was to have had. When it was found that the latter would be unable to attend Mr. Hurrey took his place.

And the best thing of the whole meetings is that most of the changes and resolutions are of that quiet and deliberate kind that stick.

Stuart Willis attended the meeting of the North Carolina Student Volunteers in Raleigh from Friday evening through Sunday. Some twenty-five or forty delegates were in attendance, the State Normal having the largest single delegation. All meetings except two were held in the A. & M. Y. M. C. A., one of the others being at Meredith and the other in the City churches.

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1914 NO. 21

TEAM IS READY FOR OPENING GAME

In Spite of All Exam Misfortunes a Strong Team in Sight.

PROBABLE LINE UP FOR FRIDAY PICKED.

With the first game dead ahead Earl Mack is steering his team head on with all steam on. Unless breakers interfere there will be a collision tomorrow and either Oak Ridge or Carolina will see Davy Jones' locker before the week is out.

The baseball fiends have had a taste of spring sandwiched between layers of snow, and if the present taste will continue long enough to make a full meal, Carolina will see her team in fine fighting trim before many days have past. The diamond has been repolished, and the grounders no longer jump up suddenly to meet you. Phoebe will have fewer ridges to mount as he lopes through the right garden. The team is on solid ground and is fast developing.

For the last week a game has been started adout 3:00 every evening, and with fresh men being continually interchanged in the different positions, every evening has given about two and a half hours continual work-out. The results haye given Coach a fair line on his men, although as yet no definite selection can be made; for it takes a full season to pick a team.

General Lee is bringing around a pitching staff and in the practice games played good form has already been show. Bun Hearne, of the New York team, has been helping out with his left. To pick from we have Williams, Watkins, Johnson, Shields, Foust, Craven, and even more. We are strong on catchers, too. Hart, Woodall, Knowles, Burnette, Love, and Angel are out. This list gives us high promises for a strong battery for the entire season.

In the infield we have Captain Bailey on 2nd, Patterson or Norris for first, Rousseau, Royster, or Polk for short, Lewis or Laughran probably on 3rd.

In the outfield Johnson, Bailey, Turbybill, Long, Litchfield, and others are showing up in great style.

Again, the hitting ability of the team cannot be determined. Straight drives, flies out of the fielders, reach, and well placed grounders have been much in evidence, and since Oak Ridge is said to be strong in her batteries, we may well look forward to a good test of the ability of both teams tomorrow.

We cannot say with any degree of certainty, but the probable line-up for tomorrow's game with Oak Ridge will be:

Norris or Long, first
Bailey, second
Rousseau, short
Lewis, third
Johnson, outfield
Bailey, outfield
Long, outfield
Williams or Watkins, pitcher
Hart, catcher.

CLASS TRACK MEET NEXT

Coach Cartmell Says He Likes 'Em Green.

A man told Coach Nat the other day that he would like to come out on the track and run, but was afraid he would be in the way. Coach immediately suspended his other engagements for ten minutes and tried to impress on the young student the eternal fact that the track runs around the Smith Building for no other purpose than to be run on, and that this University can't run unless a big crowd from every class comes out and run.

On March 28—two weeks from now—the class meet will be held

Every man, Senior or Fresh man or in between, should have a hand in this. If you think there is nobody else in college quite as bow-legged, skinny-ribbed, and short-winded as you, come out from now until class day and see how many other short-winded fellows you can beat. Coach says the greener you come, the better he will like you. The Fresh and Soph classes have not yet turned out their reasonable number of candidates. Coach is glad of every opportunity to get hold of a man who never ran before. And every man who goes to him will find the hour he spends on the track the best hour of the day.

Remember this: The Varsity men are not allowed to enter the class contest. You will be up against men no more trained than yourself. Come out and beat them. If you don't know the way to the track, ask your class manager or any of the old track men. They will be glad to show you.

The Varsity season opens on April 4th., when we meet Wake Forest here. The team will take trips to Raleigh, Blacksburg, Va. (V. P. I.), and Baltimore (South Atlantic meet). Out of the class teams must come new Varsity material. In particular a broad jumper is needed. Whatever you have done or can't do, the track is the best thing you can get acquainted with this spring. We need you. To-day is the time.

McNair Lectures Announced.

The subjects for the McNair Lectures to be delivered by Professor George E. Vincent on April 15-18 have been announced. The general subject is "Social Vision". The individual topics are: First night, "Larger selfishness"; second night, "Community Couscience"; third night, "Socialized Religion." Professor Vincent, who is President of the University of Minnesota, and also President of the Chatauqua Institution of New York, is one of the most interesting and stimulating speakers in the country. As President of the University of Minneosota, one of the largest colleges in the United States, he has revolutionized educational methods in the state. There is great demand for Professor Vincent as a speaker both in the east and west.

SENIORS GATHER FOR LAST BANQUET

Speeches Interesting and Practical. President Leach Presided.

A STRONG GROUP OF SPEAKERS HEARD.

On Friday night the grand old 1914 assembled at the Inn for the last and best banquet of its undergraduate days. The long tables were appropriately with eight palate-gratifying courses and headed by those Princess of College Speakers, Prof. Williams Prof. Stacy and Mr. Moss.

President Oscar Leach, as Toastmaster, turned a genial light upon the company from the beginning, and took advantage of the well-fed good nature of the class to tickle its vanity continually. The occasion was marked by a high order of good feeling associated with a serious consideration of the position of Senior life.

"We need," said Oscar Leach in his opening remarks, "a class bulletin to keep each one of us in touch with the progress of all. We might expect to read there five years from now news of the greatest interest, for instance, that Benjamin Franklin Aycock had been married to the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so; or that Mr. Troy Isaiah Jones had assumed his duties as Editor of Life."

The first speaker called on was Lenoir Chambers. Of course that gentleman protested that we ought not to expect him to make a speech. And then he turned the light on present day athletics especially in our own State. "What we need," he said "is a spirit of high ideals in athletics. And the good part about this is that if we are clean and right in athletics we will carry this same spirit into every part of our life."

The first "faculty"speaker was Mr. Moss. He praised this campus as having the atmosphere conducive to the growth of the "liberated mind," pointing out that efficiency and the "charm of personality" are alike needed in successful work. Jesse Pugh responded to Mr. Moss in a plea to the Class so preserve its unity after graduation.

Professor Williams was next called on. "A new type of statesman has appeared," said the Professor, "whom I would commend to you". He called attention to the fact on the day before, President Wilson had contradicted his party platform and turned Congress with him in his direct appeal to do the right thing regarding our obligations connected with the Panama canal tolls. Albert Holmes, in response, brought up the matter of giving any student a secon examinacion within thirty days to remove a 5 made in January.

Dean Stacy, in the last of the faculty speeches, said that amidst the many new things offered, he wanted to make a plea for the Mere facts: Carolina in this season, played 18 games, winning ten, losing eight. Four games were played on the home floor; 3 of these were won. Fourteen games were played on foreign floors; 7 won; 7 lost.

During the season Carolina lost from first-pick men Edwards, Tandy, Homewood, Andrews, and Chambers. In other words a full team of players equal in quality to the varsity team. Tandy and Ddwards were lost the day before the Virginia game, Homewood before the Wake Forest game, which lost us our chance at the State championship.

Carolina—18 games played; 10 won, 8 lost; percentage 555. 7 games played with colleges of State; 4 won, 3 lost; percentage, 571.

To the Dialectic Society,

As treasurer of the funds collected for the Aycock Memorial Cup last spring I wish te make the following report:

The price of the cup was $75.00 and it has been settled for in full. There is a balance due of $4.00, to the treasurer, two dollars of which has been subscribed.

I make this statement so that all interested may know how the matter stands.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) C. E. McIntosh.

Dramatic Club pins have been awarded to:

W. D. Kerr, H. M. Blalock, and J. A. Capps.

Those who are on the cast who received them last year are:

Conrad, Weeks, Coggin, Pitts, and Boseman.

The coaches, Profs. Booker and McKie award these pins.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS OLD.

My! My! How time does fly!

On February 23, 1893 the TAR HEEL crept shyly out of the minds of a few pioneers in the University, looked around wonderingly at the old buildings, blinked once or twice, and finally, gathering courage, blurted out the news that it had come into this world to stay, "the official organ of the Athletic Association of the University of North Carolina". On February 23, 1914 the TAR HEEL, therefore, was twenty-one years old, a full grown man, able to vote the Democratic ticket, and not afraid of a razor. And we ourselves were so busy at the time, thundering against an unrighteous generation, that the momentous date slipped by without the slightest recognition. Twenty-one years old—twenty-one years behind us and the whole wide world in front. Two weeks late though it is, we send forth gladly the greetings of healthy young manhood to an ever-growing, ever-loving mother and to her sons everywhere. With an energetic and capable staff and with nine hundred men behind us, we shall continue, please God, to work for the upbuilding of this commonwealth and the glory of the University of North Carolina.

WHY IS A CLASS BANQUET?

Why is a class banquet? Well, we have always had—no, that is not the reason. It is not the gathering around the "festive board" (Book of oratory, p. 76), nor the eating, nor the talking, nor the jokes, nor the songs, nor the cheers; it is not any or all of these combined. A certain amount of thinking has brought this as the only possible answer: It is the feeling that you have after you have left the others and walk rather soberly through the dark to your own room, thinking, perhaps, that after all its a pretty good old University and a peach of a crowd of fellows if anybody will take the trouble to know them.

If you don't catch this feeling, you miss the whole thing; if you catch it, the banquet has meant far more to you than words or money can ever express.

MORE ATHLETIC REFORM TALK.

The Raleigh Times mistakes the TAR HEEL's view when it announces that we think athletic reform is needed in the colleges of North Carolina, but that the time is not yet ripe. The time has been ripe for a good many years and right now it is so ripe that it is almost rotten. Speaking for the University of North Carolina, the TAR HEEL declares most emphatically that athletic reform is needed to-day in North Carolina.

But, at the same time, we think the proposed plan is not practical. If the seven North Carolina institutions played no teams outside the State, it would be satisfactory. But these seven North Carolina institutions do not form an athletic unit; they are not off by themselves. On the contrary, they are so closely attached to institutions in other states that what touches one should touch the other. So long as the success of the University football team is measured by the result of the Virginia game, no one can reasonably expect the University to adopt rules that will involve a severe handicap in that contest. No college in Virginia, we believe, has the proposed rules, and yet the Virginia and North Carolina colleges are continually playing each other. The ideal solution would be a South Atlantic Intercollegiate Athletic Association, modeled after the S. I. A. A., or the Western Conference, controlling every important college in this section. From such an association will come athletic reform, if it is ever to come objectively, which is doubtful.

Over and above that is the fact that the rules will not be adopted. The TAR HEEL stated editorially last week that "the plain truth of the matter is that the recommendations will not become rules". We see no reason to alter that statement. Leaving the University entirely out of the question, the recommendations will not be adopted by the other six colleges.

HOW TO GET ALONG.

Out of the wide array of reasons that might be brought forward as to why a Freshman should go out for track—and it is a wide array—and it is a wide array—we suggest only this one: practicing on the track brings a man to the attention of the University, and in the majority of cases the best known man has the best chance to get along in this world. To genuine aspirers in any field of college activity we recommend the track.

good old educational system which was not restricted to practicability, but which, loving culture for its own sake, awakened in the student the creative power of the ideal. "Though technical training has its place," he said, "let us, as regards the classic education, 'stick to Sal a little longer'" Kenneth Royall, in the closing response, gave his classmates a heart to heart talk concerning the position of a Senior, reminding them that they are looked up to as examples by the classmen and begging them not to try to fool themselves and others into the attitude of "what we get comes easy."

WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS.

The indications from the operations that are under way in connection with the proposed Greensboro, Northern and Atlantic railroad are that in a short time there may be some construction work under way. Those nearest to financial headquarters feel that the prospects are very good, and continuous efforts are under way to complete the preliminary arrangements that are necessary.

Bonds have been voted in three counties totaling $360,000. The people of Danville have agreed to invest $100,000 in terminals, the Virginia laws not allowing the issuance of bonds for the construction of railroads.

There is now a proposition to have the road go by Chapel Hill in its course from Greensboro to touch the North Carolina railroad, the Norfolk Southern and the Seaboard Air Line. It is reported that the Chapel Hill people are willing to vote $50,000 in bonds. The road would run to Chapel Hill from Haw River.

In Caswell county $75,000 were voted in bonds, in Alamance $85,000, and in Guilford $200,000 by Gilmore and Morehead townships. Sixty-five miles of road east from Greensboro will have to be built by October, 1912, for the bond issue in Guilford and Alamance to become available.

Greensboro News.

Glee Club Takes State.

The Glee Club returned last week from its annual spring trip to the western part of the State. From Greensboro to Charlotte the musicians tell a tale of successful concerts, of appreciative audiences, of hospitable alumni everywhere, of receptions, of a banquet even, in fact a genuine good time. From the standpoint of the audiences the concerts were a decided success, the various numbers of the programme being encored time and again, often to such an extent as to exhaust the repertoire of the performers. The Mandolin Club notably, which in the fall seemed rather a doubtful asset, was vastly improved and never failed in scoring a hit. Further more, following the good precedent set in the last two or three years, the Glee Club not only made expenses but came out with a substantial balance on the right side. The towns visited were Greensboro, Statesville, Hickory, Lenoir Gastonia, and Charlotte in order named.

Good Roads for All the State.

From March the 17th to the 19th, inclutive, a convention of Engineers and Road Superintendents of the State will be held in Chapel Hill under the auspices of the Highway Department of the University and the Survey Office. The object is to promote a state-wide interest in good roads and their development. Upon arrival the engineers will register as students at the Administration Building so as to feel that the course is given by the college.

The lectures will be held in the Peabody Building, both afternoon and night being illustrated with stereoptican slides. A special lecture on "Good Roads in Foreign Lands" will be accompanied with motion pictures.

General topics for papers to be submitted by the engineers run as follows: Road Construction, Bridge Construction, Road Surfacing Materials, and Economics of Good Roads. Talks will be give by Messrs Pratt, Cobb, Stacy and Hickerson, all of the University, while a special talk will be given by Mr. Eldridge of the U. S. Office of Public Roads. Between 60 and 70 men are expected and a good influence and noticeable results are expected.

Sixth Number of Extension Series.

The sixth number of the University Extension Bulletins has recently come from the press, but as yet has not been distributed. This bulletin is a handbook on public discussion and debate, and is to be issued to all the public schools in the State. The handbook is divided into six sections, arranged according to their relative importance. The first deals with the importance and value of public debate, and shows the necessity of early training in public speaking. The second deals with the preparation and delivery of a debate. The third contains model queries with brief outlines of the argument of each, and references. The fourth gives a number of queries without outlines or references. The fifth gives a list of debator's hand books, and names of agencies from which material for debate can be obtained. The sixth offers a model constitution with by-laws for high school literary societies. The handbook is written clearly and concisely and will certainly be a service of much profit to high school debators.

DR. PRATT ON NATURAL RESOURCES.

Wednesday a week ago, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt started a series of short chapel talks on the natural resources of North Carolina and the conservation of them. He told us of the different kinds of natural resources we have: namely, the resources of the soil, those of the rivers and sounds, mineral products, and water power.

THE LOWLY HOOKWORM.

The hookworm disease is a greater danger and has worked more harm in this country than tuberculosis, according to Dr. A. J. Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania, who first discovered the hookworm in the United States. In money value alone, he declared, the Southern States lost from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 annually as a result of the scourge. In his lecture, one of the University's courses of free Saturday afternoon asdresses, Dr. Smith explained the origin of the disease and its course of operation. It was introduced into this country, he said, with importations of slaves from Africa. The hookworm finds lodgment most easily in the black race, he said, but chiefly harms the Caucasian.

LASLEY WINS PEACE WAR

I. M. Bailey Wins Second In Peace Contest

Through an error the account of the Peacecontest Monday night week was ommitted from the TAR HEEL.

R. L. Lasley '14, with the subject of "Peace—the High Word of Unity" won over L. H. Ranson, I. M. Bailey, J. F. Pugh, and W. B. Umstead Monday night, March 4, in the State preliminaries of the Mohawk conference for International Peace. I. M. Bailey speaking on "The Logic of Universal Peace" was chosen as alternate in case Mr. Lasley will be unable for any reason to attend the State meet in Greensboro.

The topics of the others were as follows: J. F. Pugh, "Peace: an Intellecttal Problem;" W. B. Umstead, "The Final Progress of Peace;" "Ratty" Ranson, "The Forces That Make for International Peace."

The judges were Dr. Royster, Prof. McGhee, and Dr. Bain. Prof. Patterson presided.

In continuing his talk Dr. Pratt gave some of the details and facts concerning North Carolina forests. At the present rate of cutting timber it will be only a few years before the forests are destroyed unless the practice of forestry is put to good use all over the state. North Carolina ranks high in the tanning industry and in manufacturing pine and hardwoods. There are over 200 different species of trees in the state, due to the remarkable differences in climate of the several parts of the state. The appeal for the preservation of our forests demands the attention of all people of the state.

North Carolina now controls anb utilizes about 75,000 horsepower of her watorpower but this amount could be increased to five times as much if all available was harnessed. However, there is great danger of the present amount of waterpower diminishing unless the people of the state become educated to the fact and practise forestry and land preparation according to improved methods.

There is no mineral in the catalogue that can't be found in our state. Our output of the more precious minerals is comparatively small. North Carolina mines better mica and more of it than any other state of the Union. Mount Airy granite has no equal in building purposes any where in America. There is an inexhaustable supply of this commodity and the output steadily increases in amount and value.

Freshmen Meet.

The Freshmen met in Chapel last week and elected Wilson Dalton class baseball manager, and Francis Jordan class track manager. A committee was appointed to confer with the like committees from the other classes to make arrangements for entertainment Junior week.

An institute for road engineers will be held here next week under the auspices of the University and of the Geological survey.

Miss Mary Alexander Seddon of Norfolk, Va. who has been visiting Miss Alice Noble has returned home.

BURNETT WINS FIRST LAP

Squire Barbee Decides That $50 is Just Claim.

The case of Jas. A. Burnette vs. the Southern Railway was brought up for preliminary hearing before Squire Barbee yesterday afternoon. The case was: did Jas. A. Burnette have ground for the recovery of fifty dollars damages on account of the delay of the special train to Richmond last Thanksgiving? Mr. McLendon, the attorney for the plaintiff introduced the testimony of several witnesses and of the North Carolina statutes to show that he did. Mr. Parker, the railway attorney introduced the testimony of the Traveling Passenger Agent of the road, Mr. Jones and tried to convince the court that the plaintiff had no case. However, he did not succeed; the verdict was in favor of the plaintiff. The case will be carried into the higher courts.

Mr. Lacy Addresses Y. M. C. A.

Mr. B. R. Lacy, formerly quarter back of Davidson and Rhodes scholar and now student at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, spent Tuesday and Wednesday on the Hill. Tuesday night he addressed a large number of students at the regular Y. M. C. A. evening service. His talk was on the need of men for christian work both in the regular ministry and on the home and foreign fields. His talk was especially interesting because it was largely personal experience. He has worked among the mountaineers of east Tennessee and also has traveled in foreign heathen lands.

Wednesday morning he spoke in Chapel on the subject of "Power". He gave various illustrations of the fact that we all respect and admire power in whatever form manifested. He then went on to show that while the power of God is not as plainly seen as the power of steam for instance in running a locomotive, yet it is just as present in every thing connected with our daily lives.

Mr. Lacy spent a large part of his time in personal talks with individuals who are considering the ministry as a possible profession

Many Entries for Varsity Debates.

The preliminaries to the Hopkins and Virginia debates will be held next Monday and Tuesday nights, March 16, 17. An unusually large crowd of speakers are preparing to contest for the honor of representing Carolina against these worthy opponents. The query is: Resolved, that the political interests of the U. S. demand the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. On Monday night we will pick a team on the Affirmative which will go to Charlottesville and represent us against Hopkins. On Tuesday night we will select a team on the Negative to meet Virginia at Baltimore. These final debates are scheduled for April 18. At that same time Virginia and Hopkins will send teams here to debate in Gerrard Hall. Under this arrangement each team gets a trip and debates on neutral ground. The judges for each of the three debates will be chosen from the members of the faculty of the institution at which the debate is held. The faculty committee on Debating will act as judges of our preliminaris, selecting Carolina's representatives.

CAROLINA STARTS WITH A VICTORY

Shuts Out Oak Ridge While She Makes Nine Runs. Earns Five.

WATKINS FANS SIXTEEN MEN.

Every inhabitant of Chapel Hill, except the halt, the maimed and the blind, saw Carolina open her 1914 baseball season Tuesday on the home grounds with Oak Ridge as opponents. There was the usual speculation as to who would pitch the first game and in addition who would be on first, second, third, and at catch. Woodall put on the mask, Watkins mounted the rubber, Hardison took the initial sack, Rousseau went to short, and "Mac" Lewis to third.

Watkins wound up slowly, the first batter hit the first pitched ball, Mac Lewis in his first varsity game caught the pop up and made the first out, and the season was on. Watkins threw four balls this inning. Only twice was he in any trouble at all, in the fifth and eighth. The first time poor support was the cause, the second a double and a bad pitch. Both times he saved himself by refusing to let the batter touch the ball. In the ninth he cut loose and showed what he could do. He wound up eleven times, one was fouled, one was a ball. He fanned sixteen men. In two innings he fanned three men.

Lewis made as pretty a one handed diving stab of a hot grounder and a quick recovery for a successful throw, in the first as you would want to see. The batting of Hardison was a feature of the game, he coming out with a clean record of 1000. He is credited with nine put outs, he and Watkins assuming the responsibility for twenty-five retirements.

The score by innings follows:

FIRST INNING.

Upchurch fouled out to third. Mackie out second to first. Hooks out third to first.

Litchfied walked. Baily ditto. Hardison sacrificed both runners a base. Woodall skied to right, Litchfield scoring and Bailey taking third. Johnson was safe on first's error and Bailey scored. Baily skied to left who missed, Johnson taking third and Bailey second. Lewis flied to center. Two runs.

SECOND INNING.

Watkins fanned Hasty, Coble and Moore in succession.

Rousseau fanned. Watkins grounded out short to first. Litchfield flied to center.

THIRD INNING.

Brittain fanned. Hooks out second to first. May fanned.

Bailey walked. Hardison bunted and beat it out. Woodall sacrificed both runners a base. Johnson flied to second and Bailey to center.

FOURTH INNING.

JUNIORS FEED JOYFULLY

List of Speakers Large and All Good.

On Friday night the Juniors held their annual banquet in the University Inn, and, despite the fact that Friday was the thirteenth and the tickets were $1.85 it is alleged that they enjoyed a very delightful evening.

The purpose of class banquets was shown by Mr. Fuller by reading Mr. Chambers' editorial on the subject after the second course, and the banquet, if any, lived up to the requirements.

Acting-Presiden Graham made the first speech of the evening with a plea for higher University unity and class ideals. Mr. Newsom followed with a statement of the achievements and hopes of the Class.

Dr. Greenlaw, our self-styled "Freshman Professor", spoke of the depth and richness of the historical associations connected with our old buildings and campus as contrasted with the newness and up-to-dateness of other colleges where he had been. Mr. Tamraz began his response by apologizing for any breaks he might make in his English and the went ahead advocating closer union between the professional and academic students.

And so it went, Prof. Stacy, Mr. Moss, Frank Graham, R. T. Bryan, Boushall and Paty, each advocating some pet reform and each giving the class what it expected, a good speech.

The chief reform and probably the most needed one was the conduct of students toward the girls in the Pickwick. Definate steps were taken with the hope that some good might result.

The program, extemporaneous speeches, cigars and banquet lasted until after 1 A. M., but who cares. Every one enjoyed everyone else and everything.

DR. GREENLAW AT Y. M. C. A.

Discusses Bible Simply as a Literature.

Dr. E. A. Greenlaw spoke interestingly at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday night on "The Literary Value of the Bible." Dr. Greenlaw stated that the Bible contains all forms of literature, but this fact is not generally recognized because one does not read the Bible through so as to get an idea of the whole book; and because the Bible is unfortunately not divided according to the various forms of literature. He showed by illustrations from books of Isaiah and Job the fact that the Bible contains excellent drama. Dr. Greenlaw recommended the use of Mollen's annotated books of the Bible as an aid in reading the Bible from both a literary and a religious standpoint. The address was much enjoyed.

F. H. May ex-'15 was over to see the ball game Tuesday. He is at present Editor and Publisher of the Wake Times of Wendell, N. C.

VARSITY DEBATE TEAMS SELECTED

Higgins and J. A. Holmes on Aff. K. Royall and F. Webster Neg.

DI SOCIETY GETS THREE PLACES.

Out of the large crowd of contestants, the debating teams to represent Carolina on the platform against John Hopkins and Virginia this spring have been chosen. The affirmative is composed of C. A. Higgins and J. A. Holmes, both of the Dialetic Literary society. On the negative there is one Di and one Phi, F. L. Webster, being from the former, and Kenneth Royal, representing the latter.

The affirmative team will go to Charlottesville and debate against Hopkins, The negative will meet Virginia in Baltimore. Both of those institutions will send their representatives here and all the debates will be held on April 18rd. On this same day the ball team will cross bats with Virginia in Durham.

The successful contestants were selected after two nights tryouts. On Monday night all candidates for the affirmative met in the Phi Hall and delivered their speeches before President Graham, Dr. Wagstaff and Prof. Williams. Dr. Raper is the third member of the Faculty committee on Debating, which acted as judges, but as he was off the Hill, Dr. Wagstaff served in his place. Those speaking on this night were, C. W. Higgins, J. A. Holmes, I. Stragborn, T. C. Boushall, Carlton, Lee, J. G. Daniels, Gus Graham and J. L. Orr.

Tuesday night the meeting was held in the same Hall, but Dr. Chase served in Dr. Raper's place this time. The contestants for the negative team were, K. C. Royal, "Tick" Webster, Peel, O. Leach, S. W. Whiting, Mc Neal, Owen, and Wall.

THE UNIVERSITY SERMON

Delivered by Rev. Howard of Durham Methodist.

Last Sunday Rev. Howard of the Durham Methodist church delivered the University sermon. His text was taken from St. John 14- "I am the way, the truth and the light." He showed that we haven't seen God unless we have seen him manifested in human beings, that our minds must be full of the love of God before we can know Him. Christ is the one example of the perfect life which we have to follow. We are all tossed about by sin and passion; the spirit of God must save us. The spirit of man wants to know that the face of God is turned toward him. He is the fountain of all sweetness and the source of all strength.

Rev. Howard's sermon was excellent and made a profound impression on his hearers.

DR. C. H. HERTY HONORED

Winners of Nobel Prize in Chemistry Praises.

Copies of the discourse of Prof. Alfred Werner of the University of Zurich, Seitzerland, just received in this country contain a statement of uncommon interest to North Carolians, particularly those who are interested in the large part that University professors play in scientific progress. Professor Werner received the Nobel Prize for Chemistry ($40,000) last year. The present discourse was delivered by Professor Werner in receiving this prize. In it he outlined the successive steps in the development of his idea concerning the constitution of inorganic compounds.

Professor Werner speaks of only two men whose work bears an important relation to his investigations. One is A. Miolati, an Italian, the other Professor Charles H. Herty, head of the department of Chemistry in the University of North Carolina Professor Werner says, in speaking of his two investigations, carried out with Miolai, and Dr. Herty that "They constituted the best experimental foundation on which would be erected the new structure of the constitution of inorganic compounds."

On the practical side of science Dr. Herty has made one of the most notable contributions to Southern economic progress ever contributed by a single man. This is through the Herty cup, a device for saving the pine forest. A few years ago a writer in the World's Work estimated that at that time this system of harvesting the turpentine saved the South annually $20,000,000.

Phi Society Debates Live Subject.

The regular debate in the Phi Society Saturday night was of peculiar interest to Carolina men and was interestingly and hotly contested from the start. The query was: Resolved, That a course in football with Trenchard as teacher should be established next fall for players and future high school coaches. The affirmative won. Oliver Rand made the best speech and W. A. Marlowe received honorable mention.

Phi Fresh-Soph Preliminaries.

The preliminaries in the Phi Society for the annual Fresh-Soph debate have been held. Oliver Smith of 1916 won decidedly over his rivals who were B. F. Auld, Hugh Hester, and Walter Rouse. Virginius Williams, the winner of the Freshman Debate of the Phi's last fall was again chosen to be the lucky Freshman. Other contestants to represent the Society against the Di's were W. R. Allen Jr., James Patton, Justin Maxwell, W. A. Marlowe and F. Carr. The query is: Resolved That the true solution of the trust problem lies in the regulion of combinations rather than in the breaking up of combinations and restoring competition. The Phi's defend the affirmative.

FIRST GOOD ROAD CONVENTINN HELD

Over Forty County Road Officials Attend the Meetings.

MEETINGS LAST FOR THREE DAYS.

The Good Roads Institute held under the auspices of the Department of Civil and Highway Engineering of the University and the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey began Tuesday morning and continued through excellent talks and helpful discussions for three days, ending this afternoon. The Institute was under the supervision of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, the State Geologist, who conducted the meetings to a successful finish. The meetings were intended to be clearing-house for ideas relative to road construction in the state and at the close of the lectures and discussions Dr. Pratt expressed himself as being highly pleased; that their desired effect was accomplished as far as one could reasonably expect, it being the first gathering of the kind ever held in the state.

There were forty-two County Road Engineers and Superintendants registered at the Peabody building, in the spacious lecture rooms there. There were many others also in attendance including out-of-town visitors, Chapel Hill citizans and a few hundred students, especially the students from the engineering department of the University. In point of attendance this first meeting was surely a success.

Acting President Graham opened Tuesday morning with an address of welcome being followed by Professor Wm. Cain with a general introduction on the "Principles of Road Location". Next came talks by D. Tucker Brown, Road Organizer and Engineer of the N. C. Good Roads Association, and Prof. T. F. Hickerson, on the problems of locating, surveying, and mapping the roads. Dr. Pratt gave lectures on the materials to be used in the construction of roads, being ably assisted by M. C. S. Reeve of the U. S. Office of Public Roads. Talks on the Drainage of Roads, County Bridges, Culverts, and good roads in Foreign lands were made. The Institute closed by talks on the maintenance of roads and the organization of road forces. After each meeting discussions were held and any points and suggestions were heard and explained. These free discussions gave much life and enthusiasm to the men gathered there for mutual information in this great problem of all ages. Assisting in the lecture work were also Prof. Collier Cobb, John M. Ambler, Road Engineer, N. C. Hughes Jr., R. A. Burnett, Road Engineer, Prof. M. H. Stacy, and R. G. Lassiter, Road Contractor.

The effects of the Good Roads Institute will certainly be far-reaching and its success at its first attempt assures the men be-

GAMBLING AND PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

The University Catalogue, speaking of the University Council, makes this succinct statement: "Thus it can be seen that the student body has an effective system of self-government, that motive power of the self-government is student sentiment, and that the organ of expression of this sentiment is the University Council." To all of this, and especially to the middle clause, the Tar Heel cries Amen. "The motive power of this self-government is student sentiment." With student sentimen self government becomes at once completely effective. Without student sentiment self-goveanment is nothing.

We quote again from the University Catalogue: "The student sentiment expresses itself in this way (expulsion) in case of gambling". Gambling is supposed to be a violation of the honor system. It is so listed in the catalogue and it would very probably be so designated if a vote were taken in the student body.

With these two thoughts in mind and with a deep feeling of the importance of the entire self-government idea to the University, the Tar Heel finds itself running against a stone-wall. Old men in college say that there is more gambling going on right now than there has been in years. The comparison may or may not be accurate, but one thing is certain: there is a great deal of gambling in college now. Further, we believe it is being done more openly and that more people know about it. According to the theory of the self-government idea, when a man knows of gambling, he will report it to the Council, and that body will express the sentiment of the student body. We venture the assertion that there are in the University today two hundred men who are morally certain that gambling is in vogue and could name a big percentage of the players. They have not the slightest idea of appearing before the Council and telling all they know.

And that brings us to the point: there is no real sentiment in the University against gambling. If the opinion of every student could be secured, a big majority would probably array itself against gambling. But many of that majority know but little about the habits of the men who naturally would gamble, and seem to care less. The two hundred men on the inside are by no means bad citizens. They would be quick to report a case of cheating, but toward gambling they are simply indifferent. They are acting honestly with themselves when they say that they do not care whether a man plays poker or not.

In what sort of a quandary does this situation leave the University Council? Without an active sentiment the Council degenerates into a police force. That is what it is now as regards gambling. And it is not a very efficient police force either, because the members have no wish to serve as policemen, and further, knowing the indifference of the student body, become idifferent themselves. The Council amounts to exactly as much as student sentiment makes it amount to—and no more.

To the Tar Heel it appears that there are only two possible courses: openly remove gambling from the jurisdiction of the honor system, or create a sentiment against gambling.

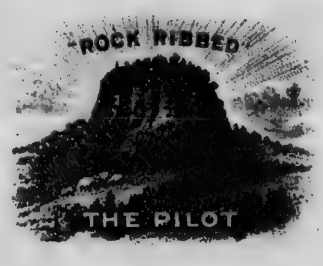
WHY?

To that list of immortal fools, the man who looked down the gun-barrel, the man who cried, "Fire" in a crowded building, the man who rocked the boat, we would add another fool: the man who painted 17 on the stand-pipe. No other name fits him; he is a fool of the fools.

Are we never to realize that the less we say about some things, the better it will be all around? It is doubtful if the entire history of the University can show such a year of continued, sincere co-operation to keep the University's fair name clean and unsullied. Is the whole year's record to be wiped out in a second?

To the man who painted 17 on the stand-pipe and to the men who are responsible for that sort of feeling among the Freshmen, we warn: For your own good, let sleeping dogs lie.

CARTMELL'S METHOD



"I am not going to bother about eligibility rules. I am going to take what is given me and do the best I can with it."

These words of Coach Cartmell's quoted in Chapel by Dr. Mangum when he awarded the State Championship Cup to the track team, should be driven into the heart of every coach who comes to this University. Not by importation, not by twisting rules, not by anything unnatural, is Carolina going to produce winning teams. The only kind of winning teams that this student body wants, the only kind that is worth while anywhere, is the kind that is developed out of students. Nat Cartmell and the track team have been a shining example of what can be accomplished by hard work and little talk. North Carolina boys know less of track athletics than they do of football, but continued application of the same system of teaching must produce a winner. And there has been little talk about it.

EVERYWOMAN.

Along came "Everywoman," and these University of North Carolina boys, these degenerates, these moral impossibilities, these lost ones who revel in the musical comedies, these rowdies, these country jays, these profligates (what else have we been called?)—these Carolina men were attracted in greater numbers than they have ever been attracted by any other show in Durham. And, moreover, they gave to a wonderful sermon as sympathetic attention as any actor could wish. And moreover again, they have declared unanimously that it was the best performance ever given in Durham. It does begin to look as though there were some hope for us yet.

It goes equally well with the Moonlight Sonata or Rag—The leaf, the selection of experts—aged hanging in the warehouse for two years. A maturing that is seldom accorded any leaf. COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Three Classes Plan to Have Reunions

The 1914 commencement of the University of North Carolina has been arranged with respect to the securing of the chief speakers for the occasion. Hon. W. C. Redfield, United States Secretary of Commerce, will make the chief address on Wednesday, June 3. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday, May 31, the opening day of commencement, by Dr. Edgar P. Hill, a noted Chicago divine. The Y. M. C. A. sermon will be delivered Sunday night by Dr. O. E. Brown, a teacher in Vanderbilt University Theological School.

Judge Van Wyck of New York City will make the alumni speech on Tuesday, June 2. Judge Van Wyck graduated from the University of North Carolina with the class of 1854. Other than being a well-known lawyer of Broadway, he has long been interested in New York State politics. He was once a candidate for Governor of New York, making the race against Theodore Roosevelt.

In addition to these features on the program, many classes are making preparations for reunions at the coming commencement. Three classes--1904, 1909 and 1913--are exerting special efforts to have every member of their class return on this home coming event.

hind the movement of its future success. Lively interest in the road problem is increasing and on the Good Roads Institute we can henceforth depend as a clearing-house of all problems and ideas which may arise in this great movement now on a boom in North Carolina.

The Freshmen Have The Stuff.

A Freshman asked Monday, "Who is that man Lumni? He is going to give us $100 if we raise $50." At the freshmen class meeting Monday they decided on an assessment to raise the desired $50. Having raised this amount they shall receive $50 also from the Athletic Association; and this sum, $200, will be used in defraying expenses of playing high school baseball teames this spring.

Assuming that the sophomores come across with their share there ought to be some baseball this spring. There are rumors of a heavy interclass schedules also.

210th Meeting.

On Tuesday the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society met, for the 210th time. The meeting was held in Chemistry Hall.

There were three papers, the first being delivered by Dr. C. S. Mangum under the title of "The Study of Morphology by the Reconstruction Method." Mr. Jeffries then discussed the "Relation of color to Structure in Organic Compounds." Dr. A. S. Wheeler closed the regular program with "Desmotropy".

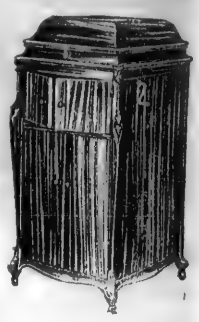
Officers to Be Elected.

When Dr. Greenlaw had concluded his talk on Tuesday night, J. R. Gentry read the names of the men nominated by the committee for the ensuing year. They are: for president, T. C. Bousholl and W. P. Fuller; for secretary, F. O. Clarkson and R. E. Parker; for treasurer, R. B. House. These men will be voted on next Tuesday night. It is the desire of the officials that there be a large attedance on this night.

Rhodes Scholar Honored.

Announcement comes from England that Edgar W. Turlington, Rhodes scholar from North Carolina, and a member of the class of 1910 of the State University, is one of the Oxford scholars to be awarded a "first-class" in the Honor Schools. Mr. Turlington is one of the six scholars admitted to read for advanced degrees.

No More Non-de-Plumes Please.



The Magazine wishes to announce that hereafter no contributions will be considered unless accompanied by the authors name. If the author does not wish to have his name used, the Editors will, of course, respect that wish. This rule is made simply as a matter of convenience for the Editors.

Dr. Bell showed the Journal Club about all there is known at the present time about Colloidal Chemistry Monday night. Besides a very interesting lecture on the subject, he had many very interesting and beautiful experiments, which he performed by the aid of Mr. Flume.

The University is making preparations to plant hedges so as to screen the Power house and the piles of wood, wreckage and trash heaped behind the Memorial Hall. One hedge runs from the south side of Memorial to the old stiff house, the other from the west side to Commons.

The class track meet has been postponed from Saturday March 28 to Monday 30 on account of a baseball game on Saturday. Everybody is urged to come out and make things lively. Look in the next issue of the Tar Heel for the big list of prizes.

CLASS BASEBALL STARTS

Freshmen Have Eight Teams on the Field.

The first call for class baseball candidates was issued Monday. That same afternoon seventy two hopeful freshmen swarmed on the class field and began to buzz. The first year men are surely loyal to the call and in their number will be found much good material. Just think of eight whole teams to pick from. There is a lot of form shown in these men and the other classes will have to put on extra steam to catch up with the freshmen in the pace which they are sure to set in the contest for class honors. Besides inter-class games there are to be some games played with various high schools of the state.

There were six Juniors out for practice. They still have some excellent material despite the loss of some of their most reliable men. They tell that they have a fine pitcher and catcher, but they also say that the trouble is that he is the same man. Last year this team won the championship. Are they repeaters?

The sophs have not reported for practice yet. Probably they will have some games with several prep schools of the state.

Regarding the seniors there is never a rumor. They will probably not get out a team as Ratty has decided to stick to track this year.

DeWitt Kluttz is again to be the overseer of the freshmen--his charges of last fall in football. He will soon have them in good shape. The sophs will also get the benefit of his excellent coaching.

From Coach Trenchard it is learned that the Alumni Athletic Association and probobly the Athletic Association both are willing to put up each as much money as the two lower classse to finance games between them and high schools. He says he thinks the sophomores are justified in claiming a rebate from the Athletic Association because after they had put up their money scheduled games were cancelled by the prep schools.

Carolina Starts With a Victory.

Mackie sacrificed. Hooks flew out to left, and Hasty fanned.

Lewis popped up to short. Rousseau out pitcher to first. Watkins ditto.

FIFTH INNING.

Coble safe on Rousseau's error. Moore bunted and was safe on a fielders choice. Brittain fanned. Hooks was safe on second's error, choking the sacks. May fanned and when Upchurch sent a weakly one to Watkins, Coble was forced at home.

Litchfield singled to center and stole second. Bailey in an attempted sacrifice popped up to May. Hardison singled to center and Litchfield tallied. Hardison took second on a wild throw by May in attempting to catch him off first. Hardison took third on a wild pitch. Woodall skied to second and Johnson fanned. One run.

SIXTH INNING.

Mackie hit to short and beat it out. He stole second and third. Hooks fanned. Hasty fanned. Coble grounded out pitcher to first.

Bailey, H., skied to right. Lewis singled to center. Rousseau singled past third. Watkins bunted but third and short pulled the Alphonso-Gaston stunt and the hit went for two bases. Lewis scored and Rousseau took third. Litchfield singled and Rousseau tallied, Watkins taking third. Litchfield stole second. Bailey fanned. Hardison singled to center and Watkins and Litchfield scored. Hardison stole second, and took third on a wild throw. Woodall walked and stole second. Hardison scored and Woodall took third on first's error. Woodall came home on a passed ball. Johnson skies to right. Six runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

Moore out on a grounder to Hardison. Brittain fanned. Hooks doubled to right center. May grounded out second to first Bailey fanned. Lewis grounded out second to first. Rousseau fanned.

EIGHTH INNING.

Upchurch fanned. Mackie singled to left and took second on a wild pitch, Hooks walked and Hafty grounded out third to first, both runners advancing. Coble fanned.

Watkins popped up to second. Litchfield and Bailey fanned.

NINTH INNING.

Moore fanned. Brittain ditto for the fourth time. Hooks fanned.

PRELIMINARY HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

Thirty-One Schools Qualify Out of One Hundred and Fifty Entries Making 124 Contestants.

FROM A TOTAL OF FIFTY-ONE ENTERING, ELEVEN YOUNG LADIES REACH FINALS.

The first stage in the Second Annual North Carolina High School Dabating Contest took place last Friday when one hundred and fifty triangles of high schools throughout the state held their local debates upon the query, Resolved, that the constitution of North Caralina should be so amended as to allow the initiative and Referendum in State wide Legislation. Each school had two teams, one for each of its competitors in its own triangle, defending the negative against one, the affirmative against the other. To qualify for the contest at the University, a school must defeat both its opponents, that is, must win both sides of the question. Of the one hundred and fifty triangles the following towns, thirty-one in all with fourteen yet to hear from, have won places in the second preliminary, which will be held here April 2 and 3:

Apex, Asheville, Atkinson, Belmont. Bethania, Booneville, Dallas, Durham, Fallston, Glen Alpine, Graham, Holly Springs, King, Kinston, Lenoir, Lucama, Lumberton, Marshville, Mt. Ulla, Newbern, North Wilkesboro, Pikeville, Stem, Sylvan, Troutmans, Warrenton, Whitakers, Winston-Salem.

Of the hundred and twenty-four debaters making up these teams eleven are young ladies, and three of these are from one town Graham. There were fifty-one girls in the first contest. The contest here will consist of a weeding-out preliminary Thursday night. A similar preliminary of the survivors Friday morning, and the final debate between the winning affirmative and negative teams Friday night. To the victor here will be awarded the cup and with it the championship of four hundred and fifty schools.

The program follows:

Thursday Aprii 2.

12:30 p. m.—Arrival of debaters.
2:30 p. m.—Drawing for places, Y. M. C. A.
3:00 p. m.—Baseball. Carolina vs. Hampden-Sydney.
7:30 p. m.—First preliminary.

Friday April 3.

9:00 a. m.—Second preliminary.
10:00 a. m.—Automobile rides.
3:00 p. m.—Intre- Scholastic track meet.
8:00 p. m.—Final Debate—Gerrard Hall.
10:00 p. m.—Reception in Library.

The debaters while at the University will be entertained by the members of their county clubs and by the faculty.

Trinity Passes "Conference Rules."

Several weeks ago representatives from the larger colleges of the State met in Raleigh and recommended a set of uniform athletic rules. Trinity College has taken steps to pass them. After thorough discussion by the classes, the Athtetic Association, the Faculty Athletic Committee and the Faculty these rules were adopted with the provision that they will not go into force until all the other colleges in the state adopt them. They are prepared to send a representative to any future meeting to promote the matter,

SOPHS EAT, NAME FRESH AND YELL

Professors Graham, Williams and Booker Represent the Faculty.

PATHETIC ODE TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS

On Friday night, March 20, the Sophs enjoyed a feast of rare sweetmeats and still rarer good times. The whole class was in a good humor, and speeches that were made in English that would have shown up very poorly in a grammar school sounded on the ears like the voices of Lincoln or Webster. Some even say that they enjoyed Mac Louis' joke about the Freshmen. The menu of this occasion happened not to be the smallest part of the program, and course after course of tempting delights was brought in on ebony waiters, the class showing a decided preference for ebony over the ivory waiters in vogue at most banquets of equal tone. The appetite for each course was whetted and coaxed by a choice speech either by some member of the faculty or by some member of 1916, truly an altogether unnecessary thing as far as appetites were concerned. The president of the class and toastmaster of the occasion, Tom Linn, introduced first Mr. Graham. Mr. Graham spoke in his straight, directly-applied fashion on the subject of loyalty to the University, and in his open, friendly tone showed the ideal relation between students and faculty. In the midst of his speech members of the Freshman class disclosed their true colors and ideas of a University by giving noble yells for 1917, and rolling stones on the porch. In response to Mr. Graham, Bill Umstead spoke about debating. The next speaker was Dr. Horace Williams, who like Mr. Hester, was at that time attending his first Sophomore banquet. Dr. Williams put three types of men up and compared them, showing the greatest type for imitation. On account of the disablement of Meb Long, Bob House spoke in his place, and made a very interesting talk about University traditions, and the proper attitude to be assumed toward them. Dr. Booker was the next speaker, and his talk concerned the choice of life work for a boy. He described the custom the Germans have had in applying thier urchins to work along definite lines early in there boyhood, bringing out both the advantages and disadvantages of such a system. Mabel's Champion appeared next, and in highly indignant phrases condemned the conduct at the Pickwick. Everybody enjoyed Herschel's speech, and made it known by the outward sign of enjoyment His speech was so forceful that the class took a move to join the Juniors in an effort to make our Pickwick an affair of formality. After this the whole class spoke, not all at once but singly; at any rate the whole class was called on, and those who had not killed speech by eating, responded. Cigarettes and knock-out tubes followed.

Then came the revenge. The law forbids hazing; therefore the Freshmen are as big as anything on the campus, and a big crowd of them bigger than anything. The bloody things were named; that is those that could be named were named, and some had to be left out for lack of imagination on the part of the committee. The list follows. This finished up all indoor business.

Yells on the campus followed, and a big bonfire at the well. The noise continued until 3:30. Town was visited and stripped of its signs; a wagon was lett intact in the Alumni building; 1917, a full-dressed dummy, was strung up on the big oak near the Chapel.

Everything was happy,
Everything was gay,
Everything coutinued
Till the break of day.

MR. ALFRED NOYES PROVES A TREAT

Reads Own Poetry With Few Comments. Charges Armor Trusts With War Sentiment.

HIS PERSONAL QUALITIES AND MANNER WERE VERY PLEASING TO AUDIENCE.

The members of the University community who heard Alfred Noyes Wednesday night in Gerrard Hall came away with the knowledge that they had had a treat. To most of those present the poet was a surprise and somewhat of-a revelation. The man himself, youthful, did not fit in with the popular concept of a great poet, whatever that concept is. His appearance was more that of an athlete than of a litterateure. His manner was straight forward, at times almost aggressive. His voice would not be called musical, deep and rugged rather. The sum total was an impressiveness that seized and held his audience from the moment he rose at Dr. Henderson's graceful introduction until he closed his book. too soon for every one present.

Instead of a lecture on poetry, Mr. Noyes read or rather talked a few of his best known and most popular poems. The nine that he chose were almost so many different types, yet about and in them all was something that bound them together and distinguished them as kin. It is hard to improve on Dr. Henderson's characterization of him as a new poet with a new poetry. From the light to the serious, from folklore to philosophy, in gladness and in pathos he seemed equally at home with his subject. Further, that his knowledge of English life was personal, intimate, and varied was apparent in the picteresque old Devonshire seaman of "The Admiral's Ghost" and in the poem "In Anwer to One Who Did Not and Could Not Know", the "unpractical poet's" reply to the scientific skepticism upon the origin of the world was fine. "Electric Tram" with its common and sordid little touches incident to the life of a London street. But it was in his last two selections, probably, that Mr. Noyes showed himself best. The first, "The Makers of War", written as a prologue to a longer poem on the Balkan war, is a vivid arraignment of the armament interests of Europe, who he charges were a large factor in causing the Balkan war, that they may sell their wares. England is indifferent to this war because they do not have any adequate idea of the horrors and suffering in its train, it is kept from her, she "does not see the blood". The last poem, on the same subject, was written in answer to the charge that peace with its luxury is the corrupter of nations. He wrote intensely, to the contrary, to the effect that war with its cruelty is the brutalizer of man. If you knew nothing else about the poet, from these last two poems you would feel that the subject of world peace was more than all others in reality his theme. In hearing him, the earnestness of the man gripped you. He was living what he read.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEN

Seventy-five Men at Least Will be Here.

Fifty men have sent in their eligibility blanks properly filled out and signed and are ready to enter the High School Track Meet which will be held here Friday, April 3rd. There are six other schools which have signified their intention of entering but have not as yet sent in their entries. They will in all probability send the number to seventy-five. All arrangements regarding officials and entertainment have been attended to; the only thing remaining to do now is to sell enough tickets at 25 cents each to defray the expenses of the meet. These twenty-five cent tickets are to be the only source of revenue and it is the intention of the Committee to see every man in the college and town. The medals are here—that is in the express office marked C. O. D.

Charles White Tunis, a student here from 1909-1912, died in Clifton Arizonia a few days ago. Mr. Tunis was a citizen of Elizabeth City. He left in the middle of his senior year and went west where he accepted a position with the Arizonia Copper Company.

ALFRED NOYES, POET.

Alfred Noyes comes to Chapel Hill, reads half a dozen poems, and what then? Just this—and here's the biggest thing to be got out of his visit: poetry takes on a new aspect before the picture of the man and the sound of his voice. No man can listen to him and then believe that poetry is a printed word on a paper page. You may read all day from Manly's English Poetry and your heart may never beat the faster. But let a real poet speak to you and he lifts you out of yourself by the power of his own soul. No University man can think now of poetry as neccessarily feminine or mystical or not to be understood; nor can any University man picture a poet as a wild-eyed, long-haired freak.

Here is a calm, sensible, clean-looking, athletic young man who makes poetry a reality, who openly earns his bread by verse, who brings a new conception of the art. We take our hats off to Alfred Noyes, Poet.

THE PEACE OF THE FACULTY.

Members of the faculty report that someone, presumably students, has been throwing rocks on the golf greens at the Country Club and thereby making rough those delicate surfaces. That it was done thoughtlessly is almost certain; but that it is a serious offense is equally certain. Throwing a heavy rock on a golf green amounts to about the same thing as ploughing a furrow across the baseball diamond or the tennis courts. It means for someone work, time, and expense, and above all, it is a breach of good manners. Let the faculty play in peace.

COME ON, DEBATERS.

Last year the whole state rose up and called the University blessed for inaugurating, perfecting, and carrying through to a successful conclusion the High School Debating Union. This year the praise has been redoubled. From all sides come congratulations on the even more successful handling of one of the very biggest ideas that has ever struck North Carolina. Five hundred debaters representing 125 schools have opened up the question of the Initiative and the Referendum before some 30,000 people-and the thought level of the state has risen a notch. To date 31 schools have reported the double victory necessary for qualification in the finals, and the University will therefore have the pleasure next week of hearing at least 124 high school speakers fighting like mad for the Aycock Memorial Cup and the championship of the state.

With the scores of athletes coming at the same time for the State High School Track Meet, and with the superintendents, teachers, supporters, and chaperones, the University will be host to some 250 people, cream of the North Carolina high schools. Stop a moment and think of it. Two hundred of the best young men and young ladies of the state will next week visit the University. The big majority of them are going to college next year. They are the students we want. Their visit to Chapel Hill will go a long way towards bringing them here next year or sending them to other institutions. What we, the nine hundred odd of us, do next week will have a definite, tangible, visible result on the University and the state. Surely no finer opportunity for service was ever offered to willing hands. There can be but one result.

ON THE JUMP.

If there is anyone who still clings to that ancient doctrine that Chapel Hill and University of North Carolina are quiet, secluded, peaceful vales of happiness, we beg to point out a few of the activities that are making this place the busiest in the state. Take a glance around: beginning with today there are six baseball games in eight days, besides scores of class team skirmishes; three track meets in the next ten days, the class meet, the high school meet, and the Wake Forest meet; the High School Debating Union's championship try-outs, with its two hundred visitors; the intercollegiate debates with Virginia and Johns Hopkins; the closing of the contests for ths Preston Cup and the Colonial Dames' Prize; the three McNair Lectures; all the festivities of the Easter week blow-out, with its dances and with its class stunts, including the classic Senior Stunt. These are by no means all, but they are enough. If a man cannot find some work for himself in this list, the fault is his own. And, by the way, we do have to study too.

Dr. Hamilton Appointed by the Governor.

Governor Craig has appointed Dr. J. G. DeR. Hamilton as a member of the North Carolina delegation, to the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science to be held in Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday, April 3 and 4. The other members are Secretary Daniels and Dr. G. T. Winston of Asheville.

This is one of the most important political and social organizations in the United States. Its president is L. S. Rowe of the University of Pennsylvania.

The importance of the meeting is indicated by the following subjects on the program for discussion: "Present Status of the Monroe Doctrine," "The Mexican Situation, the Policy of the United States in the Pacific," and "The Elements of a Constructive American Foreign Policy."

SECOND CASE FAVORABLE

Durham Court also Thinks Game Worth $50.

Jim Pritchett won a verdict for $50 in the court of Squire R. C. Cox in Durham Saturday; and four hundred students are living in hopes of getting recompense from the Southern Railway for the much cussed Thanksgiving Day episode. Of course the Virginia Creeper appealed. The case will go before the Durham County Superior Court the last of next month.

L. P. McLendon is the prosecuting attorney. "Mac" has good reason to be interested in the case and can be depended upon to devote a large share of his valuable time to securing justice for the students. If this test case is won, the rest of the injured parties will receive redress.

The facts of the case are well known on the campus. The Southern loaded up ten cars with students and left here at 12 o'clock the night before Thanksgiving, scheduled to reach Richmond at 8 the next morning. Poor management, a weak engine, and a wrecked track combined to delay the arrival of the train in Richmond until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The game began at 2:30! Eight extra hours—numbed with cold, aching with hunger, and fevered with the excitement of the big game. And they got there just in time for the last half; so late that some thought it was no use even to go to the grounds. The Southern's attorney tried to persuade Jim that Carolina's touchdown (which the crowd saw) was really the big affair. Jim admitted that it was "an interesting feature" but claimed that the whole game was what he had gone to see.

What the court will have to say on the subject is a matter of live interest.

A Great Contemporary History.

A report of the Kansas City Convention of Student Volunteers is being prepared. The report consists of over 600 pages and includes among other things speeches of William Jennings Bryan, John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, and Henry P. Macfarland. By advance payment copies may be secured at $1 a copy.

"The Interior" of Chicago says in commenting on it:

"The volume is nothing less than a cyclopedia in itself. Containing over 600 pages and embracing addresses nearly 100 in number, there are few missionary subjects upon which it is not informing. The book is not a bundle of tracts, but a treasury of experience and a garden of delights. The whole makes it evident that the missionary movements is today commanding the best gifts and the most spiritual forces known to the church."

Any one interested in securing copies address 600 Lexington Ave., New York City.

ELON WINS PEACE PRIZE

R. L. Lasley Represents the University.

William Jennings Bryan Truitt a Freshman of Elon College, delivered the best oration on Peace of the eight contestants in the opinion of the judges. The contest was held Friday in Greensboro and was the first activity on the program of the second annual convention of the North Carolina Peace Society. Mr. Truitt's subject was: "The Need of a Reign of Peace." By winning first place he thereby secures the state first prize of $75 and the honor of representing North Carolina in the sectional state meet. Frank Pim Jr. of Davidson, won second place and $50 on, "The Battle Cry."

R. L. Lasley class '14 represented Carolina at the contest. His subject was "Peace—the High Word of Unity."

Section 1.—They must have successfully passed the required examination of the Catalogue.

Section 2.—They must have passed not less than Thirty minutes and not more than two hours of academic work.

Section 3.—They must produce certificates of extraordinary freshness.

After due consideration and much conflicting argument, the committee presents the following names for membership, Swain, Holloway, Daniels, L. M., Bob and Chas. Burnette, Ransom, J. O.

Out of the order of Boo Looists there has evolved an inner-circle composed of men who have attained the superlative degree of Freshness. This higher and more distinguished order shall be known as the Yeasters The following names are recommended: Telfaire, Shipp, Pless, Swain, and Holloway.

AN ODE TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS
(With apologies to Mr. Keats)

A rhymed review of the Fresh enmasse,
This is what we—ode to the Freshman class.

Freshman class of seventeen,
Pure Parisian green you seem!
New and verdant aggregation
Fresh in deed and reputation.
With a substantia Swain
Fresh as raindrops after rain,
Booths, Woodall and heads all block,
Hollo-ways in all your flock.
Your Hill and Dale and fair Horsfield,
With fledging Birds good sport may yield
To Flowers fair and Hunters foul,
G-Raud sportsmen, on my soul.
You my Telfaire Lindau's handsome
With a mug worth princely Ransom;
Or Bob and Chas. will Burnett in
That fulsome freshness is no sin.
Even the Cow-'ell, lovely lady,
Mournfully moo at sight of Brady.
For Alderman and Mike Elias
Fit descriptive terms defy us.
But still you have Harrisian Earls
Who Wrightly train Parisian curls
On papers pink and Moore new Combs.
Why did you ever leave your homes?
Keep cool, wear Jone's Z. B. V.
Warrented pure in verdancy!
Bain of all our Pless-ant hours,
You-ve freshly Jord-on each occasion,
Bonehead to throat or mild persuasion.
Wat-son, do you mean by this,
Know'st ye not for Fresh 'tis amiss?
May we know when your Shipp comes in
To the Sophomore harbor-when your mein
From innocence to wisdom's changed;
No longer then you'll be estranged
From common sense-from manners fair;
In sophomoredom-no folly's there
Fresh indeed—by reputation,
Freshman class full fresh at par,
Pure Parisian green you are.
Let spring greens and fresh rains pass,
We've paid what we—Ode to the Freshman Class.

P. S. Kindly contributed to the Cause by a friend.

Laundrymen Organize Trust.

Dame Eternal-fitness-of-things is again at work, for now she's ushering in the season of warm weather and the inauguration of the Laundrymens' resolve. On the 14th. of March the Laundry Agents of the University met in conclave, organized themselves into a body, and passed resolutions "not to deliver to any student of the University any laundered article or articles without all articles being paid for, either in advance or on delivery of such articles laundered, the resolution to take effect April 1." But that's no April fool. The only means of circumventing this action lies in wearing bandanas, or in dispensing with neck cloths, which, however much it might detract from the comeliness of one's person, would, in view of the approaching summer season, certainly not be conducive to indisposition.

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1914 NO. 24

CAROLINA PLAYS FIVE GAMES IN 6 DAYS. BREAKS EVEN TYING AMHERST

Plays William & Mary, West Va. wesleyn and Vermont Last Week. Double Header With Amherst Tuesday in Drizzling Rain

EVERY GAME PLAYED ON THE HILL. RALEIGH GAME WITH ATHLETICS OFF. RAIN.

Carolina has played five baseball games during the last week. She has lost two, won two, tied one. The team began the series with a shoky infield, with no hitting to brag of; and ended up with a team which called forth strong praise from Connie Mack. The sixth game which was to have been played against the Athletics yesterday in Raleigh had to be cancelled on account of rain.

The games in detail follow:

THURSDAY—WILLIAM AND MARY.

Carolina scored one lone run on William and Mary and won a slow, uninteresting game of eight and a half innings. Carolina scored when, with two on, third and short mixed on a high fly and fumbled and Bailey scored.

FRIDAY.
WEST Va. WESLEYAN GAME

In a game featured by costly errors by Carolina, Wesleyan College of Virginia defeated Carolina 5 to 2 on Friday evening. The quality of playing oscillated back and forth from good to bad, showing excellent work at times and very poor work at others. Slow fielding of a drive to right by Lambert in the seventh resulted in a home run. In the ninth Cornwell touched one over the left field fence for a full circuit. Carolina hit hard but at inopportune times.

Watkins, the "Freshman Find," pitched a great game and with decent support should have won. Here are the figures: Watkins fanned 13, allowed 4 hits. His three opponents fanned 2, gave 8 hits.

Nance's safe bingle when run in as a pinch hitter was a feature. Johnson's two long drives, one for three, the other for two were pretty.

SATURDAY—VERMONT.

The game with Vermont was a fast one and showed lots of baseball. Vermont started right out by scoring in the first, and Carolina retaliated immediately. After that there was a fight every inning for a decisive run. Again errors cost Carolina the game and Vermont scored two more runs while Carolina could pull but one. Williams after the first or second inning pitched masterfully. Shields at short, A. Long in right, and Patterson on first were new men. Carolina repeatedly drove the ball out on what seemed sure hits but Vermont's fielding was superb, and it seemed almost impossible to get a safe hit.

Carolina's showing in this game showed a decided improve.

By Way of Summary.

Breaking through the smoke and noise of the outside state these facts stand out clear and unmistakable:

The agitation against gambling was started by students in a voluntary effort to cut out a sore spot.

A strong sentiment against gambling was aroused among students and by students, crystallizing in the meeting at the Phi Hall when twenty-odd leaders took an aggrassive and opposing step by promising to report any further cases.

Inquiry has shown that the number of men engaged in gambling was much less than the exaggerated reports.

The newspaper publicity had its place, but the newspaper sensationalism came after the real good had been accomplished.

The University is healthier and purer because of the student body's effort to make it so and in spite of the filth which has been poured upon it.

ELEVEN ARE MIXED IN GAME OF CRAP

Six Students Suspended for Remaining Session. Cartmell Resigns

SENTIMENT STRONG AGAINST OFFENDERS

Last Tuesday six students, four men of the town and Nat Cartmell, track trainer, were placed under a bond by the city authorities ranging from $15 to $25, charged with participation in a game of crap. The exposure followed from the action of one of the men in stopping payment on a check which he had given in settling his losses in the game. When the possessor of the check was notified by the Bank that the bit of paper was worthless he betrayed the whole affair to Policeman Long and the arrests followed.

Those arrested are Nat Cartmell, W. J. Patterson, Floyd Booker, M. B. Warren, J. Sparrow, not students; J. D. Kernodle J. Johnson, F. C. Jones, G B. Crowell, J. E. Ware, and Ralph Andrews, students. All these are bonded to appear before the Orange County Superior Court which begins its session for this term today.

Immediately after hearing these facts the faculty met and suspended the students until September. They have withdrawn from the University, Coach Cartmell has handed in his resignation as Trainer. He was partly employed by the Univeasity, which paid a part of his salary.

The feeling among the student has been very strong upon the matter; especially as an organized effort has recently been made to down the practice following an Editorial this paper of March the 19th. The student sentiment was absolutely agains it, and particularly because it was felt that a very small per cent of the students were participating.

THREE DAYS CROWDED WITH FESTIVITIES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

Junior Oratorical Contest for Carr Medal Starts It. Three Dances, Track Meets, Faculty Ball Game and Class Stunts.

JUNIOR WEEK PROGRAM——APRIL 22-24.

Wednesday night 7:30—Junior Oratorical Contest for the Carr Medal. 9:30—Gorgen's Head Dance.

Thursday morning 10:00 a. m—College Field Day.

Thursday afternoon 3:00—Varsity vs "Federals". Order of Ginghouls at home to the College.

Thursday night 7:30—Normal Orchestra (very probable). 9:30—Jnnior Promenade.

Friday morning 10:00—Class Stunts.

Friday afternoon 3:30—Baseball Game, Faculty vs. Seniors.

Friday night 7:30—Senior Stunt. 9:30—German Club Dance

Manager Carl Taylor has been trying to arrange a game with Wake Forest for Thursday of Junior Week but without definite result as yet. However, the game between the Varsity and such outlaws as Kluttz, "Shag", Turbyfield, Groome, Tandy, and Mack would be highly interesting. The class stunts are a new wrinkle. The Freshman committee is working in consultation with Professors Daggett and James; the Sophomores, with Mr. G. M. Sneath and Mr. William Royster; and the Juniors, with Dr. J. F. Royster and Dr. J. M. Booker. The traditional Senoir Stunt is reported to set a new pace. Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Royster are consulting members of the Senoir Committee.

Arrangements are being made for the State Normal Orchestra to be here Thursday. The Faculty-Senior Ball Game will be the all-burlesque features of the program. Twenty professors are expected for the nine inning lineup. Prof. E. V. Howell is permanent captain. Several letter men are available, Dr. Royster, Dr. Herty, and Prof. Winston. Of the fratres in urbe Mr. "S." Barbee was on the first baseball team that represented Carolina back in the sixties. Dr. Archibald Henderson and the Acting Prexy were scrubs who got honorable mention by being in one or two varsity games in the nineties. Dr. Louis Round is the champion hitter of fouls in these diggings. Prof. Collier Cobb once ran to centre field before he was thrown out at second.

Batteries will be announced in time for the Sunday Supplement of the New York World.

Later advices from the Normal state that it will be impossible for the State Normal Orchestra to visit the Hill.

WELCOME, THRICE WELCOME.

High School debaters, teachers, superintendents, camp followers, and chaperons, the University welcomes you with open arms. Chapel Hill is yours, to have, to hold, and to love from this day forth for evermore. As one part of the educational system of an awakening commonwealth you are visiting the head of that system, just as much yours as it is ours. May you find here the inspiration that has thrilled thousands of other North Carolinians and moved them to deeds of service; may you catch a breath of the new atmosphere of social and economic helpfulness, the full significance of which has not yet been realized; may you see the University as the great Mother she is, ever growing, ever helping, ever loving; and through all things may you have in Chapel Hill that royal good time you so richly deserve.

The University of North Carolina is yours; take it.

CLEAN HER NAME.

The inevitable has happened. Whenever this student body wants anything, it will get it, and the only question is of time and manner. When the recent agitation against gambling began and then when it became apparent that the great heart of the student body had risen in revolt, old men in the University knew that sooner or later the feeling would break out in action. It has always happened that way in the past and it will always happen that way in the future. Say what you will, the composite intellect of these nine hundred men is wholesome sane and forward-looking; and when they throw themselves into a proposition, we stake our everything that they will come out on top. Gambling is not entirely eradicated at the University, but the student life is more healthy and more encouraging for all the fierceness that has broken loose.

That this forward step should have been accomplished in such a crude, blind, hacking fashion and that such far-reaching circumstances should have attended it, is from the University's point of view, the irony of fate and a seeming continuation (to be perfectly frank) of the hard luck that accomplished the death of William Rand. Eighteen months ago the University's fair name was dragged in the dirt because the State and the nation were misinformed by distorted and sensational newspaper reports. To-day the University stands once more disgraced in the eyes of the State and for the same reason. Because of one man's disregard of facts, of his lurid imagination, of his absolute selfishness, the University is given a reputation out of all keeping with its character. We in Chapel Hill can see the situation in its true light and know that an important but comparatively trivial affair has been magnified a hundred times and handed over as a sweet morsel to the University's enemies to be mouthed and chewed for weeks, and to be treasured up as a hidden weapon always. We know, for all the reports of "gambling dens", "mob law", "thugs", and "student violence", that Chapel Hill is as healthy a community as there is in the State, and that the University is a great, noble institution, cruelly hurt by her enemies, but never richer in the devotion of those who know and love her. We know the truth; the State has been deliberately deceived.

Two months remain of this year. Our task lies clear before us. Let every man who loves the University of North Carolina rise up this day, determined to do everything in his power to clean the University's name of the filth that has been fastened to it, and to show things in their true light.

RINGSIDE COURTESY AGAIN.

Nothing so shows the University gentleman or the University cad as his attitude toward visitors. The TAR HEEL has no wish to set itself up as the arbiter of good manners, but within the past week the manager of the baseball team and two graduate students have complained of the increasing number of personal remarks directed toward visiting players. A good part of it is coming from the coaching lines and a good part from Freshmen; all of it is entirely unnecessary, of no earthly benefit to any one, and a bad breach of manners. Yell all you please and pull for Captain Bailey's men, but leave the visitors alone. This is a University, not a second-rate prep school. Don't be a kid.

ONF HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FOUR SCHOLARS PREPARE FOR FINAL STRUGGLE

Forty-one Schools Represented. All Arrangements Made for the Great Contest. Every Effort to Entertain Young Visitors

THE TWENTY-TWO YOUNG LADIES ARE ENTERTAINED BY FACULTY AND OTHERS

The final stage is set. The arrangements have all been made down to the smallest detail. Tonight at 7:30 will open the last battle for the Aycock Memorial Cup. Fifteen days ago 150 schools throughout this great Commonwealth were represented by their best in the great second annual elimination for final places. 3,000 people listened to the pros and cons of the initiative and Referendum of the 150 schools, 41 qualified for positions by winning both sides. Two teams of two each will represent each school, making 164 contestants, 22 of these are young ladies. Practically every school is accompanied by a member of the Faculty or a chaperone.

Representatives from about twelve schools arrived last night and were taken in charge usually by students from their towns or counties. Among those arriving last night was the Manteo team from Roanoke island. E. W. Joyner '13, is a member of this delegation which is composed of four young ladies. If anything were needed to prove the interest the schools are taking in the debate the example of Manteo should be sufficient. In freezing weather and through a driving snow one of the teams, young ladies both of them, drove across Pamlico Sound in an open motor boat and then by conveyance eighteen miles through the country to debate with their opponents. Needless to say, they won.

64 ENTREES FROM THE HIGH SCHOOLS

The Track meet to be Held Friday Afternoon at 3 O'clock

JOE HOFFMAN MASTER OF CEREMONIES.

"Big Joe" Hoffman is ready to run off the High School track meet which is scheduled for Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. The officials are as follows: Joe Hoffman, starter; Dr. Howell, Dr. Mangum, Timers; Dr. J. F. Royster, Judge of Course; Drs. Lawson, Herty, Patterson, Finish Judges; Jim Pritchett, announcer; W. P. Fuller, Scorer.

The list of events in the order they will be run are: High Jump, mile run, 100 yard dash, pole vault, 440 yard dash, Broad jump 880 yard dash, shot put, 120 yard low hurdles, hammer throw, Relay race.

There are 64 men entered and it is probably that there are a total of 200 men trying for place, counting all entries for each event. One man is entered for eight events although there is little probability of his trying more than three or four.

The places will be scored five points for first; three for second; one for third.

TWO INTERESTING PAPER

Holmes and Pearson at the Historical Society.

The Historical Society held its regular meeting Monday evening in the Chemistry building. In the absence of the chairman Dr. Hamilton, Mr. Boseman presided over the meeting. Two papers of especial interest to North Carolinians were read.

Mr. Pearson led off with a paper on the Quakers in Wayne. The paper was chiefly interesting because of the fact that Mr. Pearson himself is a Quaker and knew his subjet intimately.

The main paper of the evening was read by Jimmie Holmes on his own personal knowledge of the Ku Klux in Alamance. His account was well illustrated with stories told him by personal friends who were actors in the stories they told. He spoke vividly of a man who would not reveal the secrets of the Klan even after being hung three times. Negroes, carpet-baggers, elections, marshal law, and lynchings figured throughout in vivid array. The paper showed intimate knowledge of facts and vital personal interest.

Mr. W. S. Wilkinson, 1887, of Rocky Mount was a visitor on Hill last week.

FRESH WIN TRACK NOT A 1ST. PLACE

Score 38 Points, Sophs Second with 34, Juniors 2

"GOATIE" WRIGHT BROAD JUMPS 22:10

In a fast and interesting meet Monday afternoon, the Freshman Class won first honors with 38 points. The other classes scored as follows: Sophs, 34; Law, 22; Senior, 21; and Junior 2. The meet was in charge of the Varsity track men, under the direction of Manager Whitaker and Captain Sears. The events were run off in "big league" style, and was a marked success from the standpoint both of management and of records.

Among the new man, the most notable showing was made by Oliver Rand, who, after finishing second in Harrison's fast mile, went back in the half-mile and pushed "Ratty" hard for first place. In the hundred yards, Rogers gave promise of developing into a fast sprinter.

It is noticeable that the Freshmen won the meet without winning a single first place. Their victory came by snatching seconds and thirds. The fact that the old men, though not Varsity men, shut out the new men from first places, demonstrates the efficient training that the whole track squad has received for the last two years.

The winners and records are:

High Jump—Graham and Wright tied for first and second places on 5:5; Hoffman, Jones and Jones tied for third.

Mile—Harrison, first; time 4:55 second, Rand; third, C. Sloan.

Shot-put—Axley, first; distance 34:3; second, Ramsey; third, Tomlinson.

100 yards—Wright, first; time 10 3-5; second, Rogers; third, Mebane.

Quarter—McDuffy, first; time 56; second, Graham; third, Petrea

Pole vault—Ranson, first; height 9:7; second, Isley; third, Davis.

Low Hurdles—Struthers, first; time 28 4-5; second Hoffman; third, Telfair.

Hammer—Axley, first; distance 110:4; second, Parker; third, Dysart.

Half mile—Ranson, first; time 2:11 1-2; second, Rand; third, H Sloan.

220 yards—McDuffy, first; time 25; second, Hoffman; third, Tayloe.

Discus—Axley, first; distance 90:11; second, Kagle; third, Ramsey.

Broad Jump—Wright, first; distance 22:10; second, Hatcher; third, Hoffman.

High Hurdles (80 yds.)—Struthers, first, time 12 2-5; second, Davis; third, Hoffman.

TUESDAY—AMHERST.

"The fastest young infield I have ever seen", said Connie Mack, "the greatest of 'em all," after seeing the Tar Heel team work against Amherst in a double header in a drizzling rain Tuesday. The team that defeated Virginia, that split with A. & M. was unable to get anything better than a tie Tuesday. The first game of seven innings ended four to four. This was Aycock's first game of the season on the mound, The second, Watkins won 2 to 0, after five innings of play. H. Bailey had on his batting clothes, out of five trips to the plate he gathered three hits which averaged half a circuit each. Two went to the fence one for three, the other for two, He brought home two runs with his stick, and then two more with his own legs. Not bad out of a total of six.

"J. P." Rousseau was back at short and delivered the goods. With the exception of a fumbled short throw to second he worked perfectly. Then he sliced one down the first base line that did not go two feet from the fence. He beat it home, Mac Lewis picked a pretty high foul from under "Woody" after he had let it by. N. C. was in a hole at the time, too.

In her half of the fourth Carolina scored three runs—all earned. In the next frame Amherst dittoed the number but got two of them on errors. In the sixth both sides chalked up one.

In the second game the only scoring was in the Tar Heel half of the first when two errors and two hits netted as many runs.

FIRST GAME.

FIRST INNING.

Kimball fanned. DeCasteo ditto. Balmos likewise.

Litchfield skied to center. Bailey out, pitcher to first. Patterson walked. Woodall singled to left and Patterson took second. Long hit a slow one to second and beat it out for a hit but Patterson was caught at the plate trying to score on the play.

SECOND INNING.

Goodridge out second to first. Strahan fanned. Swasey out short to first.

Bailey fanned, Lewis walked and took second on first's error. Rousseau popped to third. Aycock out short to first.

THIRD INNING.

Washburn flied to right. Sicard ditto to pitcher. McGay fanned.

Litchfield safe on catcher's error. Bailey sacrificed Patterson skied to right with no advance. Litchfield stole third. Woodall grounded out to the pitcher who covered first.

FOURTH INNING.

Bimball out pitcher to first. De Castro, short to first. Balmos singled to center. Goodridge walked. Strahan flied to third on a good catch by Lewis.

Long hit a slow one to short and beat it out. Long stole second. Bailey hit one to deep right center for three bases, Long scoring. Lewis popped up to first with no advance. Rouseau laid one down the first base line and before the ball had been fielded he had circuited the bases scoring Bailey ahead of him. Aycock out short to first, on a good stop, Litchfield flied to center when Swasey after a good run pulled it in with one hand.

FIFTH INNING.

Swasey led off with a single to center, Washburn's ball got through K. Bailey's legs and Swasey pulled up on third, Washburn stopping at second. Sicard singled to left, scoring both Swasey and Washburn and took second himself on the throw in. McGay sacrificed. Kimball walked. On an attempted double short throw the ball went on to center field Sicard scored. Aycock proceeded to fan both DeCastro and Balmos.

Bailey was safe on short's error. Patterson sacrificed. Woodall and Long fanned.

SIXTH INNING.

Goodridge skied to center. Sarahan hit one to right, Long coming up and the ball bounding past him for three bases. Washburn singled to right and Swasey scored. Washburn out stealing second,

Bailey doubled to left center. Lewis out pitcher to first, Bailey taking third. Rousseau hit a long one to center and Bailey scored. Aycock fanned.

SEVENTH INNING.

Sicard lined out to left on a good catch. McGay and Kimball fanned.

Phi Society Debate.

Last Saturday night the following query was debated in the Phi Society: Resolved: That the Houston plan of taxation should be adopted throughout North Carolina. There was lively discussion for more than an hour after which the judges gave the decision to the negative. The best speaker was L. Carr, R. F. Coats receiving honorable mention. Orations were given on the subject: Cultural versus vocational training in the University

Ely Perry, 1917, has been successfully operated upon for appendicitis in the hospital at Kinston. He hopes to return to the University in few weeks.

A REPLY TO SAVOYARD

Mrs. Archibald Henderson on Woman Suffrage.

In the News and Observer, of March 29th, appears a letter by Mrs. Archibald Henderson in reply to Savoyard, a regular contributor on the Editorial page. His article was entitled "A Word With the Ladies." Extracts from Mrs. Henderson's reply follows:

"There is no desire on the part of the suffrage party to force suffrage upon an unwilling state.

"It does not seem to me a humorous thing to talk about the negro race in a way that cannot fail to arouse race feeling of the bitterest kind. Kindness and helpfulness are certainly our debt to a race whom our country enslaved and held in bondage. Christainity demands of us not sneers and contempt, but that we hold out a helping hand.

"The women of every suffrage state have this simple right (guradianship of their children.) It took fifty-five years for the women of Massachusetts to gain this right. The women of Colorado gained it within 55 days after they gained tne ballot.

"Savoyard claims that any woman fit to be a wife or mother or daughter would take her politics from her father or her husband..... As a matter of fact, men do take their politics from their fathers. I do not know a dozen--no, nor half a dozen exceptions to this rule.

She closes with: "Then I say to Savoyard that womanhood is a greater thing than he dreams of, and that we women who are mothers hope by the aid of the ballot to be better mothers, because we shall be wiser and more helpful women."

Mission Study Group Start.

The Bible Study Classes have finished the courses in "men of The Old Testament," "Life of Christ", and "New Studies in the Acts". Twenty-two groups took the courses for six months, Prof. H. W, Chase and Rev. W. D. Moss were sources of inspirational leadership in the normal groups. Tom Boushall, Chairman of the work, had a very efficient organization of individual study groups, normal groups,and an active force of group secretaries. The attendance on the last Sunday numbered over 130.

The mission study groups were organized last Sunday in three courses, "The Challenge of the Country," "Islam," and "The Chinese Revolution". There are nine groups in these courses. H. S. Willis is ths energetic Chairman of this work. Three normal classes for the leaders are conducted weekly.

The Volunteers band has grown from a single member to four definite volunteers. The Kansas City Convention has opened up the question of missions to a good number of men.

Yelling Greatly Improved.

A feature of the last few games has been the organization and spirited cheering of the rooters. Under the leadership of Jim Pritchett, Frank Graham and Charlie Coggins a transformation has been made. A clever move has been to divide a yell into divisions and each section yell its part. One section yells ray, the next ray, and the last Rahrah. This runs down the bleachers like the proverbial forest fire.

Another classy "yell" goes thus: everybody claps three times fast, then they pound with their feet, then the man's name on the end.

B. F. Paty was operated on at the infirmary a few days ago for appendicitis by Dr. Hubert Roysster of Raleigh and his condition is very much improved. He expects to be about in a few days.

Tom Craven of the first year med class returned Saturday from his home in Charlotte where he attended the funeral of his stepmother.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

This whole place is or was all wrought up. "Have you seen the News and Observer?" "Sure, he ought to be hung and quartered." There were just about eight men whose names were spread all over the state and about four of that number students--four out of nine hundred. Here are four men that got in trouble; then here are 896 others who have to say something and put in their tongues and talk it over with wisely thought decisions. Those that are concerned in the business are the ones to think it out. What's the use of the whole University trying to talk the thing to pieces? It's just the same as when some one is trying to have a good baseball game. A dispute arises and both captains go out to argue with the umpire. There are three men who know the game, one who makes a business of it, trying to decide it. Then some wise guy in the bleachers, not at all concerned in the game, (at any rate not more than two bits worth) discovers in his deep mind a way out of the dispute and shout it out, "Kill the umps."

Sure we must have order in the Pickwick. Peanuts are all right when applied to the right spot; but a fool tries to find a man's mouth in the back of his head. We have listened to Mabel's champion; let us emulate his example.

It's funny how a few errors in any game will lose the whole show. It's that way in baseball, it's that way in the game of life. The more errors we make in life the nearer we are coming to the point where our life will be lost. So let us make the errors as few as possible. It is like the chap who was told that every body eats a peck of dirt during his lifetime. In about fifteen minutes his mother found him in the back yard with a small subway railroad well under construction and "almost through with my peck."

Yes they are still here. Who? Why the priviledged class; those who can sit on the players bench while some of the players stand up; those who must have credit at a cash store; the Freshmen who can go without coats; those who ought to be allowed to eat breakfast on Sunday morning at 10:10 instead of 10:00. But what's the use; every body is afraid the other fellow will slip something over on him. Aye George?

The question now arises. What happened to Percival? Well, I'll tell you: Percy is the guy who was in that crap game the other night,

A Former Carolina Student.

He volunteeered to go the foreign field while in the University and president of the Y. M. C. A. After leaving here he served for a year as secretary of the Association at the University of Alabama. He plans ultimately to serve in the foreign field.

APRIL MAGAZIVE APPEARS

Probably the Best Issue of the Year.

The April issue of The University Magazine which is almost ready to leave press promises to be the best issue of the year. It is not only the largest issue but contains unusually good material The leading article is "The Star's Scoop", a newspaper story by Carey Dowd. The second article on the table of contents is "The Light", by B. F. Auld. Then comes a one act play by Tom Linn called "When True was False". This is a new departure in Literary work for this year. A little variety follows then in the shape of a poem by D. H. Killeffer "La Calavera". The Freshman sketch by J. A. Capps entitled "Deaf and Dumb but not Blind" won the Sigma Epsilon prize should be mentioned together with some other good sketches which the contest brought forth. N. A. Reasoner won second and third places. One was pure description, the other was a fish story. The first special article is "A Glimpse of the Other Half" by Stuart Willis, which forciby contrasts the presedt encouraging condition of the negro settlement around Chapel Hill with what it was several years ago when a student was shot by a negro. In an article entitled "Fifty-four Years of the Y. M. C. A.", Philip Woolcott narrates the career of the Y. M. C. A. W. P. Fuller discusses the trustee system of the University in an article by that name. The "Around the Well" department contains a single article about the new literary society reforms. The issue will no doubt prove a good one.

Dope from the Class Field.

First basemen are all the go with the Freshmen now. There are thirteen chasing around the first sack for the Fresh team. The other positions are still in doubt and Coach Kluttz will have some job to pick his best men. As the weeding process has advanced it seems that Groom at third, Goodson at short, Allen at second and Wooten at first are very likely candidates. Tate, Cowell and Burnett form good material for the catching department. Hawthorne, Alderman and Taylor are chasing about in the outfield and will likely play rings around the other outer-gardeners.

The Sophs and Seniors are just out. New material is badly needed for these two teams because they have loss several good players. Manager Huske of the Sophs is pushing his bunch and hopes to put out a winner this time. It may be remembered that 1916 was close for the championship last spring. A few practice games have been attempted with mixed teams picked from the fighting Juniors and the other upper class teams and it appears that the class field will soon see the men in trim for the class season. Choosing captains for the teams will be a problem early to confront the players.

As yet no class baseball schedule has been arranged.

Doug Rights, '13, Editor-in-chief of the Magazine, won the short story contest this year at the Moravian Theological Seminary, of Bethlehem, Pa. The title of his story is, "Eggstrardinary."

WINSTON-SALEM TEAM WINS OVER GRAHAM IN STATE HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

Miss Flonnie Cooper a Member of the Losing Team. Twenty-two Girls Reached Chapel Hill. Seven Entered the Semi-Finals. One the Final

WINSTON-SALEM DEFENDED THE NEGATIVE. HER CHAMPIONS ARE TENTH GRADE BOYS

Seldom even at commencement has this old campus seen a busier two days than were Thursday and Friday of last week when the High School Debaters were in possession. They began coming in Wednesday night and by Thursday noon the roll was practically complete. As they came in they were conducted to the Y. M. C. A. to register and get programs and much information that they doubtless soon forgot. After this formality they were gradually distributed among the various students, county clubs, and members of the faculty, whose guests they were. And it is an interesting commentary upon the student body and their hospitality that in spite of our somewhat inadequate dormitories the students themselves entertained nearly all of the two hundred and seventy-five visiting debaters and track men. At meals the majority were the guests of the University at the Inn and at Commons.

After dinner Thursday the Debaters assemble in the Chapel to draw for halls and sections for the first preliminary. This was the first time that they had gathered in one body and the spectators were able to form an idea of numbers as they practically filled the lower floor of the Chapel. As the name was called its principal or other representative, came forward and drew for each of his teams a card bearing the section and hall of debate and the order of the speakers. The school was given a guide to show the debaters their respective halls, This, with the registration, was responsible for the remarkable lack of confusion in the first preliminary, Eighty-two teams, a hundred and sixty-four debaters, divided into eight sections separated among as many halls, upon a strange campus; and not one failed to speak. Only a few were lost and they were soon put right.

The first preliminary began at seven-thirty Thursday evening and for some hours the youthful orators simply owned things around here, From Chemistry Hall to the Peabody Building, from Person to the Y. M. C. A. poured forth "—it was tried in Oregon with eminent success—" or "—and they would have you scuttle this grand old ship of state with their experimental innovations—". From every quarter, every eighth of the campus came oratory, full of "pep" and unrestrained. When at last the various sets of judges, in ear drapered and in brain numb, had rendered their decisions and the quivering air had resumed its normal state, it became apparent that the following schools had survived:

Affirmative—Dallas, Graham, Manteo, New Bern, Pleasant Garden, Statesville, Sylvan, and Winston-Salem.

Negative:—Asheville, Churchland, Durham, Gatesville, Graham, Lumberton, New Bern, and Winston-Salem.

Friday morning these survivors renewed the competition in the second preliminary. From nine until two they fought it out behind the closed doors of the Society Halls. Finally as the crowd was gathering to be photographed word went about that Graham had been selected as champion of the affirmative, Winston-Salem of the negative. It was characteristic of these High School boys and girls that those whose hopes had been raised by making the second preliminary only to have them dashed to the ground, like those who had lost in the first, accepted the decision stoically and without a murmur. Individually and in general they were true sportsmen and at this fact North Carolina should be as proud as of their skill at debate.

When President Graham rose to introduce the first speaker of the final debate Friday night in Memorial Hall he faced over one thousand two hundred people. In introducing the speakers he said, "This is the most significant meeting of North Carolinians that has ever taken place within the borders of the State".

The Secretary, E. R. Rankin, read the query which was, "Resolved, that the constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow the Initiative and Referendum in State-wide Legislation," and then introduced the first speaker for the affirmative, M. H. Kernodle of Graham High School.

Mr. Kernodle argued that the innovations are the natural sequence of the growth of Democratic Government from the beginning of time to the present. He said education has finally fitted us for this step. Then he showed that the Initiative and Referendum will raise the standard of citizenship by giving the people increased responsibility and it will "open the door to every reform without waiting for the monopolies to lift the latch." In conclusion he said the system is practical. He cited numerous instances where it has worked successfully.

Charles Roddick, of Winston-Salem, spoke first for the negative. His argument was that first the plan was unpractical; because the people will not vote in large enough numbers to make the voting representative and he cited a case in Idaho where not one of

BASEBALL TEAM WIN TWO CLOSE

Defeat Hampden-Sidney and Wake Forest Both by One Run Margin

SHIELDS AND WATKINS HOLD THE MOUND.

Carolina won from Hampden-Sidney in an interesting game last Thursday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2. The game was Carolina's at the start but the run getting called for a little initiative, and when Hampden-Sidney scored in the fourth a little excitement was aroused. Pritchett's crew became enthused and the whole college was pulling for a score. In the sixth Hampden-Sidney again scored, and something had to come. Hubert Bailey after a long, fast journey toward the central fence pulled down a ball that was intended for three bags.

The boys were there with the goods: In the sixth "Rabbit" doubled, made it three on a passed ball, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Patterson. In the seventh Rousseau got a hit for one base, and stole second. In a minute Litchfield came up and of course Rousseau went around by way of third when Litchfield doubled. The next inning Patterson singled, Woodall put him down to second, and long ran him home with two bases.

Carolina summed up nine hits while Shields allowed only six.

STATE TRACK MEET OFF

Second Date for the Wake Forest Meet.

Manager Whitaker went to Raleigh Saturday and conferred with A. & M. concerning the State Track Meet. The student manager of the A. & M. track team is in favor of the meet; but the higher authorities are adverse to Carolina participating in any contest on their field. The State Track Meet, therefore, will not be held in Raleigh this year. There is some hope of getting A. & M., Wake Forest, and Trinity to come to Chapel Hill for a State meet. But this would be altogether a new plan and stands only a small chance of maturing at this late date.

The Wake Forest-Carolina meet, which was postponed from April 4, will be held here on April 25.

On April 11 the team goes to Blacksburg, Va. to meet V. P. I. This is our first meet with V. P. I. since two years ago, when we barely nosed out a victory over them.

GRADUATE STUDES UNITE

Propose to Form Permanent Organization.

The students of the University taking Graduate work met in the Mission Room of the Y. M. C. A. Friday night and while they smoked they planned, Mr. Moss made a short talk which was enjoyed, Mr. Pearson also made a few remarks. Mr. W. W. Rankin proposed a close and clublike organization of the Post-Grad, with a club room and regular meetings He thought this Department should be made a distinct factor in student life and college activities. The proposal was greeted with much favor and a committee was appointed to make arrangements and plans for organization This committee is, W. W. Rankin chr, Frank Graham, and R. H. Shuford. Another meeting will be held in a short time to receive the report of this committee.

There are forty-two members of the Graduate Department. Twenty-seven of these men are graduates or prospective graduate of the University, the other fourteen coming from colleges all over the United States. Three are from Wake Forest, one from Elon, one from East Texas Normal College, one from Wofford College, one from Harvard, one from Yale, three from Lenoir, one from A. & M., one from Guilford, one from Davidson, one from Hamilton College, and one from Newberry College.

The annual try-out for gym monograms was held on last Monday. The requirements were satisfactorily performed by F. O. Clarkson, F. M. Owen, W. R. Parker, and L. B. Rhodes; and these men have been awarded N. C.'s by the Athletic Council.

Dr. Herty has gone to a convention of Chemists at Cincinatti.

FRIENDSHIP WINS STATE TRACK MEET

Oak Ridge and Graham Tie For Second Place with 13 Points Each

FRIENDSHIP WON 2ND PLACE LAST YEAR

The second Annual Interscholastic Track Meet of the University was won Friday by Friendship. Last year Friendship won second place in the State meet and first place in the Division meet which were both held here at the same time. In the meet this year Oak Ridge and Graham tied for second place. The winners secured 27 points, the second teams 13 each and Raleigh 10. The other teams scoring were Hillsboro 9, Washington 8, Huntersville 5, High Point (winner last year with 21 points) 3, Asheville 2. The relay race, a seperate event with a special cup, was won by Graham.

The arrangements for the meet were made as before by the Greater Council. The larger part of the work of arranging the men, securing medals, selling tickets and securing entrees was done by E. R. Rankin. Joe Hoffman had charge of the actual conducting of the meet and ran off the eleven events in about two hours.

L. Homewood, a brother of "Football Homewood" in college. L. Isley and Moser were the stars of Friendship. They between them carried 22 points, Mills, of Raleigh showed up splendidly tying once for a first and once for a second place in the jumps. Hillsboro's 9 points were made by Davis with the high jump and the shot. "Little Ratty" Ranson, Huntersville's sole representative, won the half mile in easy style.

The complete list of events follow. Immediately after each event is given the record in the same event of last year.

High jump—5 feet 7 inches, Davis, Hillsboro, and Mills Raleigh, tied for first; Homewood, Friendship, third. 5-3.

Mile run—5:29 Moser Friendship, first; Neely, Oak Ridge, second; Bearden, Asheville, third. 5:4-5.

440-yard—59:4, Hornaday, Friendship, first; Cannon, High Point, second; Williams, Graham third. (None last year 220 instead.)

100-yard dash—10:4-5 seconds, Perry, Graham, first; Weston, Washington, second; Sawyer, Asheville, third. 11 seconds.

Pole vault—9 feet 6 inches, Giles, Oak Ridge; Crowell, Oak Ridge and Mills, Raleigh, tied for second. 9 feet 7 inches.

Shot put—41 feet, Davis, Hillsboro, first; Isley, Friendship, second; Kennedy, Oak Ridge, third. 12 pounds. 37:4 1-2.

880 yards—2:16, Ranson, Huntersville, first; Moser, Friendship second. 2:14.

120 low hurdles—17:1, Homewood, Friendship, first; Batchelor Raleigh, second; Atkins, Oak

THE DEED AND THE DOERS.

For the second time the University has risen to the occasion, handled a tremendously big proposition in a smooth, efficient manner, and pushed further home the fundamental thought that here is the University of the whole State of North Carolina. The second debate of the High School Debating Union was a complete success from every point of view. Passing over the preliminary contests between 150 schools and 600 students, with 40,000 spectators, and the consequent uplift from hearing an important question scientifically discussed, passing over the visit of the 164 debaters, their welcome presence on this campus and the ardor of the succeeding rounds of the eliminating process, passing over all of that nd coming right down to that nal contest in Memorial Hall—an you fail to admit that the cene lifted a notch higher your conception of the University, of the State, of humanity? Two short-trousered, treble-voiced youngsters on one side, and a country boy and a North Carolina girl on the other, and two thousand people clinging to everything they said—words are useless to to express the feeling that arises and swells and overflows.

Back of it all we see two men who are mainly responsible, though every one has helped: C. E. McIntosh and E. R. Rankin. McIntosh gave the idea and prevailed on the literary societies to take hold of it; Rankin has pushed it through to success. The thought comes from the one, the execution from the other; both are already big figures in North Carolina history.

CARTMELL.

Like every one else who knows anything about Carolina athletics the Tar Heel regrets the passing of Nat Cartmell. The work that he has done for the track department cannot be measured in words nor can it be paid for in dollars. Five years ago when he came here, there was no track team. There were men who ran and jumped and threw because they loved the work; but there was no science, no system, no success. Cartmell started at the bottom and built quietly and steadily, always looking to the future. He had a seemingly impossible task before him, for the great majority of men he worked with had never seen a running shoe. But he has come out on top and "Bloody Nat's Men" are known and feared all over the South Atlantic section. This he has accomplished because he knows the sport from beginning to end, because he can handle men, and because there has been continuity to his coaching. He leaves just as he has come into his own—but with him go the best wishes of Carolina men everywhere. Nat Cartmell is one of the biggest figures in Carolina athletics and his work and personality will be a tradition at Chapel Hill for many a year.

THE TRACK TEAM'S CRISIS.

The track team faces a crisis. Cartmell has meant so much to it that without his presence it may tend to become disorganized. Here is a chance for Captain Sears and his men to show the stuff they are made of. If they can pull themselves out of the present hole and leave behind them the record of another victorious season, we take off our hats to them for meeting the issue head-on and never flinching. Dr. Kent J. Brown, another Penn man and a star of the first magnitude, has kindly consented to take charge for the rest of the season, and the work will go straight ahead. The men need all the encouragement they can get. With a united University behind them and a competent leader in front they can yet make themselves the best track team Carolina has ever had.

HARD EARNED LAURELS.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found the account of the four gym sweaters won at the annual try-out. The question of whether a man should be awarded the Varsity monogram for gym work has come up often before and will come up again. We wish to point out one reason why we think the gym N. C. deserves its honored place beside the football, baseball, track, basketball, and tennis monograms. One of the new gym men is a sophomore who has worked consistently for years to come up to the requirments; two of the men are seniors who have been working for four years; the remaining man is a graduate student who has spent five years to obtain his reward. Is there anything further to be said?

a number of measures received fifty per cent of the entire vote. Another instance in Ohio where the people were so careless they passed the proposed laws but failed to pass the enabling act necessary to make them operative. He then pointed out that the move would be dangerous as thirty-seven per cent of our population are negroes. He also claimed that the people are not educationally prepared to enjoy the measures as the State stands second from bottom in education.

Miss Flonnie Cooper, the second for the affirmative, centered her time on showing that the State is in great danger of being throttled by special privilege and that this is the only way to check their purpose. She declared that the Legisiature is very slow in responding to the voice of the people and moreover that it has the power to seriously check any action of the mass of people. For instance the people cannot vote on an amendment to the constitution unless allowed to do so by a three-fifths vote of both houses. "If all the people signed a petition for a convention a minority in one house could defeat it." She then enumerated various branches of legislation that the Initiative and Referendum would hasten, among them being Child Labor, and Direct Primary. Her most effective move was quoting William Jennings Bryan's famous sentence, "I would rather live in a state where the people have the right to make their own mistakes than where a few are allowed to make them for them."

Clitton Eaton, for the negative, closed the first round of speeches. He argued that while other states may need the Initiative and Referendum North Carolina does not. He challenged the affrmative "to cite an instance of corruption or tyranny in the Legislature." He then recited a long list of progressive legislation recently passed by the assembly. He claimed that it was due to the wise educational laws of the Legislature that the State finally secured prohibition. He claimed also that this is contrary to the fundamental principles of government. Athens fell when given the Initiative and Referendum. These would make the Legislature a figurehead and confirm the utterance of N. M. Butler who said, "You cannot take away power from a popular representative body without having that body deteriorate."

On rejoinder Mr. Kernodle said this would not destroy representative government. Ninety per cent of laws Initiative and Referendum states are passed by the Legislature.

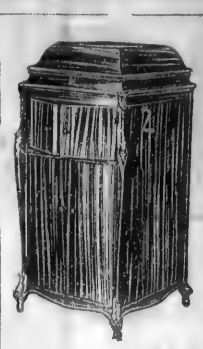
Mr. Eaton claimed that the affirmative had yet failed to cite his case of corruption in the Legislature.

Miss Cooper said, "we need a corrupt practices law with teeth in it."

Mr. Roddick reasserted that no corruption had as yet been pointed out.

While the Judges prepared their decision Prof. Stacy awarded the medals and cups won by the High School lads in the meet that afternoon.

The Judges decided that the negative team won.



The applause was long and enthusiastic as in fact it had been at a dozen times during the evening.

McNair Lectures Announced.

President George E. Vincent, of the University of Minnesota, will deliver the McNair lectures for 1914 on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, April 15, 16, and 17. His general subject is: "The Social Vision." The three lectures are: 1. "The Sense of the State." 2. "The Larger Selfishness." 3. "The Kingdom of God." President Vincent is well known as an interesting and instructive speaker. He will undoubtedly add a valuable contribution to the McNair lectures.

Editor-in-chief Whiting has received, corrected and returned the first proof for the Yackety Yack.

Baseball Team Wins Two Games

est had the bases almost filled in nearly every inning only to have her men perish there before the excellent pitching of Carolina's star pitcher Watkins who more than once pulled himself out of holes which were threatening, Both of Carolina's runs were earned and her hits came at opportune times, while Wake Forest scored her only run as the result of a hit, and a wild pitch by Watkins.

Litchfield started the fun in the first inning by a double to left field. He was sacrificed to third and then scored on a sacrifice fly by Long. It was in the second inning that Wake Forest scored. The game progressed amid the playing of the band, the wild cheering, and the tooting of automobile horns until the ninth when a damper was put on the frenzied minds of the spectators. Long drew a base on balls and stole second, going to third on a passed ball. Then Woodall pounded out his second hit, this time a double, and sewed up the game by scoring Long.

Moore for Wake Forest pitched good ball while Whitley, his team mate, featured with a three bagger and scored on a wild pitch.

Struck out by Moore 4, by Watkins 8. Hit by pitcher Stringfield. Base on balls off Moore 2, Watkins 4. Wild pitch, Watkins. Stolen bases, Trust 2, Stringfield, Long. Umpire, Caddell.

Carolina lost the game with the Durham Bulls Saturday and along with the defeat lost one of her most valuable players. In sliding to second in the seventh stanza, Patterson, our dependable first-baseman hurt a tendon in his left ankle and this injury will keep him out of the game probably for the remainder of the season.

After the first inning was past the whole team worked well behind the good pitching of Williams. Durham scored five runs in the first inning before Carolina could settle down. After that the Bulls made only a few hits and two more runs. Carolina lone run happened in the second inning when Woodall led off with a double to left and was scored by Lewis' single to center. Woodall's playing was a feature, his pegging being accurate in pinching base-stealers, and he getting two of the registered five hits.

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

Betsy, the debaters have came, the high track meeters have came too, and from the former we had our first taste of spring, for Manteo was sweetly represented. From the latter number, unfortunately, no signs of spring were present except in the case of a few high jumpers The debaters were indeed a blessing. As we have sain once there were girls along; then, too so many of the professors were judges and were unable to attend their classes, a thing truly deplorable among the students, and possibly among some of the faculty as well.

Were you on the excursion train that started to Richmond last Thanksgiving? Well thats funny. If you were, there is a paper going about which you ought to sign. It says: I give all that is by law or by right coming to me from the railroad to the Athletic Association. Look it up and sign it. You will never get anything out of the railroad by a personal suit, bnt by a joint suit of the whole student body, the Athletic Association will move a little further toward the no-debt mark.

Our good people of the city seem to be bestirring themselves toward getting a train, to come to Chapel Hill, instead of dragging the little I-would't-care-if-I-hadn't dinky to Carrboro. That thing that meets us at University is just like the last egg in the house after we've mixed everything else, when it turns out to be rotten. If you are in favor of a railroad through Chapel Hill, say "Aye"; if not take nearest one to Morganton.

Percy is the one who has the distant look in his eye; the one who has experienced the sweetest thing in the world and realizes that everything else is getting worse and worse; the one who sits in his room with a blank book before his eyes, and dreams of long ago. He's the one who has the germs of love in his heart, and after the freeze of winter, gentle spring comes and revives the germs, and they affect his heart with delirium tre-women.

SATURDAY--WAKE FOREST GAME.

Carolina cinched the Wake Forest series Saturday by defeating Wake Forest in Raleigh after an uphill struggle. The score was 3 to 2 and two of the three came in the eight after a pass, two singles and as many errors. Williams pitched, and pitched too, striking out twelve men, walking one and scattering all but three of the eight hits harmlessly through the nine frames. Wake Forset bunched three hits in the sixth, but secured but one tally. Hubert Bailey twice cut off possible runs at the plate by his beautiful pegging from center. Lewis made a pretty pick up and threw out his man. Long and Lewis both got a couple of hits.

Errors played an important part in the scoring, five being charged against Wake Forest and four against the Tar Heels. Each team earned one run, the other three being due to misplays.

SUMMARY.

Two base hits Lee, Trust. Sacrifice hits Stringfield, Williams. Struck out by Williams 12, by Cuthrell 2. Base on balls by Williams 1, Cuthrell 2. Left on bases, Carolina 8, Wake Forest 5. Wild pitch, Cuthrell. Passed balls Daniels, Woodall.

MONDAY.—GUILFORD.

Guilford took the game from Carolina in Greensboro Monday having the decision really in the first few innings of play. Shore, on the mound for the Quakers, was the star of the game. He allowed only four scattered hits and accepted ten chances without an error. Guilford's runs were made by hits mixed with some errors of fielding and bad judgment by Carolina.

Litchfield scored our only run in the ninth, getting on by a wild throw by Benbow who fielded his grounder. "Red" went to second on the throw and scored on two infield outs. Aycock replaced Watkins in the ninth and was touched for four hits before he had become warm. Capt. Bailey's playing was a feature. The final score was 8 to 1.

TUESDAY—WEST VIRGINIA

Playing the first two innings in the rain and the last five on a very slow field Carolina defeated West Virginia University 14 to 5 Tuesday on the home field. Aycock not only twirled acceptably but collected two singles out of three chances. With the exception of the fourth inning when his opponents made as many runs off of five hits he was practically invincible. But when you get to talking about that game just hand that centerfielder the palen. Out of five trips he connected four times, for a total of eight bases, one being a three sacker and two doubles. Long came pretty close equaling this record totaling three out of four, all singles. Woodall wasn't for behind either. With five chances he swatted .600. Notice the fact too that Carolina is charged with only one error for this contest.

Carolina started off by making three runs and not satisfied with that came back in the second and made four runs, every man having a turn at bat except Lewis who opened and closed this chapter. After a one inning rest the team exactly duplicated their first series of scoring, putting across three in the fourth and four in the fifth.

CHANGES IN JUNIOR WEEK

Program Has Been Altered in Several Details.

As the State Normal Orchestra is unable to be here during Junior Week the Lyric Concert Company will give an entertainment on the appointed Thursday evening of the program. The Meeks-Epps-Harris-Wright Company is the most attractive combination in this circuit. The last number of the Star Course has given way to the local lyrics. Lyceum season tickets will pass you in with the plus on your side. Eubanks will handle the brass tack board. Get your reservations now.

McNAIR LECTURES BEGAN WEDNESDAY

President George E. Vincent of Minnesota Univ. Lecturer.

HIS SUBJECT IS "THE SOCIAL VISION"

On April 15, Dr. George E. Vincent, head of the Chatauqua and President of the University of Minnesota, began the sixth series of McNair lectures in Gerrard Hall. Dr. Vincent brings a message of vital interest to every present day citizen; and most fortunate is the audience that hears his captivatiag presentation.

The series of lectures is concerned with "The Social Vision". The speaker opened this subject with an address on "The Sense of the State". From the start, Dr. Vincent stood in hand's grasp with his hearers, who forgot for the time the personage who was speaking and gave themselves up to the genial and thought-provoking interpretation of the changed attitude of American life.

Americans have been criticised, said Dr. Vincent, by two noted Englishmen, Mr. Bryce and Mr. Wells, for lacking a sense of the state, for seeing no more in the government than a corporation for convenience and efficiency. This criticism, said the speaker, was made possible by the spirit of individualism, which Americans early appropriated from Europe. Necessarily appropriated, because the conditions of frontier lire would have built up the individualistic philosophy if we had not found it ready made. Our frontier expcriences constantly strengthened the energy and initiative of the individual, the sense of free agency and personal responsibility. And the American of today interprets problems in terms of individualism, regarding the individual as the unit of action.

This view runs to extremes in our architecture, business, and public amusements, which are run by the private will of individuals rather than by community control. The danger of this view lies in limited imagination, arrogrance and intolerance. The man who succeeds is over-prone to attribute his success to his inherent superiority over his fellows.

In reaction against the magnification of the independant action of the individual has arisen the philosophy of collectivism. It is the solace of those who fail. It leads to determinism. In extremes, it saps initiative and courage. But it makes a valuable contribution as an offset to excessive individualism and as the promoter of tolerance. We must recognize that environment influences life, and that society produces a type, the average person. Social pressure and economic pressure are constantly hammering upon the individual.

Collectivism, therefore, seems

FOODS AND FOOLISHNESS

Dr. Woods Hutchinson Spoke Interestingly.

"Eat all kinds of good food and plenty of it as fast as you want to." No more comforting advice was ever given this student body than that given by Dr. Woods Hutchinson, "the apostle of common sense in Medicine" as Dr. Henderson said in introducing him. This estimation of him proved indeed correct, for Dr. Hutchinson showed very clearly that the use of a little common sence in one's mode of living is much better than the use of drugs, Of all the palatable and unpalatable portions of the landscape which our ancestors tried to eat, they found such foods as eggs, bread and meat most satisfactory and for this reason they have always been the mainstay of life. The human body is merely a gas engine and food is the fuel. The whole question comes down to the efficiency of food as a fuel. Dr. Hutchinson recommended the use of good, solid food and said that the belief that sugar and pork are unwholesome is a fallacy, as is also the prevalent faith in breakfast foods—shredded doormats, grape nuts, post mortum coffee, and other mixtures emanating from the region of Battle Creek. In conclusion Dr. Hutchinson gave the audience an opportunity to ask any questions that might have arisen in their minds. His lecture was a palateable combination of science and humor which had a most pleasing effect on the audience.

Triangular Debate Saturday.

On Saturday night Virginia, Johns Hopkins and Carolina will each struggle for supremacy over the other two on the platform. Carolina will be represented at Charlottsville against Johns Hopkins by Felix Webster and Kenneth Royal These two gentlemen will uphold the affirmative. As Guest of Johns Hopkins Carlyle Higgins and Albert Holmes will contest Virginia from the negative. In Gerrard Hall at 8:00 Johns Hopkins and Virginia will debate. Malcom Lauchheim and Wm. Warren will defend the affirmative for Hopkins while William McBain and Maurice Henry will represent Virginia on the opposite side.

The query for all three debates is Resolved: That the political interests of the United States demand the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. Mr. W. S. Bernard is Presiding officer and T. C. Boushall Secretary. The judges are Messrs. E. K. Graham, Charles L. Raper, H. W. Chase, Archibald Henderson and J. G. deRoulhac Hamilton.

TRACK TEAM WINS DUEL FROM V. P. I.

Has a Margin of Only Three Points. Woolcott Gets Thirteen Points

SCORE WAS SIXTY TO FIFTY-SEVEN

On Miles Athletic Field in Blacksburg last Saturday, the Carolina track team won over V. P. I. by the score of 60 to 57. The marginal score by no means equals the difference in the strength of the two teams. If we had dropped those last three points, we would explain fully to you how the meet, which started in the morning, was stopped an hour before dinner and the last three events carried over into the afternoon, giving V. P. I.'s miler a long rest before the two miles; and how stealing on the hundred was legalized; and how Pat was disqualified in the quarter; and how Tommy had the genuine hard luck on the low hurdles.

But let the extras go, and look at what Coach Brown and Manager Whitaker and Captain Sears have done. "Kent" has come in and done exactly the right thing at exactly the needed time. We are most fortunate in having him and we believe he is enjoying it as much as anybody.

Carolina's victory came by snatching six first places, eight seconds, and six thirds. Spence's mile, Smith's two-twenty, and Woollcoot's high hurdles were the most notable records. Woollcott re-appeared as the most valuable point winner on the team, attaching 13 points. Smith was next highest with 8.

For V. P. I., Legge won two firsts, and Davenport gave promise of great ability as a distance runner.

Carolina carried only 15 men besides the Coach and Manager, scoring an average of 4 points per man.

Winners of events were as follows:

100 yard dash—Time 10 1-5 sec Fuqua, V. P. I. first; Sears, N. C., second; Tebbs, V. P. I, third.

Mile—Time 4:42;Spence, N. C. first; Davenport, V. P. I., second; Rand, N. C., third.

Pole vault—Height 10 feet; Strong and Homewood (N. C.) tied for first and second; France; (V.P. I.) third.

High jump—Height 5 feet 4 in. Woollcott (N. C.) first; Furr (V. P. I.) second; Heflin (V. P. I.)

Shot put—Distance 35 ft. 7 in.; Graves (V. P. I.) first; Axley (N. C.) second; Ramsey (N. C.) third

High hurdles—Time 16 2-5; Woollcott (N. C.) first; White (V. P. I.) second; Struthers (N. C.) third.

Half mile—Time 2:4; Whiting (N. C.) first; Keaton (V. P. I.) second; Spence (N. C.) third.

220 yd. dash—Time 22 3:5 sec.; Smith (N. C.) first; Sears (N. C.) second; Fuqua (V. P. I.) third.

Discus—Distance 100 feet; Gibbs (V. P. I.) first; Axley (N. C.) second; Whitehead (V. P. I.) third.

Low hurdles—Time 26 2-5 sec.

WHY JUNIOR WEEK?

Next week is Junior Week--and the whole University throws aside the ordinary run of affairs and seeks to forget care and responsibility and worry in a royal round of pleasure. Why? Why is Junior Week? Why do we combine all of these festivities at this particular time?

Two reasons, as we see it. It is an axiom that human beings cannot continue to do the same things for an indefinite period and do them well. Everyone needs change and relaxation and rest. No matter how pleasant or beneficial a thing may be, too much of it is harmful. Everyone needs to stop once in a while, to look around at other folks, to break training. Given this universal human need, the question of time comes up--no, it doesn't either. There's no question of the right time at all. There is but one possible time. Junior Week celebrates Spring. It marks the advent of the green grass, of the song of the birds, of the golden time of lovers. It comes when youth is triumphant. Junior Week, pleasure, spring--the words are synonymous.

VIRGINIA TWICE MORE.

It is our very great pleasure this week to meet our Virginia friends in baseball and in debating. The games, Saturday in Durham and Monday in Greensboro, will call forth the best efforts of all Tar Heel land. Virginia has set a stiff pace thus far and comes down from the Old Dominion with a team that has driven to cover the best pitchers of the championship Yale nine and has smashed its way to many other victories. Captain Neff's men come confidently, but they have yet to face the offerings of Watkins, of Williams, and of the reliable Aycock, and they have yet to play for the crafty "Red" Litchfield and Bailey. The two games should be the best of the year in North Carolina.

And the debating contest is at hand too. Virginia again and Johns Hopkins unite with Carolina this week in the triangular contest which last year ended so finely for the Tar Heels. We now take up the momentous question of the Monroe Doctrine and seek to thrash out the truth. Upon the shoulders of four men we have placed the safe-keeping of the best college debating record in the country, confident that they will do all in their power to further the glory of the University.

Virginia twice more--and this time we meet in fields where, year in and year out, Carolina stays with the leaders and frequently blazes the way herself. Given an even break of luck and no extraordinary circumstances, we look for the next few days to bring joyful news to all good Tar Heels.

DR. VINCENT.

Dr. Vincent comes to the University as one of a line of illustrious lecturers. One has but to mention the names with which the McNair Lecture Foundation has made us familiar to remember how much the University owes to John Calvin McNair, of the class of 1849: Dr. Francis Smith, Dr. Patton, Dr. David Starr Jordan, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, Dr. Francis Peabody. The list contains some of the thought, leaders in the United States, masters in master realms, and big men in every way. Situated as the University is, out of the beaten track, these giants have come to us every year to connect us with the great thought movements of modern times. Their visits have always enlarged our vision, pointed out wondrous new kingdoms, and lifted the mental plane of the University a notch higher.

Dr. Vincent is in every way fitted to continue the work of his predecessors. Carolina men cannot afford to miss one of the leading educators and thinkers of the day. The first lecture set a high standard, but we look to the President of the University of Minnesota and the head of the Chautauqua to maintain his high position and to carry forward the character of the McNair Lectures.

AN UNFORGETTABLE SUMMER TRIP.

To any Carolina man who is looking for a summer trip that will give him something beside the ordinary tan the Tar Heel recommends for serious consideration the Southern Student Conference at Black Mountain, North Carolina, June 12-21. Here you will find the beauties of western North Carolina spread out welcoming for you. It's the grandest county this side of the Rockies, and not to know its wonders is to rob yourself. Every sort of recreation imaginable is waiting there for the hungry student. And best of all, the company is princely. No greater experience can come to a man than to touch this forward-looking, upward-looking body of men, to catch the spirit of one of the greatest conceptions of modern times, to learn to do things as you would wish you had done twenty years afterward. The Y. M. C. A. will gladly give you all the information you want and can show you plenty of other attractions at this summer gathering of college men.

Frank Graham and Walter Fuller plan to lead twenty-five Carolina men to Black Mountain this summer. It would be for better for everyone concerned—the University itself most of all—if they led a hundred and twenty-five men.

directly opposed to individualism. But in reality these are only two different aspects of one organic thing—the common life. Individualism is the active side of change. The individual must never forget that there is in him a little fragment of God's truth that is not in anybody else. And the very debt that we owe society can be paid only by developing our marginal difference and putting all that we possess into the common life.

Each man's life is in common with others. Each man's life is also separately capable. The realization of both these aspects is creating the new social vision. The sense of the state is finding its natural place in the organic life of our people.

Omega Delta.

Baldwin Maxwell, Preston Epps, Tom Linn, Francis Clarkson, Henry Meeks, and Harry Grimsley were initiated into Omega Delta Monday night. The other members are Robert House, W. Critx George, Barney Pitts, W. P. Mangum Weeks, Cy Long, Jesse Pugh, and Herschel Johnson. Drs. James F. Royster and W. M. Dey are faculty members.

Omega Delta is an honorary literaty fraternity organized March 3, 1914. Its purpose is to promote a more widespread interest in modern dramatic literature, and to encourage original work in this particular field of literature. Futhermore the fraternity endeavors to honor men of literary attainments by offering to them its membership.

The Satyrs.

The Dramatic Order of Satyrs, a secret organization composed of the N. C. men in dramatics, recently initiated Dr. John Manning Booker, Dr. Edwin Greenlaw, and Prof. Geo. McKie.

The purpose of the Order is to stimulate creative dramatic talent in the University.

Plans have already been drawn up for nationalizing the Order, and with the aid of the distinguished faculty members the Order hopes to place a chapter in most American colleges and Universities. The manager of the Dromatic Club has received without solicitation requests from other colleges for a statement of out method of coaching and election of members to the cast, and the Order has every reason to believe that the Satyrs will be nationalized. especially since there is nothing else of its kind now existent in American colleges.

Dr. Charles L. Raper attended the joint meeting of the Conference for Education in the South and the Southern Educational Association, at Louisville, Ky., April 7-10. He made an address on "the Essential Features of an Effective System of Taxation", April 9. On April 10, he, as the Chairman of a Committee of the Conference for Education in the South, made a report on "A state School System—its Administration and Finance."

DRESSING ROOM GOSSIP

You know that we like all others have ground rules about our baseball diamond. And if rules were made for anything in the world they were made for use. And for that very reason, to use the ground rules, Rabbit said he through that ball toward first base and not to first base. But that's neither here nor there; therefore, where is it? (See Article 339, example 5.)

And we beat Wake Forest again! And while that was happening, the scrubs beat Raleigh. Our old ball team is striking a stride. Board for Durham Saturday, and on to Greensboro Monday Whoop it up!

Yes they had to give yells, shout out their admiration and praise, raise a big domonstration of their appreciation of the Beulah Buck Quartette. And it was worth it! It was almost worth $1.75 just to hear that; well, they ought to send something decent here once in a while.

The old pep is still continued on the class field. Old Adam Applejack, the jolly good sport (!!??!!), may be the Chapel Hill Trust, but DeWitt Kluttz has certainly got the classy things moving. He's got enough Freshmen out there still trying for the team, to put to shame an auction sale where things are given away instead of sold.

And how about our old track team? Well they were right there too, and while the baseball team was winning, the schrubs beating, Beulah singing, and the Saturday water running in the showers, the boys were running and jumping in great style. It looks like somebody threw a whole handful of honors at us.

How about day-afte-tomorrow? We play Virginia in Durham, have a meet with South Carolina at Columbia, debate Johns Hopkins and Virginia again allow the Saturday H2O to flow. Let Saturday be another large day! (Refer all occurrences to Doggie's Calender.)

And when you have nothing to do say something about the Virginia games.

VOL. 22 UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1914 NO. 27

CAROLINA LOSES BOTH SIDES OF TRI-ANGULAR DEBATE ON MONROE DOCTRINE

Johns Hopkins Wins By a Unanimous Decision and Virginia by a Vote of Three to Two.

In the second triangular debate between Carolina, Virginia, and Johns Hopkins, held April 18, Carolina dropped the decision at both corners. The query debated was: Resolved, that the political interest of the United States demanded the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. Our affirmative team, Carlisle Higgins and J. A. Holmes, met Johns Hopkins in Charlottesville. Our negative team, K. C. Royall and F. L. Webster, met Virginia in Baltimore. And here in Gerrard Hall representatives from Virginia and Hopkins clashed forces, Hopkins winning.

Hopkins held the affirmative side in the debate here, and was represented by Messrs. Warren and Laucheimer. Virginia, on the negative, was represented by Messrs. McBain and Henry. The judges were President Graham, Dr. Raper, Dr. Henderson, Dr Hamilton, and Dr. Chase. Prof. Bernard was the presiding officer; T. C. Boushall, Secretary of the Debating Union, acted as secretary for the debate

A rather large audience was present, in spite of the strong attraction toward Durham. The debate on the whole was not up to the standard set by the institutions last year.

The affirmative pointed out that since the enunciation of the Monroe Doctrine, great changes have occurred both in our own government and in world conditions, up to near the end of the last century, the Doctrine was a correct and necessary interpretation of our foreign relations. We were a weak nation; democracy was still on trial. Like a small dog, we had to make a big noise in order to protect our life. But such a condition no longer exists. We are now a great and respected nation. The Monroe Doctrine instead of a benefit, has become a burden, in that it multiplies the chances of collision with other nations. Furthermore, it is detrimental to our interests, because it arouses the suspicion and hatred of Latin America against us, and it forces upon us the unhealthy burden of guardianship over the western world.

The negative, playing entirely on the defensive, did not advance constructive argument in favor of the Monroe Doctrine, but contenued themselves from the beginning with refutation of the attack of the opposition. They pointed out that the Monroe Doctrine has not been followed for the purpose of imperialism. History shows, they contended, that in every applicatien of the Doctrine we have benefitced, not harmed, Latin America. In the case of San Domingo, we faciltated their receipt of revenue and gave them a stable government. Thrice we have mnde Mexico a present of her independance. We prevented the absorption of Yucatan by Spain. We cleaned up Cuba and left it free In all of these cases, we could easily have acted in selfish aggrandizement of our own strength; but we have not allowed ourselves to become imperialistic. The Monroe Doctrine may be misunderstood by some; but it is also held in high esteem by many leaders of public thought in Latin America. Its minor defects should not cause its abandonment.

After the rejoiners, the votes of the judges were collected and announced; the decision was four to one in favor of the affirmative.

Following the debate, an informal banquet was served in the reading room of the Y. M. C. A. There were present the visiting debaters, the judges and officers of the debate, the members of the Debating Union, the Faculty debating committee, and all old intercollegiate debaters on the Hill. Many delightful speeches were enjoyed, specially those of our visiting friends from Virginia and Johns Hopkins.

Carolina men will be particularly interested in the argument presented by our own representatives in Charlottesville and Baltimore. A summary of these follows.

For the affirmative, Mr. Holmes in opening, defined the terms of the query. "Political interests of the United States means," he said, "the preservation of our political system of checks and balances, and the maintenance of our democratic institutions. The Monroe Doctrine is a general interpretative policy, embodying the interpretation of Presidents from Monroe to the present day. Since it has always been an executive policy, never receiving legislative or judicial sanction, it is a subversion of our system of checks and balances. It is also a contradiction of our democratic institutions, for we force ourselves into the political business of other nations by demanding their politidal isolation from Europe. The Doctrine has led us to paternalism, as instanced in the cases of San Domingo and Oicaraugua; it has led to tutelage as in the cases of Yucatan and the St. Thomas' Island; and it has led to imperialism as in the cases of Porto Rico and Panama.

Continuing our affirmative argument, Mr. Higgins contended that the the Monroe Doctrine resulted in positive injury to ourselvis and to the world at large. The only justification for the interference of one nation in the affairs of another is self-protection; and it is absurd to say that we can best protect ourselves by extending our lines around half the world. Furthermore, by this action we block the progress of peace, for we refuse to submit cases arising under the Monroe

DR. VINCENT ENDS McNAIR SERIES

"The Larger Selfishness" Was Theme Thursday. "Kingdom of God" Friday.

PAST STANDING OF SERIES MAINTAINED.

In the second of the series of McNair lectures, Dr. George E. Vincent on Friday night spoke on "The Larger Selfishness." At the beginning of this lecture Dr. Vincent pointed out the confusion between unselfishness and selfishness, and raised the question, what is the self?

To explain consciousness there have been many interesting figures offered. One is the "threshold of consciousness," over which a stimulus must pass before we notice it. James used the figure of a "stream," flowing on and on. We may think of consciousness as a series of "moving pictures" Self control is control of one's own pictures. Leaders of men ar those who place pictures in the minds of others. The self is revealed in the kinds of pictures that are in the mind and in the mind's attitude toward them. "Whatsoever a man thinketh in his heart"--what kind of pictures he is pleased to attend to--"that is he." We should avoid both the despair of continual sad pictures and the arrogance of continual flattering ones; strike the middle groud of poise and serenity.

But to examine the self more closely, take a cross section of it. We find that it is made up of concentric circles; at the center the inner self, surrounded by ever widening circles. The first surrounding is the material self, our property, whatever is saturated with self. Beyond this the family self, which we live in the life of those dear to us. Likewise the life of our social selves depends upon the groups of other people whose opinion of us we regard. We have also the sense of self in the institutions--this University is a part of us--so with the state, the section, the nation, and the world.

The largeness of our life, the generousness of our action depends upon the incorporation of the wide circles of self into our being. This is the business of the inner self. It acts as the center of feeling, of desire, and of valuation. It selects, arranges, and dominates the other selves. Some of these selves do not naturally agree--as our church self may not be compatible with our business self. The inner self must harmonize these differences. The true simple life lies in a personality organized into a unity of desires and action.

The inner self must merge the the wider selves, grow into something bigger than the material and its immediate connections. This growth demands offort, a choice exercised, and a frontier pressed steadily outward. Give the inner self ideal associates,

CAROLINA HAS DISASTEROUS WEEK ON DIAMOND. LOSE TWO TO VIRGINIA

Lose at Durham Saturday and Greensboro Monday Before Large Crowds. To Davidson Tuesday at Charlotte.

In the first game of the Virginia-Carolina series Carolina lost to Virginia 2 to 0. The game was played safely throughout, and it was singularly noticeable that there was no attempt to steal a base, peg to a base, or do anything where there was a chance of error. Williams, though at times wild, was indeed masterful when he held his control, and it was with difficulty that the Virginians connected with his delivery. His speed was against him only once, when White met a fast one fair for three bases and scored later on a single. Carolina hit Gammon almost at will, but always straight to the fielders and succeeded in landing only three hits.

The cheering was frantic at times, and the players were incited by frequent yells from the Carolina bleachers, and by the occasional spirited outbursts from the Virginia roaters in the grandstand.

In the early innings Virginia scored her first run when Hardison's error allowed the man on second to score. Williams was continually pulling out of tight places, either by fanning the batters, or by help from his teammates one time in a fast double, and other times in quick outs at any one of the bases. At one time, with three men on, three balls, two strikes, and two out, Virginia's man drove a hard one far out into center, which Bailey caught on the run while the man from third had already touched home plate. Shields featured in two remarkable catches that otherwise would have been sure hits, and by a sensational single handed stop of a fast grounder behind second broke up a third hit. Lewis and Woodall were both steady and hits to the outfield were almost impossible. Nance for the second time in the seasa got a hit out of a single chance when he was put in as a pinch hitter in the ninth.

The fielding on both sides was almost perfect, especially in the outfield. Almost impossible chances were made good after long runs just in time to meet the white sphere as it dropped down from the blue skyline.

The action of the Durham Alumni in preparing for the game has been a great pleasure to the student body. They secured the fifty piece band and also arranged to get the grounds free of cost. They also held a dance Saturday night in honor of the teams.

The score by innings follow:

FIRST INNING.

Williams shot the first one at 3:28 and Paschal fumbled. He fanned, Woodall dropping the third strike, out at first. Philips doubled to left. Neff walked. White grounds to short, forcing Neff, Philips taking third. Woodall makes beautiful stop of wild pitch and Word out by Williams. One hit, no runs.

Carolina—Litchfield drives out to White in left. Hardison hits to Neff. Long drives it through Gammond and Neff throws it away, Long taking second. Woodall grounds to Neff.

SECOND INNING.

Virginia—Guy walks. Strickley sacrifices. Green hits it through first and Guy scores, Green on second. Gammond out on strikes. Paschal infield hit to third. Philligs walks and Neff is up, Williams gives him three balls then two strikes. Neff hits hotly to center, but Bailey holds it. One run, one hit. Virginia 1, Carolina 0.

Carolina—H. Bailey out second to first. K. Bailey flies deeply to left. Shields gets Carolina's first hit, a single to center. Lewis fouls out to Green. No runs, one hit.

THIRD INNING.

Virginia—White thrown out by Williams. Ward grounds to Hardison. Guy hits weakly and Williams makes fine play to first.

Carolina—Williams strikes out. Litchfield is thrown out by Gammon. Hardison grounds to Word

FOURTH INNING.

Virginia—Strickley out third to first. Green singles to right. Gammon hits to left. Paschall flies out to center. Philips walks and again Neff is up with the bases full. Neff hits to Lewis, who steps on the bag. Two hits, no runs.

Carolina—Long flies to center Woodall goes out on fast play of Stickley. H. Bailey flies to White in left.

FIFTH INNING.

White hit one to center and H. Bailey pulled it in. Nobody knows how. Word singled to left. Guy fanned, Strickley out third to first. One hit, no run.

K. Bailey flied to third and Shields to center. Lewis out short to first. No hits, no runs.

SIXTH INNING.

Green fanned. Gammon started one over second but Shields pulled it in with one hand and on a great play retired Gammon. Paschall started one towards left and on another great play Shields pulled it in. No hits, no runs.

Williams flied to first. Litchfield out, short to first. Hardison flied to center. No hits, no runs,

SEVENTH INNING.

Philips walked. Neff grounded to Shields and on a fast double play, Shields to Bailey to Hardison both runners were out. White tripled to deep center, and Word singled to right scoring him. Guy out second to first. Two hits, one run.

Long singled to left! Woodall hit to third forcing Long at second being out himself at first. H. Bailey out second to first. One

DEBATING DEFEATS.

The University community has grown so accustomed to winning debates that the double defeat at the hands of Virginia and Johns Hopkins was a solar plexus blow. The first question on every one's lips was "why?" The two teams were composed of men easily up to the standard of former years, they had worked hard, they looked like winners. Why did they lose?

Inquiry seems to point to the rejoinders as being weaker than the main outlined arguments. And very significant is the statement of the man who has had more influence on debating at the Univevsity than any one else: that every debate Carolina has lost, save one, has been lost on the rejoinder. It does look as though Carolina debaters, as the same man has said, are more proficient as orators than as debaters. We believe the subject is itself a good one for debate. We of Carolina take more pride in our debating record than in any other student activity. Have we in our pride allowed our system to settle in a rut? Are we out of date? Is the system wrong?

To the Debating Union, and through it, to the literary societies, the Tar Heel puts these questions, hoping that they may enable us to see ourselves clearly: Are Carolina debaters chosen in the right way? Are they trained in the right way? How do our methods compare with those of other colleges?

The wise make of their mistakes a ladder.

WHY A SENIOR ORDER?

What can a senior Order do to prove its worth?

To back Carolina first and last to see that the class leaves a memorial even if the order has to do it itself; to help bring underclassmen to a proper appreciation of the University's tradition; to unite different points of view and preserve the common spirit; to maintain high standards of conduct and set a good example.

Surely any senior order that wishes to do has a great chance to serve its class and the University.

FOUR-YEAR ATHLETES.

Two decisive defeats in base ball at the hands of Virginia do not discourage us as to our future record in that sport. Carolina may be off her form right now, but anyone who knows baseball conditions in North Carolina knows that the trouble is temporary. North Carolina is a base ball state as she is not a football state; and year in and year out the University will stay at the top in baseball. With every country boy playing as soon as he can walk, crack players are bound to evolve. Carolina will have good teams.

At the same time one serious defect is hurting the baseball system here, and to a less degree all branches of athletics. Have you ever stopped to consider how many ball players stay here longer than one year? Running back over the teams of the past three years, Hackney's team, Lee's team, and Edwards' team, look at the record of the N. C. men. Twenty-four men have been awarded the Varsity monogram in that time; of that twenty-four only one man, Hackney, played four years. Only two men, Edwards and Karl Bailey, played three years; only six men played two years; and fifteen men, including some of the best players who have ever been here, played only one year. How's that for a record? Doesn't it explain, in some degree at least, why Carolina has not gone even further than she has?

We need four-year athletes. Every system that is worth while depends upon continuity and you can not get continuity with men who play one year and drift away. Just as soon as we learn to hold our ball players we will never be headed. We need four-year athletes.

CONSPICUOUS MEN.

Some one asked the Bureau of Extension who, in its opinion, were the six most conspicuous men in the world today. The answer was Woodrow Wilson, Bernard Shaw, Theodore Roosevelt, David Lloyd George, Andrew Carnegie, and John R. Mott. Of course a question like this is waste time, from one point of view, because it can never be settled and because it must always be largely a matter of individual opinion; but the thought is haunting and fascinating. Much depends on the definition of the word conspicuous. The papers of the state have been having a lively time finding fault with the Bureau's answer. Can you make a better one?

Professor E. C Branson who comes to the University of North Carolina next year as Professor of Applied Economics and Sociology, has been delivering a series of lectures for the past two weeks for the University of Wisconsin. He went to Wisconsin at the invitation of the Governor, and the State Board of Public Affairs to study and report upon the field work of the University of Wisconsin. This is not a small recognition of Professor Branson's ability.

B. F. PATY WINS CARR ORATORICAL

His Opponents Were Bruce Gunter, R. T. Bryan and B. L. Field.

PATY SPOKE ON "A CRITICISM OF WEALTH"

In the third annual contest for the Carr Oratorical Medal, held Wednesday night, Mr. B. F. Paty was the winner. This contest among the orators of the Junior class, made possible through the generosity of General Julian S. Carr, has established itself as a feature of Junior Week; and on this last occasion the unusually high order of speeches set a new record.

Prof. Patterson acted as presiding officer, and Oscar Leach as secretary. The judges were Dr. W. M. Dey, Dr. J. M. Bell, and Dr. W. C. Coker. The four orations were most enjoyable and furnished a hard task for the judges.

The first speaker, Mr. R. T, Bryan Jr., of the Philanthropic Society, had as his subject, "The Awakening of the Great Yellow Dragon." A thousand years ago, he said, China was a nation, ruled by the Mings, the greatest dynasty it has ever known. That was a time of industrial and intellectual activity--the great wall and Confucius and Buddha. The attack of the Tartars gave an opportuity for the Manchus to ascend the throne. Under this vicious rule, the Great Yellow Dragon fell into a stupor. But in recent times, the empire has opened to trade and exposed to the currents of world action. Revolution headed by Sun Yat Sen established a republic. The Great Yellow Dragon is awakening; reform and development of untold resources are at hand.

Mr. B. L. Field, of the Dialetic Society, next spoke on "Child Labor and the Duty of the State." He pointed out that we desire to have a legacy even greater than our glorious heritage. Our fathers freed this state from military danger; our duty is to free North Carolina from the blight of clild labor. This state has not now a single officer to devote his whole time to the enforcement of even our meagre child labor laws. The child, our best asset, is neglected. The fathers and mothers of North Carolina can rise up and stamp out this evil.

The next speaker, Mr. L. B. Gunter, Philanthropic, had as his subject, "Education and Leadership--The South's Opportunity." The present national administration, he pointed out, received the loyal support of the whole nation. This is a recognition of the ability of southern statesmanship and and indication of the unity of our country. The great talent of the South, combined with education, will become a potent, benefical factor in national life. The South has just started the solving of its intellectual problem. It is our opportunity to carry the educational work of our leaders to the completion that means intellectual power.

The last speaker, Mr. B. F. Paty, Dialectic, presented the winning oration on the subject, "A Criticism of Wealth." Everybody, he said, seems ready to knock a rich man. We peaise the "poor but honest toiler," and insinuate that the man who has money is a grand rascal made of four metals--gold in his pocket, silver on his tongue, brass on his forehead, and iron in his heart, But all material wealth is good if used rightyl. In fact, the accumulation of wealth is necessary for the fullest life of our people. Its accumulation is an indication of the success of the past, and is yet more a promise of the welfare of the future, Our rich men are not vicious. Wealth is not itself an evil. If misused, it causes trouble. And we should condemn its misuse, but not its existence. For progress, let us not haud out charity indiscriminately-that only increases slothfullness. Let us rather foster the spirit that makes everyone depend on his own exertion, the fellow-feeling of courage in noble effort.

DR. SNEATH OF BOSTON

April University Sermon Last Sunday.

Dr. I. W. Sneath of Boston delivered the University sermon for April in Gerrard Hall Sunday morning. His text, from II Corinthians, 3:18, was: "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

His subject was the "miracles of the unlikely". To illustrate his point he brought up many examples in the physical world of as he said, "the possibility of the impossible". Then he showed the "regenerative power of an exalted personality," as seen in such great leaders of men as Caesar, David, and the Christ. How they had each transformed their followers by their towering personalities and how great this transformation had been.

He dwelt especially on the influence of the Christ as shown by the changes wrought in His apostles. Then he showed the effects which are being produced even now upon those who know His personality.

Doctrine arbitration. Yet all but two South American nations are already represented at The Hague, thereby they are guaranteed their equal rights. Our policy is therefore unnecessary and injurious.

For the negative, Mr. Webster traced the development of our government, showing that the declaration of independence, the constitution and the Monroe Doctrine are three successive steps of democracy. The Monroe Doctrine is a guarantee to the South American nations that they shall be free to work out their own destinies unmolested. It is, therefore, the gospel spirit of our democracy.

Continuing the negative, Mr. Royall contended that if the Manroe Doctrine were abandoned South America would be partitioned among European powers. For the last thirty years especially has there been a great land thirst on the part of European nations. All the free soil outside of America has been gobbled up. The Monroe Doctrine alone stands between the independent governments of Latin America and the loss of their independence in foreign control.

CLASS STUNTS A CHASER

For the One Great and Only "The Man Between."

Several dimes were well spent Thursday morning on class stunts One more new idea has been put into successful practice.

The Freshmen led off with a fake college opening. The radiator catalogue, and chapel seat gags were well brought in C. C. Daniels as Freshman and McCall as a "gay co-ed" were easily features Every one was present and delivered the goods.

The Sophs tried and with good success, pulled one over on us. The Everywoman idea was applied to Everystudent and his wanderings through the Forest of Education. The faculty were taken off by various members of the class. Blalock, as philosophy, Harriron, as mathematics, Jarrell, as History, and Coggin, as Everystudent in company with Pleasure were easily stars. The whole was rather too serious for occasion, but it showed work aud originality.

The Juuior "Third-Class Show" was a black faced minstral performance. It was ridiculous from start to finish. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the jokes and above all the make-ups. Sahag's Persian Love Song in the original was fine, even though no one understood the words.

The newness of the idea was evident at no place. Everything went smoothly, and everyone was sorry to see the curtain cover the scene.

LYRIC CONCERT CO.

Local Talent Star Course a Great Success.

Friday night the Junior Girls were treated to a true music feast by the local Talent under the name of the Lyric Concert Company. This entertainment was intended to take the place of the sixth number of the Star Course but instead of merely taking the place it created a place for itself. It was better than any Star Course that has been on the Hill tkis year. The audience was the largest that has greeted one of these entertainments this season.

The original program consisted of eight numbers by Henry Meeks, Preston Epps, William Wright and J. Earle Harris. The piano, however, had become somewhat indisposed during its journey to the stage so the first number, "Hungarian Rhapsodie" number 2, by Mr. Harris, was omitted. Mr. Meeks was at his very best so that explains why he had to reappear to two encores on two of his selections. Mr. Epps had his following of enthusiastic admirers too, and then Mr. Wright with his violin completed as strong a group as anyone could wish.

The program follows:

"Let me Love Thee." Arditi
Mr. Epps
"Caprice Vienois," Kreisler
Mr. Wright
"Racconto di Rudolfo," Puccini
Mr. Meeks
"The Erl-King," Schubert
Mr. Epps
"Concerto," No. 7, de Beriot
Mr. Wright
Three songs by McDowell
a. "A Maid Sings Light."
b. "Deserted."
c. "To a Wild Rose."
Mr. Meeks
Duet from "Forza del Destino," Verdi
Messrs. Meeks and Epps.

ALL TEAMS PLAY BALL

Class Series on with a Zip. "Coller Cobb" Found.

Ratty's team played the Freshmen and like to beat them. Before the game Angel was elected Captain of the Senior team, and he immediately elected Ratty to pitch the opening contest. Coleman worked for the Freshmen. The game actually turned out to be close, ending 3 to 3. With the score 3 to 0 in favor of the Seniors, the Freshmen came in about the seventh inning and by successive hits scored three runs. At this juncture the Sophomores and Juniors appeared, ran the others off the field and started a game of their own.

Huske, for the Sophs, and Gilman, for the Juniors, both with class football reputations, were the battered. Fuller showed up the whole college, Varsity player included, and even the Seniors, when, after reaching first on an infield ball, he stole successively (not all at once, you understand) second, third, and FORTH on into home.

However, when the game was called the score was 7 to 5 in favor of the Sophs. Thus beginneth the class series.

The Senior line-up was: Darden ss., Ransom, p., Angel, c., Allen, 2nd., Sloan, cf., Love, 3b., Lord 1b, Prevatt, lf., Kelly, rf., Holton, batted for Kelly in the 7th. The Freshmen line-up was: Goodson, 3b., Valley, ss., Tate, 2nd., Coleman, p, Cowell, rf., C. Burnett, c., Harris, lf., Wooten, 1b., Alderman, cf. Bob Burnett and Cagle made good at pinch hitting.

The Y. M. C. A. held a picnic today for its Sunday Schools. Mr. Brown, of the State Agriculture Department and Prof. Noble spoke.

Charles Tillett '11 is on the Hill today to arrange for a commencement Reunion of his class.

That Track crowd is a good crowd, considered as a whole. On the way to Blacksburg, the Norfolk & Western conductor on the fast train between Lynchburg and Roanoke begged Manager Whitaker to tell him where those boys were from. He said they were the finest lot he had ever carried on his train.

The Junior Week Girl

FACULTY DEFEAT DAZED SENIORS

Aided By Red Cross Corps Machine Guns, Three Ladies, Bomb and Umpire.

A MISS CONRAD CAPTIVATES COLLEGE.

Since by hypothesis the faculty are the best of men, and judging by their slow and powerful locomotion on the campus this morning, that they consider yesterday's procedure quite the ultimatum of folly, we have proved the old proposition again. So the faculty enjoyed yesterday,s game thouroughly. No one ever hints that it wasn't a success from the students view point.

The game started out interestingly enough with two runs by the faculty. Then 1914 came to the bat. With James receiving Kluttz, Mr. Graham on first, Dr. Royster on second, Dr. Mangum on third, Dr. Howell, Dr. Dey, and Prof Dagget in the field, things looked gloomy for the seniors. And play they did like leaguers. Kluttz fires like a machine gun, Darden hits with sledge hammer impetus; round the diamond he goes--out on third where Dr. Mangum runs things. Mr. Graham puts one man out at 1st; Dr, Royster another at 3rd, and the seniors are shut out. Now a bugle blows--look! the hospital corps is coming two prancing horses drawing the ambulance in which are seated two kind faced nurses and marching before is a troop of sturdy men with the red cross flag--valiant service they are to render for when Mr. Bacot is put in to run bases for Dr. Dey, they run with their stretcher to second base, pick him up, and carry him to third. Again when Darden is overcome at the plate, they run up with their stretcher, meantime soothing a distracted lady who rushes down from the grand stand. Again, when Mr. Dagget falls in a faint in right field they valiantly rush their ambulance across the field and remove him to the tent. Now the crowd cheers as Dr. Booker comes on the field in his conventional suit of black and determedly picks up the big stick; a hit, loping off around the field he goes, dropping his apparel as he runs, and is helped into home by his brother of the English department, Dr. Royster. Then the crowd grows excited and yells vociferously for the players. Nurse Holdon, aye (lias) George comes to the bat, gets a hit, starts around the diamond her habiliments swaying in the wind, is pounced upon at second by Dr. Royster, keeps on undeterred and is finally clutched by Kluttz when trying to cut from 2nd to home. The seniors obsessed with monomanic confusion reverse the method of running bases and run from 3rd to 2nd around to home. The air is rent with gun shots--Kluttz has shot Whitaker when the valiant senior is about to get home. Now the faculty group themselves on the field for their picture; the kodak is subsequently carried off by the Red Cross corps and the flag lowered to half mast. Thus the game goes until Mr. Noble volunteers, comes to the bat, gets a hit and a home run. Then the game is over—the best game of the season, all the hitters, and just kept scoring. Shag hit a homer, Doc Kluttz, with his keen head for business, made three bags off a two base hit, and George Tandy hit for three bases. Fatty Cowel started for three foul balls, but never did get to any one of them.

Woodall made two successful trips to the plate, and Hubert Bailey drove in a runner from second.

O. C. Nance was taken into Sigma Upsilon a few days ago.

With this issue of the Tar Heel the prettiest Junior Week Dances of recent years became a matter of history. For the first time in several years there were three formal dances; and all were so pretty and enjoyable that no one could be regarded as of extraordinary importance to the aggrandizement of the glory of the others. Taken altogether, from the standpoint of decorations, dance figures, music, and the smoothness with which they were carried through from the Grand March Wednesday night to Home Sweet Home Saturday night, the Junior Week Dances for 1914 were even above the standard of those in the past and set a new mark for future attainments.

If there was only one feature of the dances this week outstanding over the unusual excellence prevailing in every respect, it was in the decorations. Rarely has the gymnasium been more prettily dressed; and the more praise is due the leaders of the respective dances since they had little time in which to execute their designs and since the whole was their own work, there being no professional assistance.

Wddnesday night George Strong with Miss Mary Louise Manning of Durham led the Junior Order of the Gorgons Head Dance. He was assisted by Miss Borden, of Goldsboro, and Henry Meeks with Miss Ruth Critz, of Winston. The gymasium was tastefully decorated in purple and gold, the colors of the order with a unique roof of honey suckle and evergreens. Delicious sandwiches and punch were served in one of the anterooms.

Thursday afternoon the Junior Order of Gimghouls was at home to the college in a delightful informal dance at the Gimgoul Lodge.

Thursday night the German Club held its annual Easter Dance. The gymnasium was originally decorated in blue and white and Carolina pennants, bunting streamers leading from the floor of the gallery at each side to form a gable-roof in the middle down the length of the building. The leaders were W. P. Whieaker Jr., with Miss Mary Dortch of Goldsboro; assistants Trent Ragland with Miss Alice Brown of Concord and Dozzy Pruden with Miss Mildred Butt, of Charlotte. A delicious salad was served during the intermission.

Friday night the Junior Prom as an institution, was revived after a relapse of two years. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated in crimson and white, the Junior colors. The Junior Prom was nicely led by Avon Blue with Miss Kate Northrop of Wilmington; assisistants, William Huske and Miss Mildred Butt, of Charlotte, and Allen Mebane and Miss Serena Dalton of Winston.

Among those dancing were Misses London, Dowd, Cansler, Chambers, Butt, Blake, Conyers, from Charlotte; Kate Northrop, Florrie Northop, Bailey, Taylor, from Wilmington, Julia Manning Harris, Leach, from Raleigh; Fry Vanstory, Fisher from Greensboro; Critz, Dalton from Winston; Mary Louise Manning, Lloyd, Henry, Stokes, Sarah Ervin, Bessie Ervin, Margaret Ervin, from Durham; Borden, Dortch, from Goldsboro; Cannon, Brown, from Concord; Bernard from Asheville; Bond, Badham, from Edenton; Williams, from Augusta, Ga.; Williamson, from Salisbury; McKenzie from Elizabeth City; Arrington, Gribbin, Wynne from Rocky Mount; Baker from Tarboro; Julian, from Thomasville; Wall from Hillsboro; Hines from Kinston; Burwell from Henderson.

The following gentlemen attended the dances; Bain, Elliott, Noble, McIntosh, Patterson, Daniels, Zollicoffer, from Chapel Hill, and others.

Among the out-of-town chaperones were Mesdames Clarkson from Charlotte, Cannon from Concord, Cone from Greensboro, Webb from Hillsboro, Risley from Hartford, Carr, Thompson from Mebane, and others.

Among the alumni visitors were George Carmicheal, Nick Post, Jim Manning, Kenneth Ellington, Gaston Dortch, Alex Worth, Fred Sutton, Charlie Tillett, L. P. McLendon, Orin Lloyd, Tom O'Brien, Gray, Calvert, Mallett, Sumner, William Little, Martin, Blount, Nichols, McDowell, Oldham, Wellons, Arrington, John Morehead, Morehead Jones, and others.

TALK ON BLACK MOUNTAIN

Y. M. C. A. Plans to Send 25 Men This Year.

Tuesday night Mr. Wilson, traveling Y. M. C. A. Secretary for the two Carolinas presented to a large number of students at the regular Tuesday meeting an account of the Blue Ridge Conference in the form of a speech and lantern slides. He showed every side of the wonderful ten days (June 12-21) experience from the wonderful preperation and equipment for training in Y. M. C. A. work to the Virginia-Carolina baseball game (which we won last year with Ratty in the box. Tom Boushall on second and Stuart Willis on short) and the never to be forgotten trip up Mount Mitchell—the highest spot of earth East of the Rockies.

The associatiyn owns several thousands of acres of land in one end of the forty by fifteen mile valley in the neighborhood of Black Mountain. Out there in the open almost Primeval forest they have combined comfort, freedom and efficiency in a degree seldom seen. Electric lights, all forms of athletics, modern dining rooms, spring water, mountain scenery by the barrel and mile respectively and the best speakers in America.

It is the hope of the local association to send twenty-five men. Any interested would do well to see Frank Graham or Walter Fuller. They have booklets, pictures and a vivid recollection of last years conference that will interest anyone.

PROF. LATANE OF HOPKINS

Discusses Monroe Doctrine to History Three.

Theoretically before the class in 3rd History, but in fact before some two hundred students and professors in Gerrard Hall Tuesday at 11:35, Mr. J. H. Latane, Prof. of History at Johns Hopkins, brought ont some of the things for which the Monroe Doctrine stands, which were the protectorship over Latin America, opposition to European possession, and the demand that all governments within this area must be republican. He declared that the development of this policy has been logical, and pointed out the steps that the administration of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft, and Mr. Wilson have taken to make this policy what it is today. The treaty of Nicaragua recognized the right of the U. S. to intervene in the affairs of these republics. He cited several examples of international receivership, and showed that the United States must step in and take under her control the payment of foreign debts. For the Monroe Doctrine lays down the general principal that European powers must not create new provinces in Latin America. And to allow these European countries to come in and collect debts by taking possesion of custom houses would be practically to allow colonization.

These Latin American countries have been making certain concessions to European nations for the collection of debts. President Wilson says that these concessions must stop. If these countries should go bankrupt, the United States must step in; but they must stop putting themselves into such a position.

Mr. Latane traced the development of our Latin American policy through the different administrations until in the last three weeks Mr. Bryan has signed a treaty agreeing to pay $25,000,000 for the canal right of way. He went on to show that the feeling between Latin American countries and the United States is not unfriendly on account of the Monroe Doctrine. "There is no well defined or deep seated feeling against the United States in Latin America. They want us to keep the Monroe Doctrine." And again, "The Monroe Doctrine is merely a name applied to our Latin American policy. The developments of this policy have been logical. Nothing can be gained by abandoning the Monroe Doctrine; there is no reason for its repudiation. We are bound to hold our sway and maintain order."

THE MAN BETWEEN GETS DAMAGED

Senior Stunt the Most Outstanding Feature of Junior Week

PLAY WELL STAGED AND BETTER ACTED.

Probably the biggest event intellectually that occurred during Junior Week was the Senior Stunt which presented "The Man Between" "The Devil" and "The Dark Blue Sea". The Man Between was all put up in Rea Parker and the hell of a time he had with the Devil. Georgia Held-on as long as possible, until Ray, alias Gay Larker, alias Frank Few, fell into the arms of the tall, blue sea, which was synonomous with "Take a bath", both subjects pertaining to Eugenics. The spectators were in total sympathy with Gay in his resolute inability to choose between the beauty of Georgia Hold-on, alias George Holton, and the eugenic properties possessed by Queeneth Loyall, gearally Kenneth Royall. Gay received more sympaty when by in underhanded act he was "ruined" by four of the toughest guys in the University, each of whom thought she was a hazer. They simply disgraced Gay, and besides that they cut off his breeches, pants!—I mean trousers.

The Feminist movement was prominent all the way through, and even Georgia Hold-on's movement was not disgraceful. A woman was president of the kniterary society, president of the college, and a woman in man's clothing, was secretary of the society of uproar. Mr. I. Object may also be mentioned as a prominent member of this society, which had for its object the upbuilding of eugenics.

The University in 1945, as represented in the Senior Stunt had a total enrollment of 3052 students. Of this number 2630 were females, and 422 sissies. With a changed motto, ("Trust in God;she'll carry you through") the University was celebrating its 147th birthdey.

Doggie was in the "front" of the fray. His alumni were still behind; for truly there was no room in front.

Gay's predicament was openly shown by the bumps on his head and was later scented on his feet not only by the pedist but by the those on the first three rows in the orchestsa. His sin of being engaged to one girl and in love with another was submitted for a decision to the society of exasperated illiterates. Much debating followed as to the proper way out of the dilemma into which Gay Larker had floundered. Dr. Soshaky Sato, of Tinpan, a booley cadsitted sember bah ny somba cadzorks, solved the question and "The Man Between" caught "The Devil" and married "The Deep Blue Sea", and started on his "Honey Moon" toward Utah.

The scenery and little details of the play were well worked out. The changes were quickly made, there was no apparent confusion in lines and the parts were well chosen. The stunt of the class of '14 will long be a landmark in stuntdom.

In a recent edition of the New York Evening Post a column is devoted to a discussion of the settlement work of the Y. M. C. A. of the University.

Dr Vincent Ends Series.

Concluded from first page

Fix it upon the social vision and the large interest of life The larger self identifies itself with the common life. From this springs the growth and general conduct of the larger selfishness.

In concluding his series of lectures on the "Social Vision," Dr. Vincent spoke Friday night on "The Kingdom of God." At the out set of this discussion of religion, Dr. Vincent mentioned the criticism that has been directed against the church, explaining that our vital need for religion was making us sometimes impatient with the development of its forms. For each successive age must interpret its creeds in terms of its own life. Our idea of God grows with the race. We see our own shorcomings and thereby understand God as the completeness that we fail to find in ourselves.

That the concept of God has undegone great change is therefore what we should expect. The riotous tyrant, the whimsical judge, demanding worship for his own glory, has to yield to the idea of a just judge and a loving father. In the days of persecution, the saint pictured himself as some day standing on the neck of the wicked--a natural production of tha stage of society.
